Navy Transport Plane Presumed Lost; 42 Aboard

Down Somewhere Between United States and Azores

NEW YORK (AP)—The U. S. Navy threw 200 planes and 25 surface craft into a wide-ranging search today for a big navy transport aircraft missing over the Atlantic with 42 persons aboard. It had not been heard from since late Saturday on a flight from Maryland to Africa via the Azores.

Planes from England, the European continent, North Africa and the United States joined in a new die-in-the-ocean hunt. They swept back and forth in a north-south band on the great circle route from the New Jersey coast to the Azores.

The weather bureau in New York said water temperatures in the search area ranged from the mid-50s up. To the south the sky was clear, but in the northern, cooler parts of the ribbon of ocean there were thunderstorms today.

The missing plane carried 29 passengers, including two women wives of U. S. officers, and five children. There were 21 crew members aboard because the big ship was carrying an extra complete crew to the Azores to pick up another plane.

The four-engined Lockheed Super-Constellation was last heard from at 11 p.m. Saturday, two hours after it took off from the tiny Harmon Air Force Base in Newfoundland early Sunday after a stopover. It was 300 miles at sea.

The ill-fated flight was the second attempt by those aboard to get to the Azores and Port Lyautey in Africa. The navy said they had taken off earlier Saturday in another plane but had to return to Newfoundland when the plane developed trouble. They transferred to the now-missing plane and started out again.

A vast navy and coast guard search started early Sunday after a plane was failed to receive the plane's hourly flight report.

FUEL GONE

Navy officials said the plane had enough fuel to stay in the air until 10 a.m. EST Sunday. By evening they announced that it was "presumed lost." The navy said it still hoped to find survivors or the wreckage. The missing plane was equipped with five life rafts, each designed to hold 20 men. There were also 102 life preservers aboard.

Th missing aircraft was hunted along a 120-mile band stretching from the U.S. eastern seaboard across the Atlantic to the Azores. Taking part in the effort were two aircraft carriers, nine destroyers, four transports, two coast guard cutters and a host of land planes.

The missing transport plan carried a 21-man crew and 21 passengers, including eight civilians and two air force officers. The other passengers were all men being shipped to new stations.

One entire family was missing with the plane. Lieut. (jg) Leon Jacobsen, 25, of Brooklyn, was flying to his station in North Africa with his wife, Ida, 24, and their two-year-old twin boy and girl.

Queen Mother Personifies Word Gracious SaysSun

BALTIMORE (Reuters) — The Baltimore Sun today describes Queen Mother Elizabeth as "a royal wheel of personified word gracious."

"For more than six centuries the British people have used the word 'gracious' as a courteous epithet in referring to the wife of their queens," the newspaper says in an editorial.

"It is a word which admirably fits our present royal visitor, her majesty Queen Mother Elizabeth of England.

"Through all the variety of public appearances she had gratified her hosts by showing evident appreciation of every courteous attention and for the many attractions New York City has to offer, provided it is an attitude one likes to see in any guest. It is particularly flattering when the guest is a queen."

Child Burned To Death While Asleep in Crib

A ten-months-old baby boy was burned to death in a fire early day night when an electric heater fell from its room as he was asleep in his crib in a second floor apartment.

Robert McCoy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robt. McCoy, 49 Graham street, suffocated while his parents were absent from the home.

The baby had been left in the care of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Cook who lived across the hall in the upper three apartment.

The fire in the baby's room had gained considerable progress before it was noticed, at 9.30 p.m.

Cook told firemen that he had been in the baby's room to give the infant a bottle a short time before the fire broke out but at that time had seen nothing wrong with the operation of the heater.

Police Chief Walter Probert and Inspector J. Clair Hayes investigated. Coroner Dr. J. Russell Scott announced there would be no inquest.

Mrs. Donald McCoy, was the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Charles McCoy, 49 Graham Street. He was 10 months old.

The boy was born in Englehart, Ontario.

In addition to his parents, the deceased is survived by two brothers Richard 4, and Douglas 2, and his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Everett McCoy, Belleville.

His parents are Witnesses of Jehovah.

Resting at the Belleville Burial Company Funeral Home. The funeral service appears elsewhere in this edition.

Mrs. Meyer was pinned beneath the car and died instantly. She snapped off a hydro pole, crashed through a guard rail and rolled over four times. Mr. Van Dusen, 50, escaped serious injury.

BURWASH FARM BREAK RUMORED; POLICE MOVE IN

Troublemakers Taken From Reformatory

TORONTO (CP)—Extra police have been thrown around Burwash Industrial farm near Sudbury to forestall any attempt at a break rumored as in the making, an official of the Ontario department of reform institutions said today.

The official said several men regarded as troublemakers were moved out of the institution last week after it was reported they planned to try to escape.

He said it was decided to place police in the vicinity of the prison farm today as a precautionary measure.

He added there has been no report today of any actual attempted break.

Reforms Minister Foote was out of the city today and could not be reached for comment.

READY FOR BID

The spokesman said high officials of the department received a tip that some of the prisoners were planning a break for freedom. He said he did not know how many were involved.

"If they do decide to scatter through the bush country, we'll be ready for them," he said. "We have extra patrols out on the highways and railways."

Provincial police at Mount Forest in the Guelph district said they have been asked to stand by in case they are needed at Burwash.

At the end of a campaign to influence voters to elect a Republican congress, President Eisenhower appears pensive as he considers the results of public opinion polls. Though Eisenhower's personal popularity is almost as high as ever, the polls show that his party's candidates are not likely to be elected in a number sufficient to make U.S. Congress Republican. The party's main appeal has been the president's personal popularity.

Queen Mother Elizabeth Honored by Columbia U.

By LLOYD McDONALD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK (CP) — Queen Mother Elizabeth planned to resume her sightseeing in and around New York today after a busy weekend climaxed by a special convocation at Columbia University where she received the honorary degree of doctor of laws.

Today's weather forecast of partly cloudy and cold weather dampened the hopes of royal tour officials throughout Algeria early this morning.

Damage was caused by bombs and fire in a wave of arson and attacks. Telephone lines were cut and the Algiers-Constantine railroad damaged.

In another French North African territory, Tunisia, it was announced today that two French soldiers were killed and 12 injured and 10 wounded Sunday in a clash with Tunisian rebels, eight of whom were killed.

Will Probe Death Of Toronto Child, Believed Beaten

TORONTO (CP)—Patricia Clevedon, 3, of Toronto died in hospital today of injuries apparently suffered in a beating, police said.

Mrs. Clevedon told a reporter today she put one of her own old dresses on the child as a Hallowe'en costume and took her out around her east-central neighborhood Saturday night.

"Patsy tripped on the dress and fell down and bumped her head on street verandah," the mother said. She added that the girl said at first she was not hurt.

An autopsy has been ordered.

Few Pranksters Out Across Ont. So Hallowe'en Generally Was Quiet

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Hallowe'en, generally, was tame. Youthful pranks dragged an outhouse into a village main street set it in ashes. Somebody blobbed white paint on a porch. Five bales of hay went up in flames on a highway. At least 12 false alarms were turned in at fire departments.

These were the highlights of the night of witches, ghosts and goblins across Canada. The costumed, from cowboy suits to bo-peep dresses, were there in droves, but were the "shellouts." But there were no big tears nor much rough stuff.

Said one policeman in Victoria: "We expected more. But we didn't get it."

There was a bit of ruckus in Brewer, at Streetsville, normally a quiet village 15 miles west of Toronto.

A gang of youths dragged an outhouse into the main street. They set telephone poles across the road to block traffic. They made such a racket that police, last summer in to keep the peace, resigned when they saw the mob. There were no strong-arm episodes, though.

Most children spent the night at parties.

Even the "trick-or-treat" cry was scarce.

Dozen Killed By Terrorists In Algeria

ALGIERS (Reuters)—At least 12 persons were killed in a well-organized, two-hour terrorist swoop on police posts and public buildings throughout Algeria early this morning.

Damage was caused by bombs and fire in a wave of arson and attacks. Telephone lines were cut and the Algiers-Constantine railroad damaged.

In another French North African territory, Tunisia, it was announced today that two French soldiers were killed and 12 injured and 10 wounded Sunday in a clash with Tunisian rebels, eight of whom were killed.

Congress Control Appears To Hang in Narrow Balance

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Control of Congress appeared to be hanging in a narrow balance today as President Eisenhower and Adlai E. Stevenson prepared to wind up a blistering campaign with appeals for the voters to turn out in force Tuesday.

Republicans were regarded nationally as fighting an uphill battle to retain their slim grip on control of the Senate and House of Representatives. Two years ago, Democrats claimed they would win both and take over up to a half-dozen Republican governorships.

But there remained an air of uncertainty about all the forecasts. It was generated by disputes over the effectiveness of strenuous last-minute campaigning by Eisenhower and the dispute over what part of what the Democrats called "Red smears" charges against some of their candidates.

From the White House tonight Eisenhower will broadcast a television and radio appeal to the voters to march to the polls. He is to be joined on the program by Richard Nixon, cast by the Democrats in the role of vice-presidential pin cushion of the Communist-in-government issue. Nixon speaks from Denver.

Stevenson, the 1952 Democratic presidential nominee, who has said Eisenhower joined in a Republican chorus on the issue of domestic communism, speaks by radio from Chicago tonight.

The Democrats conceded that in some critical races they were hurt by the charges that many of their candidates were "left wing." Attorney-General Herbert Brownell said Saturday night that the "big recession" for having a Republican Congress is that "in this field of communism there is much to be done by our federal government."

Democrats remained confident they could count on the "pocket-book" vote in Tuesday's balloting—support from men and women who are unemployed, have reduced income or fear that a depression may be in the making.

Eisenhower and Republican campaigners generally have contended the country is enjoying its best prosperity.

The 11th-hour spotlight swung on 11 Senate races where Senate control appeared likely to be decided. Six of these seats now are held by Republicans and five by Democrats in a Senate that is divided evenly, 48 Republicans, 48 Democrats and one independent, Wayne Morse of Oregon. Since Morse has said he will vote with the Democrats, the latter need a net gain of only two to take over.

The 11 contests, most of them extremely close, are being waged in California, Colorado, Delaware, Illinois, Kentucky, Michigan, New Jersey, Montana, Ohio, Oregon and Wyoming.

Fresh reports gathered by Associated Press reporters in the field and by telephone indicate Democrats are leading in four races where they could gain a seat from the Republicans and in four others where Republicans are leading or involved.

Republicans were given the edge in one contest where they could pick up a Democratic seat and leasing in two others where Republican seats are involved.

The House, where the Democrats need three votes to gain control from the Republicans, might swing by a bigger margin of 10 to 25 votes difference in party strength. But party officials said privately they do not believe there will be any change of landslide proportions.

HURRICANE RELIEF PLAN ANNOUNCED BY PREMIER FROST

Find Bodies of Two More in Humber Search

TORONTO (CP) — Col. John Houssser, commanding officer of Militia Group 14, said Sunday he thought the militia had done all it could in the Humber valley cleanup.

He said he will recommend that no further militia search and rescue-cleanup projects be undertaken. The colonel said small groups of civilian workers with proper equipment could cover the areas still to be searched.

Owners of flood-damaged homes will receive up to $5,000 to help pay for structural damage or loss. This and plans to step up prop erties in flood danger areas were announced by Premier Frost in a statement on joint federal-provincial action to aid persons stricken by Oct. 15 flood.

Government assistance will be handled by a special three-man board to be known as the hurricane homes and buildings assistance board, Mr. Frost said. Payments will be made only for the amount of the actual appraised damage or loss to buildings. The first $500 will be deductible and the maximum payment will be $5,000.

Destroyed or substantially damaged buildings in locations considered dangerous in future by the board will be acquired by the provincial government. Owners will be given help to plot and the surrounding area echoed with the sound of machinery, trucks and working men, in London, Liverpool, Southampton, Birkenhead, Manchester, Garston, Hull and Rochester the docks hummed with activity.

The strike ended Saturday with back-to-work votes at mass meetings in all ports.

LEADER BACK

One of the first strikers back on the job was Vic Marney, who defied the heads of the huge Transport and General Workers Union in leading thousands of dock workers out on strike. He walked up the gangplank of the New Zealand freighter Haparangi at London to help unload its cargo of meat.

It was on that day that the strike started over the question of working meat and whether overtime should be compulsory. The dockers claimed a victory when employers said they would work out a formula for making overtime compulsory.

The walkout spread as men in the seven ports went out in sympathy with the London strikers. It eventually tied up 348 ships.

Now the shipowners have been urged by strike leaders to work round the clock to clear the huge backlog of goods. Flood lights were erected to enable them to work after dark on the night.

MANY WEEKS' WORK

First priority for handling was to be given to perishable foods, urgently needed raw materials and passenger vessels.

Port officials said the piled-up cargoes would take several weeks to sort out before they were back to normal. The stoppage—worst since the 1926 general strike—left up ports that handle two-thirds of the nation's life-blood imports and exports.

POLIO INSURANCE

STOCKHOLM (CP) — The Swedish Textile Workers' Union now is issuing a special "polio insurance" to members. First of its kind in the Swedish labor movement, it provides 2,000 kroner (about $2,-200) in case of death caused by infantile paralysis, and 18,000 kroner for permanent disablement.

Dockers Quit Over New Dispute After Strike Ends

Refuse to Unload Trucks Driven by Non-Union Men

LONDON (Reuters)—About 3,000 dock workers, who returned to work today after taking part in Britain's month-long dock strike, quit work again this afternoon.

The new trouble flared up when the dockers refused to load or unload trucks driven by men who could not produce union cards.

Within an hour the new strike had spread throughout the dock area and hundreds of other longshoremen stopped work.

In someparts of the London docks many men came back to work in an aggressive mood, angry at non-union truck drivers and other men they claim let them down during the strike.

There were wildcats in most sections of dockland. Longshoremen refused to unload Israeli export firms continued to load goods from warehouses during the strike. In the Surrey docks, another trouble spot, dockers went back to work to move the mountains of goods piled up during the stoppage.

Giant cranes hoisted cargo slow ly from ship to pier and the surrounding area echoed with the sound of machinery, trucks and working men, in London, Liverpool, Southampton, Birkenhead, Manchester, Garston, Hull and Rochester the docks hummed with activity.

Communists Bomb Islands Off Chekiang

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP)—The Chinese Nationalist defense ministry said Communist planes today bombed the Nationalist-held Tachen Islands, about 200 miles north of here, for the first time.

The ministry said one raiding plane was shot down.

The announcement did not say how many Red planes took part, nor did it mention damage or casualties. The Tachens are located in the Chekiang province coast about 160 miles southeast of Hangchow.

The ministry also reported that Communist Chinese on Toumen island were bombarding Nationalist-held Yikiang island. Both islands are northwest of the Tachens a few miles off the Chekiang coast.

The Tachens consist of two main islands and a host believed garrisoned by more than 20,000 Nationalist troops and guerrillas. The civilian population totals 40,000, mostly fishermen.

The Nationalists have said they expect a Communist attack on the Tachens. They recently reported communist war vessels had arrived at the nearby Chusan islands.

The Tachens are within easy striking distance of Red airfields in Chekiang province.

Advise Doctors to Watch for Diabetes In Every Patient Entering Office

WASHINGTON (AP) — Doctors were urged today to be alert for possible diabetes, "the great imitator" of other diseases, in every patient who comes into their office complaining of any kind of complaint.

Dr. James M. Moss, a diabetes specialist of Washington and Alexandria, Va., said the disease can underlie, be associated with, or be mistaken for, virtually every ailment in the medical book from carbuncles to cancer.

Moss told a medical convention that the patient's original complaint, such as blurred vision, a skin infection, or even sexual impotency, may not be the major one but simply a symptom of diabetes which is making underlie it is brought under control.

violently or presumably affected by the disease. Diabetes must be sought promptly to recognize the diabetes itself.

Also, he said, many useless x-ray examinations and remedy treatments for various stomach conditions, including cancer, may be avoided as well as certain possibly "useless" appendectomies—if diabetes is looked for and detected.

Dr. Moss further said that oftentimes a patient's original complaint, such as blurred vision, a skin infection, or even sexual impotency may not be the major one but simply a symptom of diabetes which is making underlie it is brought under control.

Belleville Firm's Cheese Enchants Vancouver Man

It took a tasty portion of Belleville cheese to change the mind of a Vancouver newspaper columnist that the one-pound apple pie in Canadian dessert tad not been reduced to the status of a white sickly meet.

Harold Weir, Vancouver Sun columnist, writes an interesting pillar of his reactions after sampling "White Clover Old Cheese" matured and sold here by W. S. Cook and Sons. The proof of this cheese quibbling was in the eating and Mr. Weir's gastronomical regions relaxed in comfort as the "White Clover" spread its flavor therein.

Here is what he wrote:

Some weeks ago there appeared in this space a lament concerning the effeminization of food and drink. This lament referred in particularly dohrous fashion to the enervation of the onion, the sickliness of the modern cocktail, the sweet enfeeblement of beer and the indignities inflicted on cheese by a certain deceased Chicagoan whose name we would not dare to mention, whose initials are Kraft.

This lament laid it on a bit thick about cheese, claiming rashly that nine-tenths of the world's cheese output or thereabouts, was not loused up into a languid sort of mush, with no delicate palate of it.

Nothing of the kind. We would chuck a smidgin of inferior cheese into the garbage can as soon as look at it and tell the maker where to shove his samples.

No, indeed. The "White Clover Old Cheese" we have on file from our own merits and discriminating cheese eaters would do well to rhapsodize with sincere and cheesy brevity:

"Good god, sir, "they knew their cheese!"

/rFoOha

We might say right now that we were in the assumption, with all doubtless be made, that we are thus praising the "White Clover Old Cheese" as a quid pro quo for the gift of a lavish hunk of it.

This cheese incident if we may call it so, has afforded us a double pleasure. It has at once titillated our taste buds and causing cheese to be in the public mouth that the country of our birth can still produce a cheese worthy of being ecratically thumbing its nose at anything produced in America.

It pleases us deeply to think that when the Messrs. Cook are regret', lobly gathered to their fathers, sorrowing gourmets will gather from far and near, not to prattle of their personal virtues and exalt their charities, but merely to wag with sincere and cheesy brevity:

"Cheese!"

Variety Show At Collegiate Much Enjoyed

Belleville Kinsmen Club last night climaxed its current flood relief campaign with a variety show at the Collegiate auditorium.

Directed by Don Bacon and Jim Conradi and staged entirely by local talent, the show was an outstanding success, financially and otherwise.

This morning Stuart Martin, director of local relief campaign, reported that receipts totalled $173 bringing the total cash contributions to date to $208.

Thanking the audience last night, Don Thomas, president of the Kinsmen Club, said he was "overjoyous the way Belleville responded to our drive last Monday night.

"It is really amazing the way Belleville rallies to a worthy flood Relief Campaign," he said.

The two-hour show, held off by the Commodores dance orchestra, boasted some 14 acts, ranging from Barbershop quartets to harmony of the barbershop. However, biggest hit of the night went to the smallest performer.

Little (six-year-old) Randy Grey, a lad with the lungs of a sea-lion, rocked the rafters with a vocal chords with his singing of "Ma, She's Making Eyes at Me" and "Darktown Strutters Ball."

FINE QUARTET SINGING

Led by Alf Evans, the local chapter of the SPEBSQSA, shaved the whiskers from some fine old tunes with renditions in barbershop harmony. They also led the audience in community singing during the interval. The chapter's quartet, The Quintones, also were well received. In particular, for their harmonizing of "Mood Indigo."

Comic relief was lent the show by popular Doug Aselstine, mimicking to Spike Jones' records.

Hawaiian dances were performed by Pamela Collis, while dancing routines were displayed by Judy McKnight, Sondrya Randall and Dawnie Collis.

Others on the program included Ken Bagley (guitar); Rod Elmy (vocalist) and Sylvia Motley (vocalist.)

The Kinsmen's Boys' Band directed by Alf Cooper, played the audience into the show. Master of Ceremonies was Stu Martin, while Jim Conradi was musical director for the evening.

RUSHING CHRISTMAS

DUNDEE, Scotland (CP) — The city fathers banned a Santa Claus procession planned for November on grounds it would cause "great distress to parents of young children" if Santa should appear so early.

Property Damage On Hallowe'en Extremely Light

An exceptionally quiet Hallowe'en insofar as property damage was concerned, was the way which both city and provincial police described Saturday evening's events, while the witches and goblins were aprowl.

The desk sergeant at the city police station described it as the quietest Hallowe'en during his time as a police officer, while the same report was true at the provincial police headquarters.

"For the most part the celebrants in the city confined themselves to the streets. From those in costume while the smaller fry toured the residential section for handouts of candies, apples and other goodies.

Window washers this morning faced a window washing job of mammoth proportions and their only consolation was that the job could be done without the use of soap as the city was supplied free on Saturday night.

A few stop signs were found tipped over and on Leighton St. a couple of boys tossed a brick through a front door window.

A Belle Theatre sign was picked up by another party and tossed into the rear of a farmer's truck. The farmer found the sign on arrival home and drove directly back to the city and left it at the police station.

Air in some tires was let out by the pranksters, while a bird bath on William St. was damaged.

Goblins and Their Ghoul Friends Go Gay the Nuts and Candy Way

Goblins and their ghoul friends, flitted through the area Saturday night, but they had no grave intentions.

In fact in their fearsome appearance, all they were after were candy and nuts—the usual Hallowe'en shell-out.

This Hallowe'en appeared to be more cheerful than previous years. The small fry manifested themselves on doorsteps in every kind of costume, some of them weird, some of them wonderful. One of the more outstanding was the costume worn by young Billy Waters, Church Street, dressed as a striped candy stick.

Youthful cowboys and arabs, vampire monsters and skeletons promenaded the streets.

Despite the manifestations of the ghoulies and ghosties, few things went bump in the night and there were little signs of devilment. Police reported an exceptionally quiet Hallowe'en. Only visible evidence around the city of spirit among the celebrants were chalk scrawls on shop windows in the business district.

Probably the only major highjinks was the lifting of the goal posts from the Albert College football field by Collegiate students, who invaded the grounds in force early in the night.

Grown-ups also were not averse to marking the occasion and used the excuse to make ghouls of themselves. Several masquerade parties were held in addition to the city Saturday night. However most of them conceded the night belonged to the kiddies and Monday Friday, standing by Saturday the shell-outs.

This way no one could be disappointed—and nobody was.

Minor Motor Accidents Cause Little Damage

Nothing more than comparatively minor motor accidents with no injuries were reported in the city and district for the week-end.

Most serious of the mishaps reported was on the county road between Rose Corners and the Cannifton school, when Donald Shattraw, R.R. 4, Belleville, forgot to turn the corner and found himself in the ditch. Damage to his car amounted to approximately $200.

Douglas File, 17, of Point Anne, told police that he had gone to sleep, while driving on the county road a short distance north of Foxboro. His car wound up against a tree, but with comparatively little damage.

In the city at the Upper Bridge a three vehicle rear-end collision was reported. Vehicles driven by Cyril Gardiner R.R. 2, Belleville, and Clarence Bird, R.R. 3, Belleville, had a stopped for the red light when they were struck from behind by a third car driven by Victor Leonard, 208 Bridge street. Total damage to the three autos was about $300.

City police recovered a car stolen earlier in Toronto. The car, stolen on Oct. 28th, was found on an unattended parking lot on Coleman street.

Staff Enjoys Hallowe'en Party At Legion Hall

The staff of the Ontario Intelligencer gathered at the Canadian Legion hall on Saturday evening for their annual Hallowe'en masquerade party and dance.

Costumes of all types, colors and shapes adorned the hall which rang to the merriment of spinning platters, laughter and the gaiety and the dancing feet of practically the complete staff.

Prizes were given to the best costumer, novelty dances, tap dance team and the judges after forms of contests after which a delicious lunch was served. The girls of the business office prepared the lunch with Elizabeth Somers and Mary Mulhall heading the organization committee.

Derel Bowerman was awarded the prize for the best costume with her Carmen Miranda outfit, while Mrs. Don Foster and Cecilia Lane Doris Robinson as the bunnies took top honors in the best comic department. Fred Soule, dressed as the legendary Frankenstein, took home the prize for having the most original costume.

Pilot Commended for Bringing Plane to Safe Forced Landing

TRENTON. (Special.) — Edward Lee Rogers, of the Hamilton RCAF Auxiliary Squadron, needs to be commended for the fine job he did in bringing a disabled Harvard trainer to a safe forced landing in a farmer's field one mile west of Brighton on Saturday. The pilot is difficulty chose a level spot on Keith Chatterson's farm south of the mainline railroad tracks on the Presqu'ile Point Road. The machine with wheels up touched down 50 yards from the road, slithered eastward across the stubble field, plunged through a shallow ditch and finally came to a stop broadside of the township thoroughfare.

In plain sight of No. 2 highway the unusual incident brought scores of curious motorists to the scene. The pilot and his passenger, Morley Kenneth Hoskin, of Hamilton, climbed out of the wrecked craft, unhurt. They stood around talking with spectators until an ambulance arrived from the Trenton Air Station.

A radio message from an accompanying aircraft sent rescue services at the airbase here into action. The pilot and his passenger, Morley Kenneth Hoskin, of Hamilton, climbed out of the Trenton when the one Rogers was flying suddenly developed engine trouble.

X-rays and medical check-ups later showed neither flyer suffered ill-effects from the experience.

The aircraft was not damaged badly.

Traffic on the lightly travelled branch from the main highway was forced to swing out around the tail of the plane protruding into both lanes of the road.

Hunter Claims Dog Assisted In Getting Ducks

TRENTON (Special) — Talking horses, horned jack rabbits, a pet pig that answered to the name of Bessie.

New Trenton hunter Bruce Woods tells one about a spaniel, a dog named Rover.

It seems that the local nimrod got the surprise of a lifetime while shooting ducks on Saturday.

He was sitting concealed in a hide along the shoreline, his faithful friend hugging close to his side, scanning the early morning skies. He could see no prospects of activity, so he turned his attention to other interests.

Suddenly he felt a terrific jolt under the ribs and when he jerked his head up he saw the nicest flock of birds flying straight toward them. He took careful aim and pulled the trigger. Rover leaped into high waves to retrieve the first of the fallen birds. That flock was the first and last they saw.

The hunter returned with the Sunday dinner and a new affection for Rover, who, he maintains, nudged him with his leg and changed what looked like a disappointment into a story with a happy ending.

New York State Power Probe Already Started

NEW YORK (AP)—A probe of private utilities in New York state, especially regarding distribution of power from the St. Lawrence river project, has been started by a United States Senate committee.

The investigation was brought out in an exchange of telegrams made public Sunday by Senator Herbert H. Lehman (Dem. Lib. N. Y.). Lehman had asked Senator William Langer (Rep. Ind.), chairman of the anti-monopoly sub-committee of the Senate judiciary committee, to look into the New York power situation.

Langer replied that his committee had already started to study New York utilities. He added that the probe will be intensified and hearings will be held in New York "in the near future."

Lehman said in seeking a utilities probe: "What we want are the facts concerning the reported proposal by the New York power authority to dispose of the power from the St. Lawrence and the Niagara to the utility monopoly in New York state without adequate protection of the interests of the consumers."

Lehman said the alleged plan would give a private utility combine "unshakeable control of all this power, without any protection for safeguards for rural electrification authorities, municipalities and other public and non-profit bodies."

Impaired Driving Charge Dismissed By Magistrate

BANCROFT. — A charge of driving whilst his ability was impaired brought against Donald G. Smith of Peterborough, was dismissed by Magistrate R. C. Jackson on Wednesday.

OPP Constable John Hawkins giving evidence said that he was called to the scene of an accident near Coe Hill on the night of July 19. Smith, the driver of one vehicle, was found to be somewhat unsteady on his feet, his speech was repetitious and he smelled of liquor. Witness formed the opinion, that whilst defendant was not intoxicated, he was not in a fit condition to drive.

Searching Smith's vehicle the constable found one full case of beer, a small empty case and, empty another case containing 24 empty bottles.

Replying to defending counsel D. Foster of Peterborough, police witness agreed that defendant was injured about the head and lips at the time of the accident.

Defending counsel asked "Did Smith tell you he had been ill before you arrived?" to which the officer replied "Yes, I think he did."

Donald J. Campbell, driver of the other car involved, told the court, that, after the accident Smith came to his window and told them to remove the beer from Smith's vehicle. He saw the case of empties removed and thrown over the fence, but he did not know by whom.

Smith said that, on the day of the accident, he had consumed three or four bottles of beer in the afternoon and a further two bottles about 9.30 that evening. The lip injury sustained affected his speech and he had a permanent limp due to leg injuries received during the war. He also suffered duodenal ulcers and was not feeling well after the accident. He was driving slowly, and, breaking over the knoll, he did not realize he was on the wrong side of the road until warned by his passenger when he immediately swung to the left.

The passenger, a man named Tinney, testified that Smith was not under the influence of alcohol.

EXTRAVAGANT OR A BARGAIN?

The Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission has a budget of $996,314 for its public relations department this year.

"The revelation of this shocking extravagance was made by a Hydro official, who apparently was not in the least ashamed of the exposure," says "Saturday Night," Toronto weekly publication.—

There is, however, another side to the picture.

One private citizen, not connected with the Hydro, believes that the HEPC gets full value for its publicity dollars—and that the people of Ontario get good value, too. Because the public knows what the Hydro is doing, because it is aware of the nature of the problems it faces, Hydro is not, and is in no danger of becoming, a political football.

There is much to be said for this view. Perhaps it is the reason for the present public relations policies of the HEPC, which are a uniform apparently laid down by Chairman Robert H. Saunders.

This expansion, however, has been viewed with distrust by some of the persons directly connected with the enterprise. We know, for instance, of at least one striking example. In another city, far from Belleville, the manager of the public utilities once asked his commission whether or not he should attend a convention cocktail party at which the HEPC would be footing the bills.

This man likes a drink as well as the next and he was at the time president of the Association of Municipal Electric Utilities, one of the two province-wide associations which were holding a joint convention. Yet he disliked the principle of public money being spent for entertainment purposes.

The commission decided that no harm would be done if this man shared in the entertainment provided. The commissioners, however, considered the expenditure involved was trivial, in comparison to the scope of Hydro's operations.

Similarly all the individual expenditures in Hydro's public relations budget will be comparatively small and the criticisms of them open to serious question.

Hydro takes newspaper reporters to view a new power development. These reporters write articles in the form thousands of Ontario citizens about the manner in which Hydro is serving them. Who will say this expenditure is not justified?

Again, if the individual expenditures are small, their total is large.

Perhaps Hydro does get good value for every dollar it spends on public relations. But it seems proper to believe, however, that it could get even better value. The public relations department now employs 104 persons. That is more than enough to get out a daily newspaper.

A QUEST FOR THE WEST

Ever since Horace Greeley chided, "Go West, young man, Go West!" there has been some confusion about how far west is West.

Rudyard Kipling was rather blunt in stating "East is east and west is west" but he was also somewhat cautious about stating just exactly where his east and west were located. All he really did say about the two was that "never the twain shall meet."

This is somewhat disconcerting to the young man who wishes to go west. In the United States the great westward migration of 1849 and 1850 depopulated sparsely young scions of established New England dynasties in the primitive civilizations of Buffalo, Cleveland and Chicago. Buffalo quickly became a departure point for the "West" but Cleveland and Chicago soon became the "Middle West" it had spawned "Western Reserve" university.

Chicago still boasts "heart of the mid-west," as its Parisian style cry.

The "west" then is west of midwest, but not as far west as the "far west"—a romantic title which gilds the regions along the Pacific coast.

"West" is a poor geographical location in Canada, too. Western Ontario labors along with a borrowed twang of distance while the really western regions of Ontario contend with names like "the Lakehead," "Thunder Bay" and "Rainy River."

Failure of our "Lakehead Westerners," "Thunder Bay Westerners" and "Rainy River Westerners" to claim a legitimate "western" fame, is likely due to a reluctance to engage in debate with the volatile "western western" orators in Saskatchewan and Alberta.

Western westerners are transplanted citizens of Moose Jaw, Edmonton, Calgary and Regina. Born Winnipegers have one foot in the east, so to speak, when it comes to being "true westerners."

The point of the west wish when you are mid-west, or "out-where-the-west-begins," is only a patch on the problem of trying to be an "easterner."

The private citizens of central Ontario, somewhat looked down upon as provincial country bumpkins by their more distinguished brethren "out west" and "down east," are neither "westerners" nor "easterners." It is perfectly acceptable for the Toronto or Portage and Main boy to sail at Bay Street's "down east" financiers. The poor millionaire on Bay Street is, however, considered to be putting on airs if he takes a Winnipeg "westerner" definition with him to a convention in Halifax or Moncton.

All of which leaves us in a confusion similar to that of the inebriated who, when the other side of the street was pointed out to them muttered, "That's funny, I was over there and a friendly fellow told me it was over here."

CHILDHOOD MYSTERY

Her mother calls me Daddy, but It puzzles Marjorie
When she knows me as her grandpa, how a daddy I can be.

That's a little family mystery children puzzle over long.
To be grandpa and a daddy something surely must be wrong.

When my nephew calls me uncle
she's in trouble deep again.
All these titles are confusing since the reason isn't plain.

And her eyes were fairly popping from her lovely golden head
When a very dear little spoke of me as Cousin Ed.

There is much to learn in childhood and there's much that must be told,
But it's hard to understand it when you're only four years old.

And I know that little Margie sits and wishes that she knew
How her grandpa can be daddy,
Cousin Ed and uncle, too.

When Prophets Fail to Agree

(Christian Science Monitor)

"Woolly bears," doubtless, are fauns of more wider distribution; but it has been in the northeastern United States that the pleasant little folksay of counting their brown stripes as an index to the coming winter weather has been elevated to a scholarly rite. And when, on a day that reached 85 in New York and 90 in Boston, the curator of insects and spiders of the American Museum of Natural History announced that the little prophets on Woolly Bear Mountain" predicted a mild winter probably people within 200 miles raised a skeptical eyebrow or reached for a wrap.

But what about the people who read this news in an October snowstorm? And what about the other signs? Caterpillar Bureau says the woolly bears have been wrong but once in seven years. But he still maintains a high degree of infallibility.

And well he might. For the squirrels are said to be frantically hunting acorns, and tit corn husks in Nebraska seldom do, they say, and tight: How high are the hornets building their nests? How thick are the hickory nut hulls? Who has reported on the beavers' stockpiling of wood? And does the jay say whoo-oo or just whoo-oo when it shifts around to the north?

We mustn't be superstitious about such things, you know.

KANSAS

I recently visited the state of Kansas, after many years of absence. Primarily it was to visit the William Allen White School of Journalism and the White Library. Allen White Library was dedicated, in conjunction with the school.

This School of Journalism is destined to get practical results of outstanding in the country. Its buildings are superb and fine progress is being made under the direction of Dean Burton Marvin and his able assistants. This school is really an actual newspaper plant in miniature, with all its many departments and the publication of its daily newspaper. Students get practical training from the very first.

The location of the Journalism School is ideal, set apart in the very heart of a great educational center—Kansas University—and in a beautiful city of some 23,000 people. Most of the university buildings are located in a group of hills, so it may well be said that the students have to climb to get an education at K.U.

But back to Kansas. What an interesting and romantic story this is! The story of America is written all over it, and its famous native sons and daughters are legion. Besides its William Allen White, Senator Arthur Capper, Walt Mason, Elmer Howe, Senator Ingalls, Vice-President Charles Curtis, John Brown, Henry Allen, it has in its County Nation, its Mary E. Lease, "Sockless" Jerry Simpson, and other interesting characters on both sides of the fence.

There is always something interesting and constructive going on in Kansas. It is noted for its brilliant editors. Few states have a better lot of ably conducted weekly and daily newspapers. People do their own thinking in Kansas. From whatever angle it is judged Kansas is a great state, and keeps step. Journey to West Coast

By G. A. MORTON
(Managing Editor)

One of the first things a lot of visitors to San Francisco want to see is a cable car. Magazines and newspapers, from time to time, have carried write-ups on them so that curiosity about these antiques in transportation is usually at high pitch.

The quaint cable cars of San Francisco have done more to advertise the city than anything else. Some of the more eager beavers of the citizenry are all for scrapping these ancient relics from the junk pile, but cooler heads prevail and so they still clatter and race up and down the hills at the top speed of twelve miles per hour. It is said that some of the conductors have developed a jaunty the rhythmic clanging of their gongs, but lacking the trained ear we failed to recognize even any rhythm.

The little cars have an enclosed section at the back and open sides at the front with seats like park benches facing outward on the sides. Going around corners the conductor yells for everybody to hang on and it pays to heed his warning. A couple times we found ourselves by a frantic grab for a post. Behind the benches is the gripman, who, with two long levers operates and closes the mechanism that connects with the car with the cable cable that runs continuously the full length of the track route. With his left foot he rings the conductor goes to the back platform and operates a hand brake lever.

When the cars come to the end of the line they are taken on a turntable to swing the car around. Generally this is done by a couple of husky lads who get a nickel from the passengers lend a hand for the cars are not heavy. Every trolley fakes pictures of this performance, ourselves included. It might be added that cable cars were invented in 1873.

The cable cars carry about twenty-six passengers comfortably, while another dozen can ride on the steps and cling to the posts. The first time we sat out on the steps we felt some what self-conscious for they were all there staring at everybody and a lot of people looking right back at the car. It's quite an experience and a pleasant one, at that for fifteen cents.

One of the reasons for the satisfaction to do away with them is they lose money and have to be subsidized. There are seven car routes, which were consistent losers, even closed and regular bus service substituted. In August the company was able to report a small profit for first in some years said the papers during out visit to the city.

The best way to see the main objects of interest in any strange city not in a car sightseeing is by bus. There is the odd time when a car is handy but buses are not permitted and we were fortunate that by good luck we had cars on the two occasions when served us best. Large cars were used and there were by no means enough passengers to fill a bus.

The Gray Bus lines maintain this most interesting sightseeing and scenic areas, and the times are so arranged that stops are always pleasant. The drivers are courteous, know their subject well and are not averse to what might be expected. We took in three tours of the city and most of three days was needed to cover the ground at a leisurely pace.

CITY HILLY

The next morning after our arrival we went on the city tour and it was a thrilling ride. There are seven hills within the city limits and they afford the sightseer some fine observation points. The hills are not over nine hundred feet high but the slopes are steep and are much lower but they do give a different impression of the size of the city.

On one hill called Twin Peaks, the highest in the city, we saw excavating the hill sides in terraces for apartment construction and Earth-moving machines were being used, but even with these it is a slow job. On the hill sides we saw houses built on similar to the cliff dwellings of old and there were on three levels with the garage on one street and the front door on another street, above on another street.

Building is booming, according to drivers, were to be had for $5,000 and better ones up to ten and twelve thousand. Many were financed way in Mount Davidson where thousands attend Easter Sunrise Services.

Alcatraz Island on which stands the famous federal prison is just a mile off shore. It is almost impossible for any prisoner to succeed in breaking out of the prison he would have a hard swim to shore. There is very little current to reach shore. It is a forbidding looking place.

OLDEST BUILDING

One of the oldest structures in San Francisco is the Mission Dolores built in 1782 by the Franciscan friars. Originally it was named San Francisco de Asis. In early days the new community was known as Mission Bienal. Soon after the Mission was constructed the mission town was changed to San Francisco.

The building is well preserved having the original roof timbers and tiles and, of course, the adobe walls, (clay brick) dried in the sun, that are four feet thick. The structure is 114 feet long and 22 feet wide. The wall facing the street are three bells in the belfry, which are original at the time of construction. The hand-carved altars and statues matched its color with a mixture they concoct on their palettes. Even the National Gallery of Art have failed to see a painting that is half as perceptible to the human autumn. The artists had their chance this year.

The painters are not the only artists who should have been out. The painters are indeed busy at fretting over the competition from Britain. Possibly the bulk of the Canadian people who are in the textile industry are homely colours as symbolized by the standard woolens. Probably it is the quality and not the colors of British textiles that is their chief attraction in the Canadian market. But how do we know? Recently the Scottish Industry long ago put art into their work as well as craft, and conceived that the Canadian people would do the Canadian heart and mind what heather does to the Scottish or April to the English to industry lives by machines alone.

Foot-in-Mouth Club Members

(Edmonton Journal)

The Foot-in-Mouth Club, that select organization of statesmen whose indiscreet remarks have embarrassed them, their parties and their countries, has a new member in U.S. Defence Secretary Charles E. Wilson. Mr. Wilson perhaps was trying to be humorous when he used his "bird dog" speech in which he compared communists to a dangerous, unemployed workers with yelping dogs. But he has presented his opponents with their best campaign issue of the election campaign, and will be felt around the Republicans control of the next Congress.

The defence secretary, of course, is in distinguished company. Two British prime ministers head the list in history come to mind. One was the late Prime Minister Mackenzie King's famous "five cent speech" in 1930, enraged by the heckling of Conservative members in the House of Commons, the prime minister lost control and in the end he called for a "five-cent piece" for unemployment relief to any province with a five-cent piece. He failed to the limit by the Conservatives, it was generally felt, and by the great Liberal defeat in that year.

Less famous but equally disastrous was the speech by Prime Minister Alexander Mackenzie during the Pacific Scandal. Referring to what he proposed to do about the severe depression which then gripped Canada, he said that he was a world problem about which his government could do little; they were "flies on the wheel." Sir John A. Macdonald pounced on the statement, assured the voters that, although the Grits might be helpless flies, the Tories, if elected, would know how to improve the condition. The Conservatives were returned for the next eighteen years.

Perhaps the most famous of all gaffes of this type was committed by Theobald Bethmann-Hollweg of Germany at the outbreak of the First World War. When German troops entered Belgium, and the British ambassador solemnly cited the treaty of 1839 which had guaranteed Belgium's perpetual neutrality, the overwrought chancellor exclaimed that it was a "mere scrap of paper." That luckless statement has been used by many hating to turn world public opinion against Germany.

The phrase is often reproached for giving too much weight, at least in public, to unguarded, "foot-in-mouth" utterances, such as these; but the reproach is not justified. Many of these apparently unguarded remarks tell more about the basic mind and basic attitude than any number of carefully-prepared speeches. Mackenzie King, for example, could never have made the "five-cent piece" speech in public utterance, but it did reflect his determination, in the earlier years of the depression, to evade responsibility for the unemployment problem—for which he thought political partisanship even in even in a time of national calamity, was responsible. Bethmann was in haste and anger, but his "scrap of paper" remark was true to the faithful a mirror of the Prussian philosophy that might makes right.

Doctors Aided

(St. Thomas Times-Journal)

Daily harvesting of some 500 bushels of apples is reported in a big orchard near Aylmer. This relieves the pressure on the doctors down that way.

Also reported from Mexico in 1780.

The roofing timbers, being of redwood, are in an excellent state of preservation. The Spanish type of roofing tiles are irregular in form, and are laid that was because Indians' legs were used to mould them. That must be so for they really had that form. Inside it was pointed out that the Indian had designations were done by Indians and Spanish workmen. The walls were painted so many years ago.

At the side of the building is a closed-in garden which includes the graves of a number of early pioneers. The garden is attractive with many flowering plants and evergreen trees. The Mission is well worth a visit because of the many interesting features it has to offer.

PRESCRIPTION FOR SODA WATER?

Extolling the value of copper sulphate as an emergency emetic, I said, "Probably not one doctor has ever seen or will see a case of copper sulphate poisoning." A Father of Pediatrics, Dr. Abraham Jacobi, taught me to use this almost instantaneous emetic—one grain in a spoonful of water for an infant, five grains in five spoonfuls of water for older child or adult. If indiscriminately willing within seconds, seems to hit the stomach and bounce right out with whatever poison the child may have swallowed.

Dr. Jacobi is remembered in our memory because only a month or two ago I had adopted his suggestion to keep a dozen one-grain tablets of copper sulphate in my emergency kit. Lalla Rookh, creeping about the floor, knocked a bottle of poison tablets off the kitchen shelf and put them when her mamma, the beautiful treats, by the tender care of the federal drugs bureau, to protect you poor souls against such "poison." It seems that zealous devotion to such repetition of the sale of a few low-profit items distracts attention from the indiscriminate sale of acetanilide, for instance, a nerve-sense-deadening ingredient in a host of headache and grippe purport to cure or relieve "cold," grip, headache, neuralgia, or whatever ails you, fake or discomfort you may have.

Acetanilide (phenylacetamide) or its substitute phenacetin (acetophenitidin) destroys red blood corpuscles, interferes with the vital oxygen-carrying function of the hemoglobin in the blood, causes anoxia (oxygen deficit) in the cells of the body, particularly in heart muscle. This anoxia is the lethal feature of heart failure. It may mean that heart muscle fail-ure (myocardial) or even acute (heart attack.)

Five grains of acetanilide may cause death. Four grains is the minimum dose in adult male, take without risk of heart failure and collapse, especially if he has had a renal c rent for at least an hour after the dose. In 22 fatalities reported in newspapers in a period of 22 months, the persons who died and taken a patent medicine containing acetanilid — either the dose prescribed on the package or an allergic overdose. And yet federal and state authorities shrug their shoulders and assemble Caveat emptor. Translated that means: if you're fool enough to take such drugs, who cares!

STRENGTH FOR THE DAY

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

IMMEDIATELY

Here is a good rule to make permanent in your mind and your life: When you have a good impulse, act upon it right then. Don't wait a day.

Have you lost friends because you failed to answer letters or to write to friends when they were experiencing sorrow or some other misfortune? Have you listened to somebody's sad story, shrugged your shoulders, turned away and tried to forget as quickly as possible what you had heard? Have you been remiss with hostile reaction certain attitudes on the part of your associates?

Well, when there is a letter to write, write it. One does not need to write a reason; long letters can be boring. But get the letter off—immediately. Is some member of your family—while the iron is hot? Attend to it. And if someone tells you a sad story, do the most helpful thing you can possibly do—do it right at the moment; don't wait. Further more the next time some associate or member of your family asks you to do almost beyond the point of endurance, follow the good impulse of staying calm and then do it with a humility with kindness, pride with deference, bitterness with love.

If you act on the right impulse and act immediately, the whole power of the kindness will be behind you.

"Now is the appointed time."

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

In many parts of Canada, the season now closing afforded more beautiful autumn colors than any within memory. Not only were there much red, but more shades of brilliant yellows and most curious shades, like varieties of russet leathers. What reds there were, picked out by sunshine and these luminous pre-Raphaelite tones that gave the landscape a medieval, a mystical and a magical look.

It is to be hoped our Canadian artists are making the most of this season to try and try again to capture these colors which are so important to the future of our country. It seems to me that, so far, our painters have failed in this duty. Most of their paintings deal in conventional colors, blended to the accepted rules of the painting academies. But they miss the luminous quality which is the secret of supreme beauty. They can't catch the texture of it. Every tree in the landscape is filled with light. There is light in amidst the leaves, and back of the leaves. You have only to walk in the autumn woods to know that the forest is literally incandescent. Yet our landscape painters lay on the colors solidly, as though they had taken a piece of leaf off each tree and had stodgily

BANCROFT

Accused Fined $50 and Costs

BANCROFT — Convicted of driving whilst his ability was impaired, Steven Ostroskie of Lake St. Peter, was fined $50 and costs at Magistrate R. C. Jackson's court on Wednesday.

OPP constable M. Perry told the court that, whilst on patrol, south of Lake St. Peter on Sept. 11, he observed a car driven erratically on the wrong side of the road. When he attempted to overtake the vehicle, using his red flasher and horn, its speed was increased to 45 mph. After some difficulty witness was able to halt the car on a side road. Questioning defendant, Perry formed the opinion that he was under the influence of alcohol.

Police evidence was corroborated by OPP constable John Hawkins who said that, on searching the vehicle two bottles of wine were found hidden behind the interior trim.

Giving evidence, defendant said that he had consumed two beers at Maynooth and whilst on the way home was driving with one hand and adjusting the radio with the other. He did not know that a police car was attempting to stop him. He kept the wine hidden in his vehicle because he lives in a lumber camp, where it might be stolen. Fining Ostroskie a further $10 and costs for having liquor in a place other than his residence the magistrate said he appreciated accused's problem regarding the storage of his wine but he must find some place other than his car to hide it.

Pleading guilty to driving without a licence and with inadequate brakes, Harry Cooney, of Corbyville, was fined $10 and costs on each charge.

For having liquor in places other than their residences, Ronald Parks, of Bird's Creek, and Cecil Crawford, of Delior, paid fines of $15 and costs.

Pleading guilty to charges of careless driving, Earl Kerr, of Fort Stewart and Elmer Robinson, of Bancroft, were fined $10 and $15 and costs respectively.

Burning Butts Taste Terrific To Jap Students

TOKYO (AP) — University students in this northern Japan city add this bit to the growing folklore of omnivorous collegians:

They eat lighted cigarettes.

One student thrives on 30 burning butts a day, says the Japanese press. The real taste can be appreciated only by the stomach, he asserts.

"Only to smoke is to waste," he says.

Ultra-Modern Headquarters Nears Completion

BONN (Reuters) — The British forces' ultra - modern combined headquarters west of the Rhine, now nearing completion, is the biggest and most expensive such building project ever put up by the British army outside Britain.

Chosen in 1952, the site, in the Rheindahler forest near Moenchen Gladbach, has been provided by the West German government. The cost of the project, about $28,000,000, plus $2,800,000 for furnishings, is all coming out of occupation costs paid by Germany.

The only expense which Britain will bear will be the maintenance after West Germany has received sovereignty.

The base, which covers nearly 1,000 acres, includes sports fields, offices, housing blocks, waterworks, schools, heating plants, canteens, clubs and messes. About 7,500 British and 2,500 Germans will be housed there.

The navy, air force and army headquarters, now scattered, will henceforth be in the same block of buildings.

Pope Crowns Virgin Mary Queen of Heaven

VATICAN CITY (Reuters) — Pope Pius symbolically crowned the Virgin Mary as "Queen of Heaven" here today in a grandiose ceremony inaugurating a new religious feast for the world's 400,000,000 Roman Catholics.

The feast of "the Blessed Virgin Mary, Queen of Heaven" will be observed every May 31.

Th 78-year-old Pontiff was borne shoulder-high through a tightly-packed crowd of 300,000 cheering people in the basilica of Saint Peter, largest church in the world, for his first major ceremony since recurrence of a gastric illness two months ago.

CANADIANS PRESENT

Fifty thousand men people inside the basilica cheered and waved handkerchiefs and scarves as the Pope entered in a procession of 40 cardinals, 200 bishops and thousands of other clergy and members of the papal court.

Among those present were Paul-Emile Cardinal Leger, archbishop of Montreal, and James Cardinal McGuigan, archbishop of Toronto.

Ten thousand electric candles burst into light inside the basilica and silver trumpets sounded a triumphant march as the ceremony opened.

The Pope, speaking from his throne into two silver microphones, said the aim of the feast was to have "shine forth before the world's gaze a truth which . . . is capable of remedying its ills, of freeing it from its anguish, and of leading it towards the way of salvation which it anxiously seeks."

"At the present hour, when world unity and peace, nay more, the very sources of life are endangered, what can Christians do except turn their eyes towards her whom they see, vested with royal power?"

He said that among the benefits humanity expected from the unending goodness of the Virgin was the annihilation of the dark plans and wicked works of those who are enemies of a united and Christian mankind."

MOBILIZE FORCES

All five forces must be mobilized, "that those who are not yet fully conscious of the dangerous psychological depression into which they have fallen be aroused."

"Mary's queenship is most appropriately symbolized by the 'acies ordinata,' the army set in battle array. Yet no one will therefore conceive of any warlike intentions, but only of that strength of mind which we admire in Our Lady to an heroic degree, and which comes from the knowledge that one is truly striving for the establishment of God's order in the world."

Workers Ready to Tie in Last Link of 620-Mile Pipeline

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP)—Pessimistic sourdoughs and more than one trained expert said it could never be done, but any day now construction workers will tie in the last link of a 620-mile "invisible" pipeline across the frozen northland.

The line stretches from Fairbanks in central Alaska down through Canada's rugged Yukon Territory and back into Alaska at the port of Haines, near the top of the narrow strip of American territory which runs part way down Canada's Pacific coast.

The $29,000,000 pipeline is expected to be ready for tests next summer. When put into operation in September, it will deliver fuel for army vehicles and air force jets at Alaska's interior defence outposts.

CONSTRUCTION MEMORIAL

The job "will go down in history as a memorial to the ingenuity and daring of the construction industry in the Arctic," said a United States Army spokesman. The work was performed by Americans and Canadian construction firms.

Clearing operations for the pipeline right-of-way and its supporting facilities began in the middle of last year's severe northern winter. Bulldozers cut a 50-foot-wide path over the frozen ground in snowy, below-zero weather.

Battered by storms in the winter and harassed by insects in the summer, workers wrestled with pipeline problems peculiar to the Arctic with no help from precedent —there was none. They learned things the hard way. As the army tells it:

"They learned that the Arctic muskeg forms a natural insulation for a tremendous ice-field which is the permanently frozen soil over much of the northern terrain.

SUN MAKES SWAMP

"They found that the heavy equipment churning up this natural insulation and the long hours of hot Arctic sunlight can soon turn an apparently completely dry area into a swamp where equipment loses traction on the solid ice bottom—or can sink from-sight.

"The pipeliners learned about the vicious Arctic mosquito whose bite is severe enough to swell exposed portions of the body to twice normal size."

Fuel for the line's defence base terminals will be shipped to Haines in barges which will reach Alaska via a protected water route from the northwestern states.

This water route, the scenic "Inside Passage," runs through a long chain of islands that dot the waters of British Columbia and southeastern Alaska. The route offers ses traffic year-round protection from storms and possible enemy submarine action in the event of war.

PAPER SUSPENDS

HAMBURG, Germany (AP)—The Hamburg Freudenblatt, once a leading Hamburg daily newspaper, suspended publication with today's issue. It marked the end of a two-month effort to revive the newspaper, which stopped publishing in 1944.

Mooseheart Day Celebrated By Women of Moose

A most enjoyable afternoon was held recently in the Orange Lodge rooms, Church Street, when Mooseheart Day was celebrated by the Women of the Moose, Belleville Chapter 435, with 130 members present. Visitors from Lakeshore Chapter, Toronto, Brockville, Peterborough, Port Hope, also from the Loyal Order of Moose were present. The Good Companions Club of Tabernacle United Church held their recreational meeting of the month on Tuesday in the Church Sunday School rooms.

A dangling skeleton welcomed over fifty spirited members whose costumes were as convincing as varied. Canada's Top Horsewoman Retires at Peak of Career

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's top horsewoman, a trim 19-year-old blonde, has retired from world competition at the peak of her career "to get a little fun out of life."

Since starting to ride 15 years ago Shirley Thomas has won more than 1,000 ribbons, medals, plates and trophies, including the Irish Cup. She became the first Canadian to win the three-foot-high $3,000 silver cup at Dublin this year.

Shirley confesses that she is sorry to leave the excitement and thrills of the great international horse-jumping matches. But training for equestrian honors is rigid and demanding, requiring faultless timing, endurance and skill. There is not much time for anything else.

TIME FOR FUN

"It's time Shirley had a little fun," says the girl's mother, Mrs. C. T. Thomas, who loves horses and rides skilfully.

The Thomas family, which has amassed a fortune in cosmetics manufacturing, lives in a big stone house tucked away in 52 acres of rolling greenland. It's a paradise for humans and horses on the Aylmer road five miles northwest of Ottawa.

Shirley is a typical Canadian outdoors girl. She dotes on swimming and boating, skiing and hunting and even flying, completing 32 hours of flying time. She hopes to qualify for a pilot's licence. She doesn't smoke or drink.

TO TEACH YOUNGSTERS

"I'll still do some riding, local riding and training of horses and teaching youngsters to ride. But I want time to do other things too," she said.

But there's another aspect to the sudden decision to end a promising international career—the story of courage and bravery, battling for honors for Canada when it meant personal physical suffering.

Shirley was one of the four-member Canadian team that last summer competed in five European countries against some of the world's outstanding jumpers.

In London she was tossed from her palomina mare, Princess III, suffering three fractured ribs and torn ligaments. The pain was severe but she demanded to be allowed to continue.

BACK IN SADDLE

She was back in the saddle the next day, her body taped and partially girdled to kill the pain. She placed second and went on to capture further honors in France, Belgium, the Netherlands and finally to Dublin to win the Irish Cup for high-jumping.

Shirley hopes to play a part in helping to build a great Canadian team. That's why she's interested in teaching youngsters. They may be put in the saddle early and, says Shirley, it's not as expensive a hobby.

Her advice:

"Buy a $50 horse. Don't buy a pony. Get a medium-sized old horse to start, one that is not afraid of noise. Don't be scared of horses. A horse can sense if you are frightened. Be gentle, but let him know who is boss."

Hats This Year Tend to Cover The Whole Head

By MURIEL FENN

LONDON (Reuters)—Hats this season tend to cover the whole head.

In keeping with the general trend of fashion towards a flashback to the 1830s, an influence particularly evident in Christian Dior's B-line, cloches have ousted pillboxes from the top place this winter.

The newest cloches are shapely, snug and becoming. They frame the face. Feathers curl gently around the ear. Fatles of velvet or felt or other material descend on one or both sides helmet fashion.

Simone Mirman, milliner in the Queen, Princess Margaret and the Duchess of Kent, draws her inspiration this winter from ancient Greece. She transforms cloches and berets into headdresses reminiscent of that age.

Her cloches, with few exceptions, are definitely up-sweep-like. Alongside a simple cloche in purple muslin with brim turned up at the back and down in front, which shows a striking, pale blue, pointed helmet, trimmed only with a narrow band of black velvet high up on the crown.

Aage Thaarup, another of the Queen's milliners, uses stitched muslin for an up-sweeping cloche with turn-down brim.

Competing for favor with the cloche is the beret.

These are worn either on the back of the head, off the face, or but never halfway.

Small, headhugging berets range from the simple basque with a pin stuck through it to intricately worked, jewel-covered headdresses for cocktail and evening wear.

Madame Mirman covers a black velvet beret with eidelweiss (the white flower of the Swiss mountains) for the cocktail hour, and embroiders another with gold braid pearl and diamante for evening.

Greek influence is seen again in a beret featuring horns and a royal blue muslin beret with a wide band descending over the ears on each side.

Fur, widely used for trimmings and accessories this winter, appears also on hats.

Madame Mirman uses rings of black fur to trim a red, helmet-shape cloche while mink and orange velvet are combined in another model.

The model which drew the most comment from the audience during the collection was first shown, also featured fur. A "bit of nonsense" for the cocktail hour, it consisted of four fox's paws crossed on the back of the head. The claws were colored bright red.

Velvet and melusine appear to be the most popular materials for day wear, with tulle, chiffon, satin, taffeta and lame appearing in the after cocktail scene.

Jersey is used for both cloches and berets by Madame Mirman. So is tweed.

Librarians Hear Talk on 'Consider The Patron'

On Wednesday the Circulation Libraries Section of the Ontario Library Association, eastern division, held its fall meeting in Belleville Public Library, with delegates present from Toronto, Ottawa, Oshawa, Kingston, Peterborough, Gananoque, Picton and Odessa.

Previous to the afternoon meeting, a luncheon was held at Goldon Acre Inn, Kingston Road, with Dr. Isabel Laing, professor of Philosophy at Queen's University as speaker who gave an interesting and entertaining talk on 'Libraries from the Patron's Point of View."

Following the luncheon, the afternoon session took the form of a panel discussion with the panel members being: Miss Allen, of Kingston, Miss Cockburn, of Picton, Miss Preston, of Peterborough, and Miss Atwood, of Oshawa.

The topic under discussion was "Consider the Patron", which brought out the following pertinent points: what the librarian can do to attract more borrowers to the library, and encourage a wider range of reading interests; types of books that are useful to satisfy the reading tastes of the library borrowers; how to publicize the vast resources and the variety of books available at the library. Mrs. A. C. Locke, chairman of the Corby Public Library Board entertained the guests at tea following the afternoon discussion.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

SHE USED HIM AS A MEANS OF ESCAPE—NOW SHE WANTS TO LEAVE HIM

Just how fair is it to make use of someone for a specific purpose of your own and then, when that purpose has been achieved, to discard the person you have used?

To my mind, any such thing is not only completely unfair, but something far worse that might be given names—disloyalty, heartlessness, deceitfulness. Pick your own word. Moreover, it seems to me that a teen-ager is by no means too young to understand this.

There is one teen-ager, however, who obviously does not even begin to understand it, as the following letter makes very clear:

"I have been happily married for two years until recently. My husband loved me when we married, but I myself married only because it was a way to leave home. He knew that, but he hasn't lost hope.

"About two months ago, I met someone else, and fell deeply in love with him. He is also married and has two children. I have one. We do not want to give up our children, but it seems the only way. I hate having to flip around to see him.

"This man seems to be as much in love with me as I am with him, but he wants me to wait for five years. Do you think he is shooting me a line?

"Please print an answer soon, because my heart is being torn in two, and all of your advice is grown-up and makes sense. I am still a teen-ager."

Well, Teen-ager, since you indicate that you appreciate advice that is "grown-up and makes sense," I will give you exactly what I believe to be that kind. So here is what I would say:

The person who is grown-up and makes sense is one who fully recognizes the fact that if someone has done a big thing for her, and is deeply in that person's debt and owes him a lot in return. You used your husband as a means of escaping from a home where you evidently were unhappy. He loved you so much that, even though he knew why you had married him, and that you didn't love him, he was willing to be used. You say you have been happily married, which means that your husband has been good and kind to you. Are deceit, disloyalty and—if your plans work out as you now think you will—eventual rejection all that he is to get from you in return for what has been for you?

What kind of person does that make you?

Moreover, would a mother who is grown-up and makes sense be willing to wreck her child's home, even give up the child itself, to gain her own selfish ends?

You will never find happiness by turning your back on those who love you and have been good to you. You will never find happiness by trying to dodge your responsibilities, especially when, as in your own case, you took them on of your own free will. Consequently, no two people, such as you and this other man, will ever find happiness together when both of you have doublecrossed those to whom you owe complete loyalty and devotion.

If you really wish to be a mature person, you will put this man out of your life at once and forever, and turn all your thoughts and energies to making a happy home for the husband who has done so much for you, and for the child who should mean far more to you than your own self-centered desires. Everything you say about your husband makes me believe that you can be happy right where you are if you will make up your mind to do the right things in the right way. You tell me that this husband who loves you, and has proved it so faithfully, hasn't lost hope that you may yet become the loving and devoted wife for whom he longs. Are you going to be the one to kill that hope forever. Could you ever be happy living with the knowledge that you did just that?

I hope—I believe—that you are going to grow up and make sense. Let me know if I am right.

Beauty

By HELEN JAMIESON

EYELASHES CAN BE LONG AND LUSTROUS

When you see a closeup of the beautiful heroine on the screen do you marvel at the length and thickness of her eyelashes? And do you wonder why nature endowed her so generously when your own lashes are so scanty? Well, maybe it has nothing to do with the matter. The movie star's age not home permits at all. They are demountables. The make-up artist has put them there —long artificial shafts interspersed among her own.

If beauty wishes were granted, most girls with scanty lashes would be begging for a more luxuriant growth, black as the raven's wing and with up-curled tips. They would impart an air of mystery to flirtatious eyes. Well, let the supplicant for such lovely tresses take heart, if she will give hers a little daily care she may encourage them to flourish like the green bay tree.

Lashes are not a hardy growth, like the hair on the head. They constantly do a hail and farewell act, old shafts shedding, new ones appearing. Any irritation of the eyelids may prove devastating, and that is an extra reason why the eyes should have careful attention, be kept in a healthy state. Twice a day they should be bathed with warm water, then with cold to keep the blood streams active.

Sties are a menace. Sometimes the infections will destroy the papillae from which the shafts emerge, in which event no new growth is possible.

At any cosmetic counter you can purchase a cream on which the lashes will thrive. For darkening the lashes mascara is the most satisfactory medium. Pass the moltened brush over the cake, apply only to the upper lid, keeping away from the flesh. When the application has dried, use a second, dry brush to separate the shafts.

Recipe for Charm

By Mary Moore

Attempts are made repeatedly to define that elusive quality call-ed charm.

Without any ado I claim to know a girl who has an abundance of this lovely quality. Last night I had my dinner and spent the evening at Mary J.'s home and am still shining in the afterglow.

As you know my Marianne is to be married next spring. In our little spasmodic chats together when she has "days off" from the hospital we talk of her married life as the wife of an army officer, and the little duties it will be her privilege to perform. I think she could profit by taking Mary J. as a pattern hostess.

I watched from a chair in the kitchen while Mary merrily put dinner on the dining-room table. She would stop in the doorway with a basket of hot rolls in her hand while she finished a witty remark, and sort of wave them in the air to give emphasis to her story. Before singing out to Cliff to come to dinner she stood still in the middle of the kitchen and cocking her head to one side looked around, then opened and closed cupboard doors, put a last pot to soak, beckon Spot, her beloved pup, "be good", then, satisfied that all was under control in the department, trotted us to the dining-room.

The table was lit with candles flanking a bouquet of garden mums. Her best silver and crystal gleamed on the damask cloth. While Cliff carved the perfectly pan-roasted beef she kept up a cheery flow of conversation about my children and hers, All this time she was covering up the fact that she had a pain in her left wrist that made even passing the chili sauce a tricky chore.

So you couldn't talk about our children to our hearts' content, Cliff cleared away and washed the dishes. The only trace of his manly method was a lone pickle left on a saucer on the kitchen counter which he did not know what the heck to do with.

We had plenty to talk about for her Dave and my Marianne and Pete are close friends, and their school work and boy and girl friends and loves and hopes are always an absorbing topic.

It is obvious to you and to me that complete selflessness and deliberate interest in the other fellow's daily routine, and habitual cheerfulness are three of the basic ingredients of charm.

Who can help being warmed and flattered by being the guest in a home where nothing but the best is good enough for her visit?

Such friends are rare, but every one of us could be that rare friend to someone.

WILL APPEAL

MONTREAL (CP)—Seven Montreal department stores are going to appeal Montreal's holy day closing by-law to the Supreme Court of Canada. A legal representative for the firms said notice of the appeal has been served on the city and the attorney-general's department in Quebec.

A HOUSEBOUND child will like to make his own xylophone with water levels. Gives him some heavy glasses or jars (the kind in which jelly, peanut butter, etc., are sold) and help him fill them with different amounts of water. He can tap them with a spoon and produce a real tune.

INVITATIONS EVEN TO UN-FRIENDLY - IN-LAWS-TO-BE

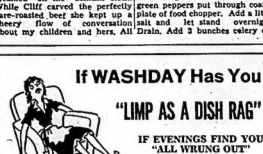
Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

(1) Am I to be married soon, the ceremony to be performed by a Justice of the Peace. No guests will be invited to the actual ceremony, but after the ceremony there will be a small reception. What kind of invitations would be proper? How soon before the wedding should I send these? (2) Some of my future in-laws are unfriendly to me. Out of respect to my fiancy should I send these people an invitation, even though I do not expect them to attend?

(3) After the wedding I would like to have a small announcement in the paper. Would this be correct? — M.J.B.

(1) For this small, informal reception it is entirely proper for you to give the invitations verbally or by telephone. Notes, if you wish, for out-of-town guests. Give the invitations about two weeks before the date set for the wedding. . . longer before if you wish to.

(2) Yes; you would show excellent taste and judgment to write notes of invitation to these future in-laws. Then you will have no regret about this in the future and, you give them the privilege of choice. I am sure this gesture of yours will make your fiancy proud of you and your taste.



(3) Yes.

WHEN BRIDE WEARS STREET LENGTH DRESS

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

At a very informal wedding is it proper for the bride to wear a street-length dress when her attendant wears a suit or must both the bride and her attendant wear suits? — W.U.

When the bride is to wear a dress, street-length, the best plan is for her attendant also to wear a dress, street-length, in a color to harmonize with the bride's dress. But if this isn't a convenient plan, the attendant may wear a suit, preferably not too tailored, and preferably not much darker than the shade of the bride's dress.

W. Germany to Casual Visitor Country of Sharp Contrasts

Editor's Note: This story, one of a series, tells what a Canadian Press staff writer saw during a two-week tour of West Germany, Monday: The German ministry that gets in the hair of the Russians.

By W. R. WHEATLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

West Germany to the casual visitor is a country of sharp contrasts.

There are the still ruins, symbols of two unsuccessful wars; there are the increasing numbers of new buildings, symbols of post-war recovery and a new life.

Most of the people followed the Kaiser and Hitler through the wars; they say they want peace and security for themselves and the new generation.

Chancellor Adenauer wants rearmament first and reunification of Germany later; the opposition wants the reverse.

TWO-WEEK TOUR

These are impressions gained during a two-week tour of West Germany. But one thing bound to impress a first-time visitor is the economic recovery.

It is seen in industry generally, in the big and little store on busy city streets, in transportation and post-war rebuilding.

Recovery had its slow beginning after the stabilization of currency in 1948, ending a muddled monetary situation, black markets and attendant economic evils. Western assistance was needed. A spokesman for one government department said: "The Marshall plan was the same as putting a motor in a car."

One enormous task facing West Germany has been the integration of 11,000,000 refugees, about three-quarters of them expelled from eastern European countries because of their German origin and others from the East zone.

This influx has brought to nearly 50,000,000 the population of West Germany, whose 100,000-square-mile area is less than half the size of Manitoba and about one-quarter the size of Ontario.

The federal housing ministry pitched in, combining private capital, federal, state and municipal agencies and other sources such as owners' funds. From 215,000 residential quarters, largely apartment-type, built in 1949 the figure reached 318,000 in 1953 and an expected 350,000 this year. Loss of dwellings through the war has been placed at 2,500,000.

POST-WAR PARTY

Rebuilding helped create jobs but the general economic recovery has steadily gained momentum.

With it came political rearmament. A post-war party, the Christian Democratic Union, came into office through free elections as the government party of the new federal republic, supported by several smaller groups. The robust opposition is the social democratic party.

All this came about with approval of the Western powers.

There is every indication West Germany wants to go along with the West. There isn't a Communist member in the West German parliament. Political spokesmen insist that a free election in the Russian-occupied zone would show only a small percentage of Communist votes and there is a common feeling that Russia alone is responsible for the continued division of Germany.

There has been political unanimity on anti-communism and in a general way on reunification of Germany and ultimate full sovereignty. Political-party opinion differs as to procedure.

The Social Democrats have said in effect: Get straighten out first with Russia the matter of reunification, get into the United Nations and move toward security through a general unification of Europe before we talk rearmament for West Germany.

Chancellor Adenauer's government has felt a collaborative, defensive tie-up with the Western powers, including rearmament, is the immediate need.

STRONG MAN

The 78-year-old but vigorous Adenauer would seem to be his country's strong man today. A highly placed Canadian source in West Germany told me: "If anything happened to Adenauer I don't know any public man at the moment who could take his place."

Of West German rearmament, this source said: "It is my opinion that the German people want to feel they would be playing their full part in Western defence. Any plan hedging them with a lot of restrictive dos and don'ts wouldn't be so readily acceptable."

Here is a slice of opinion expressed in conversations in various parts of West Germany:

Anton, 45, a hotel employee: "I was in the last war. I've got a home and family and I'm satisfied with my job. Maybe the Russians will make trouble. No one knows. Maybe we'll have to fight again some day, but don't ask me. I was in Canada for a few days once and I liked it."

Karl, 22, a trap-drummer in the American zone: "I've got a lot of friends in the American army. I'd just as soon join it if anything happened."

Frida, a housewife: "Oh, no more war. My husband and I have a business and we stay here. But I'm glad my brother went to Canada two years ago. He writes he is happy."

WAITER'S VIEWS

Rudolf, 23, a waiter: "If I go into the army, all right. But I've got a job and a girl friend and plan to get married. I was too young to serve in the last war but I'd serve in the army now if I'm expected to. I lived in the Russian zone and got out of there."

H. Guhr, a government department spokesman: "Military service would be something new to our young people and they are not very enthusiastic about becoming soldiers."

Berlin, a divided city now isolated from West Germany, still overlaps many gaust war rubs. But rebuilding goes on, and the cultural side of life in West Berlin is reappearing too in theatre, music, ballet. The great shopping centre along Kurfurstendammstrasse is sprouted up with smart stores that display all manner of goods.

To the Germans the unhappiness over division of their country seemingly is accentuated by Berlin's present lot. All West Germans pay a tax to help Berlin and the windows of railway coaches bear this sign: "Always think of Berlin."

new ESSO EXTRA
WINTER GASOLINE
the only gasoline that gives you protection against
• carburetor icing
• gas line freezing

Does your car stall when idling? Research now proves a major cause of this is ice in the carburetor and gas line! Yes, ice! Even at above-freezing temperatures—in fact up to 55°F—ice forms. To overcome this, Imperial Oil developed NEW Esso Extra with special anti-icing qualities that prevent stalling. This new gasoline also prevents gas line freezing . . . you no longer need to add remedies to the gas tank . . . or need run the risk of your car refusing to start. Esso Extra which leads other gasolines in quick starting, fast warm-up and power, now gives protection against stalling and freeze up!

If you stall, don't blame your engine until you try new ESSO EXTRA

OTHER GASOLINES
a major cause of engine stalling

As you start your car, air is sucked through the carburetor and gasoline enters the air stream. As the gasoline evaporates, it chills the carburetor. Moisture in the air condenses on this chilled metal and freezes into ice, if the humidity is high and the temperature between 55° and 28°F. When idling, the ice forms a bridge between throttle plate and carburetor wall, the flow of the fuel mixture (see arrow above) is stopped . . . the car stalls.

NEW ESSO EXTRA
Prevents stalling caused by carburetor icing

New Esso Extra will not, of course, stop stalling due to mechanical defects but the special anti-stalling qualities of new Esso Extra prevent the formation of ice from the moisture in the air. The opening between the throttle plate and carburetor wall cannot become bridged with ice. The fuel mixture (see arrow above) continues to flow through the carburetor to give you smooth performance, free from stalling.

Charge Officer Ordered Trainee Hung by Feet

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—A young officer was under house arrest at Camp Gordon today awaiting outcome of a pre-trial investigation into charges he ordered recruits to hang a fellow trainee by the feet from a tree limb.

Third Army headquarters also charged in a statement that 2nd Lieut. Charles C. Anderson, 24, forced recruits to take sand baths, do exhausting physical exercises and shout an obscene phrase from a tree perch.

The five-foot-10 officer, described as soft-spoken and "on the handsome side," served as a master sergeant in the Far East and won two battle stars in Korean combat.

He was on his first assignment as an officer, in command of a company, First Infantry Training Regiment, when the army charged he forced recruits to undergo "harassing and humiliating" treatment.

Anderson declined comment. "I will have something to say when the trial begins," he said.

Details of the case were released Saturday by Lt.-Gen. A. R. Bolling, commanding general of the Third Army, after secret investigation by two inspectors-general.

The Third Army commander said no injuries were suffered by the trainees.

HUNG FROM TREES

Charges against Anderson include:

1. After a scuffle between two trainees and a permanent member of the company, he allegedly ordered a trainee, who carried a stick, to be bound by his ankles by a rope and suspended from a tree limb. Other trainees were forced to pull on the rope "thus suspending the trainee upside down."

2. Anderson forced two other trainees to take "sand baths" to "emphasize the necessity of frequent bathing." The recruits were forced to strip down to their shorts and socks and then were ordered to scrub themselves with a wash cloth dipped in sand and water. They were later ordered to climb a tree and repeatedly shout an obscene phrase.

Alger Hiss Will Likely Refuse Suit Offered Him at Prison

By SAULT PETT

NEW YORK (AP) —Late in November, prisoner No. 19137 at the penitentiary in Lewisburg, Pa., will become Alger Hiss again.

He will leave his five-by-eight foot cell and he will be offered a suit from the prison stocks. He is expected to decline in favor of a natural-fitting grey, like those he wore in the higher echelons of the state department, in international conferences at Yalta and San Francisco, in the United Nations and in the perjury trial that sent him to prison five years ago.

The day he goes free, Nov. 27, he will be two weeks past his 50th birthday. His family and friends expect that he will return to New York City to resume life with his wife, Priscilla, and their 13-year-old son, Tony, in their apartment in downtown Manhattan. Mrs. Hiss has been working in the order department of a book store.

CAN NEVER VOTE

Far from the councils of government—about as far as you can get for—Alger Hiss will never again vote in New York unless he gets a pardon. As a convicted felon, he will never get a passport, nor will he be able to practise law. He has been disbarred.

Those who know Hiss don't expect him to write a personal story of his case, the way Whittaker Chambers did. It was Chambers, more than any other one person, who sent Hiss to jail. He swore that in 1937 and 1938 Hiss gave him state department documents for relay to Russian spies.

What of Chambers today? At his farm in Westminster, Md., where he is recovering from a heart attack, Chambers declined to be interviewed, saying:

"I just hope people will now leave the fellow alone."

Chambers' expressed concern is, of course, shared by Hiss' family. Does the government plan any further action against Hiss?

The question brings an official "no comment" from a department of justice spokesman. Unofficially, one gets the impression that no further action is planned.

PROTESTED INNOCENCE

Hiss went to jail protesting his innocence. He will come out of jail still determined to prove it, his friends report.

Donald Hiss, a younger brother, says he is confident of his brother's innocence but is not optimistic about legal proof.

"I don't think Alger will be able to vindicate himself in our lifetime," he says. "It'll take a long time to unwind the spider web spun around him. It is difficult to prove legally that a man is not guilty."

Alger Hiss was convicted after two of the most dramatic trials in U. S. history.

There were two specific charges of perjury against him: That he lied to a federal grand jury when he denied passing secret state documents to Chambers and when he denied seeing Chambers after Jan. 1, 1937.

The first trial ended in a hung jury in 1949. Conviction came after the second trial early in 1950. The trials had everything a movie accuario writer might want.

There were two juries of the United States Supreme Court—Felix Frankfurter and Stanley Reed—who testified in the first trial that Hiss was a man of high character and ability.

Most people found it hard to believe, at least at first, that Hiss could have done what Chambers charged. They saw him as the law-yer protege of Oliver Wendell Holmes; the man who went with Franklin D. Roosevelt to Yalta as an adviser; the secretary of the San Francisco conference which founded the United Nations.

ATONING FOR SINS

On the other hand, Hiss supporters see Chambers as a one-time Communist and courier for Russian spies, who admitted he had lied to the grand jury which later indicted Hiss. But Chambers, who had become a highly-paid magazine editor, clung tenaciously to his statement that he now was telling the whole truth to atone for past sins against his country.

It was the handsome Hiss against the pudgy, unprepossessing Chambers. But Chambers stuck to his story. Hiss stuck to his denials. And the jury believed Chambers and the typewriter.

COLORFUL ATHLETE

Prominent Americans honored included Earl Warren, chief justice of the United States, and Adlai Stevenson, Democratic presidential candidate in 1952. Academic figures included Dr. Etienne Henri Gilson, professor of philosophy at St. Michael's College, University of Toronto.

COURAGE CITED

The citation accompanying the Queen Mother's degree spoke of her "quiet and constant courage in time of great stress" which "sustained a nation and inspired a world."

The convocation was the Queen Mother's second visit of the day to the Episcopal Cathedral in the uptown Morningside district where she buildings of Columbia stand. She attended divine services there during the morning and unveiled a stained glass window dedicated to motherhood.

She also found time to visit a big West Indian church in Harlem, where several hundred expatriates from the British West Indian islands gathered to greet their former queen. Ministers of other Negro churches in the district also attended.

Saturday night the queen attended a dinner at the Waldorf-Astoria given by the university for the degree recipients and some 2,000 guests.

She spoke briefly and read a message from her daughter, Queen Elizabeth, in which the reigning queen spoke of her "personal interest" in the work of the university, which received its charter in 1754 from her ancestor, King George II.

The Queen Mother visited the headquarters of the present world body—the UN — earlier Saturday. She drove up in a driving rain-storm but stopped before entering the building to commiserate with the escorting motorcycle police.

"How frightful for you," she said. "You must be freezing to death."

DIVIDE HONORS

The Memos racked up their first Senior "B" victory of the expense of the Clinton Comets on Sunday afternoon with a 4-1 defeat of the northern New Yorkers, but they bowed to the Brockville Macedonas by a 6-4 count on Saturday night in the down-east city. Kingston also registered their first victory on Saturday night winning the Comets 10-9, also in New York, while the Cornwall Colts edged the Whitby seniors 5-4. Cornwall defeated Brockville 5-4 on Sunday.

The Memos blew a 2-0 first period lead in Brockville when the Macedonas exploded with a five-goal splurge after the Memos adopted defensive hockey. The Boucher crew roared back into action in the third, racking up two goals as against one for the homesiters. Over in Clinton they scored a pair in the first, were outmarked 1-0 in the second by the Comets and raced back into the picture with a pair in the third heat while holding the Americans scoreless.

The Memos entertain the Brockville team here tomorrow night and reports from Saturday night's tilt say the Macedonas form a big, strong, rugged team that likes the heavy going. On Friday night here they entertain their old arch-rivals from Peterborough, while the following Tuesday and Friday they play host to Kingston and Cornwall respectively.

While the individual scoring at Clinton was not available at this crack-o'-dawn scribbling, it appears that Nobber Day, Davey Jones, Keith MacDonald line scrain provided the main number of scoring points at Brockville. The "Wheaten" son of Day, Sunday night's hero, had Memos kicking in with the others. Ed. Duncan and Jake Wade each recorded two assists in the Memos' too-little-and-too-late third period drive.

GRIDIRON THRILLERS

Plenty of gridiron thrillers over the week-end with the Golden Gaels of Queen's providing the major upset with a thrilling victory over Saturday night's host team the University of Western Ontario. The Gaels led by Stewart and Gary Schreiber wreaked decisive vengeance over the Mustangs for the shellacking they received the week previous. Meanwhile the McGill Redmen smashed the "Varsity" Blues" when the Tawranta "Rah-Rah" boys whipped them decisively after trailing 12-0 in the first quarter.

The Larks of Montreal, held to a tie for nearly three-quarters, exploded in the fourth period and sent Toronto Argonauts' Grey Cup hopes aglimmering. Sam (The Rifle) Etcheverry tossed more strikes than Johnny Antonelli in a humid series game with Hal Patterson and Huntsinger starring in the receiving and running roles.

Hamilton's T-Cats wiped out the Ottawa Rough Rider threat and now meet the Larrupin' Larks in the two-games-points-to-count Eastern Canada finals for the right to meet the west in the big Grey Cup do in November. Out west the Winnipeg Blue Bombers were stalemated 14-14 and clash again tonight to decide a western semi-finalist.

STRING BROKEN

Another piece of grid news over the week-end was Tip Logan's nipping of his point string at three touchdown streak at 84. Tip's streaked toe sent the ball against the crossbar in Hamilton's game with Ottawa Rough Riders. The string began late in the 1952 season. Earlier this year it was believed Logan, former Queen's football and basketball star, had gone past the 100-mark but some cuss dug up the records and discovered Tip had missed one in the mid-season of 1952.

WEIGHT LIFTERS!

The Y.M.C.A. weightlifters would suggest that any lifters entering the city and district championships on November 27, start training hard right away.

The "Y" weightlifting club is producing some lifters with plenty of form and the poundage handled is not to be sneezed at.

There are a number of fellows, in and around Belleville associated with weights and weightlifting, and they should, by all means, get into this district competition and have their strength and skill honored with a gold or silver medal.

Information and entry forms are available at the YMCA. Get in there you strong fellows!

Goalie Stars in Habs Victory Over Chicago Black Hawks; Leafs, Wings Win Sat. Games

By The Canadian Press

Montreal Canadiens, besides winning games, are giving goaltender Jacques Plante some of the best protection in the National Hockey League.

The Montrealers are in front in the six-team league race today and Plante is high up in the individual netminding competition.

The 25-year-old successor to Gerry McNeil has allowed only 19 goals in 11 games so far in the 1954-55 campaign. That's a sign of Plante's talent and the protection given by the Montreal defence corps. The Montreal snipers, on the other hand, have scored 36 on the opposition.

Plante turned another creditable performance Saturday night as the Canadiens defeated Chicago Black Hawks 5-1 at Montreal. He handled 22 shots.

In two other games, the so-so Maple Leafs scored two third-period goals to defeat New York Rangers 4-1 at Toronto and Detroit Red Wings blanked Boston Bruins 4-0 to give Defenceman Terry Sawchuk his second shutout of the season.

HAWKS TIE RANGERS

In the only Sunday game, the Black Hawks scored in the third period to tie the Rangers 1-1 at Chicago.

Sawchuk has allowed only 18 goals but he has played two games fewer. He has to go some to match Plante's 19 goals against.

This is how the teams stand after the weekend: Montreal 11 points, 3 up and 1 ahead of the second-place Red Wings and five ahead of the Leafs. The Leafs are fourth with seven, two up on the Bruins and four in front of Chicago.

At Montreal, the Canadiens spotted the Hawks a goal early in the first period and then cut them down.

Bernie Geoffrion, currently the top goal scorer in the league, counted two to run his count to nine. Ken Mosdell had the pair for a season total of seven. Rookie Eddie Litzenberger scored the other for Montreal while Nelson Pennington accounted for the only Chicago marker.

SHUTOUT FOR TERRY

Sawchuk turned aside 23 shots by Detroit to pick up his shutout. Tony Leswick broke a scoreless tie midway in the second period while the Red Wings were short-handed. He won a faceoff in the Boston zone and beat goalie Sugar Jim Henry with a 20-footer.

A penalty to Bob Armstrong of the Bruins in the first minute third period led to two more Detroit goals. John Mahaffy scored on Marcel Pronstal's rebound and Prystal pulled the same with Wilson's rebound. Ted Lindsay scored the fourth goal, with Prystal setting up the play.

Utility centre Rudy Migay and rightwinger Ron Stewart gave the Leafs victory. Letwinger Sid Smith scored the other in the second period to tie the game at 1-1. Rightwinger Camille Henry beat goaltender Harry Lumley at 14:40 of the second to send Rangers into a brief lead.

New York netminder Lorne Worsley was sensational. He kept Rangers in the game with his spectacular stops. In the second period he stopped 16 Leaf drives. All told, he handled 34 shots, compared to 23 for Lumley.

Veteran Bill Mosienko scored on a 30-foot drive midway through the last period to salvage the tie for Chicago. Larry Popein, up from Vancouver Canucks of the Western Hockey League, tallied at 1:44 on a play with Andy Bathgate to move Rangers into the lead.

Chicago goalie Al Rollins stopped 26 New York shots, 12 in the first period. Worsley was called on to make 24 saves, 14 in the first.

Action resumes Wednesday, when the Red Wings are at Toronto.

UCC Defeats Trinity 13-11

TORONTO (CP)—Upper Canada College defeated Trinity College School of Port Hope 13-11 Saturday in a Little Big Four football game.

UCC, which hasn't won a title for five years, has to beat Ridley College of St. Catharines or have TCS lose to St. Andrew's College of Aurora to get the title. If UCC loses and TCS wins the two schools will be tied for first place.

Windsor Ties Mercurys 3-3 For First Point

By The Canadian Press

Coach Murph Chamberlain once said he was confident his Windsor Bulldogs could step up at least one position over last year's third spot in the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A series.

But it's taken the Bulldogs three games to get off the ground floor.

Windsor fought to a 3-3 tie with Owen Sound Mercurys at home Saturday for its first point of the season. It put them one point ahead of the cellar-dwelling winless Niagara Falls Cataracts.

The Mercs went into first place, one point ahead of the idle Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen.

In the Northern Ontario Hockey Association senior southern group North Bay Trappers, Greyhounds and North Bay Trappers battled to a 2-2 overtime tie at the Sault Saturday. Sault Wolves defeated Pembroke Lumber Kings 4-3 in overtime at Pembroke. Sunday Trappers battled Indians to a scoreless draw at Sault Ste. Marie, Mich.

Bulldogs tied the score with two goals in the last two minutes after trailing 2-1 and 3-1 in the first two.

SINKS PAYOFF GOAL

Reg Abbott scored the point-winning goal for Windsor with 22 seconds of play left in the game. Bill Lee scored Owen Sound's other goal while defenceman Ted Reid, Bill McComb and Buck Foreland scored for Windsor.

Greyhounds tied the game with three minutes left to play. The last-place Trappers overcame a 1-0 deficit in the third period. Like a 2-1 lead before Greyhounds scored again.

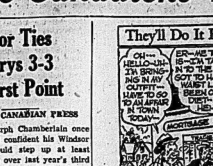
Mike Bzdachecki and Gerry Cabana scored the North Bay goals. Pentti Lund and Ronnie Lay scored for Greyhounds.

A three-goal outburst by Adam Brown paced Wolves to a 4-3 victory over Lumber Kings. The Wolves led 2-1 at the end of the first period and 3-2 at the end of the second.

Bruce Giesebrecht, Lucien Gilbert and Jack Giesebrecht scored for Pembroke. Doug Milne scored the other Sudbury goal.

The Trappers-Indians draw was enough to move Indians into a second-place tie with Sault Greyhounds in the NOHA southern division. Both clubs trail the league-leading Wolves by one point.

Tuesday night it's Owen Sound Windsor is at Niagara Falls and Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen in the NOHA Indians meet Wolves at Sudbury tonight and Tuesday Indians meet Greyhounds at the Sault.



Harry Watson Out for Weeks

TORONTO (CP) — Leftwinger Harry Watson of Toronto Maple Leafs strained his ligaments in his left knee in Saturday night's National Hockey League game against New York Rangers and will be out for three weeks.

Watson, one of the Leafs' most consistent scorers who last week registered the 300th goal of his 11-season career, was injured in the second period when he and a Ranger defenceman bumbled to the ice.

Leafs won 3-1 but Watson's injury hit them at their weakest point. They have been short of top leftwingers for some time. Parker MacDonald was called up from Pittsburgh Hornets of the American League to replace Harry.

Larks, Cats Meet in Finals, Eliminate Argonauts, Riders

By Jack Sullivan
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Big Four clubs can start worrying about what to do for crowds in their remaining home league games. The playoff teams have been decided and it's simply a matter of filling out scheduled assignments until the Nov. 17 playoffs.

Everything was straightened out Saturday. Montreal Alouettes and Hamilton Tiger-Cats made it positive that they would meet in the two-game total-point finals for the right to advance to the Nov. 27 Grey Cup final.

Alouettes whisked Toronto Argonaut out of the picture on the accurate pitching of quarter Sam Etcheverry. He tossed six touchdown passes as the als plastered the coach Frank Clair club 41-13.

And just to make sure that Argonauts would no longer be a playoff threat for 1954, Hamilton Tiger-Cats whipped the Rough Riders 30-9 at Ottawa to put themselves out of reach of the Toronto club.

The Als now have 20 points, four up on Tiger-Cats who pace Argonauts by another six. Ottawa has been out of contention for weeks.

The quadrangular Als clinched their home-town crowd of 19,125 just why they are considered one of the strongest in the league. Their victory by running over for four controlled touchdowns to turn a fairly-tight game into a rout. They led 17-13 going into the final 15 minutes and the Alex Webster to Indiversity of Denver triggerman, passed Argonauts to a standoff and clicked on four touchdown forwards.

Argonauts' two touchdowns came on passes as Etcheverry completed 24 of 42 attempts for 371 yards.

The Alex Webster and Chuck Hunsinger gathered in two touchdown passes each. Single tallies were scored by HalPatterson and Red O'Quinn. Ray Poole converted all six and added a field goal and a single. Tex Coulter rounded out the Montreal scoring with a single.

Ulysses Curtis and Al Pfeiffer scored the Toronto touchdowns, converted by Norb Hecker. Alex Ponton added a single.

Tiger-Cats, defending Grey Cup champions, piled up a 12-0 first-quarter lead over Rough Riders and coasted the rest of the way. Lou Kusserow scored three touchdowns and Ray Ramsey went over for two. Cam Fraser booted a single.

Bobby Simpson scored Ottawa's touchdown and Gene Roberts added a field goal and the convert.

The victory was marred by a break in Tip Logan's record of 84 straight converts when his first attempt hit the goal-posts. He made good on the other four.

ST. MIKE'S WIN

TORONTO (CP) — Toronto St. Michael's Kerry Blues handed Ottawa St. Patrick's College their first defeat of the season Sunday with an 18-8 exhibition football victory at St. Michael's Stadium here. Halfback Jack Fenn sparked the winners with two touchdowns.

Golden Gaels Upset Mustangs As Varsity Defeats McGill

By The Canadian Press

Queen's University Golden Gaels bounced back into first place in the Senior Intercollegiate Football Union race with an upset 18-11 victory Saturday over the powerful University of Western Ontario Mustangs.

The Tricolor, drubbed 27-1 by Western in London Oct. 23, came up with a sparkling ground attack that gave them the edge. They led 6-5 at the half and added two converted touchdowns in the third quarter for an 18-5 margin.

The loss dropped the Mustangs into a second-place tie with the University of Toronto Blues who whipped McMaster 36-13 in Toronto. Varsity spotted the Redmen two first-quarter touchdowns then ran wild against a weak Montreal pass defence for their one-sided victory.

The Gaels' scoring punch came from fullback Gary Schreider, halfback Ron Stewart, Al Kocman and Gary Schreider. Stewart picked up two touchdowns, Kocman one and Schreider added three converts.

Glen Fleming scored a touchdown and convert for Western and Don Getty an unconverted major.

Halfback Al Bruno scored two majors for Varsity. The others went to Wilson, ends Fred Smale and George Stulac and flying wing Gerry Lansky. Steve Oneschuk converted five of them. He also kicked a single in the first quarter.

Half Lionel Quinn scored both McGill touchdowns after the Redmen picked up the Varsity fumble deep in Toronto territory. Paul Dingle kicked the converts.

Memos Notch First Victory With 4-1 Win Over Clinton; Drop Verdict to Brockville

The Belleville Memos racked up their first victory in the Eastern Canada Senior Hockey League on Sunday when they defeated the Clinton, County seat in the New York Arena. Saturday night they dropped their second game losing to the Brockville Magedomas 6-4 in a rugged battle in the down-east city.

BROCKVILLE 6, BELLEVILLE 4

The win gave the Brockville team a 1 to 0 record in the won lost columns while setting the Memos back for their second loss in as many starts in the seven team circuit. Memos lost their early 2 to 0 lead in hard pressed middle period when the double loss blasted five goals home in 13 minutes keeping the visitors rushed off their skates.

In a desperate bid for victory in the last period, Memos Day-Wade-Duncan combination banged two goals home during the first two minutes, while being answered by only one Brockville goal. The visitors showed the 1,352 fans a fast brand of hockey in the opening period, scoring twice and cornering most of the play but Brockville end of the rink. Frank Bethel opened the scoring on assists by Bob Macey and Red Duncan following shortly after by Davy Jones who climaxed a fine passing attack by Jones, MacDonald and Verne Goyer.

Bill Godwin notched the first Brockville goal at 3.50 of the second. Marcel Legris unassisted pumped home the second to tie it up at 5.32 followed in 30 seconds by Archie Richardson. Don Davidson counter at 7.53 and Stu Smith's at 16.54. Doug Day squeezed in the only rapid third period Memo goals, one at 1.11 and the other at 2.04, both on goals by Duncan and Alex Wade. Don Thomson got the insurance goal at 8.50 of the third.

Ed Duncan drew a ten-minute misconduct penalty half way through the second period when referee Moon Flanagan or Kingston, after Flanagan had awarded a tripping penalty to Wade. Fans booed over the second misconduct of the game at 19.58 of the first when he became engaged in an animated conversation with the same official on the ice.

MEMOS 4, CLINTON 1

Less than 500 fans were on hand to see the Memos play heads-up hockey against the reorganized Comets, who have every five members of last year's team in the line-up.

Spearheading the winner's defence was goalie Jerry Patrici who repelled many blistering shots but also was saved a lot of work by the smart position play of defencemen Jake Wade and Hub Macey.

The victor's four goals were divided by as many players, with two in the first period going to Pete Jones and Vern Goyer, while the others came in the final canto on the nifty shooting of Doug Day and Keith MacDonald. Gord Harley's lone Clinton goal came in the middle period on a fast pass play.

All of the markers came while the sextets were at full strength.

In the early going, Clinton was handicapped by the game's first four penalties, but in the late stages it was Belleville that felt the brunt of a well-officiated contest by "Ching" McDonald and John McAvoy. The visitors ended up with six minor penalties to Clinton's five.

After Jones put his team ahead by teaming with "Red" Doran and Frank Bethel, on a fast, short-passing play, the Comets came back with a fine defensive game while outnumbered six-to-four on successive penalties by Jones Doran, D. Jones, MacDonald, Wilson and Ab Wiebe, two hard-working backlines, holding the fort for a minute and 12 seconds was the trio of Greg Batt, Marv Thomson and Jack Timmons.

German Equals Jesse Owens' World Record

YOKOHAMA, Japan (AP)—Heinz Futterer of West Germany equalled Jesse Owens' 10.2 second world's record in the 100-metre dash for the second time in two weeks Sunday, and equalled his own European record of 20.8 seconds for 200 metres.

The performance marked the climax to a triumphant month of competition in Japan for Europe's greatest sprinter and 13 West German teammates.

A breeze of 1.1 metres a second blowing during the 100-metre race was within the allowable limit. A wind over the limit reversed Futterer's 10.2 earlier performance at Osaka Oct. 17 from being considered a record.

The little 22-year-old runner holds all German and European sprint records. He clicked off the 20.8 mark for the metres in Osaka only last Oct. 16, breaking a 36-year-old record of 20.9 set by Helmuth Koernig of Germany.

Jesse Owens of Ohio State University established the 10.2 world record for the 100-metre dash in 1936. It has since been equalled by four other sprinters.

Tip Logan Snips Convert String; 'Was Own Fault'

OTTAWA (CP)—"It was my own damned fault."

That was Tip Logan talking Saturday after his string of consecutive converts was snapped at 84, undoubtedly a Canadian football record.

"It was just one of those things," the 26-year-old Canadian-born end said in Hamilton Tiger-Cats' dressing room after Cats defeated Ottawa Rough Riders 30-9 and clinched a Big Four playoff spot. "I thought This is just another one,'" Logan said. "I felt a little too sure of myself and maybe I took a little peak at the line and didn't keep my eye on the ball."

Logan, who starred with Queen's University, Kingston, Ont., before coming to Hamilton in 1951, did not appear dejected by his miscue, only his second since Oct. 18, 1952.

"Anyway it didn't hurt us (the club) and that is the main thing," he said.

The convert attempt came after the first of five Hamilton touchdowns. The ball sailed to the right and bounced wide off the right upright, about two feet from the top.

Logan came back later with four successful converts to embark on another string.

One Point Separates Teams In American

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Only one point separates the first four teams in the American Hockey League today with Cleveland and Providence deadlocked for first place and Hershey 3-4 and Buffalo 2-3.

Providence climbed into a tie for first by defeating Hershey 3-4 and Buffalo 4-3 while Springfield Indians 8-7 in the only games played Saturday night.

The Reds, who finished in fifth place last year, rallied from an early 3-0 deficit by scoring twice late in the opening period and twice in the final period. Lanky Jack Stoddard drove home the winning goal at 4:04.

Rallying for a total of seven goals in the final period, Buffalo overcame a 4-1 lead by the Indians as rookie Kenny Wharram paced the Bisons with two goals. Ross Lowe, former Bison, scored three for Springfield.

St. Mikes' Stretch Win Streak to Four With Twin Victories Over Week-End

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

St. Michael's College Majors won two games during the weekend and emerged the only team with an undefeated streak in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series.

The Toronto Majors stretched their winning streak to four games by defeating Galt Canadiens Tee-Pees 4-3 Saturday at St. Catharines and beating Galt Black Hawks 3-2 Sunday in Toronto.

In other games Saturday Black Hawks whipped Toronto Marlboros 7-1 at Galt and Guelph Biltmores defeated Barrie Flyers 7-3 at Barrie. Sunday Marlboros walloped Kitchener-Waterloo Canucks 7-0 at Toronto.

The St. Michael's-TeePees clash Saturday was rough. Eighteen penalties including four majors, a misconduct and a match misconduct were handed out.

Pat Hannigan, Bo Calvin, Ken Haberman and Jerry Toppazzini scored for St. Michael's. Pat Kelly, Elmer Vasko, Hank Ciesla scored for St. Catharines.

A goal by Pat Hannigan with three minutes to play gave the Majors victory over Galt Sunday. Galt followed by St. Michael's in first-period goal, then scored two goals in the second session while the Majors were short-handed. Dick Duff tied it up early in the third on a rink-length solo rush and Hannigan won it. Rookie Frank Mahovlich scored St. Michael's first goal. Floyd Smith and Steve Brodie counted for Galt.

Galt snapped a three-game losing streak with their win over Toronto Marlboros.

The Hawks, backed by steady netminding by goalie Bob Senior, ran up a 5-0 lead before the Marlboros managed to score in the third period.

Ken Lalanda and Ron Halstead scored two goals each for Galt. Lloyd Smith, Duncan Brodie and Bob Beckett added singles. Ross Sheddon tallied for Toronto.

Guelph exploded with five goals in the third period Saturday to down Barrie Flyers. It was Guelph's fourth win in five games.

Eddie Shack scored two goals for Guelph. Bill Graham, John Gillis, Bob Forhan, Dick Wojcik and Bill Sweeney scored one goal each. Bob Barlow, John MacDonald and Danny Polizzani fired the shots for Barrie.

Marlboros came up with a strong third period to insure their victory over Canucks. They went ahead 3-0 in the first period, drifted through a scoreless second and then rapped in five goals in the final session.

Ken Girard and Gary Aldcorn, newcomers to Marlboros, set the pace with two goals each.

Sonny Larose, Bill Kennedy and Bob Pulford scored one each.

Tuesday night St. Catharines TeePees play Black Hawks at Galt and Barrie Flyers meet Canucks at Kitchener.

Bombers, Riders Will Decide Issue Tonight

WINNIPEG (CP) — Winnipeg Blue Bombers and Saskatchewan Roughriders meet in sudden-death combat tonight at Regina after cancelling out the first game of their Western Interprovincial Football Union semi-final by splitting the points.

The semi-finalists fought to a 14-14 deadlock at Winnipeg stadium Saturday night before 15,748 fans in the opener of a two-game, total-point series. Tonight's winner moves into the best-of-three final against Edmonton Eskimos next Saturday at Edmonton.

Three times this year Bombers and Roughriders have met without deciding a winner. They split their other two games.

Roughriders were set up for the tie by a fumble in the fourth quarter by Pete Thodos, who had played a brilliant defensive game. With Bombers ahead 14-7, Thodos tried a running catch on a punt at his six-year line. He fumbled, Sully Glasser picked up the loose ball and ran over. Joe Aguirre's convert and a single about three minutes later by Larry Isbell tied the game.

Each club scored two converted touchdowns and two singles.

Glasser and quarterback Frank Tripucka went over for Riders' majors, both converted by Joe (the Toe) Aguirre, the league's leading champion who booted two singles.

Gerry James and Tom Casey, standouts with Thodos on attack, scored Winnipeg's touchdowns, while Bombers converted by Buck Rogers. Rogers also accounted for the two singles on field goal attempts.

'Summer Tan' Easily Wins Huge Stakes

CAMDEN, N.J. (AP)—Summer Tan is going to Florida within a few days to get a bit of sunshine and relaxation after showing 26,336 Garden State Park racing fans how easy it is to win $151,095.75.

The 3-year-old filly trounced five two-year-old colt gave 24 rivals the big horse laugh as he breezed home a nine-length winner Saturday in the $289,865 Garden State Stakes—the world's richest thoroughbred gallop.

The Belair Stud's Nashua beat Summer Tan by a head in the rich Futurity at Belmont Park earlier this month, but there has been little to choose between the two colts all season. One will be voted the two-year-old champion.

Summer Tan will race no more this year, having won five of 11 races with four seconds and a third. He has earned $290,420.75.

Eric Guerin rode Summer Tan, boy son of Hellopolis. The time for the 1 1-16 miles was a mart 1:45.

Fly back was a $1-to-1 shot. Mrs. D. Pershall Beis' Simmy, but second money wasn't hard to take. Pershall Beis' 16 1/2 hands and the $3,963 Simmy brought home in his saddlebag.

The Cain Hoy Stable's Flying Fury was third, three-quarters of a length back of Simmy, cut in for $33,494.75 for copper king Harry F. Guggenheim's two more lengths back was the Rokeby Stables' Cup Man, picking up $13,486.25 fourth money.

$125 ZENITH HEARING AID BETTER BUY THAN AIDS AVERAGING $268!
SCIENTIFIC TESTS PROVE that the Zenith—priced at less than ½ as much—offers equivalent performance for ½ the average operating and upkeep cost!

$268.00 average price of these other five makes. Individual prices range from $229.50 to $295.00!
Zenith has always said you can pay up to $300 or more but you can't buy a finer hearing aid than a Zenith. To support this statement, Zenith requested the United States Testing Company to purchase on the open market two Zenith Hearing Aids and two of each of America's five foremost competitive brands of transistor hearing aids, and to test them thoroughly.
Each of the instruments was subjected to a series of rigorous tests for quality, performance and economy. The results, contained in Report No. E-9116, dated September 13, 1954, tell how:
1. Despite the huge difference in price, U. S. Testing Company reported, "The Zenith 'Royal-T' is the equal of the 5 brands in design, choice of materials and components, and in workmanship."
2. Head to head tests compared with the average of the other five brands in bringing you a full measure of acoustic power performance:

3. The 3-transistor Zenith "Royal-T" cost $18.93 less to operate per year than the average of the other aids tested.
4. The Zenith "Royal-T" registered less objectionable noise due to clashing rub than any of the other five brands.
5. Based on a five-year overall cost projection—involving initial price, battery replacements, etc.—the Zenith "Royal-T" will save you for substantially less than ½ the cost of the average competitive aid.
You can buy the "Royal-T" at home, work, church, theatre, anywhere, on Zenith's famous 10-Day Money-Back Guarantee. One tiny 16¢ battery operates the "Royal-T" for 30 days.
And here's important news! Zenith has recently introduced the smallest, lightest hearing aid in its history—the tiny, inbetween, 3-transistor "Royal-M." Only $100! Same power and performance as the "Royal-T." Frame finished to ink conduction receiver and stock earmold.
FREE BOOKLET GIVES TEST FACTS!
The results of these tests conducted by the United States Testing Company are so important to the hard-of-hearing that we have prepared a free booklet giving pertinent details. It may save you on a friend $150 or more!

Top Teams Sent Reeling In US Football

NEW YORK (AP) — West Virginia, Wisconsin and Boston College were sent reeling in the upset whirlpool Saturday and wound up in the already crowded flotsam of ambitious U.S. college football teams this season.

West Virginia's Mountaineers, ranked No. 7 in the country, were knocked off by late-starting Pittsburgh 13-10; Wisconsin, ranked No. 8 after last week's defeat by Ohio State, stumbled once again, 13-7 to Iowa, and Boston College fell victim to Xavier of Cincinnati 19-14 in what may be the biggest form reversal of the conference 1954 season. Xavier had been dragging a 13-game losing streak, stretching over two years.

Ohio State, the No. 1 team, finally overcame Northwestern 14-7; Oklahoma's second - ranked Sooners were dismal until the final quarter when they rallied to beat Colorado 13-6, and Army, No. 5, just did enough to edge by supposedly harmless Virginia 21-20.

Notre Dame, rated No. 6, also had a scare, barely disposing of Navy on a muddy field 6-0.

The only members of the top ten who won with ease were third-ranked UCLA, 27-6 over California; and Purdue, 9 and a 38-0 winner over Illinois. Miami, the No. 10 team, had an easiest weekend of them all, trampling Fordham 75-7 Friday night.

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Ribitzer

Most bridge players of the cards think they are better than they really are in other departments of the game. So they like to do a lot of bidding. Which is why they adopt cumbersome systems.

A cumbersome system is inaccurate and it denies need support of numerous exceptions. This opens up more bidding situations. And the garrulous ones find them excuses for more bids on same values.

When it comes to suits, they bid more than is good for them. By not confining themselves to suits that are truly biddable. Included in their systems are conditional, shaded, and even shady suits.

Culbertson says a suit is biddable with four cards if headed by a jack and one higher honor, with five cards if headed by a queen or jack-ten; with six cards of any kind.

He adds; A conditional suit is four cards headed by queen only or five cards without a single honor card. It may be bid with two aces, or more than a minimum opening, or in any responding bid.

Goren says a suit is biddable with four cards headed by queen or any five cards headed by minor high-card strength. In other words, what Goren calls biddable is only conditional to Culbertson.

My claim is that a suit is biddable: With four cards containing two faces; five cards with one face; or any six cards. To bid a suit with less is not true. It is lying in your partner.

As you can see, Culbertson and I are almost in agreement as to biddable suits and differ only where. Goren is far afield. Two of us are wrong. Would you like to be as to who can prove correct?

Take a hand like the one you see here:

♥ K 8 4 2
♣ 9 8 5

Culbertsone would open with a heart. So would Goren. My opening is one diamond. Is the suit truly biddable suit. While others are taking sides, mine are splitting with laughter.

Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion's two goal performance against the luckless Chicago Black Hawks last Saturday pushed him ahead of teammate Maurice Richard in their duel for the National Hockey League scoring lead.

Montreal's Geoffrion now has nine goals and four assists for 13 points. Richard, with four goals and eight assists, is tied for second spot with teammate Kenny Mosdell. Mosdell picked up two goals and an assist against Chicago. His 12 points are made up of seven goals and five assists.

Terry Sawchuk of Detroit shut out Boston Bruins Saturday to mark his second scoreless game. This is one better than Jacques Plante of Montreal. Plante leads the goalies with an average of 1.73 per game.

Ivan Irwin of New York continues to dominate the penalty parade with 39 minutes.

AT THE McCARTHY — June Allyson is the inspiration for a wonderful love-story in Universal-International's Technicolor production of "Executive Suite" now playing at the Odeon McCarthy Theatre, in which she is co-starred with James Stewart. Feature roles are played by Charles Drake, George Tobias and Henry Morgan.

"Gone With the Wind," Greatest Enhanced in Vivid New Wide Screen Presentation

David O. Selznick's production of "Gone With the Wind," probably the greatest motion picture ever made, is now brought to the Belle Theatre in wide screen.

The magnificent Technicolor film version of Margaret Mitchell's novel, starring Clark Gable, Vivien Leigh, Leslie Howard and Olivia de Havilland, is even more spectacular in its new wide screen presentation.

Such spellbinding scenes as Scarlett's march to the sea and the resulting panic-stricken flight of the populace from Atlanta and the burning of that metropolis, the houses, the glittering ball at Tara and the emotional sequences, the marching armies and all the pageantry of the Civil War era are given a panoramic effect on the enlarged screen that is literally breathtaking.

The moving scenes of this never-to-be-forgotten story gain added dramatic impact in the wide enlarged scope of the wide screen, and the color and pageantry of its backgrounds are immeasurably enhanced.

Many pictures have been made since "Gone With the Wind" was first released, but none has eclipsed the surge and power of this stirring love story laid against Civil War days with its tremendous panorama of a country in the midst of conflict.

Seldom has a production been so perfectly cast. Every character lives as Miss Mitchell made him or her alive in the book. Clark Gable's brilliant performance as Rhett Butler is the forerunner of the subsequent roles which made him the number one box-office attraction of the world's screen's. Lovely Vivien Leigh is another who made a name for herself as the result of her unforgettable portrait of the tempestuous Scarlett O'Hara. Olivia de Haviland and Leslie Howard distinguished talents as the gentle Melanie, with the late Leslie Howard completing the story's quartet of stars with the glowing portrait of Ashley Wilkes.

"Gone With the Wind" is a picture to be remembered as one of the cherished motion picture experiences of yesterday, today and tomorrow. Those who saw the original version will find a new thrill in the enlarged scope given to the film by wide screen. Those to whom it is a first view will remember it for the remainder of their lives.

Sarnia Imps Defeat Beaches By 36-27 Score

TORONTO (CP) — Chester Gilchrist just missed the Senior Ontario Rugby Football Union scoring championship Sunday as he led Sarnia Imperials to a 36-27 win over Toronto Balmy Beach.

The hard-running half scored 18 points to bring his season's total to 73, three short of the 77 scored by Paul Amodeo of Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen.

The game wound up the senior schedule and left Sarnia in second place behind the Dutchmen at Beaches, in last place, won only one game this season.

Sarnia now meets the Dutchies in a two-game total-points final starting Wednesday.

Beaches puton a drive in the last quarter, scoring two converted touchdowns and keeping the Imps in their own end, but it wasn't enough to overcome the 24-point lead piled up by Sarnia in the third quarter.

Beaches' quarterback Paul Drake matched Gilchrist's three touchdowns with three majors of his own, but Sarnia touchdowns by Jim Burr, Harold Leckie and Al Richmond made the difference.

Sarnia coach Hugh "Red" Douglas put Gilchrist in to kick converts in place of Jim Lambert late in the third quarterback t be big half a chance to add to his points.

Gilchrist made his three convert sies good, but fumbled three imes in the last five minutes when quarterback Lambert gave him the ball on running plays.

The home of the future, according to some of our leading architects, is being tremendously influenced by TV.

The viewing screen, they say, has become as essential a home utility as the washing machine — and subject to much more frequent use.

"Tv-set provision is being made in many homes for separate TV rooms. This is often achieved by changing a small bedroom into a den, or providing finished recreation room in the basement.

In more pretentious homes, the traditional fireplace is the focal point, giving way to the TV position. Furniture is being arranged to give the whole family an unobstructed view.

Some authorities believe the day is not far off when small TV sets will be as commonplace as small radios, occupying favored spots in kitchen, dining room, bedroom, playroom, recreation room, or any other living room. Both outlets are being planned for the small sets.

Whether it's a large or a small set you want, whether for living room or basement, Hutchinson can fill the need — see the new models at Hitchon Radio and Television, 4 Bridge St. E.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

'Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

For MON., NOVEMBER 1st, 1954.

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Fine vibrations for industrial men, musicians, carpenters, miners, those with literary ability, originality. All boring routine, clerical and other work under orders can advance, too.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) — It's the steady thinker who will take the honors today. In business, professional and personal matters, stimulating aspects favor you generally. Co-operate with right associates.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — Maintain a brisk tempo, but don't force issues. Inaugurate plans for present and future activities. Ascertain your best course, then don't deviate, or skip around or you may miss out.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — Romance, decidedly highly favored. Pace action according to your capacity to deliver and enjoy gains—along with good health. Avoid high-pressure tactics, secret maneuvers.

July 24 to August 22 (Leo) — Your day's schedule is properly outlined and carried out you should be able to reap worthwhile reward for your efforts. Feel inspired to bigger, more daring things than heretofore and win new spurs.

August 23 to September 22 (Virgo) — With careful analysis of your problems (and some will irritate), you will salvage much today. Avoid gambling for a break, thinking that others will acquiesce without dispute.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra) — Emotional outbursts from others could give you the opening you seek now. Be alert for opportunities today and better your moves in order to achieve gains.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio) — Today's influences are just right for you. Capitalize on your inborn ability to meet the unusual, tricky situations you encounter. The difficult will be easy if you put forth your best efforts.

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius) — "Go" and "green" lights ahead — just-sane precautions. Do your utmost if pressed, keep an even disposition, meet tasks head-on and you will tone up the winner.

December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn) — This could be a productive or just a spotlcore day, depending upon your initiative, planning and patience. Watch a tendency toward over-confidence. Remember, others achieve these days; why not you.

January 22 to February 19 (Aquarius) — Use caution in making decisions and don't be disappointed at set backs. Have faith in yourself and others will have faith in you. Don't ever despair.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces) — This will either be a very productive day or just "one of those days." YOU are the balance wheel, the one who runs the show. Buckle down and you will achieve.

YOU BORN TODAY: Mars, ruler of this Sign, indicates power, energy, versatility. Antares, major star in your horizon, points up striking characteristics like driving ambition, music appreciation and the ability to meet and deal with people. Often called bold and daring, you are also relating at times and usually ponder after happenings, "what did others think of me." You never tire of activity; success spurs you to greater heights. A word of caution: don't overwreck, nor run down health and nerves; don't overlook "little" good things while trying for the big ones. Birthdaie of: Antonio Canova, Ital. sculptor.

Little Benny's Note Book

Ma was reeding her paper and pop was reeding his, this morning, Here's a divorce court judge that knows what he's talking about when he says that men need more tolerance and forbearance than women, because women have more irritating habits. How true, how true, pop said.

You meen how abserd, ma said. No woman judge would ever make such a silly remark, because every woman knows that the shoe is on the other foot exactly the other way around. What woman comes down to breakfast on a peaceful Sunday morning with her face b r i s a l i n g with unshaved whiskers? she said.

Did you ever see a man leave lip roodge on the rim of a coffee cup? pop said, and ma said, No, but I've often seen one leave cigar ashes here there and everywhere except in the receptables neetly provided for the perpose. And worse and forthermore, men dont hear half of what their wives say to them, and that's not only irritating, it's infuriating, she said.

You've got something there, my dear, pop said, I admit women hear every word their husbands say, and they hold it agenst them years later, and that's not only irritating, it's illegal. Forthermore, when a man becomes involved in a discussion, there's a governor amount of logic in his arguments, but can you say the same of a woman's reasoning? he said, and ma said, When a woman argues, she knows what she's talking about to begin with, so she has no need for logic, that's my anser to that.

It's a woman's werld, and here's my anser to that, pop said.

SMOKE ALARM

BIRMINGHAM, England (CP)— Chimney-top instruments at an automotive factory here ring a bell when an excessive amount of smoke pours out. The devices are aimed at reducing soot and ensuring economic fuel consumption.

Famous Race Driver Killed In Plane Crash

DECATUR, Ind. (AP) —Wilbur Shaw, president of the Indianapolis motor speedway and three-time winner of the 500-mile race, was killed with two companions in a plane crash near here Saturday.

The great racing figure, who had survived serious accidents on the tracks and a severe heart attack, would have been 52 years old Sunday. He was returning home from Detroit after a test run in a new car to put information for a magazine article.

"This is safer than flying an airplane," Shaw had remarked after the test run at Detroit.

35,000 21 P. M. MASS

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — An estimated 35,000 Roman Catholic laymen and clergy took part here Sunday in the celebration of the first afternoon pontifical high mass ever held in the United States.

Archbishop Francis P. Keough presided at the services, which were an observance of the Feast of Christ the King and a Marian Year pilgrimage.

YOKOHAMA, Japan (Reuters)—Susumu Saeki, 24-year-old laborer, was sentenced today to four years' imprisonment for attempting to assassinate Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida last August. Saeki was arrested near Yoshida's residence at Oiso, near Tokyo. He was carrying a hand grenade and a knife.

TOKYO (AP)—Red China today claimed the staggering population of 601,938,000.

Peiping radio broadcast the figure, saying it was based on a direct census taken in June, 1953. It gave no explanation of why the figure only now is being released.

The new figure is 100,000,000 more than the most recent estimates used by the Reds themselves, and from 125,000,000 to 150,000,000 more than Communist estimates.

The new figure makes China nearly twice as populous as her nearest competitor, India, where the 1951 census reported 356,879,000 people.

Compared with China, Soviet Russia's population numbered 193,000,000 according to a 1947 figure released by the Kremlin. Recent Soviet estimates have used the round figure of 200,000,000, given so, Red China now has 401 times than three times as many people as her Communist brother, to whom she has been exporting much-needed food in return for military and industrial aid.

The 1950 census of the United States showed 150,697,361 people, but recent estimates have pushed this above the 160,000,000 mark.

Peiping radio said the 1953 census was taken by the state bureau of statistics. It said the census did not reach Formosa, where the Chinese Nationalist government of Chiang Kai-shek is in control, nor "a few border areas and in regions where local elections had not yet taken place."

Nevertheless, Peiping apparently included not only the estimated 9,000,000 Chinese now on Formosa, but also the estimated 12,000,000 overseas Chinese who live outside China. Many of these hold dual citizenship under Chinese law, but that of the country in which they live and Chinese citizenship too.

May Exhume Body

TORONTO (CP) — Dr. Smirle Lawson, supervising coroner for Ontario, said Sunday he would confer with officials of the attorney-general's department today on the question of exhuming the body of a 60-year-old widow who died last week.

Dr. Lawson and his assistant, Dr. J. D. Lovering, will meet with Clifford Magone of the attorney-general's department to discuss a possible autopsy. No reason was given.

The woman, Mrs. Myrtle Munro of Toronto, died at her home last Sunday and was buried Wednesday.

Batista's Rival Withdraws Name From Cuban Vote

BY SAM SUMMERLIN

HAVANA, Cuba (AP) — Strong men Fulgencio Batista ran unopposed in Cuba's presidential elections today as opposition candidate Ramon Grau San Martin withdrew and urged Cubans to stay away from the polls.

Grau quit the race Sunday night after the five-man superior electoral tribunal unanimously turned down his request for a delay of eight or 10 days in today's balloting. The tribunal former president denounced the elections as a "farce."

Batista, who has been in power since he forced his way back to the top in a 1952 coup, returned the fire in a television speech. He charged that Grau withdrew "because he knows he cannot win" and called on Cubans to ignore the call for a boycott.

In addition to a president, the island republic is choosing a vice-president, a new Congress, six governors and many mayors and lesser officials.

MILLIONS ELIGIBLE

Approximately 2,500,000 Cubans are eligible to vote in the elections, which will be held peacefully in six years. Batista's forces appealed for a record turnout, hoping that the vote for their candidate would exceed 51 per cent of the total eligible voters and thus give them a reply to any opposition claims that Grau might have won had he not withdrawn.

Grau's name and those of his followers will appear on the secret ballots. Grau has said, however, that under the rules of his Cuban Revolutionary party none can accept offices or seats in the Congress even if they get the most votes.

An estimatid 20,000 police, soldiers and sailors stood guard at the 3,219 polling places and other strategic points throughout the island to keep order following a campaign marked by terrorist activities and severe government crackdowns.

No casualties were reported up to the eve of the election although bombs exploded in scattered places the last few days.

Three Pilot Captains Perish In Plane Crash

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP)—A new Vickers Viscount turboprop airliner, operated by seven senior staff members of Trans-Australia Airlines who were learning to fly the ship, crashed and burned 70 miles north of here Sunday. Three pilot captains perished. Five other persons aboard, including the eight-year-old son of one of the crewmen.

The plane was the first of six Viscounts ordered by Trans-Australia and had not yet been put into regular service. The crash occurred on a practice takeoff from Mangalore airfield on three of the four engines.

The boy who escaped injury, Roger Clifford, told reporters of his experience.

"I was sitting near the tail, in my harness, when the airplane hit the ground. There was a terrible bang, and everything seemed breaking up. My daddy came running and got me out of my seat and pushed me through a window. Then the others got out and we ran away."

300 Driven From Homes In $175,000 Blaze

OTTAWA (CP)—More than 300 persons were driven from the 90-suite Strathcona apartment block in Ottawa's Sandy Hill district Sunday by an early morning fire which caused damage estimated at $175,000 to $250,000.

No one was injured in the two-alarm blaze.

Flames swept through the west wing of the five-storey structure, gutting five apartments.

NEW RED COMMANDER

TOKYO (AP)—Peiping radio said today Gen. Tung Biu, commander of Chinese Red Army forces in North Korea, has been replaced. A broadcast said he had returned to China and had been succeeded by Gen. Yang Teh - Chih, about whom the Western world knows little. Tung had been commander in Korea only since Sept. 5.

Phones, Doorbells Ring in Final Flurry of Election Campaign

By EDGAR SIMON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK (CP) — Democrats rang doorbells. Republicans made telephone calls. Politicians of both persuasions pulled out all the stops in last-minute efforts to swing votes for Tuesday's congressional elections.

But most of the noise came from the campaigners themselves. Apathetic or just silent, the voters were showing few signs of enthusiasm on the eve of the election that will decide whether President Eisenhower will have a Congress controlled by his own Republican party or by the Democratic opposition.

Eisenhower, battling the traditional mid-term trend that threatens to wipe out scanty Republican majorities in the Senate and the House of Representatives, promised the telephone campaign Saturday.

He phoned 36 persons Saturday and asked that each call 10 more, asking them to vote Republican and to keep the chain going by making 10 more calls apiece.

PHONE FIRMS HAPPY

The idea pleased the telephone companies as much as the party campaigners. But apart from a Saturday night report that Los Angeles was "swamped" with calls—traffic there was reported normal Sunday—there were no weekend complaints of jammed switchboards.

Democratic national chairman Stephen Mitchell countered with an appeal to party supporters to ring 10 doorbells apiece and urge the householders to get out and ring 10 more.

That idea undoubtedly pleased the wives of sedentary Democrats. But there was just as little indication that it had set the country afire with crusading democratic fervor.

There was a growing conviction that most voters have made up their minds. A team of veteran Associated Press reporters who have covered the country conceded that the Republican campaign has shown a late upswing but they doubted that it could overcome an apparent Democratic lead.

PRESENT MARGIN SLIM

Republicans hold 48 of the 96 Senate seats to 46 for the Democrats. Independent Wayne Morse of Oregon, the remaining senator, has pledged his vote to the Democrats in organizing the chamber after the election. Thirty-seven seats are at stake and the Republicans cannot afford to lose more than one of the 15 they now hold.

In the House, Eisenhower's party holds 228 seats, a bare majority of the 435. The Democrats have 212, four are vacant and there is one independent member. The ratio in the House is up for election with the exception of Maine, where three Republicans were elected in September, and a number of seat, mostly Democratic, which are uncontested.

127-Hour Talking Marathon Ends; Speaker Faints

OLDHAM, England (Reuters)—Kevin Sheehan, 25-year-old Irish man from Limerick, completed his 127-hour talking marathon here Saturday night but a fainted.

Promptly at the 6 p.m. deadline, he collapsed in the middle of a speech of thanks to the 450 people who crowded into a Labrador here to watch him.

A few minutes later, after being attended by a doctor, he recovered consciousness and began to weep.

Speaking huskily but not a reporter: "Physically I feel quite fit but I'm exhausted mentally. What I need now is relaxation.

"I made this attempt because I'm a square peg in a round hole. I have never been able to find a job to suit my talents."

Sheenan, formerly a male nurse in an epileptic colony, started speaking last Monday and touched on world affairs, religion, life after death and epileptic children.

During the marathon he lost 28 pounds.

COMMITTED FOR TRIAL

TORONTO (CP)—Harold Geddes 28, charged with manslaughter and impaired driving following a fatal traffic accident, Friday was committed for trial. Police said Geddes was the driver of a car which was in collision with another in central Toronto Oct. 12. William Benecke, driver of the other car, was trapped in his vehicle and burned to death in the resulting fire.

Prime Minister Gives Support To Allied Moves

QUEBEC (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent today gave unstinting support to allied moves to bring a rearmed Western Germany into the North Atlantic community of nations.

In a three-minute address in French to Quebec's oldest regiment, les Voltigeurs de Quebec, Mr. St. Laurent compared agreements reached in Paris between Western Germany and the Western powers to the planting of a seed, "like the seed planted years ago that closed the gap separating the French from the British."

Charges Queen Implicated In Party Politics

OAKLEY FIFE, Scotland (Reuters)—W. W. Hamilton, Labor member of Parliament for West Fife, charged here Sunday that the Queen was implicated in party politics by confirring the Order of the Garter on Foreign Secretary Sir Anthony Eden.

Eden received the knighthood Oct. 20.

Hamilton said in a speech that agreements reached by the Western powers as a result of the London and Paris talks on German rearmament had led to a huge build-up in the Conservative press for the foreign secretary.

"Even the Queen has been brought into party politics on this issue because the honor of the Garter is given, not on the consent of the government, but on the prerogative of the Crown," he sa

Pays Girl's Fine, Can't Pay Own, Lands in Jail

VAN NUYS, Calif. (AP)—The chivalry of Morris W. Balken, 30, landed him in jail Monday.

A coroner's co-ed, Marion L. Gleason, 19, had burst into tears when a judge told her she would have to pay a $15 fine or go to jail for three days for speeding. She sobbed that she had no money and the bailiff started to lead her away.

"Don't send that girl to jail," shouted Balken. "I'll pay her fine." He did.

Marion expressed fervent thanks and departed.

Then Balken's case was called. He was given the alternative of $35 or seven days in jail for being guilty to failing to signal for a turn and driving without a license.

Lacking the $35, he went to jail.

Russia to Press For Study by UN Of Twin Charges

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Determined to ward off further delay, the Soviet Union drew up new demands today for prompt UN action on its twin charges of United States aggression against Communist China.

The Russian delegates prepared to put their case this afternoon to the 15-country steering committee and insist on an immediate airing of the two complaints:

1. That the United States is guilty of aggression in the vicinity of Formosa and the China mainland;

2. That Nationalist China, with U.S. connivance, has made piratical attacks on shipping bound for Red China.

The committee has blocked the Soviet demand twice in recent weeks, but informed sources predicted the group would vote this time to place both items on the General Assembly agenda.

The United States has branded the charges a "plain lie" but made known it would not oppose their being debated in the U.N.

The steering committee voted Oct. 19—over Soviet opposition—to hold off discussion of the explosive aggression charge until the touchy disarmament debate was safely out of the way.

It twice postponed discussion of the piracy charge while a French good offices committee studied the matter.

The Russians tried to get the General Assembly to upset both rulings but were defeated.

Given 12 Years For Manslaughter

ST. CATHARINES (CP)—John Gasiukouli, 45, was today sentenced to 12 years in penitentiary for manslaughter in the knife-slaying July 31 of his 44-year-old son, Zil.

Gasiukouli was convicted Monday by a jury which deliberated for three hours and reduced the charge from one of murder.

Evidence was that the son was stabbed during a drinking party. The father claimed he recalled nothing about the slaying because he was drunk at the time.

WEATHER

TORONTO, (CP) — Synopsis: Very cold air covers the eastern half of Canada this morning and temperatures are below freezing except along the shores of Lake Erie and Lake Ontario. A weak disturbance centred near Windsor has produced snow in southwestern Ontario and this precipitation is expected to spread across the lower Great Lakes today as this storm moves slowly eastward.

Holland Dockers in New Strike Vote to Resume Their Jobs

LONDON (Reuters)—Some 2,500 of the men involved in London's latest dock strike voted at a mass meeting today to return to work Wednesday morning.

Their decision came as the latest day-old strike was threatening to spread throughout the troubled dockland area. Already the dispute following the month-old stoppage which ended Monday had brought out nearly 6,000 men.

A total of 22 ships, filled with cargo that has waited weeks to be unloaded, were again deserted. Scores of empty trucks were lined up along roads leading into the docks.

The latest complaint is against the use of non-union truck-drivers in moving the vast pile-up of goods caused by the long strike.

Officials of the powerful Transport and General Workers Union went into the docks today with orders to clear up the new dispute.

Meanwhile, other longshoremen carried on with the task of unloading ships caught in the nation-wide stoppage. But their mood suggested that if the new development was not settled amicably, it might lead to another big break-down.

During the major dock strike, the longshoremen compiled a blacklist of non-union men who drove trucks into the docks to collect goods from warehouses. Names of truckdrivers holding union cards who continued working in the docks during the strike also went down on the list.

DOMINION BANK, BANK OF TORONTO TO AMALGAMATE

450 Branches to Have Over Billion in Assets

OTTAWA (CP)—Government approval has been given to a preliminary move by two of Canada's oldest banks toward the first bank amalgamation in this country since 1931.

The Bank of Toronto, founded before Confederation in 1855, and the Dominion Bank, incorporated in 1871, Monday were granted permission to draft an amalgamation agreement to their shareholders next month.

The two institutions, if shareholders approve, will be merged under the name "The Dominion Bank" with total assets of $1,100,000,000, some 450 branches and $45,000,000 in shareholders' equity.

The amalgamation would be Canada's first bank merger since a series of them in the 1920s that ended with the Imperial Bank of Canada's absorption of the Weyburn Security Bank in 1931.

Finance Minister Harris, announcing approval of the amalgamation agreement, said both banks are financially strong. By expanding branch facilities, both should be able to offer greater competition and more efficient service to customers.

The amalgamation would cut the number of chartered banks to 10 from 11. If shareholders approve, the agreement is expected to be ratified by parliament, the cabinet. This would be a mere formality.

VANSTONE AS CHAIRMAN

Chairman of the board of the Toronto-Dominion Bank would be B. S. Vanstone, president of the Bank of Toronto. Robert Rae, Dominion president, would be senior vice-chairman.

The two banks in a statement estimated that 10 years in branch development will be saved by the bank amalgamation. Both institutions have many branches concentrated in Ontario and by amalgamating both feel they can open more branches in Montreal, the Maritimes, Quebec and western Canada.

Initial capital of the new bank is to be $15,000,000. Bank of Toronto shareholders will get four of the new bank's 1,500,000 $10 shares for each three shares now held. Dominion shareholders will get one share for share.

The bank's capital of the new bank is to be divided in proportion to shareholders' equity in the two institutions — $21,000,000 for the Dominion and $24,000,000 for the Toronto after a transfer of $2,000,000 of the tax-paid reserves of the latter.

John Wayne Weds

KONA, Hawaii (AP) — John Wayne, Hollywood's rugged king of the boxoffice, and tiny Pilar Palette, beloved Peruvian actress of Peru, were married in a 90-second ceremony Monday against a beautiful Hawaiian sunset in a romantic tropic garden here.

The 135-word civil ceremony did not include the word "obey."

It was Wayne's third marriage and her second. Wayne's divorce from Josephine Saenz became final Thursday, the same day Pilar was granted an annulment of her previous marriage.

U.S. 84th Congress Will be Chosen By Voters Today

Possibility Democrats Will Have Majority in Houses

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Americans choose today between Republicans and Democrats to control the new Congress. And first reports from the polling places indicated neither party had reason for concern over voter apathy — something both had said they feared.

How much the last minute get-out-the-vote prodding by Presidents Eisenhower, Adlai Stevenson and other leaders on the tickets had to do with it was uncertain, but fragmentary early surveys suggested well-filled ballot boxes. Both parties had insisted in advance that such reports would be good news for them.

Actually there was no certainty that even the best of the closing drives by the two parties had much to do with it along there had been some observers who clung to the view the voters had already made up their minds and were indifferent only to the politicians' plugs.

REVISE ESTIMATES

Whatever the reason, sample checks in New York and in the environs of Washington suggested reason to revise upward the advance estimate of 40,000,000 voters.

In New York, despite rain and cold, approximately 15 per cent of the registered voters in Manhattan had cast ballots by 9 a.m.

That was the same percentage as had voted at that hour in ideal weather in the mayoralty election a year ago.

"Extremely heavy" was the report on early voting in the Maryland suburbs of Washington and Arlington. The capital itself is voteless.

In Chicago, the first hour's voting brought predictions of a very heavy turnout.

Similarly, Ohio cities had an early rush to the polls.

EARLY VOTERS

Among the early voters was former President Truman. Putting in his ballot at Independence, Mo., Truman said, "it will be the right Democratic ticket again."

Another well - known Democrat, former postmaster general James A. Farley got in an early vote in New York and predicted a "Democratic victory."

President Eisenhower, also a New Yorker, cast an absentee ballot long ago.

In addition to choosing the new Congress, voters will elect 33 governors in 33 states and hundreds of local and state officials.

With a three-seat advantage over the Democrats in the 96-member Senate and with control of the 435-member House of Representatives, the Republicans took personal charge of the Republican campaign, the forecasters were almost unanimous in predicting a Democratic victory. In the last week many were hedged, although there still was considerable doubt whether his efforts would prove so effective enough to ensure a Republican success.

Thirty-two seats are at stake in the Senate, where six vacancies are to be filled in addition to those

Television as Medium of Education Being Tested in 75 Canadian Schools

OTTAWA (CP) — Television comes to Canadian classrooms today.

Some 75 schools, about 50 of them in Ontario, will take part in an experiment designed to establish the value of television as a medium of education.

A series of eight specially chosen programs originating with the CBC and the National Film Board will be broadcast directly into the classrooms of grades five to eight.

A network of CBC and private broadcasting stations across Canada will bring the video classes to a film or live audience. Each one of the 15- and 20-minute productions that parents will be able to see on their home sets at home range from soil conservation to Columbus' navigation aids.

The experiment is the largest undertaken anywhere since the advent of television. It will be carried with six schools tuned in and the United States has set up similar television classes on the municipal level.

Teachers' reactions will form the basis of a study by the CBC and the national advisory council on school broadcasting, which prepared the programs.

Their report probably will decide the future of television in Canadian classrooms.

The weekly series ties in specifically with the Ontario education program, but may have some application in other provinces.

Some of the productions will be aimed at grades five and six. They are: How Columbus navigated, a film on "Soil conservation and restoration of art education; and "Starbuck Valley Winter," a dramatization of an episode in a boys' novel by Roderick Haig-Brown.

Pupils in grades seven and eight will see: "House of History," a tour of the home of William Lyon Mackenzie in Toronto; a study of the Upper Canada town of Niagara-on-the-Lake; and "Canada's Northland."

NEHRU STATES PACT WITH CHINA NOT MENTIONED

His Talks in Peiping Mostly on Economics

BANGOON, Burma (Reuters)—Prime Minister Nehru of India said here today on his way home from a tour of Communist China that neither he nor Chinese leaders had suggested a pact between the two countries, and the matter was never mentioned.

"Most of my talks in Peiping with China's economic experts were problems, which are great, and her efforts to overcome them," he said.

Nehru said Chinese leaders were interested to hear of proposals to hold an African-Asian conference in Indonesia early next year.

CHINESE AT PEIPING

"They seemed to like the idea of the conference, and my impression is they would be prepared to attend, although nothing definite was said about this on either side," he said.

Nehru told reporters his visit to China and Indonesia had given him a vivid view of the "changing face of Asia."

He said: "Every country in Asia is changing from the political plane, which was mainly about their struggle for independence, to social reform, which is the second and consolidating stage."

His impression was that China did not want war, but wishes to build up her economy by means of peaceful methods. The exclusion of China from the United Nations now is "a deliberate attempt to discredit the United Nations than it is harming China," he added.

Three Major Tire Companies Say Taxes Unfair to Them

OTTAWA (CP) — Three major tire companies today said excise and excise taxes discriminate against them in favor of manufacturers of "special brand tires."

In a brief presented on behalf of the companies to the finance board, Senator S. A. Hayden said the special brand tire was places in a better competitive position.

Special brand tires are those produced by manufacturers for a corporation which retails them bearing the corporation's name and trade mark.

The three companies—Firestone Tire and Rubber Company of Canada Ltd., B. F. Goodrich Co. of Canada and Dominion Tire and Rubber Company of Canada, Ltd., —produce tires known as "standard brand tires" which are distributed through dealers and the tax is calculated on the basis of the dealer price which includes the factory cost and a reasonable factory profit, the sales tax, national distribution, field warehousing, advertising, and wholesale and retail profits.

Taxes on special brand tires, the brief said, are calculated on the price the corporation pays the processors.

"This price includes only factory costs plus overheads and factory profit.

"The costs relative to distribution, advertising, sales promotion, etc., although incurred in the placing of the product in the hands of the public in the same way as the standard brand tires, are not subject to excise taxes.

The companies argue that the corporations handle the tires themselves and should be taxed as such.

Earlier, federal officials said the board's decision, following the hearing of briefs, probably may have some impact on retail tire prices. They said that the tax on taxes be levied on the selling price of special brand tires and not on the factory price used by such corporations to the processors.

It is a part of the revision of the Excise Tax Act, the brief said, to impose sales and excise taxes on the basis of the wholesale price of such articles of a particular industry be levied in different competitive positions.

Sales and excise taxes now are levied on the basis of the manufacturer's selling price, if a manufacturer sells a regular brand tires to a wholesaler at $12 each, the tax applied would be $2.40, whereas the wholesale price is $14.40.

However, a special brand company, buying large quantities of tires bearing the company's stamp and tire tread, may get the tires at $10 each. The tax on this price would be $2.

Queen Mother Is Suggested As Governor-General

HALIFAX (CP)—A British newspaper man suggested here Monday it "would be a great thing" if the Queen Mother became governor-general of Canada.

Hastingly," said Kenneth Johnstone in a speech to a service club, "it would be a great thing if the Queen Mother were the governor-general of Canada, when Vincent Massey's term is ended.

"She is trained for that work and a magnificent woman."

Mr. Johnstone is general-manager of the Kemsley newspaper group.

Mothers Agree To Keep Babies

LONDON (Reuters)—Two mothers whose infant sons were accidentally switched in the maternity hospital agreed Monday to keep their own children although they have become devoted to the wrong offspring.

The mothers' decision came after a 24-hour trial switch insisted on by the courts. Until then, Neil the mothers had defied the verdict of hospital blood tests and kept their children in their own homes.

Mrs. Vera Bowers, 22, and Mrs. Sheila Read, 24, both of London, are only barely convinced that at last the two tots, Kenneth and John, have been sorted out correctly. The husbands, bank messenger Ronald Bowers, 23, and Alfie Read, 24, have therefore agreed to find adjoining apartments so that their wives can watch both babies grow up.

Irish Republicans Parade, Loyal Ulstermen Attend Ball

By LLOYD McDONALD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK (CP)—The Irish Republicans paraded outside in the cold while the loyal men of Ulster paraded inside the warm ballroom, then danced into the early hours of this morning in honor of the Queen Mother.

The occasion was the Commonwealth ball, second of three balls one evening events during the 18-day visit of Canada's Governor-General Vincent Massey and his wife, Alberta Vanier.

The societies attending were the Loyal Orange Lodge and the Ulster Irish Society of New York.

While the Northern Irelanders gathered with other Commonwealth groups to greet the royal mother, members of the Clan Hibernia, an Irish-American anti-British group, marched with their Regiment armory on Park avenue, carrying placards with anti-British slogans.

Another Republican group, the Irish-American Unity Conference, demonstrated at the dockside last Tuesday when the Queen Mother arrived and in front of the Waldorf Astoria Hotel Saturday night when she attended the Columbia University charter dinner.

Either or both groups are expected Wednesday night to picket the big English-Speaking Union dinner, final event before the Queen Mother goes on to Washington and Ottawa.

There were no incidents Monday.

Dresden Cafe Owner Will Be Given Two Weeks to Drop the Color Bar

TORONTO (CP)—Bromley Armstrong, 28, a Negro trade union official, today handed in a formal complaint to Labor Minister Charles Daley charging he was refused service at a Dresden, Ont., restaurant last Friday.

Armstrong said he was with Hugh Burnette, Dresden Negro, and Ruth Lee, a Chinese girl and secretary of the University of Toronto Student Christian Movement.

Queen's Park sources said the restaurant owner named in the charge will be given two weeks to drop the color ban or face prosecution. Mr. Daley and Monday he would proceed against owners who continued to defy the law if he received proper complaints.

Mr. Daley said previously education officials would handle general policy. Under the Fair Accommodation Practices Act, the minister's permission is necessary for prosecution.

Of three Dresden restaurant owners reported involved in other cases of discrimination, one was reported ready to comply, another "practically agreed and a third still refused to serve Negroes.

Armstrong said he was afraid discrimination would spread to other communities if not checked in Dresden, 20 miles north of Chatham. Recommendations of Judge William Schwager of Hamilton, who conducted a hearing on the problem, have not been revealed.

Victim of Prank

FLORENCE, Italy (Reuters)—A terrified peasant woman told police at Porgia d'Antella village near Sienna "snatched a bunch of carnations, blessed and said that two "Martians out of her arms earlier in the day and made off in a "cylinder machine."

Rina Lotti, 40, said she met the "Martians" while crossing a field on her way to church.

They were about three feet tall, the said, and wore a sort of heavy diving suit and weather helmet.

Police said:

"We are inclined to think that Mrs. Lotti has been the victim of a prank."

First Step Finished

TORONTO (CP) — Robert H. Saunders, Ontario hydro chairman, said Monday the first step is closed off the flow of the St. Lawrence river on the north shore of Barnhart island, where a 2,200,000-horsepower generating station will be located, is finished.

Work is complete on the first of big coffer dams — rock barriers which will keep out the water. Sheek and Barnhart islands. The power project is scheduled for initial service in 1958 and completion in 1958.

DIED

BRADFORD (CP) — The big mystery of the Holland marsh today concerns the whereabouts of 500 to 700 claims the Ontario Hurricane Relief Fund is awaiting from people who lost clothes, furnishings and other contents in houses flooded 2½ weeks ago.

Claim forms were distributed a week ago, but only 58, representing about $50,000 in claimed damages, have been returned.

The call to turn in claim forms has been passed by word of mouth. A car with a public address system which can be heard for miles across the flat marsh has screamed the message. Post offices, stores and relief centres reminded refugees with whom they come in contact.

Still unheard from are people like Don Caesar, who has become almost a legend in Bradford. No. 1 marsh hero of the flood. He is credited with having rescued more than 100 persons in a small outboard motorboat in seas too rough for rescue craft.

GHOST-TOWN AIR

Claims already made are being investigated by the insurance companies' adjusters, Dan Holland of Windsor and William Climo of Montreal. They found a ghost-town air hanging over large parts of the marsh Monday. Many of the residents have had to examine still are unoccupied and, where they have been occupied, the havoc and ruin presents a desolate sight. In one, a light bulb burned dimly, apparently forgotten in the haste to flee the flood.

One claim received Monday was for funds to replace a brand new baby outfit, lost by a woman who expects a child in January.

Disturbed by the $3,000 ceiling placed on compensation which Premier Frost has announced will be paid on any house destroyed by hurricane Hazel, the Holland marsh emergency committee is expected to take action to seek a boost in the figure.

Commonwealth Parley Proposed

LONDON (Reuters)—Plans for holding another Commonwealth economic conference in London may be submitted shortly to the governments concerned, usually reliable sources said here today.

If all governments agree, the conference is likely to be held early next year.

The last such conference was held here immediately after the Coronation in June, 1953. The series ministerial and official private session then ranged over the international situation and discussed Commonwealth economic questions.

Queen Mother Is Given Warm Welcome

A total of 22 ships, filled with cargo that has waited weeks to be unloaded, were again deserted. Scores of empty trucks were lined up along roads leading into the docks.

The latest complaint is against the use of non-union truck-drivers in moving the vast pile-up of goods went down on the list.

MANY WRECKED

Between 500 and 700 marsh homes were flooded, and it is expected that a sizeable, although as yet undetermined number will have to be replaced. Some houses were swept off their foundations, and wrecked.

Reeve D. A. Evans of Bradford said there will be many cases where the $3,000 limit is not enough. The worst flooding in the marsh was west of Highway 400 and there, especially in Springdale, there are many $20,000 to $25,000 houses, Mr. Evans said. Some houses is a member of the marsh emergency committee and will attend today's meeting.

Fund Objective Oversubscribed By $210,000

The Archdiocese of Kingston Marian Year program has achieved a total of $1,410,000 in pledges and contributions, it has been announced by Barry J. Stafford, general chairman of the campaign. This amount, far in excess of the $600,000 minimum goal, will go in its entirety for the additions and improvements to the Home of Providence Home for the needy aged, and St. Mary's of the Lake Hospital for the chronically ill. Campaign expenses were paid out of a special contribution not included in the above total.

Mr. Stafford, in announcing total returns were still outstanding, and that other pledges were in, and a final audit completed an announcement would be made of the total. He also paid tribute to the generous contributions. He noted that the overwhelming public response was a tribute to all who had lent their support through their work and their contributions, and pointed out that the substantial oversubscription assured that the multi-million dollar projects for the aged and infirm would be completed with a minimum of indebtedness to be carried by the archdiocese and its people.

The general chairman announced that simultaneously the campaign would receive statements monthly, or otherwise, according to the terms of the pledge conditions. Statements will include an appeal for such payments as may be made to campaign collections office, located in the Archbishop's residence. Or those who prefer to pay in cash, each parish will receive a box in the vestibule of the church where the enclosed envelope may be deposited by either wilful donor, and the stub of the statement.

It was pointed out that the final tabulations will delay the mailing of the first statements by a week or so, but that they will be received before mid - November. Subsequent statements will be received on the first of each month.

STAN MIDGLEY

"Autumn Across America", one of the most colorful travelogues of all time, will be the second in the current Kiwanis World Travel and Adventure Series to be shown in the collegiate auditorium Thursday, November 4th.

Stan Midgley, who presented "My California" and "The Tournament of Roses Parade" last year, took seven years to complete "Autumn Across America". Mr. Midgley will also narrate the film in his delightful and limitless style.

The film is a 30,000 mile kodachrome trail through all parts of the United States during the most colorful time of the year. Included are scenes from New England's historic spots, a southward trip through the Adirondacks, the Alleghenies, the Blue Ridge Mountains and the Great Smokies.

It takes the viewer westward along Lake Superior, through the great timber belt, the Rockies of Colorado, Wyoming and Utah. It includes the Pacific Northwest, Mount Hood and Columbia Gorge, and the Yosemite Valley of California, and southward into the High Sierras.

Mr. Midgley's happy recitation of his camera pilgrimages to the beauty spots of America have earned him the title of "The Mark Twain of the Camera."

Poppy Fund Committee Will Help Family

The Belleville Poppy Fund Committee has completed a special committee to raise a fund to help rehabilitate the late Robert McCoy, who lost their 10-month-old son and all their possessions in a fire last Saturday night.

The special committee, composed of Lee Digby, Henry Drury and Roy Madden, has opened an account at the Bank of Montreal under the name of the McCoy Relief Fund. Donations for the fund will be accepted at the bank or by any member of the committee. Phone numbers of committee members are: Lee Digby, 2377-R, Henry Drury, 3321; Roy Madden, 607.

Trustees of the fund are the presidents of the three veterans organizations in the city: the Canadian Legion, the Army, Navy and Air Force Veterans and the RCAF Association.

The Poppy Fund has taken care of the immediate needs of the McCoy family.

However, accommodation is badly needed as Mr. and Mrs. McCoy and their other children, Lorraine, Richard, 4, and Douglas, 3, are staying with Mr. McCoy's parents. They appreciate any and all help given.

Mr. McCoy, 28, is a veteran of World War II, and in June was discharged from the army after serving a three-year tour of duty. He has been employed only since returning to the city. He is a motor mechanic by trade and would appreciate employment.

The committee has stated that replacement of furnishings and furniture will be undertaken, when suitable living quarters have been found.

October Warmest In Five Years Report Shows

October, 1954, according to official figures of the Belleville Water Purification Plant, was the warmest in five years, so far as Celsius here go.

The month when Jack Frost sends his legendary artists to wave magic brushes over forest and town, was productive of some gorgeous pictures of red and gold, and a mean temperature of 51.2 degrees. That is the highest mean since 1949 when the average read 52.1. The average over the past twenty years is 48.4.

Lazy gusty "Hurricane Hazel" despite the fact she "blew her top" to a considerable degree in the city, was not productive of much rain. Barely a half-inch fell in the wake of the windy wench. A total of 2.74 inches fell during the month, a decided increase over the 0.46 inche that fell a year ago. Incidentally October, 1953 was productive of the least rain in twenty years.

Snow was conspicuous by its absence during the past month. In fact no snow has marred October weather since 1946 when a one-inch-and-one-half blanketed the district temporarily. That, too, is a record over the past twenty years.

Precipitation for October was 2.74 inches.

'Local Conservation' Talk Heard At Y's Men's Meeting

The annual radio auction will be held this November. Reports of the canvass of local city businessmen indicate that merchandise is forthcoming, that club members are being well received, and that there will be on hand an excellent radio auction again this year.

After some discussion it was decided that the local club would send a donation of $100 to Hurricane Relief Fund, Toronto.

A committee under chairman Bill Gordon, club president Roselle Clarke, New members introduced were Ken Bowers, Bill Darrie, Ron Elmy, Ron Luscomb, and Don Bell.

The speaker of the evening was conservation officer Don Bell, who spoke on the work and objectives of "Moira Conservation Authority". The conservation officer goes along, not only in Hastings County, but rather in the whole Moira watershed area.

The club learned something of the present operations of the Conservation Authority, some of their aims are reforestation, preservation, and care of woodlot, increase in wildlife, prevention of erosion, care of floods, and the establishing of recreational areas.

Workers Will Not Change Picket Methods

WINDSOR (CP) — The striking United Automobile Workers (CIO-CCL) local at the Ford of Canada plant in Oakville said Monday it will not change its methods of picketing at the plant.

The company had accused the union of using illegal picketing methods at the huge assembly plant, midway between Toronto and Hamilton.

In a statement released Monday, the company said supervisors, technicians and engineers were being prevented by picket lines from entering the plant.

Jack Taylor, international representative of the UAW in Oakville, said the union has established its plans for picketing, and it would not change them.

About 800 employees at this plant went on strike 18 days ago. Another 1,800 workers, normally employed at the plant, had been laid off temporarily during a retooling period just before the strike started. They have not been recalled.

There has been no change in the strike situation here, where 5,700 workers went on strike 23 days ago.

Batista Rolls Up Big Vote For Presidency

By SAM SUMMERLIN

HAVANA, Cuba (AP)—Maj.-Gen. Fulgencio Batista and his supporters celebrated victory early today as election returns gave the former army sergeant a commanding lead in his presidential race against an opponent who quit the fight at the 11th hour.

The official count reported at 1 a.m. today by the electoral tribunal showed Batista with 196,698 votes from Monday's balloting to 12,950 for ex-president Ramon Grau San Martin. Grau withdrew from the contest Sunday night and ordered his followers to boycott the election. The official returns were from only 647 of the 8,000 polling places.

Semi-official returns announced at the same time from army headquarters credited Batista with 854,857 votes to 135,417 for Grau. This count was based on 6,017 polling places, or 73 per cent of the districts.

Mayor Ross Burtt May Get Another Term by Acclamation

TRENTON (Special)—It would take a Philadelphia lawyer to figure out Trenton's political future.

One thing seems sure is that present Mayor Ross Burtt will be returned by acclamation if he decides to stand for office again. Two of his strongest opponents in the past and eligible for position have flatly stated to the press that they have no intention of entering the field this year. So unless they change their minds or a dark horse goes to the polls Mr. Burtt is a cinch for the top executive's chair in 1955.

The fate of Mayor Burtt's councilmen hangs in the balance. None of them will commit themselves with only 35 days left before the voters get a chance to decide.

It is apparent that they have adopted a "mum" is the word policy.

Furthermore there has been no news of new aspirants seeking election. However strong opposition to the 1954 administration promises to predict the present mayor and council's future. "They'll be going, stock and barrel," he said.

Presently Mr. Burtt and his six colleagues are more concerned about the business at hand. Facing them is the question of the $1,500 damage action levelled at the town by former assessor Charles Rogerson who claims "irregular dismissal" last spring. He has served legal notice that he intends to press the court. He expressed his intention to file suit after the Ontario Municipal Board upheld his assessment in the recent case when Senator W. A. Fraser and O. G. "Buster" Alyea were successful against Councillor Gerald Weaver. Mr. Rogerson's charge is one of the important items on the council agenda tonight.

TO APPEAL IN

The $3 appeals against the current assessment of Trenton properties may turn out to be another thorn in council's side. Actually only 65 properties are affected because 11 are of a minor nature, a further 10 had to do with business assessment and four were duplicate appeals.

Nearly half the appeals are filed in the names of Senator W. A. Fraser and O. G. "Buster" Alyea. Their concern properties in the names of Councillor Gerald Weaver and R. J. "Dick" Whitley.

For the first time in years the Court of Revision comprises five councilmen. Members are: Robert Smithrim, Reg. Armstrong (chairman), Claude Graham, N. R. McKay, Gerald Weaver.

In the case of the appeals against Gerald Weaver's properties the defendant, Mr. Weaver, may decline to act on the Court of Revision, the possibility would set up a situation whereby the four acting members would be deadlocked in a tie. Then the Mayor would be called upon to cast the deciding vote.

Regardless of this era of political indifference and newspaper controversy the town appears to be forging ahead. The Public Utilities has almost finished the big job of placing conduit underground on the main route between the C.N.R. tracks and the town bridge. Business is thriving as indicated by the glut of traffic any place downtown on the week-ends. Employment, however, seems to be quite healthy. Most of the factories operate on a five-day week basis.

Jury Returns True Bills On Three Indictments

SIMCOE, Ont. (CP)—The trial of Jerry Simmons, 47, of Syracuse, N.Y., and Ernest Charap, 23, of Detroit, charged with two murders and robbery with violence, began here Monday after a grand jury returned true bills on the three indictments.

The two are charged with the murders of Dorothy Beatty, 67, and his wife, Ida.

Beatty died in hospital the day after being attacked with an ax last Feb. 2 at his Heston service station, four miles east of here. Simcoe is 18 miles south of Brantford. Mrs. Beatty died in hospital at London May 21.

A petit jury was selected at once to proceed with the indictment in the slaying of Beatty.

Mr. Justice F. E. Hogg of the Ontario Supreme Court rejected two motions by defence counsel.

Lawrence T. Pennell of Brantford, counsel for Lotharp, sought separate trials for the men. The second motion, made by Harold Stafford of St. Thomas, counsel for Simmons, asked for a change of trial venue.

Mr. Stafford said jurors might be prejudiced by newspaper reports on the investigation. He suggested there was prejudice against Negroes in the Simcoe area. Both Lotharp and Simmons are Negroes.

FONDA DEVELOPS BURN

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Henry Fonda suffered severe face burns when he fell asleep under a sun lamp, his physician said Monday. The actor, attempting to get a tan for his role in "Mister Roberts," apparently slept two or three hours under the lamp. Dr. Laurence Chagin said the actor would be missing from work several days.

High-Ranking Hero of Jutland Dies in London

LONDON (Reuters) — A former rear-admiral who broke off his brilliant career in the Royal Navy because of his command from "no earthly captain" died Monday at the age of 74 as a ferry man's parson in London's shabby east end.

Few members of the impoverished congregation knew that Rev. Alexander Wood had been a high-ranking hero of the battle of Jutland in 1916 and that he was the son of an admiral.

Nor did they know his story of a Divine revelation during that battle which changed the course of his life.

To them, Mr. Woods was known as the "shy parson" because he never talked about his personal life and background. He devoted his time to the "down and outs" in the dockland area.

He preached at St. Paul's, Whitechapel, known as the "dockland church," and became chaplain to a seamen's home nearby. Everybody knew the strong understood sailors and the sea. His weather-beaten face and steely eyes spoke of first-hand experience at sea.

As a captain at the battle of Jutland, he was in charge of signal operations for the British fleet flagship Iron Duke. In the midst of giving signals, he received what he called "an interposed signal which came from no earthly captain but from a higher command," a message he scribbled down and entered himself in time to conduct the signal operations through the battle. He was awarded a Distinguished Service Order for his heroism at Jutland.

Mr. Woods remained in the Royal Navy for 15 years, then entered a theological college.

Two years later he was ordained as a minister in the Church of England. He asked and got the east end assignment.

Find Girl Died Of Natural Causes

TORONTO (CP) — An autopsy Monday revealed Patricia Overdon, the girl whose death is believed to have suffered long mistreatment, died of natural causes.

The autopsy was ordered after the child died in hospital of injuries which Dr. Smirle Lawson, supervising coroner for Ontario, said suggested by their appearance she was badly beaten.

Dr. Chester McLean, the doctor who performed the autopsy, said he could not determine if the child suffered mistreatment. He said death was due to "acute diffuse peritonitis."

Township Will Appeal Annexation Order

BRANTFORD (CP) — Brantford township council Monday night decided to appeal against the Ontario municipal board order granting Brantford city right to annex 7,900 acres of township land.

Petitions will be prepared seeking signatures of at least 10 per cent of township residents so formal objection may be filed, in an attempt to delay the Jan. 1 annexation.

About half the 125 township residents at the meeting said they thought the municipal board decision should be accepted.

Male Nurses Quite Common In Far East

TORONTO (CP)—For the first time this year a male nurse is included among the many foreign nurses taking training this year in the courses for graduates at the University of Toronto school of nursing.

Jesudoss Sigmoney from Madras, India, is not a rarity in his homeland. Male nurses are common in many eastern countries, he said. On his return to India Sigmoney will take charge of the school of nursing at Mary Lott Myles Hospital, Madanapalle, south India.

This year's group studying at the school include eight from India and others from France, Peru and Thailand. All but one of the Indian nurses are here under the Colombo plan. Guanasekvan David is sponsored by the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire.

Given Three Years

STRATFORD (CP) — Leonard Sullivan, 24, Monday was sentenced to three years in penitentiary for stealing a safe containing more than $2,000 from a garage at nearby Milverton.

He was convicted of the theft last week after three other teenagers testified they were with him when the robbery was committed earlier this fall.

Sullivan was also convicted on seven other charges of breaking, entering and theft.

Body of Prince Has Been Found Near Wreckage

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—The Iranian court announced today that the body of Prince Ali Reza, the shah's brother, has been found near the wreckage of his aircraft in mountainous country about 36 miles northeast of Tehran.

The 32-year-old prince had been missing since late Wednesday on a flight in his private plane to the Iranian capital from north Iran, near the Soviet border.

Palace sources said the other two occupants of the plane—the prince's private pilot, Maj. Amin Pour, and a sick peasant Ali Reza was bringing to Tehran for treatment—also were killed in the crash.

The wreckage and the three bodies nearby were found by soldiers patrolling in the area.

Iran's court went into mourning immediately on receipt of the news of the prince's death. Radio Tehran announced that the prince's body would be taken to the Shah Abdol Azim shrine, south of Tehran, for burial Wednesday.

A PROPOSAL WITH IMPLICATIONS

The proposal by the United States that in future the United Nations should pay for supplies and equipment used in collective military action against an aggressor has most interesting implications.

There is one school of thought which holds that the United Nations should be transformed into a type of world government. Any such arrangement would require the surrender by the member states of part of their sovereign rights. Like any other government, a world government would have to be equipped with the power to enforce its decisions. It would require a world police force and this police force could not be armed with bullies, or even with revolvers and tear gas bombs, but would have to have in its arsenal all the weapons of twentieth century armies, navies and air forces.

The United States is not suggesting that any such force should be created. Agreement on such a move certainly could not be obtained at this time and it is certain that the U.S. would be among the most vigorous opponents of such a proposal. Under the U.S. plan in any future action against an aggressor, the weapons of war would be supplied by the individual members of the UN, as they were in Korea. The U.S., however, wants the UN to commit itself to pay for these supplies and equipment, instead of the cost being borne by the countries which supply these articles as was the case in the Korean war.

It may well be that some of the member nations will maintain that, in principle, the proposal involves the question of the possibility of establishing a world police force. It is a proposal which would have interesting effects. For instance, if this plan had been adopted prior to the Korean war, Russia would have had to pay part of the cost of the supplies and equipment used in battling the Korean and Chinese Communists, for whom she was supplying arms. If Russia or any other nation had refused to pay a share of the cost of fighting the aggressor lists it would, we presume, have been considered to have defaulted on its dues to the UN and would not have been eligible for continued membership.

If the UN is ever to become a truly effective organization capable of enforcing world peace, some such development as this is imperative. At the same time there must be great changes in present-day conditions make this the right time to initiate any such a plan.

It is possible that, before they vote on the proposal, delegates to the United Nations will have to make up their minds which is the more desirable—a truly united United Nations, with many of the world's nations excluded or the present type of organization, which could include all the nations of the world but which could never, under existing international conditions, be truly united.

LANGUAGE DIFFICULTY

Prime Minister St. Laurent, in a letter to the Ottawa Journal, has replied to an editorial in that paper expressing puzzlement at a request by Canada to the Canadian Government got the best it could out of a bad deal on the question of an all-Canadian seaway.

The misunderstanding did not arise in the Journal's editorial room but was the result of a report by The Canadian Press of a speech the Prime Minister had made at Montreal. This speech was in French. There was an official English translation. In this translation the French word "concedaient" was rendered as "recognized"; in his letter to the Journal the Prime Minister translates it as "concede." The official English text makes the Prime Minister say later in his letter critical of the Government's handling of the seaway "recognized that the government had got the best it could out of a bad deal," while Mr. St. Laurent's translation is that these letters "concede that the government had gotten the best it could out of a bad deal."

There is, of course, a vast difference between the two statements, similar though they be. The word "recognized" implies that it is true that the deal was a bad one. The word "concede" on the other hand only suggests that, though the deal was a bad one, the best which could have been obtained, without in any way implying that the contention that the deal was a bad one is a correct interpretation of the facts.

Here is a plain case of language difficulty. It should prove intensely interesting to Canadians, because in their own domestic affairs, they have a concrete example of the type of thing which must at times be arising in international conferences and at meetings of the United Nations. Perhaps we ought to hesitate before charging our friends with bad faith when their interpretation of exactly what was said upon later varies from our own understanding of the situation.

GENTLEMEN IN POLITICS

Politics is said to be a dirty game, but in Connecticut at least there are some gentlemen in it. The son of the Democratic candidate for state controller was stricken with infantile paralysis a few days ago, and the aspirant had to suspend his campaign indefinitely. His Republican opponent promptly called off his own campaign until the Democrat can resume the stump.

If politics could attract more men of that type, campaigns might not be in such bad odor. (Philadelphia Bulletin.)

HOUSE RULE

"This home is kept for laughter and fun," we used to say.
"We don't like fits of temper for they spoil our day.
We don't like stupid quarrels and all arguments we shun
So children just remember here
we laugh and we have fun."

They would battle on occasions, as the best of children do.
There'd be difficult scrapes, but the cure for that we knew.
Their mother simply asked them what within this house is done?

And the answer came back promptly: "Here we laugh and we have fun."

The years are long and many and the laughter's not so gay,
And the fun is not so merry since the mother went away.
But wherever we get together, long before the meal's begun,
I remind them all "Remember, here we laugh and we have fun."

Baker Makes Good Cookies

(Montreal Star)

Doing our best not to panic, we have read with increasing dismay a lament by Waldon Porterfield in the Milwaukee Journal on the disappearance of the cookie as the production of loving mother or devoted wife.

Mr. Porterfield, a citizen who delights in old-fashioned delicacies, complains that what Oliver Wendell Holmes would call bought cookies now are made untouched by the hand of man or woman, and he deplores the latter development in a gigantic mixer operated by men wearing atmosphere shields.

This is tricky ground on which to debate, for sentimentality bids us say that nothing could match the cookies—or the pies—mother used to make. But science has also produced a good many that we have relished and if we are to be branded as traitor for our blood and ancestry, there it is, our grosser nature prevailing again.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

RICHER THAN WE KNOW

We know so little of what we are. We are an undiscovered country to ourselves. It's as though we sat upon a piece of land and owned it, yet without knowledge that it contained a fortune of oil, gold, silver or other precious substances.

We, as individuals, are like that. It takes time, experiences, contacts, traveling and study to learn of the hidden riches within us. We are, however, far richer than we, or anyone else, know. If we mined ourselves for the undiscovered, as we mine the earth for treasure, we would no longer be classed with Shakespeare's "underlings."

Montaigne had this to say: "We are every one richer than we imagine, but we are taught to borrow and instructed to shift, and rather to make use of other's goods and means than of our own." Also he wrote: "Have you known how to compose your conduct? You have done more than he who hath composed books. Have you known how to take rest?

You have done more than he who hath taken Empires and Cities. The glorious masterpiece of man is to live properly."

Read the decrees of great thinkers and philosophers. You won't find them advocating money as the total aim in life. Rather are they put sirens upon the free mind and its expression by itself. They will praise the families, the father, and the miner for mental and spiritual wealth.

We are richer than we know, but this often takes an emergency to waken us to the possibilities that lie within us. How many a boy has come from a small town and gone to the big city, where he later distinguished himself. The example of Thomas E. Dewey, New York City racket buster and three times elected Governor of New York, as well as having run for the Presidency twice, is an inspiring one. Here is a man from a small Michigan town to New York to study singing, but the occasions revealed that he was wanted higher up!

Journey to West Coast

By G. A. MORTON

(Managing Editor)

Golden Gate Park in San Francisco is the largest in the city and probably is one of the finest in the United States. It is over 1,000 acres and was established in 1870. At that time it was a wilderness of sand and stunted trees of scrub oak and wild cherry. The sand hills was the big problem of course for the winds whipped it about and it was not until Sea Dent Grass seed imported from France was planted that it was possible to undertake the landscaping and other work.

Tens of thousands of tons of good earth were transported to the site over the years until up to three feet of suitable soil covered the sand. Even in places where deep-rooted trees were set the depth of the good soil is much greater. One can imagine the work—a mile by one-half mile park is called the largest man-made park in the world.

Like Stanley Park of Vancouver there are lengthy driveways and foot paths which wind past the many attractions which the park has to offer. Among the features are the Steinhart Aquarium which we visited, Morrison Planetarium, Academy of Sciences, the de Young Memorial Museum, the Conservatory and the Japanese Tea Garden. There is also the Children's Wading Pool, 60,000 square feet in area.

CHILDREN'S WADING POOL

A children's wading pool of huge dimensions was pointed out. There the youngsters can sail their boats, hold miniature power boat races and have a delightful sandy beach where they can play. Nearby are the Steinhart Aquarium which we visited, Morrison Planetarium, Academy of Sciences, the de Young Memorial Museum, the Conservatory and the Japanese Tea Garden. There is also the Children's Wading Pool, 60,000 square feet in area.

Among the features are the Steinhart Aquarium which we visited, Morrison Planetarium, Academy of Sciences, the de Young Memorial Museum, the Conservatory and the Japanese Tea Garden. There is also the Children's Wading Pool, 60,000 square feet in area.

The Steinhart Aquarium is a handsome building which houses innumerable fish from fresh water and salt water fish, and shell fish from the Pacific coast. Specimens common to the United States are displayed in cages while in a court under a large skylight there a dozen or more alligators up to six feet long are living and being fed at the time of our visit and to do it two men with pails of fish stepped over the edge of a spot alongside the pool. They had small fish in the pails which would place a fish and hold it out to the alligator which would snap the food off the spoon with a clatter of teeth on metal. The spectators were mostly children and the men who then shoved them back into the pails. All fish were kept them busy. Those 'gators were really hungry. On questioning the man in charge of the feeding, we were told it was necessary to do it that way to prevent fighting for some of the animals were stronger so would get more than their share while others fed every other day.

A person could spend hours in the aquarium watching the antics of the different specimens. None was as large as the 'gators but the fish seen at Marine Studios in Florida, Boy Scout tanks and identified made it easier to study those which were most interesting in the whole place. We had less than half an hour to spend there.

One of the men most responsible for the design and bringing to fulfilment this wonderful park was John McLaren, a Scot. He was in charge of its creation as a landscape expert and master gardener and he died in 1943 at the age of 90. He came to San Francisco, to take charge of the park in 1887. He had definite ideas as to how it should eventually be done and would permit no interference. It is said he never went to go to some trouble to even see the Mayor of the city or any other one of Robert Burns. Most of them have just passed corridors through the plantings at the front. Old John died in 1943 at the age of 90 but his policy regarding the park is beyond value in its facilities for the residents of San Francisco and its surrounding communities. For the statistically minded it might be added there are 31 miles of bridle paths, eight miles of bridle paths and 27 miles of trails.

A GOOD IDEA

That familiar remark . . . "It was a good idea, but it didn't work out." . . . can be applied to a practical device seen during the tour. One of the large city reservoirs has been a favorite place for wild ducks but there was considerable concern about it from health authorities. They did not want to shoot them so it was decided to put a wire screen to keep the ducks from landing. It was strung both ways across the reservoir forming a coarse wire grid or screen with the result that ducks left the reservoir without much difficulty. We were told, however, that prior to bobbing around on the surface as if there was no wire over their heads they first flew up to the wire, cutting off their heads was rather disconcerting.

At last reports, city officials were still in a quandary as what to do about their duck problem. We would like to have seen how those birds flew off the water.

Please allow this rural reader to draw the notice of some of your town and city readers to the following few golden lines in the news columns of your distinguished contemporary (New York Times) in the course of a report of the address by the Secretary of Agriculture, Dr. Earl Butz to the annual Agricultural Writers' Conference in Washington: "He asserted that agriculture, not labor, was the true American industry, must 'adapt or die'" and, "The value of the United States agricultural plant was estimated at $127,000,000,000; or a national average of $800 per farm," he said."

I am sure that the above personalization "adapt or die" can be too literally applied to the particular industry (agriculture) which is mben more than merely "the true American industry". In the first place one of the wise sayings of Plato's Republic is as "the mother of industry", and in this instance, if just the basic agricultural "plant" failed to "adapt" and was to "die", it seems to me that all the rest of industry and adaptability of all the secondary industries which are dependents couldn't hope to survive, and their undoubted efficiency would be impaired.

In an effort to bring that "national average" $25,000 per farm" south of the line into a more revealing focus, may I be privileged to quote the following graphic paragraph from one of the U.S. farm papers. It certainly throws a searching light on that "average" capital investment per Farm: In 1949, only 103,231 farms had gross sales of farm products of $10,000 and over; only 381,151 had gross sales of between $10,000 and $5,000; 1,000,000 farms had gross sales of $5,000 to $9,999; 882,302 farms had gross sales of only $2,500 to $4,999; 1,000,000 farms had gross sales between $1,200 and $2,499; while 717,201 farms had gross sales between $250 and $1,199. That is a breakdown of $3,-000,000 commercial farms in the United States listed in 1949. The balance of 2,333,334 farms are listed as part-time, residential or abnormal". — (M. W. Thatcher, in C.F.A. Digest, St. Paul).

Wants to Talk To Russians

(The Commercial Appeal)

Timothy O'Neill, a motorcycle patrolman in Memphis, N.Y., is attending beginner's classes in Russian. He has already heard adult education program. O'Neil has a very special reason for wanting to learn the tongue. He invites him to credit for going somewhat ahead of everybody else in town. "If I can't ticket Russians when they speed and run through stop signs," he says, "I can go to them and tell them that they should obey the traffic laws."

Mr. O'Neil is following in the footsteps of some very distinguished world figures who have learned that you can get anywhere with the Russians by mastering their tongue conferences. We wish him much better luck than the diplomats have had. He may be able to find whatthe Russian is for: "Where's the fire?"

Personal Health Talks

NOW THEY SAY IT WAS STUFFED

I still chuckle when I recall the fury of the doctor's wife who didn't like the title of the pamphlet I send on request. I did so provide stamped self-addressed envelope. The title was simple enough: "It Is Stupid to Suffer from Piles." Just who did I think I was, you ple are "stupid". The lady certainly gave me what for in well-chosen words—my one regret was that I couldn't keep the letter in my scrap book. Like any other criticism which seems bitter, it had some effect. Shortly afterward I changed the title of the pamphlet to "Do Not Need to Have Piles." Frankly, I think the first title was better, but if it offended the wife of a doctor . . .

From correspondence with readers before and since I changed the title I can't make up my mind whether the original title or the present one was the more effective — in getting poor people with piles to do something about it. It ought to be as easy as it is to make up a story to tell my boss about why I did not go to banker on the bowling green this morning. O. N. Beasley, that is, the one character on the green whom I never call names. That might be easy enough but for the fact that my boss sometimes stops at O. N.'s desk to offer condolences and . . .

Oh, well, I received more thank-you letters per month during the year before I ceased calling such suffering stupid than I have since I chickened.

If you have been are now, or should become subject to piles, you ought to know something about the trouble, these facts particularly:

1. Piles are hemorrhoids.
2. A pile or hemorrhoid is essentially a varicose vein, and anyone of the scores of little veins just within or around the orifice may become varicose, (that is, dilated).
3. Inflammation of the varicose vein constitutes an "attack" of piles.
4. Bleeding piles are internal and usually painless. Aside from tons of blood, they ruin gun health although the victim is unaware of the nature of the trouble, internal piles produce only vague symptoms.
5. A doctor who has not made an examination with headlight and speculum cannot honestly say whether the patient has or has not internal piles.
6. Internal piles are amenable to injection treatment—which is painless, takes but a few minutes in the doctor's office, and does not interfere with the patients ordinary work or play.
7. Internal piles rarely become inflamed, painful, engorged and/or extruded by straining so that it is necessary to lie with piles higher than shoulders and replace the mass.
8. Internal piles are always painful for several days of the "attack" (inflammation), are not amenable to injection treatment. Only radical surgery, under general anesthesia or local anesthesia in severe cases, will cure external piles.

STRENGTH FOR THE DAY

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

THE HORIZON

A young man told me recently that he had resigned from the navy. He will be joined the navy. On sea duty he discovered that there as nothing which improves the quality of one's vision as much as looking out over broad expanses of water, peering intently for an object one cannot quite see.

If such an experience is good for physical eyes, it is to be especially commended for the eyes of the soul. Nothing else does our soul so much good as persuading us to the horizon, trying to see something that is only slightly visible. Religion is primarily a matter of faith. If we will not accept religious truth until it has been proved to us we shall probably never accept it. We believe in life after death. On the dim horizon of life there is evidence that such a hope is well founded and the more we train our eyes to catch the outlines of that hope, the stronger does our faith become.

The more we seek for spiritual truth, the more does our desire for spiritual truth increase and the deeper do our spiritual capacities become. The more intently we search for this truth the better do the eyes of our souls become. The more we want to know about prayer, the more we will know. The more intent we are on discerning the will of God, the more will we discern that will.

Peer intently toward the horizon. It improves the vision.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

Elaine Grand, who has her own TV program, "Living," on CBLT and who is one of the most gifted interviewers I have listened to, was covering the recent Salvation Army congress in Toronto and was talking to workers in the armories where the Salvation Army was collecting emergency supplies of all kinds. She came to a quiet, middle-aged woman who was sorting bales of clothing into sizes and sexes.

"Are you Salvation Army?" . . .

"No," said the woman, "just a volunteer."

"You heard the call for volunteers?"

"Yes, I heard at work that they wanted help here."

"Oh, yes, of course. I came straight from my office myself. I suppose most have."

The woman smiled around. The place was alive with people bending, sorting, carrying.

"Tell me," asked Elaine Grand." Do you often do volunteer work of this kind?"

"Why, yes, when anything happens," said the woman, quietly. "You get to know what's wanted."

She was deftly sorting all the time Elaine was questioning her. "I see," said Elaine." By the way, do you recognize any others here, people who might have the same little habit of sort of turning up? Do you see anyone else that?"

The woman paused and gazed around the armories. Then she smiled at Elaine.

"Yes, I see several. Over there, and there, and there."

She pointed to different busy figures.

What Elaine was bringing out was a rather beautiful fact, known to those who deal in trouble and disaster; that there is a quiet standard and brotherhood of women and men, attached to no society, no organization, who are the first to offer help and service when the call for help is raised.

MADOC

Madoc-Elzevir Sunday Schools Hold Convention

MADOC — The annual convention of the Madoc and Elzevir Township Sunday School Association was held on Wednesday, at Eldorado United Church with a splendid attendance at each of the three sessions. The church, which had suffered quite extensive damage during "Hurricane Hazel", had been temporarily repaired and was given an added brightness by the beautiful flowers sent in by Dr. Grant Fraser, of Madoc.

The theme for the convention was "The Challenge of the Unfinished Task," and this theme was carried throughout the day by the various speakers. In his opening devotional service, the Rev. J. F. Lane, of Madoc, read and commented on 1st. Cor. 13, throwing it out as a searching challenge to all to grow in the knowledge of love and in practical application of it in every-day living.

Later in the day the Rev. J. Smith, of Madoc, followed this same thought of love as applied to work as Sunday School teachers.

FOUR NEW MINISTERS

The president, Mr. Allan Sager, welcomed four new ministers to the county as a result of have come to their charges since last year: Rev. P. Bennett, Rev. J. Smith, Rev. J. Glowett and Rev. S. Johnson. Reports were read from twenty Sunday schools.

The guest speaker for the morning and evening sessions was Rev. Mr. Hogerward, of Ivanhoe United Church. Mr. Hogerward, who is a native of Holland, had spent eight years as a missionary in New Guinea before he and his wife and children were taken prisoners by the Japanese. They spent more than three years in concentration camps. His message dealt with the theme of the convention as it relates to far places of the world, where Christianity is still unknown. He described the spread of Christianity from its earliest beginnings, explaining the motives and methods which were not always the best. Now missionaries face a far different world, but the motive must still be simple and complete obedience to Christ.

S.S. TEACHING METHODS

In the afternoon, Rev. L. K. Daniel, of Victoria Avenue Baptist Church, Belleville, gave a most helpful talk on Sunday School teaching methods. He pointed out the responsibility as teachers, showing that 85 per-cent of church membership comes through the Sunday School, aided by such week-day groups as C.G.I.T., and Young Peoples' Unions.

Sunday School teachers should always feel that their primary consideration is to teach boys and girls to come to the measure of the stature of the fullness of Jesus Christ. Facts should be presented so children may grasp them as relative to their own daily living. Teach children to work with God because they know He loves and cares for them, and needs their help in caring for others.

During the evening Miss Rogers, of Norwood Pentecostal Church, spoke briefly on total abstinence and presented a film strip on "Safety Education."

Mrs. C. Woods presented awards to 11 girls and boys who had written temperance examinations, two being Dominion awards, four were Provincial awards, and the others local W.C.T.U. awards.

JUNIOR BANNER

The banner going to the Sunday school receiving the highest number of points was awarded to St. Peter's Presbyterian Sunday school, Miss Alma Moorcroft making the presentation to the superintendent, Mrs. Mabel Clark.

Special music throughout the day was much appreciated. Those who sang were: Rev. and Mrs. Johnson, Mrs. W. Armstrong, the Misses Robinson, Mrs. Smith and Gael, and Bannockburn junior choir, with a solo by Mrs. "Ivory Palaces" by Mr. Radzminski. Lively sing-songs were conducted by Mrs. Jackson, Miss Rogers and Mr. Radzminski.

After the installation of new officers by Rev. M. Heslip, the convention was closed by Rev. J. F. Lane.

LONDON (Reuters) — London's ancient Guildhall, where kings and statesmen have been honored for centuries, is back in its grandeur after a battering by wartime German bombs.

Ask Private TV Stations in Six Major Cities

OTTAWA (CP)—The Canadian Association of Radio and Television Broadcasters today asked the government in a brief submitted in hearing of private television stations in six cities now served exclusively by the CBC.

The association's board of directors made its request in a brief submitted privately to Prime Minister St. Laurent and members of his cabinet.

A statement issued by the association said the brief also urged establishment of a separate body to regulate broadcasting in Canada. Text of the brief was not made public.

At present, the CBC has exclusive television rights in Halifax, Montreal, Ottawa, Toronto, Winnipeg and Vancouver. However the government has announced private television broadcasters will be licenced in the future in these cities.

British Centurion Tanks Equipment Of Armored Units

OTTAWA (CP)—The army's two armored regiments now are completely equipped with British Centurion tanks. The cost: about $17,-000,000.

This does not represent the total outlay for Centurions because the Royal Canadian Armored Corps school at Camp Borden, Ont., and other training schools have also been fully equipped with the 54-ton land battlewagons.

Conversion from American Shermans to the British Centurions began in 1951 for the armored regiments—Lord Strathcona's Horse of Calgary, and the Royal Canadian Dragoons of Pelawawa, Ont.

Canadian armor in Korea employed Shermans but Centurions are waiting for D-squadron of the RCDs when it returns from the Far East soon. D-squadron of the Lord Strathcona's in Germany has Centurions and enough Canadian tanks are being stored in Europe to supply the tank element of an infantry division.

Destroyer Haida Home

HALIFAX (CP)—The destroyer Haida, the only Canadian warship to navigate the globe twice, came home from her second tour of Korean duty Monday.

Three hundred wives, relatives and friends lined the rain-soaked pier and watched the ship emerge from th fog.

LT.-Cmdr. Mark W. Mayo of Renford, N.B., and Ottawa said the trip was "pretty much routine."

Haida came home by way of the Suez canal, the Mediterranean and the Atlantic.

Charge Judges Set Exorbitant Fees for Services

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—Two official publications of the United Automobile Workers (CIO - CCL) have charged judges appointed by the Ontario minister of labor to settle grievance disputes, are setting "exorbitant fees" for their services.

John Rayside, business secretary of Local 195, said county judge G. A. P. Brickenden of Simcoe has submitted one bill asking for a fee of $225 for "not more than three hours sitting." He said the judge submitted a list of expenses as well.

Mr. Rayside also said Judge Brickenden levied a fee of $400 for a sitting last week which lasted two days. The judge's list of expenses brought the bill to $527.30 for the two days.

Judges are appointed by the minister of labor to act in grievance disputes when the company and union involved cannot agree among themselves on a judge.

The company and union divide evenly the cost of the sitting judge.

The Auto Workers, official organ of the UAW, charged a judge can double his salary easily by sitting in on labor disputes.

LIVING OFF UNIONS

Official of local 195 said the judges are "living off the unions." They said Judge Brickenden had charged $30 an hour for each sitting, plus expenses.

The average fee for judges appointed in these cases is $100 a day, the officials said.

When a judge is appointed to act in a conciliation board hearing, his fee is set at $25 a day.

Mr. Rayside said he had written to labor minister Daley, asking that Judge Brickenden be removed as an arbitrator in grievance disputes.

He said he received a letter Monday from J. R. Metzler, deputy minister of labor, stating Judge Brickenden would not be removed. Mr. Rayside quoted the letter as saying Labor Minister Daley would not make any change.

Producer Stops Manufacture Of Horror Comics

LONDON (Reuters) — Arnold Miller, biggest British producer of horror comics, announced Monday night he will stop selling them.

He commended: "effectively, that means there will be no more of them in this country."

In recent months horror comics have raised a storm of criticism throughout Britain. Home Secretary Gwilym Lloyd-George has promised in Parliament to investigate the complaints.

During the weekend Miller's two major rivals, publishing firms in Leicester and Glasgow, announced they would withdraw from the horror comic trade.

EMPTY POCKETS SPURRED HIS PEN SAYS HEMINGWAY

At his home just outside of Havana, Cuba, Ernest Hemingway smiles to himself as he reads a wire informing him he is winner of this year's Nobel prize for literature. The bearded writer, famous for his hard-boiled style and violence - packed tales, will go to Sweden December 10 to receive the gold medal and $35,000 cash award from King Gustav Adolf VI at a traditional ceremony. Hemingway said he wrote the novel, "The Old Man and the Sea," which helped him win the coveted prize, because "I was broke." (Central Press Canadian).

After the president closed the meeting the hostess served choice refreshments.

WOMEN'S MISSION CIRCLE

The October meeting of the Women's Mission Circle of Victoria Avenue Baptist Church was held on Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. C. Reynolds, Charles Street, with 32 members in attendance. The president, Miss J. Nurse, presided. During the brief worship service a very fine meditation was given by Mrs. A. C. Fox on the subject of living one day at a time. In the "Watch Tower" Mrs. C. Campbell read several interesting news items on various phases of the work. The topic was presented by Mrs. M. Robson, who told brief biographies of four native Bolivian pastors showing what wonderful changes may be wrought in a life once surrendered to Christ's saving and transforming power.

Dainty refreshments were served by the hostess and the social committee.

WESLEY CHURCH W.A.

The regular meeting of the Wesley Church W.A. was held recently at the home of Mrs. E. Windover with a splendid attendance.

The president, Mrs. Windover presided and opened the meeting with the "Ode" followed by The Lord's Prayer in unison.

Mrs. J. Wickens was in charge of the devotions. Readings were given by Mrs. Rush, Mrs. Rutter, Mrs. Denike and Mrs. Hockaday. Minutes were read and the roll call answered by donations for the bazaar to be held in Wesley Church next month. A thank-you note was read from Mrs. Saylor.

Mrs. W. Denyes thanked the ladies for the lovely gifts and warm wishes extended to Mr. and Mrs. F. Denyes on the occasion of their golden wedding anniversary.

The meeting closed with the Mispah benediction. Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess and helpers.

Native Missionary Outlines Work Of Church in India to WMS

Mrs. Lincoln Elliott, of Tweed, presided at the Belleville Presbyterial of the W.M.S. meeting held at Bridge Street United Church last Friday evening.

This service was conducted by members of Tweed C.G.I.T. under the leadership of Mrs. W. K. Pace. Taking part in this inspiring devotional service were: Carolyn Vance, Margaret Clark, Maren Engel and Dorothy Matheson, while some 70 members of C.G.I.T. groups, in uniform, occupied a block of seats in the auditorium. The choir also assisted by rendering a special selection, "God So Loved the World."

GUEST SPEAKER

Mrs. S. W. Spafford, president of Bay of Quinte Conference of the W.M.S., was asked to introduce the speaker, Mrs. Kenneth Masih of the United Church of North India.

Mrs. Masih, a talented, cultured woman, with her husband, the Rev. K. Masih, had been a delegate from the United Church of North India to the World Council of Churches meeting in Evanston.

At the meeting of General Council of the United Church of Canada, in September at Sackville, Nova Scotia, Mr. Masih had been honored with the degree of L.L.D., while his wife, Mrs. Masih was on tour of Western Canada, under the auspices of the Woman's Missionary Society of the United Church. She leaves Canada in December to take further study in England in Christian education before returning home.

In her opening words, Mrs. Mahla, in colorful sari, addressed her listeners as "Friends" (one of the most beautiful words in the English language) because of her courteous, kindly welcome in all parts of Canada.

Mrs. Masih brought greetings from her people of India, especially from the women of her land, those of the United Church of North India, and expressed her gratitude to the W.M.S. for making possible her visit to Canada. Referring to her husband going to Eastern Canada and herself to the West, she said, "The United Church of North India united us, but your United Church of Canada separated us."

Mrs. Masih spoke of the enrichment in experience as she met and spoke to church groups and got to see and know the beauty of the land, but reminded her listeners of India's Himalayas and their grandeur. Mrs. Masih told of her work under the United Church of North India, which includes Christian churches in North India, Kashmir and Pakistan. Thus the Christian church of India transcends political barriers and extends to the very southern border of India. When, in 1850, the Christian church of India was formed in the north her grandfather, a Muslim, became one of its first members.

THE CHURCH IN INDIA

Mrs. Masih said only two percent of the entire population of India is Christian. Of these one percent is Roman Catholic and is one percent Protestant (with 152 denominations. 80 percent are Hindus and nine percent Moslem. Since 1946 India has had her independence and after her own government was established, there then came church union of many Protestant churches, with the Christian church having the right of freedom and propagation of the gospel among non-Christians.

Twenty percent of churches in India are urban. These are the aristocrats of the land and absorb 80 percent of the church's finances. A city church in India is very much the same as one in Canada, but the condition of the village church and its people is far different. Churches of the villagers may be 10 or 20 miles apart. They have only mud-plastered walls and often no seats on the bare, beaten earth on which to sit. People have no means of getting to service except by walking. Women and children do not know what shoes and stockings are and umbrellas and raincoats are unheard of. The village minister has to use his strong legs to carry him to church unless he is lucky enough to own a bicycle. His salary is only about $10.00 a month, the same as that of the average Christian and luxuries are unheard of.

Drawbacks to the spread of Christian religion are many. These are:

1. Living in a non-Christian environment—what is the future of the Christian church in a Hindu country?

2. There is a lack of leadership—none whatever, much, in the villages.

3. Illiteracy among the people leads to poverty and disease.

4. Because of poverty of the Christian people, there is no adequate program for youth and they give their energies to the government or private enterprises for better salaries and get out of bounds of the Christian church.

5. Besides all this, while the government gives the freedom of religion, yet Scripture and Bible cannot be taught in the schools or they must forfeit the government grant.

Women's work in India is in its infancy. "My first task," stated Mrs. Masih, "when I return to India will be to set up a constitution to unify the work of women's organizations. We have financial difficulties which not only prevent the starting of new projects, but hinder the carrying on of present ones."

Mrs. Masih likewise stated that they had many of "Hazel's" sisters every year and there they are the expected rather than unexpected.

At great sacrifice the Christian people try to support 200 schools and 900 dispensaries for children, thus made homeless.

Contribution of the Christian Church in India:

1. Every non-Christian leader has in some way been influenced by contact with the Christian church and its teaching.

2. The brotherhood of man has been taught by Christian missionaries with such results as the abolition of the caste system, education of women, reforms in child marriage, widow remarriage and public health reforms. All these have resulted from germs of missionary activity.

3. There are 15,000 mission schools in India.

4. 2,000 hospitals are under Christian auspices, and 80 percent of all nurses are trained in Christian hospitals.

5. Sunday, in India, is a holy day for Christians. On December 25 every Christian is in church, until there is no standing room. Though there is no turkey or giving of expensive presents, yet the kettle is on the fire for a cup of tea for all Christians or non-Christians.

"What of Missionaries to India" Mrs. Masih has four adopted. Her reply was that missionaries never more needed than they are today. In this social and economic development of India, the church must not lag behind.

Mrs. Masih concluded her address with an appeal for assistance to help train Indian Christian leaders, to set up properties for their young people, and to assist the struggling Christian church of India. "It is now or never," said Mrs. Masih. "Success of the Christian church in India is to your credit; failure is part of your responsibility. Canada is so blessed, physically, morally, mentally; cannot you assist us Christ is the hope of the world —In India."

Mrs. Charles Hyde, president of Bridge Street W.M.S. Auxiliary, voiced the appreciation of those who had been fortunate enough to hear this worrierful Christian woman of India present so challenging and stimulating an address.

The Rev. Miriam Collins pronounced the benediction.

Belleville Sections of WMS Hold Final Rallies in City

Many successful autumn rallies of W.M.S. have been held in various sections of Belleville Presbyterial, the last of these being held in the city last Friday afternoon, the rally for Belleville West, meeting in Holloway Street United Church and for Belleville East, in Bridge Street United Church. At each church about 70 delegates and visitors were registered.

BELLEVILLE WEST RALLY

In Holloway Street Church, Mrs. T. G. Mitchell, of King Street Church, Trenton, the 2nd vice-president of Presbyterial, presided.

The theme of the session was, "Christ, The Hope of the World", and the worship service along that thought, was conducted by Mrs. W. Fletcher of Mt. Pleasant, Rawdon, Auxiliary.

A brief but warm welcome was extended those present by Mrs. Fred Wilson, of Belleville, 1st vice-president of the Presbyterial.

Three departments of the work were emphasized. These were:— Christian Stewardship; Literature and Christian Citizenship.

$32,500 OBJECTIVE

Christian Stewardship work was ably presented by the secretary of that department, Mrs. R. Coulter, president of Holloway Street Auxiliary. She spoke of phases of Christian Stewardship, showing this to be a God-given trust to every individual, which, if used to the fullest, results in enrichment of life and Christian character as well as extending the work of the Kingdom of God.

Increased needs in home and overseas missions were emphasized,—not just financial needs but need for more leaders and workers on the fields. The allocated objective this year is $32,500 only $800 more than was sent in to the branch treasurer last year.

NEW BOOKS INTRODUCED

"Bookazine Tools," so said Mrs. Pierce Jones of Picton, the literature secretary, as she introduced the new books on India for missionary study. Assisted by members of the Literature Auxiliary of King Street church, Trenton, Mrs. Jones presented by dramatization, a literature playlet, giving a short review of the study books available for various missionary groups, in order to sharpen their perspective of India. Auxiliaries were urged to do more reading of splendid books telling of life in India and growth of Christian church there. She urged the purchasing of the new "Book Shelf".

CHRISTIAN CITIZENSHIP

The work of this department was presented by Mrs. Lincoln Elliot, president of the Belleville Presbyterial, who took the place of Mrs. M. Davidson, the secretary of the department, unable to attend. This department has a four-fold outreach. It includes—

Temperance Education
Social Welfare
Racial Brotherhood
World Peace.

Assisted by Mrs. Minielly by method of question and answer, Mrs. Elliott spoke comprehensively of the work. She mentioned the failure of our church in obtaining the signing of temperance pledge cards, only 200,000 instead of their objective of half a million. She urged that as Christian women, we try to follow more earnestly Christ's way of peacemaking in every human relationship. "Christ is the Hope of the World." Mrs. Elliott announced that the next annual meeting would be in Picton, March 23-24, when it is hoped the guest speaker will be Dr. Winnifred Bryce of India.

Mrs. Arthur Daniels' message in song,"Living for Jesus," was much appreciated, as was also the fine service given by Mrs. E. Hubbs, her accompanist.

Roll call and information please was dealt with in a novel way, as when the roll was called, the various auxiliaries answered and discussed questions given them by Mrs. Minielly from the annual report, which were duly filled in. This was most interesting and informative.

The account of days at this school held in the Whitby Ladies' College was given by a C.G.I.T. Miss Joan Jeffrey of Aiken.

BELLEVILLE EAST RALLY

Delegates from this section met in Bridge Street United Church with Mrs. W. D. Grant of Holloway, 1st vice-president of Belleville Presbyterial, chairing the meeting.

Opening worship was conducted by members of Foxboro Auxiliary. Here also, as at Holloway Street, reports were received on three departments of the work, corresponding to those of Belleville West section, with Mrs. R. G. Coulter presenting Christian Stewardship, Mrs. J. Sims taking Literature, and being assisted by members of Trinity, St. Andrew's Auxiliary. Christian Citizenship was discussed by Mrs. Horton.

School for Leaders—Here, the story of the school was told by Miss Lucy Gifford, B.A., and Miss Ethel Horton.

Mrs. W. Burgoyne sang a solo, "I Walked Today, Where Jesus Walked."

During the session, Rev. Miriam Collins pronounced the benediction.

During the supper hour, when delegates were bountifully served by the ladies of Bridge Street Church, a sound film "New Light in Indian Villages" produced by the committee on Christian Education was shown by Mrs. W. D. Grant and Mrs. P. Jones.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

DOES HE LIKE HER OR DOESN'T HE?

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I have been going with Bill for five months. He is 18 and I am 17. This past week he has been with me because he says he has to keep his mind on his studies and can't be bothered with any girl. When I see him in school, he says hello and sometimes stops and talks. Today, he walked me home and put his arm around me.

I ran into some friends of his who told me that Bill didn't like me any more, but I don't know whether to believe them or not. Do you think if a fellow tells you he loves you, and goes with you for five months, he can forget about you so easily? I know I love him very much, but yet I am still confused. Sometimes he is so lovable, and sometimes so hateful. I don't know what he is trying to do.

Dear H.A.:

The only way to treat a chap who behaves like this is not to let him get the idea that you're pining for him, but to build up your friendships, your interests and your activities and then just be busy and full a life as you can. This will not only keep you from concentrating on your disappointment in this boy, but it will show him that you are a sensible, normal girl who takes things in her stride, and who has so much that she likes to do that she's going right on with everything as usual and not letting anything upset her too much.

Don't ignore this boy, or act as though anything unpleasant had happened between you. Be friendly and pleasant when you see him, and if he wants you to go out with him, accept his invitation if you want to do so. But don't give him any reason to believe that he's the one big thing in your life and that unless he is occupying first place in it you can't be happy.

DON'T TAKE A "LADIES' MAN" SERIOUSLY

Dear Miss Fairfax:

What do you think of a fellow who would make love to two girls at the same time and try to make each one believe she was the one he loved? That just happened to me.

I had been going out with this fellow for six months, and for most of that time, he was always telling me how much he loved me. Then all of a sudden I found out that he was doing exactly the same with another girl. He doesn't know that I know all about the second girl, so don't you think I should just refuse ever to see him again and not bother to tell him why?

Dear Doubting:

Of course you'd be very foolish to take this fellow seriously again but, on the other hand, maybe both you two girls made mistakes in taking him seriously in the first place. He may be one of those irresponsible young men who give every girl they meet the same routine, and neither of you was quite experienced enough to see him for what he was.

If I were you, I wouldn't let him know how naive you were by giving him a dramatic brush-off or a cold shoulder. If he comes around again, just be very casual and offhand, joke with him and poke a little good-natured fun at him for being such a "ladies' man." That way it will probably get across to him that you know all about the other girl and that you're not taking any stock in his flirting.

Lingerie Lines

By VERA WINSTON

Lingerie, even slumberwear, takes on the new silhouette as witness this delightful nightdress, a charming gift, a joy to own it is made of pale pink nylon tricot with bands of deeper rose nylon velvet, happily washable, of course. The velvet is used at the scooped neck and at the top of the pleated flounce where it is hand-tied. The plain, unpleated waist and the longer torso.

Beauty

By HELEN JAMIESON

NECKS NEED CARE, TOO!

It is a sad day for a woman when she realizes her neck is as yellow and crinkled as an autumn leaf. If her hair thins she can add some spare locks, purchased at the beauty shop. Complexion can be improved through the use of creams and made-up. But the tuckered-out neck is there, naked and unashamed, and cosmetics will do no good.

Neck wreckage is not always due to advancing birthdays. It can be due to the habit of keeping the head lowered or to poor body posture. Keep the spinal column extended and you can avoid many beauty problems.

If the head is thrown forward as the chin droops, the muscles of the neck will lose tone. With fibers weak, outer tissues sag and the skin covering falls into furrows.

At the age of thirty every woman should be neck-wise. Too many women give their complexion its creaming and patting, but neglect the neck, which often results in the neck becoming considerably darker than the face.

Spread on a heavy cream with flattened fingers working from the collar bones upward. Turn the head to the right, massage the left side and vice versa. The muscles must not be tense. Include the back of the neck. The friction of collars, scarves and furs will often make the skin surface there rough and dingy in appearance.

While the cream remains on have an ice friction. If the tissues are very soft, put on an ice-cold compress at bedtime. Should it happen that summer tan has gone patchy, use a bleaching cream now and then.

Deep breathing has a vitalizing effect upon the throat—and the chest as well. Nobody ever saw a flat-chested opera singer. Take deep breaths whenever you think of it. With every inhalation throw the head far back, pulling on the neck muscles. Exhale and bring the head to a level position.

Butter Tarts Steal the Show

By Mary Moore

It is many years since I attended a small town funeral but on Wednesday last I did. The oldest daughter of my mother's oldest sister died and it is a sobering experience to consider that a cousin in your own generation is gone.

I do not know if it is a common practice for food to be served as it was in so after this funeral—but Jessie belonged to the Mission Circle and the ladies of her circle offered to provide refreshments and they did—from Jessie's own kitchen.

The crowd was so large that I sat in the kitchen by Jessie's own kitchen cabinet—the only non-modern piece of furniture in the room—but a carryover from the farm kitchen with which I was so familiar thirty years ago.

Her plants were there on the window sill in beautiful bloom. I silently wondered if they would receive such loving care now that Jessie is gone. I needn't be so pessimistic about it though for her capable and lovely daughter, Daisy is there to take over and care for her father.

The food was wonderful. I'd give my own tooth (wait a minute —I'd better not be so generous until I make sure I still have my teeth) for the recipe for the butter tarts we ate.

Mine are perfectly baked. They were the most mouth-watering little morsels I ever hope to taste.

When I got back to my desk this morning I decided that I was not giving tarts enough attention so I've searched for fillings that I like best—minus those "best yet" ones from yesterday's funeral feast (which I'm not going to get) and thought you might like to have a baking spree trying them out.

PASTRY FOR TARTS

Two cups sifted all-purpose flour, 1 teaspoon salt, 2-3 cup shortening, 4 level tablespoons ice cold water. Cut shortening into flour and salt with pastry blender; sprinkle the water 1 tablespoon at a time over, mixing it ir with a fork. Gather dough into a mass between the palms and press it together, then roll out on floured board to 1-8 inch thickness. Cut out a little larger than your tart tins—preferably fluted ones—and carefully fit in, trimming off any excess dough. Do not allow the pastry to be thick at the edges.

FILLINGS:

(1) Banbury—Wash 1-2 cup seeded raisins in warm water and chop them a little and add 1-2 cup sugar, 1 1-2 tablespoons fine cracker crumbs, 1 egg yolk, 1-2 tablespoon melted butter, shake of salt, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, grated lemon rind, 2 tablespoons chopped walnuts. (2) Coventry—Warm over steaming but not boiling water 1-3 lb. soft sharp-flavored English type process cheese, then mash with a fork to cream it then add 1-4 cup butter, 1-3 cup sugar, 2 egg yolks, 1-4 teaspoon nutmeg and 1 tablespoon orange juice. (3) Cocoanut—In saucepan mix together 1 cup sugar, 2 tablespoons cornstarch, 1-2 teaspoon salt and when blended stir in 1 cup boiling water and cook over low heat, stirring until boiling and boil 1 minute stirring. Remove from heat and stir a little of the hot mixture into 3 beaten egg yolks, then beat into hot mixture 3 and stir over low heat 1 minute. Remove from heat and beat 1 minute. Stir in 4 tablespoons butter, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 2 teaspoons lemon juice, 1 cup moist shredded cocoanut, 1-4 cup cut-up nuts—preferably filberts.

NOTE:

Use any of the above fillings to fill unbaked tart shells 2-3 full, then bake at 425 deg. Fahr. for 10 minutes, then reduce heat to 375 deg. Fahr. to finish baking filling until set. Do not overbake tarts—they should just begin to bubble and crust should be pale.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECKMAN

BRIDE'S DIVORCED MOTHER SHOULD USE CORRECT FORM OF NAME

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

This is the situation about which we need your advice. The girl is planning to be married. Her parents are divorced. Her father has remarried, but her mother has not. The bride's mother is to be the hostess of the wedding; the bride herself, with no influence or even suggestion from anyone, has definitely decided that her father is to have no part whatever in her wedding. What is the correct form of name for the bride's mother to use in the wedding invitations? — A.C.

The bride's mother should use the combination of her maiden surname and her husband's surname. For example: let's say the bride's mother's maiden name was Dorothy Leigh, and she married and divorced John Hall. Her correct name, as a divorcee, is Mrs. Leigh Hall. The name on the invitation:

Mrs. Leigh Hall
requests the honour of your presence at the marriage of her daughter
Anne

I cannot emphasize too much how extremely important it is that the bride's mother use the correct form of her name on such important items as her daughter's wedding invitations. When, on the invitations, the bride's mother uses the incorrect form of, for example, "Mrs. Dorothy Hall," she most unfortunately reveals that she doesn't know what's what and, also most unfortunately, didn't take the trouble to find out the correct form.

However, if, in her social contacts since her divorce, she has used the incorrect form "Mrs. Dorothy Hall" and thinks the change to Mrs. Leigh Hall might be abrupt, she may use Mrs. D. Leigh Hall on the invitations. But this is not such good form as Mrs. Leigh Hall.

ROBERT'S "Rules of Order" A STANDARD WORK

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I would like to have information on parliamentary law. I have just been elected president of an organization, and want to learn the correct procedure for a meeting. — W.

The standard work on parliamentary procedure is Robert's Rules of Order. This famous book is obtainable in any library. I suggest that you ask the librarian in the library nearest you to show you this book. Also explain to her just what kind of organization yours is, and she will suggest other books that will be useful to you.

HOSTESS MUST BE DEFINITE ABOUT SEATING GUESTS

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

We were married last June, and we're now just settled in our new house, a small ranch-type house. So many of our friends have been so kind and hospitable to us, and we want to begin as soon as possible to do some informal entertaining ourselves. Our idea is to give simple dinners for six or eight —sit-down, buffet service. Since these will be so very informal, don't you think it better for me not to have any definite seating arrangement, just ask the guests to sit anywhere they wish?—Florence L.

Please, please, don't even consider this. It's the worst possible technique, awkward for the guests, a strain for them to make the decision that you should make. Be the gracious and thoughtful hostess. It is easy to be in his seating procedure. You lead the way to the table, take your place behind your own chair, and graciously direct your guests: "Mrs. Brown (or Mary?), will you sit at Tom's right, please?" . . . "Mrs. Atwater (Jane?), at Tom's left. . . Mr. Brown (or Jim) will you sit here (indicating the seat at your right)? . . . And Mr. Atwater (or Arthur?), here (indicating the seat at your left)."

EACH ATTENDANT PAYS FOR OWN COSTUME

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

A dear friend of mine has asked me to be a bridesmaid at her wedding fairly soon. She said she'd let me know later about the dresses we are to wear, but she didn't mention if she pays for them. My cousin tells me I must pay for my costume. True? — Rita U.

True. Each attendant pays for her own costume. . . but every detail of the costume is chosen by the bride-to-be. The only accessory supplied by the bride-to-be (or her family) is the attendant's bouquet.

Material Aid, Information Reach Germans in Red Sector

Editor's Note: This story is one of a series giving the impressions of a reporter who spent five weeks touring West Germany.

By W. R. WHEATLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The West German government has a ministry that is getting in the hair of the Russians.

It sees that material aid and information reach Germans in the Russian-occupied zone.

"We don't talk much and we can't work openly," said Ludwig von Hammerstein, a spokesman for the ministry of all-German affairs, in an interview. With a broad smile and considerable relish, he added: "The Russians call us the ministry of spies and sabotage."

THREEFOLD TASK

"We are a small ministry, with offices in Bonn and Berlin. Our task is threefold: to go all we can for the population in the Soviet zone, to carry on work in cultural, political and economic fields with a view to future reunification of Germany, and to keep the population in the West zone informed of What is going on in the East."

Through the ministry's work, food parcels, clothing and information reach the East Zone in streams. Ostensibly, it is all done privately.

Individuals in West Germany may send parcels to relatives and friends in East Germany. The ministry is in close touch with innumerable individuals and small groups in the West and Bonn, indirectly, with thousands in the East. The ministry also helps with money.

WILL CONTINUE WORK

"We are determined to take care of the population in East Germany in every way we can," said von Hammerstein. "The East zone is anti-Communist on a material or any other basis. We intend to see it stays that way.

"The Russians don't publish figures or other information about life and conditions in the East zone. We know, of course, about the Russians dispossessing owners of large farms there. The idea was to break up these big farms into small farms for the people. But now the small farms have been grouped together into big state farms.

"There are about 18,000,000 people in the Soviet zone and nearly 50,000,000 in the West, including those who have fled the East."

"In trying to help the people in the East and lay the groundwork for reunification of Germany, we keep the different economic system in mind. There is a free market in the West; out-and-out socialism in the East."

Mendes-France Could Become One of Great French Statesmen

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—Pierre Mendes-France, off soon on a quick trip to Canada and the United States, is a man with an alarm clock in his head and a question mark around his future.

Some say he is destined, if he survives politically, to become one of the great statesmen of France, ranking with Aristide Briand, Poincare and Clemenceau.

Some say he is just a slick opportunist, a too-far-leftist, a political knockout.

In five months as premier and foreign minister, this inscrutable little man with the broad football shoulders and world-weary features has cracked a flaming lion's whip in the milling circus of international diplomacy. His record is phenomenal. In a country conditioned to expect the worst of its legislators, Mendes - France has coolly wrought a blazing success story.

GAMBLED FOR PEACE

Unexpectedly propelled into office last June 18, he staked his new regime on achieving peace in Indochina within a month, marking the breathtaking beginning of his "time-limit" diplomacy. Later in London and Paris talks on German rearmament, he vaulted out his watch again and, like the hero in an old-fashioned melodrama, saved the homestead almost at the last ticking second.

France—and the world—had seldom seen anything like it.

Yet some still shake their heads. Mendes-France, 20th prime minister since liberation, comes to his present eminence from the fiery left wing of French politics. As a firebrand youngster, he had his nose broken in a student brawl. He has been linked with newspapers which consider extreme. Claude Bourdet's left-wing L'Observateur and Jean-Jacques Servan-Schreiber's L'Express.

Communists have often supported him and he has been reproached for not having voted in 1949 for the Atlantic pact, an omission he explains by saying he was out of Paris at the time. Opposition to him has been exceptionally bitter in right-wing circles and among some ministers. His own radical party gives him grudging support at times.

It may be a liability that he is a Jew in a France that has had only two other premiers of that faith, Leon Blum and Rene Mayer.

LIKED BY FRENCHMEN

Despite his critics, the new prime minister seems profoundly popular with the people. His appeal is greatest to youth. Only 47, Mendes-France has developed a technique of radio "fireside chats" delivered in a direct, down-to-earth manner. He is accessible to newspaper men, who swear by him, saying that he has created a new psychological climate.

Canadians who have watched this dark-browed, rather humorless, intense, young minister are considerably impressed.

"I think he is an utterly sincere man," said a senior diplomat. "He reminds me to some extent of the young Roosevelt in the early days of the new deal."

An official from the Canadian embassy in Paris predicted that if Mendes-France can survive the surly-burly of the Palais de Bourbon, he may become "one of the really great statesmen of our time." A London newspaper, calling Mendes - France a "clear-sighted Cassandra," said the same thing.

SEES ENGLISH INFLUENCE

A German diplomat described him as a "man of milk of iron"—the new premier often adds milk instead of wine — and a Spritzgart newspaper spoke of "this splendid young Frenchman."

So far his successes have been in external affairs. The premier's real passion is thought to lie in the field of domestic economics. During his wartime stay in Britain, he became attached to what one observer calls the English habit of mind, reflected among other things in a discipline and austerity foreign to most Frenchmen. A London friend has compared him to the late Sir Stafford Cripps, who had something of the same single-minded zeal.

Mendes-France was born Jan. 11, 1907, in a middle-class quarter of Paris, son of a Jewish tailor whose family came from Portugal in the 18th century. He attended a fashionable school of political science and in 1932, aged only 25, became France's youngest member of parliament. He was still only 30 when appointed financial undersecretary.

After an adventurous Second World War career, including escape from a military prison and sorties with a Free French bomber squadron, he became one of the planners of France's post-war economic comeback.

But his plan for foiling black market profiteers was rejected and he went into the political wilderness.

FASCINATING STATESMAN

In power, he has proved a fascinating figure, working long hours, sipping his unorthodox milk, plowing energetically through a mountain of work and solving one by one the problems that have helped make France one of the backward countries of the West. He still thinks his country is a good bet economically. The legends keep accumulating around him, though fundamentally he is quiet, serious and unspectacular. His wife, Liliane, is an Egyptian woman of striking beauty. They have two grown-up sons.

A favorite story concerns his escape on a rope of knotted sheets from a prison hospital. The break was possible because the German warder was otherwise occupied, discussing an affair of the heart with a young woman. Mendes-France later wrote:

"On the dread day when we all have to account for our actions before our Creator, I shall take upon myself that young lady's indiscretion, for I desired it more ardently than did her suitor."

Mendes-France leaves for Canada Nov. 13. He will visit Montreal, Quebec, Ottawa and possibly Toronto. He is understood to be particularly well disposed toward Canada and Canadians, feeling that the dominion has shown a sensitive appreciation of French difficulties.

Queen Mother Elizabeth Can Be Sure of Warm Welcome When She Comes to Canada

By DAVE McINTOSH
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — When King George VI and Queen Elizabeth landed at Quebec City May 17, 1939, to begin their royal tour of Canada, the Queen was heard to say to the King: "I think they like us." The guns were booming the royal salute and the people cheered.

The warm welcome is one thing Her Majesty, now Queen Mother Elizabeth, can be sure of when she returns to Canada Nov. 12. But she will see many changes. The 54-year-old Queen Mother, during the five-day Ottawa visit, will find some old faces here, but a lot more new ones.

LEADERS CHANGED

The only cabinet ministers then and now are Trade Minister Howe and Agriculture Minister Gardiner. The then prime minister and justice minister, Mackenzie King and Ernest Lapointe, who greeted the royal couple at Quebec City in 1939, are dead.

Lord Tweedsmuir was governor-general in 1939. A Canadian, Vincent Massey, now is the resident of Government House, where the Queen Mother will stay during her five-day visit.

One of the most heart-warming occurrences of the tour 15 years ago was the way the royal couple, ignoring protocol and abolished aides, mixed freely with thousands of First World War veterans after the King unveiled the National War Memorial in Confederation Square.

IN AUTUMN GARB

The Queen Mother will find the face of Ottawa itself different. The trees are bare and the days are chill. On her last visit, it was rainy spring, and there was a garden party on the lawns of Government House for 8,000 guests.

The Queen Mother's first official function here will be to place a wreath at the foot of the war memorial Nov. 13, two days after Remembrance Day.

The King and Queen were here for three days in 1939. In the Senate Chamber, the King gave royal assent to bills. The King saw the trooping of the color and the Queen laid the corner stone of the new Supreme Court building.

ARRIVES 3 P.M.

She and the King went to the United States after the Canadian tour.

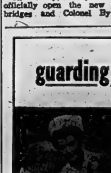
This time, the Queen Mother is visiting the U.S. first and will come to Canada by air Nov. 12.

After the wreath ceremony Saturday, the Queen Mother will attend a luncheon given by the Speakers of the Senate and Commons at the Parliament Buildings.

She will drive into the Gatineau hills, across the Ottawa river in Quebec, and that evening attend a state dinner at Government House. There will be some 100 guests at dinner and another 350 at the reception afterwards.

CHURCH ON SUNDAY

On Sunday, the Queen Mother and Mr. Massey, who was Canadian high commissioner in London during the Second World War—will attend service at Christ Church cathedral.



On Monday, the Queen Mother will visit the National Gallery, a drive around Ottawa, attend a reception given by the New Zealand high commissioner as the senior high commissioner of the Commonwealth in Ottawa, and dine with Prime Minister and Mrs. St. Laurent at the prime minister's Sussex street home.

On Tuesday, the royal visitor will officially open the new Rideau bridges and Colonel By drive, named for Ottawa's founder.

That evening, the Queen Mother will attend a special performance by the Canadian Repertory Theatre in aid of the Canadian Mothercraft Society of which she is patron. The play will be "Whiteoaks" by Canadian writer Mazo de La Roche.

Her Majesty will fly to New York Wednesday and leave from there for home.

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

BROCKVILLE TONIGHT

The standing of the Senior "B" hockey group released today would indicate that there are stirring times ahead for rowters and wrtuns of the hockey fandom fraternity. One team is out in front with four points and the rest are clustered tighter than Liberace's curls from there down. Cornwall came out of the "feeling out" inaugural with two wins and a loss with the rest of the squads garnering two points each for victories. Belleville and Clinton, with three games under their belts, have a mark of two losses and one win.

However all the teams tasted defeat with the exception of the Peterborough Petes who won over Cornwall in their only start of the season thus far. The loop got away to a good start and the pace will likely begin to sizzle when the squads get another couple of weeks' warfare under their collective belts.

Judging from the early season hoorcrow parade, there is not a weak sister in the bunch. All teams played it the rugged way in the openers, and the gents with the sweater and whistle tooted long and often in all the games. Apparently the OHA brass has given instructions to their icicle-starving birethings to put the official feet down at the start of hostilities and "don't spare the horses" when it comes to dishing out sentences.

Tonight the Brockville Magedonas are the guests of the Memos who will be going all out-to avenge that 6-4 setback the "Medicine" handed them down east last Saturday night. The easterners come under the category "heavy and rugged" and tonight's tilt should see a hard-hitting battle. The Memos came up with a fine exhibition in Cobalt, with their defensive tactics rated the best rearguard action seen thus far in the young season. They came out of the stiff week-end grind little the wor se for wear and should be in fine fettle tonight.

TRENT VALLEY LEAGUE

Any rumors to the effect the time-honored hoary old Trent Valley Hockey League is,due to walk the last mile and pass into puck-chasing oblivion, is so much balder-dash, hogwash or scuttle-butt.

The boys of the loop had a rorelave on Sunday last and instead of interring the lolop that has been fo acilon so long around these parts it rates the old-age pension, they came up with a potential 1954-55 edition that threatens to break all records since the organized days of shinny with hickory sticks and wooden pucks, and had to stop occasionally to untangle their beards from their blades.

Art Duncan, who has headed the loop so long he wore out three pairs of pants in the presidential chair, gave way to Bill Regan, of Madoc, last summer, and he hung put back into his familiar spot.

Lee Bradshaw of this village, is the first vice-president; Mr. Jeffs, Campbellford, second vice: Mr. Jones, Hastings, third vice; Mr. Kyle, Havelock, fourth vice, and Cec Nobes, Marmora, secretary-treasurer.

The eleven teams that comprised the loop last year were all represented, and went back in. Six other squads, via proxy, mail or personal representation, declared their intentions of seeking membership. These include Bancroft, Tamworth, Madoc, Picton, Belleville Juniors and Cobourg. That makes an all-over total of seventeen teams, and if you can name an organized loop in Canada that can beat that, Art Duncan will supply you with rubber boots for the rest of your life. The league, with these entries, Proxy Duncan says, will cover an area of 1,000 miles. He figured that one out.

The league appointed a committee from team representatives to draw up a set of rules and regulations which will likely be presented at the meeting to be held in Batawa next Sunday, starting at 2.30. However, President Duncan informs us that he is in favor of adopting OHA rules and regulations "across the board." This would set team imports at four, if the idea is adopted.

It was also suggested at the meeting that the league open its schedule two weeks earlier this season. Games could be played on artificial ice at Belleville, Marmora, Peterborough, etc., until Ole Man Winter provides natural ice.

The meeting next Sunday will likely study applications and what to do with new entries. The Belleville Junior club will be represented by "Red" Doran and others.

Four Games in Five Nights, Three at Home Face Champs; Teams Clash in Montreal Sat.

MONTREAL (CP)—This is the week Detroit Red Wings have a chance to do something about the National Hockey League leadership and also to move their big siege guns towards the front in the scoring records.

It's a tough assignment for the second-place Wings. They must play four games in five nights, three of them on the road, in the effort to overhaul the league-leading Montreal Canadiens. The Montrealers, currently with a three-point lead but with two more games played than Detroit, have only two games scheduled. The big one is against the Red Wings in Montreal Saturday.

A year ago Detroit trailed Montreal by two points with a game in hand. The Wings finished the season on top and went on to defeat Canadiens in the Stanley Cup final.

In the scoring situation this time last season the leaders were Gordie Howe, Dutch Reibel and Ted Lindsay. All three, according to the NHL's official statistics show this trio in a tie for fifth place. On top are Montreal's Bernie Geoffrion, Ken Mosdell and Maurice Richard.

BOOMER IS TOP SNIPER

There's a four-point gap between Geoffrion and the Detroit contingent. Boom-Boom, with 13 assists, scored two goals last week to run his goal total to nine, highest in the league. He has four assists. Mosdell also scored two goals and added an assist to his point-total of 12. Richard, adding one goal and one assist, also has 12 points.

Doug Harvey of New York Rangers, is fourth on the strength of ten goal and nine assists. He picked up two more assists last week. Howe could get only one assist in two games, while Lindsay scored a goal and Reibel had one of each. All six points this trio is bracketed with teammate Alex Delvecchio and Nick Mickoski of New York.

Mickoski, who has yet to score a goal, had the biggest point harvest among all players last week with his four assists.

The league standings showed only one change last week. Toronto Maple Leafs had a win and a tie in two starts but took over fourth place from Boston Bruins, who lost their single game played.

Canadiens were the only team with a perfect record last week, winning their two starts.

Jacques Plante of Montreal is still leading man among the goalies with 1.73.

Quintes Trim Albert 16-7; Enter Finals

By ERIC MOODY

Quinte's potential power exploded in a semi-final COSSA match yesterday when they handed Albert College a 16-7 defeat.

Both teams were evenly matched but the college team was held by Quinte and they scrimmaged see-sawed around Albert's 20 yd line. It was from this position that Sills went for the first touch-down of the game. The convert attempt failed and the first quarter ended with the score 5-0 for Quinte.

After kidding A.C., Quinte advanced with, McLaurin, Ferguson and Phillips doing the ground gaining which set up Sills for his second touchdown run from the five yard line. Kemp completed the convert.

Albert started using aerial attempts to gain ground but these were foiled by Elliott who made two interceptions. This gave Quinte possession of the ball on A.C.'s 40 yard line by which Walmsley parced to Dickey in the end zone for the first touchdown of the game. The convert attempt failed and the score stood at 16-0 for Quinte at the end of the first half.

Early in the third quarter Albert held Quinte to their 15 yard line until Walmsley was able to boot the ball out of its dangerous position. It was mostly in the third quarter that tackles for loss rcs against A.C. were made by Phillips, Green, Elliott and Walmsley.

No score was made in the third quarter.

Late in the fourth quarter an attempted field goal punt by Albert went wide and was held in the end zone by Musgrove, giving A.C. a rouge which brought the score to 16-1 for Quinte.

In the last minute of play McCuaig of A.C. threw an outstanding pass to Taugher who went over for a touchdown. The convert was completed bringing the final score to 16-7 for Quinte.

Quinte now goes to meet Bowmanville in a final junior COSSA game Saturday, Nov. 6.

Teams:

Quinte — Kemp, Cox, Sills, Fox, Walker, Jerome, Walmsley, Pearce, Beers, Holden, Dickie, Jamieson, McLaurin, Phillips, McLaughlin, Elliott, Ritchie, Aquino, Yorke, Garrison, Musgrove, Ferguson, Green, Masters.

Albert College — McCuaig, Dever, Franklin, Goddard, Franklin, Mutland, Humphries, Johnson, Meadows, Mallon, Melvyn, MacKenzie, MacKenzie, McCuaig, Pratt, Sale, Scott, Taugher, White.

Referee—Mr. McBride.

Umpire—Mr. Haymen.

Head linesman—Mr. Cochrane.

SHE'S THE TOP

OTTAWA (CP)—Patricia Slemon 16-year-old daughter of Air Vice-Marshal C. Roy Slemon, air force chief of staff, Monday night was chosen Miss Ottawa Rough Rider. The Lisgar collegiate student will represent the Big Four team at the Miss Grey Cup contest in Toronto late this month.

Alex Webster May Break Scoring Record

TORONTO (CP) — Alex Webster, North Carolina State's contribution to Canadian professional football, appears set to break a modern Big Four scoring record this season.

The 23-year-old native of Kearney, N. J., and present scoring leader with 75 points, needs only two touchdowns to surpass the 16-touchdown record season set two years ago by Ulysses Curtis of Toronto Argonauts. At the rate he's going it is likely the big Montreal half will make it.

Statistics compiled by The Canadian Press show Webster with 12 touchdowns for his point-total. 72 up on team-mate Ray Poole, formerly of New York Giants, who had 53 points without scoring a major. He has kicked six field goals, 32 converts and three singles.

REPLACES LOGAN

Poole booted a field goal, single and six converts Saturday for a 19-point day to replace homered Tip Logan in the runner-up slot. Logan drove up four points on four converts to bring his season total to 50.

Lou Kusserow of Tiger-Cats moved from a seventh-place tie to fourth place with his three-touchdown performance at Ottawa. He now has 48 points on nine majors and downs.

Paul Amodio of Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen in the Ontario Rugby Football Union who managed only nine points in 1953, is the union's scoring champion with 77, four up on Eddie Gilchrist of Sarnia Imperials.

LEADS COLLEGIANS

Steve Oneschuk of the University of Toronto retained his top position in the Senior Intercollegiate Union but his margin was cut. Oneschuk's six points in Varsity's 36-12 triumph over McGill and Ron Stewart of Queen's, in second place, scored two touchdowns as the Gaels downed University of Western Ontario Mustangs 18-11.

Oneschuk now has 27 points, seven more than the Queen's half.

Bombers Defeat Saskys 13-11, Meet Eskys in Western Final

REGINA* (CP)—History is repeating itself in the Western Interprovincial Football Union playoffs.

More than 13,700 shivering fans saw Winnipeg Blue Bombers advance into the league finals Monday night with a 13-11 taming of Saskatchewan Roughriders.

The victory gave the invading Bombers a two-point margin in the home-and-away total points semi-final after last Saturday's Winnipeg contest ended in a 16-14 deadlock.

First game of the best-of-three final will be played Saturday in Edmonton.

So far the playoff pattern has been identical to that of last year when the Eskimos finished first in the league schedule followed by the Riders and Bombers. The Bombers then polished off Saskatchewan in the semi-final to advance against the Eskimos.

DRIVE FADES

The crippled Roughriders held a four-point margin at halftime but lost their drive in the last two quarters. The winning points were scored in the fourth quarter.

Both Winnipeg touchdowns were scored by Canadian Young Jerry James, fleet half who joined Bombers in 1952 at the age of 17, got the first one early in the first quarter when Winnipeg was trailing 6-1.

He scored the touchdown via the spectacular route: catching Saskatchewan's Jerry Hill on a back who learned his football in Winnipeg high school ranks.

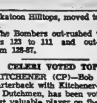
Benson, who scored six touchdowns in Winnipeg's lopsided 50-23 series last year, plunged four yards for the winning points in the final quarters.

Other Winnipeg scorers were Buck Rogers who converted both majors and quarterback Jack Jacobs who booted a first quarter single.

MAJOR FOR MARLOW

Saskatchewan's lone touchdown was scored by Bobby Marlow in the first quarter. Joe Aguirre converted and added a field goal while Larry Isbell kicked two singles.

The Roughriders were without the services of all-star quarterback Frank Tripucka, former Dallas Texan who broke the WIFU passing record for a single game this season. He was out with a hip injury.



Isbell started out in Tripucka's slot but he was hurt in the fourth quarter and young Ron Adam, a graduate this year from the Junior Saskatoon Hilltops, moved to quarterback.

The Bombers out-rushed the Riders 123 to 111 and out-passed them 138-67.

CELERI VOTED TOPS

Will Ask Sports Writer to Prove Boxing Run by 'Syndicate Criminals'

CHICAGO (AP)—Livingston Osborne, chairman of the Illinois athletic commission, said Monday night he is going to ask sports writer Jack Mabley to present boxing proof that boxing is controlled by "syndicate criminals."

Mabley began a series of articles on boxing in the Daily News Monday. The first article declared:

"The literal kidnapping of the entire sport of boxing by syndicate criminals under the Black Sox scandal of baseball look like pink tea by comparison."

Mabley said hoodlums have "tightened their control over the sport until it is now virtually absolute."

Truman Gibson, secretary of the International Boxing Club, at once asked the commission to conduct an investigation and have Mabley approve his charges.

Osborne said he will invite Mabley to appear at a special meeting. Gibson's letter to the IAC said in part:

"The Chicago Daily News today carried a front sports page story entitled 'Expose mob tieup with boxing game.' The conclusion of the author, Jack Mabley, is that boxing has been kidnapped by syndicate criminals.

"He states 'the czar of boxing is Frankie Carbo, . . . while he states that Carbo controls boxing from New York, he also states that Chicago 'has a vital concern in the racket.'"

Gibson continued:

"I will . . . deny categorically Mr. Mabley's conclusions and charges, under-oath."

Joe Pal Lone Canadian Named To Big Four Offensive Squad

By WILF GRUBON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—The key roles imports play on offence showed up again last night in the number selected for the 1954 Big Four all-star teams.

Football writers, sportswriters and coaches on the league clubs who picked the teams for The Canadian Press, named Americans to all but one position on the offensive squad for the second straight year.

The Canadians this season, too, gave up ground on the defensive team. They picked up only four berths, two less than in 1953.

SPOT FOR JOEY

Flying wing Joey Pal, one of the eight Montreal Alouettes players chosen on the offensive squad, earned the honor as the only Canadian to make the squad. Hamilton Tiger-Cats won four All-Star positions and Toronto Argonauts the other.

The Alouettes shared honors with the Tiger-Cats in the selections for the defensive team, each with five positions. The two remaining spots went to Toronto Argonauts.

The balloting was weighted to give equal voting strength to each league city.

The selectors were impressed with the powerful, quick-driving Alouettes, a team that coach Doug (Peahead) Walker in recent seasons developed into possibly the most powerful in Big Four history. Under the brilliant leadership of triple-threat quarterback Sam (The Rifle) Etcheverry, the club made a runaway of the league's regular schedule and the acclaim the selectors gave them was befitting their smashing success.

ON ATTACK

The offensive team: Flying Wing —Joey Paul, Montreal; Halves— Alex Webster, Montreal; Bernie Custis, Hamilton; Gene Wilson, Toronto; Quarter—Sam Etcheverry, Montreal; Centre — Tom Hugo, Montreal; Snaps — Mike Czisz, Montreal; Herb Trawick, Montreal; Tackles—Tex Coulter, Montreal; Vince Scott, Hamilton; Ends —John O'Quinn, Montreal; Ray Ramsey, Hamilton.

ON DEFENCE

The defensive team: Half (safety) — Billy Cross, Toronto; Halves (Tertiary)—Harold Patterson, Montreal; Cornerbacks, Mariano Toronto; Lou Kusserow, Hamilton; Halves (Secondary)—Tom Hugo, Montreal; Red Ettinger, Hamilton; Guards—Vince Scott, Hamilton; Eddie Bevan, Hamilton; Tackle — Tex Coulter, Montreal; Jim Staton, Montreal; Ends—Doug Imans, Hamilton.

LIDERS MISSING

Ottawa Rough Riders' dismal season, their worst in many years, also shows up in the selections. The Riders, who in 1953 had five men named on the offensive team and one on the defensive outfit, failed to place a player on either team this season.

The four Canadians who made the defensive team include rookie halfback Bill McFarlane, a standout in his first season with Argonauts after a brilliant career with University of Toronto.

The other Canadians are guard Eddie Bevan of Hamilton and ends Doug McNichol of Montreal and Pete Neumann of Hamilton. It is the second straight year that McNichol and Neumann won all-star ranking in the defensive end positions.

RIFLE SAM TOPS

Etcheverry, the Alouettes' ace passer from the University of Denver, tackle Tex Coulter of the Larks and centre Tom Hugo share the individual honors in the selections. Etcheverry, 1953 all-star quarterback, was the only unanimous choice of the selectors this season, while Coulter and Hugo were the only two players picked on both the offensive and defensive teams.

It is the second successive year that Coulter, former New York Giants' star, has been picked on both teams. Vince Mazza, veteran Hamilton tackle and a two-team choice last year, made the grade this season only on the offensive team. Mazza, who has won all-star rating every year since coming to the Tiger-Cats from Buffalo Bills in 1950, was edged out for the defensive tackle spot this season by Jim Staton of Montreal.

Alex Webster, Montreal's hard-running halfback from North Carolina and the league's leading scorer, along with Coulter, came close to being unanimous choices in the offensive team voting. They were picked by all but one selector.

McNichol, whose crashing end play has been a highlight of Montreal's defence since 1951, was the Alouettes last year from the University of Western Ontario, came closest to the unanimous choice in the defensive team balloting. Only two selectors did not name him.

STOUT GUARDS

Hamilton's defensive guards, Eddie Bevan and Vince Scott, peerless in rushing a passer, earned all-star rating for the fourth time. However, Scott's strict lay-four straight. He was named previously in 1950-52-53, and missed out in 1951 when he didn't play a game.

Red O'Quinn, Montreal's ace pass-catching end, was the prize pick for the third straight season since coming to the Alouettes by way of Michigan State and Hillcrest High, College. Red Ettinger, former New York Giant trader who came to Hamilton by Toronto Argonauts, also was selected for the third successive year.

Lou Kusserow of Hamilton, formerly with Columbia University, was chosen for the second straight season as one of the defensive halves.

Halfback Gene Wilson, Argonauts' speed ace from South Carolina, and Hamilton's Ray Ramsey, an end from Chicago Cardinals, were two first-year imports named to the offensive team. On the defensive squad, Billy Cross of Argos, smallest player in Canadian pro football, another ex-Chicago Cardinal player, and Montreal's Harold Patterson from the University of Kansas won all-star ranking at defensive halves in their first year in Canada.

Herb Trawick, 22-year-old veteran with Montreal, made the all-star grade as an offensive guard after an absence of three years. He previously had been picked three times for the years starting in 1946 when he first joined the Als.

Bernie Custis, one of the Top Cicis of the Lakes and halfback Bernie Custis on the offensive team, marked their return to all-star rating. Cicis was named in 1950 and 1951 and Custis in 1951 when he won the quarterback spot. Halfed to the bench after the season, the speedy runner from Syracuse University never caught a break in the mythical teams until this year.

Sensational Cuban Rookie Shortstop May Cause Upset in 'Bums' Infield

By JOE REICHLER

BROOKLYN (AP) — Brooklyn Dodgers' veteran infield may be revamped for 1955 because of a 22-year-old Cuban rookie shortstop named Humberto (Chico) Fernandez.

Fernandez currently is the No. 1 glamor boy of the Dodgers' ever more highly prized Latin American farm system. Reminder who broke into the majors last September with a pair of spectacular shutouts.

Dodger vice - president E. J. (Buzzie) Bavasi, back from from a tour of the Latin American countries where he viewed a number of Dodger farmhands playing in the Cuban Winter League, spoke glowingly of Fernandez.

"Fernandez has impressed everybody with his shortstopping in Cuba," Bavasi said, at a press conference. "If he can play that way in the big leagues, there will be a lot of changes made in our infield.

"Our only solid position is first base where Gil Hodges has a lock on the job. If Fernandez can win the shortstop berth—and a lot of people say he can—the battle for second base will be wide open.

"Pee Wee Reese may move over to second, or even third, Junior Gilliam may be switched to left field and don't forget Billy Cox. Don Hoak and our new young second baseman, Charlie Neal. There should be a real scramble for infield positions."

Fernandez batted .282 last year at Montreal where he was regarded as the best shortstop ever to appear in the Canadian metropolis. The Dodgers received him from six clubs for his services, one of them as high as $100,000, but turned them all down.

"More mobley has been offered for Fernandez than for any young Dodger player since I've been connected with the club," said Bavasi.

Slowinski, Glover Set Pace In American League

NEWYORK (AP)—Two veteran catchers, Gus Triandos, of the Buffalo Bisons and Fred Glover of the Cleveland Barons, are setting the scoring pace in the American Hockey League today.

Each has scored 10 goals and two assists for 16 points. Slowinski scoring his nine games while Glover has his in 10. A pair of Providence players, Paul Larivee and Odie Tremblay, follow the two 13 points each while Eddie Olson of Cleveland and Graham Hastings of the Springfield Indians have 14 apiece.

Jackie Gordon of Cleveland, Larivee and Toppazzini lead in assists with 10 each while Slowinski and Glover are tops in goals scored with nine.

Andy Branigan of the Providence Reds is the leading "bad man" with 36 minutes.

Gil Mayer of Pittsburgh Hornets, last season's top netminder, took over goaltending honors with an average of 2.50 on 20 goals allowed in eight games. Rookies Hank Bassen with 3 in 1 in a pair and Charlie Hodge of Providence shared the only two shutouts in the league.

Record Price Of $105,000 Paid For Brood Mare

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—A record price of $105,000 for a thoroughbred broodmare sold at an American auction is fresh on the books today and scores of the finest bloodlines in racing are in American breeding barns.

The record price went Monday night for nine-year-old stakes-winning Masaka, one of 28 broodmares consigned to the Keeneland sales by the Aga Khan, the aging religious leader who is reducing his fabulous racing establishment.

Mrs. J. B. Hobson, Jr., who had the previous record of $85,000 a year ago for Nasrullah's dam Nellie Flag, outbid 20 other prospective buyers before she got the 10-year-old mare.

Speculation is that the man who paid the $85,000 for Lithe—John P. Phipps—also bought Masaka. Ironically, both recorded-setting broodmares were barren at the time of sale, Masaka having miscarried early this year to Tulyar from a cause of an infection after being shipped here.

All told, the Aga Khan's 20 broodmares brought $539,100 to the 2044 age.

The sale was a rare opportunity for horsemen, since the Moslem leader previously had sold only three broodmares although he had parted with a number of stallions, including Nasrullah, Mahmoud, Bahram and Alibhai.

Masaka drew attention because of her six stakes victories, as well as having produced a champion. The filly champion also is a daughter of Nearco, father of the American sire sensation, Nasrullah, who stands at Hancock's Claiborne farm.

Remember When

John A. Heydler after 15 years as president of the National Baseball League resigned 20 years ago today due to ill-health. He was succeeded by Ford Frick, who served 11 years in league presidential office. 1951 when he became baseball's high commissioner in succession to A. B. Chandler.

Favorites Tough To Pick In Colorful Race

By JOHN CHANDLER

LAUREL, Md. (AP) — The experts were finding it anything but easy figure out the probable favorite for the big $85,000 Washington D.C. International horse race at Laurel Park, Wednesday, and they admit with High Gun missing it's quite a task.

There are two French horses, Bananes and Norman, among the best in Europe, who might have the partisan followers on their side in the 1¼-mile gallop over the infield grass course.

Then, Queen Elizabeth's Landau didn't fly over here just for the ride, and if it should come up rainy the soft track would be right down the alley for Northern Gleam or Tulyar, Purdue's Fleeting, King of the Tudors, reputedly the best older horse in England at this time, can't be overlooked in the smart seven-horse field.

That brings it back to the American pair of C. V. Whitney's tough filly Tahirpanga and Stanley C. Mikell's Brush Boss, a veteran turf course runner.

SUBS FOR HIGH GUN

Bolstered by disqualified High Gun, the King ranch three-year-old star who was withdrawn suddenly Monday when he suffered a hip injury during a workout, Eddie Arcaro, Willie Shoemaker and Hedley Woodhouse have picked High Gun quickly agreed to pilot Fleetharan who was barely beaten by Hugh Fulton in the Maryland Derby in June, and who finished second to Tulyar and Fleeting in the Seven-a Jockey Club Gold Cup Oct. 16.

Willie Arcaro in the driver's seat, Fleetharan is sure to draw plenty of financial attention. The spunky little chestnut colt was a Florida bred until the final strides of the 1¼-mile Belmont, when Mildred Rose Perry's Jockey Association Junior A team.

He has won 62 goals and 93 assists with the TecPees but has gathered only two assists with Leafs in eight games.

"I'd rather go to Pittsburgh and play all the time," commented Cullen.

FEF TAKES DECISION

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Former world featherweight champion Willie Pep, 128, Hartford, Conn., Monday night outpointed Mario Colon, 130, Puerto Rico, in a 10-round bout. The referee voted eight rounds to Pep, two even.

NEW KOOLMOTOR OIL 10W-30

THE Calvert SPORTS COLUMN

by Elmer Ferguson

A lot of inflated bladders have been agitated since Rutgers beat Princeton six to four in New Brunswick, N.J., November 6, 1869.

And indeed, it is a moot question whether that game wasn't a year ahead of the United States in recognition and production of football. For in 1869, the Montreal Football Club was formed, but its feats, and its antecedents are beclouded, except for the fact that in 1873, the Club put up a trophy, ownership of which represented Canadian supremacy.

The date of that first American game, November 6, is interesting as indicating that football then was far from being such an overwhelming part of American collegiate life as it later has became. Assuredly the colleges and prox of our day would not wait for November 6 to begin their activities. Canada's Big Four and Western Conference teams set it in July and by August have had a couple of games under their belts. The collegians have pushed back the calendar to mid-September for opening games.

But Rutgers and Princeton of 85 years ago did not jump the gun. This was one of the few years in which football, as a college sport, was placed in its correct category of importance relative to the matter of securing an education, which is the primary reason for the existence of colleges.

Canadian institutions of learning have never allowed sport to interfere seriously with learning. What college sports have to offer by way of character building is the promotion of initiative, resourcefulness, and a spirit of team play born of mutual dependence. Where a college team takes the field in Canada, where there is no platoon football, it is on its own.

In the cities that arise in this post-collegiate life, the student (unless he goes into professional football) must do without play-by-play steering from the coaching staff. Sport plays its part in educating young men to be independent. But in Canada, at least, it is not over-organized, nor made superior to the real functions of the universities.

Hirsch Quitting Football For Full Career in Movies

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Elroy Hirsch says his decision to quit football will open the way for a full-time career before movie and television cameras.

The star pass catcher for Los Angeles Rams announced last week he was quitting pro football at the end of this season "because the thrill has gone out of the game." By there are personal reasons too —plus his urge for a chance at a show-business career.

"Pro ball has changed in the last season or two. There used to be fun in the game. You looked forward to each game with a considerable thrill. . . .

"That's changed now. There is a tremendous pressure to win—or else. It used to be that you played like the dickens only in the 12 league games. But now the pressure is on to win the exhibition games, too. . . .

"I still get that uneasy feeling in my stomach before a game. But now I don't get that brill of anticipation that I used to . . . I go out to the stadium without any great expectation.

"If there's no more fun in the game, that's the time to quit. I love football. Directly or indirectly, it has brought me everything I own in my life. I want to leave it with a good feeling."

The famed "Crazylegs" denied that a physical slowdown prompted his decision. "I'm having a much better season this year than I did last, when I had a lot of injuries," he remarked. "I still feel that I could keep up with the other boys."

Personal matters were a factor. After he had suffered four concussions within six games, his wife urged him to quit. And he has a son, 4½, whom he seldom sees for more than a day or so during the six months he is enmeshed in football.

Then there is his blossoming show biz career. He has worked for local radio and TV stations and plays are ready for a network show. But nothing could be done as long as he was committed to the Rams. Now he can proceed with his ambitions as a sports-caster.

His career as a movie actor is coming along nicely. He started by portraying himself in the successful "Crazylegs." He'll soon be seen in a dramatic role in "unchained." He's under contract to Hal Bartlett Productions, as well as a vice-president of the firm. So far Bartlett has turned down offers for Hirsch's services from other studios. He's holding out for adequate rehearsal time to protect his tyro actor.

Ten Teams Will Compete In OHA Groups

WOODSTOCK (CP)—Plans were made Monday for operation of one of the largest hockey groups to compete in the Ontario Hockey Association, to be known as the Big Ten.

Seven senior B clubs from Woodstock, London, Sarnia, Wallaceburg, St. Thomas, Brantford and Elmira and three intermediate A clubs, Tillsonburg, Aylmer and Simcoe will play in the league.

The schedule starts Thursday with Woodstock at Sarnia.

Ticats Hope To Pit Strength Against Larks

HAMILTON (CP) — Coach Carl Voyles said Monday night Hamilton Tiger-Cats suffered "quite a few injuries" in their Big Four Football Union game at Ottawa Saturday but he hopes to send all his first-string players against the Aoutles at Montreal this week.

Backfielder Ray Ramsey, guard Vince Scott and tackle Vince Mazza were among the most seriously hurt against Ottawa Rough Riders.

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

Let me tell you how to get kinks in your brain. In his choice of suits a cumbersome player makes sense in a twisted sort of way. But try to figure out what it shows.

Culbertson says when each suit is at least five cards, first bid the higher rank if both are the same length; first bid the longer if one suit is longer than the other.

With a five and four card suit he says: If not touching in rank bid the longer first; if touching in rank or one apart with less than four honor tricks, first bid the higher rank regardless of length.

Culbertson says: When one suit is two cards longer, bid it twice before mentioning the second suit; with three four carders, first bid the suit below the singleton.

With two four carders, he says: If one of your suits is clubs, first bid it. If you have four cards in your suit, bid the higher rank first.

Goren says: With two five carders, first bid the higher rank, regardless of strength; with unequal lengths, first bid the one suit is at least two cards longer, bid it twice before the other.

Now let's take the one you see here:

♠ A K 7 3
♥ A Q 9 5 2

Culbertson rules say to open with a spade. Goren rules say that the opening is one heart. My rules say the opening is one heart.

The correct opening is one heart. Not because two of us agree. There is a way of proving which is most correct. You will hear this proof in my future series of words of bids. It will do you good.

Horse Owner In Good Graces

ALBANY, Calif. (AP) — Andy Crevolin, the only race horse owner ever to win two $100,000 races the same day, got back into competition Monday after his horses had been suspended since Sept. 2 because of something he said.

Imbros, winner of a $100,000 race at Bay Meadows May 1 while Crevolin's Determine was winning the Kentucky Derby, was entered in a $5,000 race at Monday's Golden Gate Fields inaugural.

Some remarks of Crevolin to the effect he saw riders of two-year-olds "pull" their entries at Arlington Park got him suspended by the California horse racing commission. Arlington Park officials said movies refuted Crevolin's charges.

OTTAWA (CP)—The Canadian figure skating championships will be held in Toronto Jan. 20-22, it was announced Saturday.

The winners will represent Canada at the world championships in Vienna, starting Feb. 13. The North American championships, grouping skaters from Canada and the United States, will be held in Regina March 14-17.

The dates were announced by the Canadian figure skating association following its 41st annual meeting here Saturday.

Choice Rests With Electors As Keen Campaign Ends

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Americans decide with their ballots today whether Republican or Democrats should control Congress or divide the two Houses between the parties.

Also being elected are governors in 33 states and hundreds of state and local officials.

President Eisenhower said the people Monday night: "There is no such thing" as sitting out the election. "You inescapably must participate in this decision," the president said in a radio-television broadcast as Mrs. Eisenhower stood at his side.

In a partisan way, he said, those who go to the polls can vote for the program and the persons they favor. Negatively, those who fail to mark a ballot "double the value of the votes cast by those who believe in the things you believe in."

There was no official explanation of the president's remark later by his press secretary, James C. Hagerty, that "by golly, sometimes I'm sure get tired of all this clackety-clack."

Aides said, however, that at the end of Eisenhower's speech he and thousands of miles of travel Eisenhower-entered grumbled over that the campaign was over.

He had campaigned more strenuously on behalf of party than any president in an off-year election in recent years, they added, and the prestige of his administration at east to a degree on the fortunes of Republican candidates in this non-presidential year balloting.

The weather forecast called for rain and snow flurries in the Republican area from Virginia northward. Snow was forecast from Buffalo, N.Y., to Cleveland, Ohio, with flurries in Illinois, Indiana and Wisconsin. The rest of the country generally was promised clear skies and moderate temperatures.

With the campaign firing-finally extinguished for eight, Democrats voiced seemingly confident claims they would win control of both houses of Congress.

Republicans were less optimistic in their forecasts, despite vice-president Richard Nixon's assertion on the same broadcast with the president that the Eisenhower administration had given the country "the best government it has had in my lifetime"—41 years.

Republican national chairman Leonard Hall predicted his party would gain a net of three seats in the Senate.

Hall said he thinks the party will increase by 15 its holdings in the House of Representatives.

Democratic national chairman Stephen A. Mitchell forecast a net gain for his party of four in the Senate and 25 or more in the House. He predicted also the Democrats would pick up eight governorships, a field in which Hall made no predictions.

Pre-election forecasts by local observers credited the Democrats

"The Glenn Miller Story"

A touch of irony marked the casting of June Allyson for the role of Helen Miller opposite James Stewart in Universal-International's Technicolor production of "The Glenn Miller Story," now playing at the Odeon and McCarthy Theatre.

Ever since she, as a school girl sat through 16 performances of "The Gay Divorcee," the petite blonde has been taken with the idea of performing in musicals. But in her current role in a film devoted to one of the great stories of the musical world, June does not sing a line, and she dances only once — a simple non-theatrical bit with movie husband James Stewart in an at-home party scene.

Nevertheless, Miss Allyson has not been completely bidden from the musical tradition in her career. She made her professional debut as a teenager in the chorus of the Broadway musical "Sing Out The News" and broke into the movies on the heels of five performances as Betty Tutton's understudy in "Panama Hattie." Her Hollywood debut was in "Girl Crazy" and numbered in her screen credits as such musicals as "Best Foot Forward," "Thousands Cheer," "Music For Millions", "Till the Clouds Roll By," "Good News" and "Words And Music."

June went through many song and dance routines before she was accepted in the more serious roles such as "Little Women" and "The Stratton Story" (also with Stewart) which made her the million's number one feminine screen star.

AT 21st CAPITOL — Sultry Diana Dors is featured in "The Weak and the Wicked", an exposé of Allied Artists picture for women. Second feature presents "Sins of Rome" Technicolor spectacle. Starting on the same program with "The Sins of Rome", featuring an all star cast. Both hits are first city showings.

WHAT DO YOU THINK?

"No Promise Is Unimportant"
— FROHMAN

That's what we think also, and we go a long way to see that our promises are fulfilled. Every now and then a business man says something to us like this: "Sure, you promise all right, but will you do it?"

We don't know who started all this doubt as to a printer's promises, but we know that we do not take our own promises lightly. Many a night we work into the late hours, or use an extra shift on a machine, for no other reason than that we have told some business man that his job would be ready the next day.

If you are one of those who doesn't believe that you can trust a printer's word, give us a chance. We would welcome the opportunity. We won't promise to deliver one hundred per cent, but we WILL if it is physically possible to do so.

WE PRINT EVERYTHING, FROM A CARD TO A CATALOGUE.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars, for WEDNESDAY, NOV. 2, 1954.

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Use caution if you would avoid needless errors and get the most out of this day's efforts. Don't be rash or arrogant and don't seek the unreasonable.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) — Advice to Aries could be helpful to you now. You can improve some—at least in your occupation and other familiar activities—but don't be disappointed if quick or big returns are not forthcoming immediately.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — Where Mercury is concerned, this day's aspects are neither very helpful nor entirely favorable. You may have to concentrate more than usual to avoid error or, bright ideas, but steady achievement is possible. Just do your best.

June 22 to July 22 (Cancer) — This should be a good day for management and planning — even if not wholly favorable for immediate or showy gains. There are some days which require that you be a self-starter rather than wait for a "push". This is one of them.

July 24 to August 22 (Leo) — Patience, accuracy and faith are needed assets if you would solve immediate problems and work properly for future action and accomplishment. The right tasks can move smoothly; it's mostly up to you.

August 23 to September 23 (Virgo) — Heed advice to Gemini. Don't lose heart if you don't achieve aims quickly. Do things in your usual efficient manner but not with unwise pressure. Proper planning will get things moving briskly.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra) — Familiar activities, domestic and other personal matters are favored now. Rays are oversimulating but neither are they unfriendly. Much depends on you and what is expected of you.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio) — The position of Mars in your horoscope indicates a need for suitability and co-operation. It would also be advisable to heed sound suggestions and take due orders promptly. Fine results are possible with your clever efforts.

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius) — Sensible caution in all things advised. This is no time for extreme, foolish daring in risking assets, income, etc. It can be a productive day but the slow, steady pace will pay off.

December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn) — Your Saturn stresses patience, calm judgment and a reasonable amount of optimism. If you would get over and by the barriers possible now, avoid nervous anxiety; commonsense and cheerfulness will help you to achieve.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius) — Artistic and family-like pursuits may be more successful than mechanical and unknown matters now. Judge wisely when considering essentials and non-essentials.

YOU'RE BORN TODAY are strong in character, self-willed, very efficient (especially in emergencies) and usually have a charming and magnetic personality. You may be opinionated at times; this can cause others to lose sight of your finer qualities. In friendships and other associations be careful of a tendency to domineer. You have the ability, mental equipment and many talents needed to make marked success. Pray daily for patience, tolerance. And never despair. Birthdate: Wm. Cullen Bryant, poet, editor. I was talking and argewing with Puds Simkins about diffrent subjects such as the hydrogen bomb and the trubble of having to get your hair cut, and the mailman went past, and I said, G, I wish I was a letter carrier. Everybody is always expecting you and glad to see you, if you're a letter carrier, I said.

They're not so glad to see you if you just hand them a bunch of bills, Puds said. That makes them wish they had never even heard of you, he said, and I said, Well, they're glad for a minute, anyway, and by the time they find out it's nothing but bills, you're way up the street.

Even if the mailman gives you an intriuing letter, it's not intriuing to him, Puds said. All the mailman sees is the address on the outside, and he knows that already, he said, and I said, But he can read all the picture postcards, because I've seen him doing it.

Solunar Notes

Need Salt Water Legislation

By JOHN ALDEN KNIGHT
(Noted Sportsman, Author and Creator of Solunar Tables)

One warm evening in the Florida Keys, I sat on the boat dock at the fishing camp and watched the boats come in with their day's catch. Party after party of tired, happy fishermen unloaded gear and fish in front of me. It had been one of those rare, perfect days. The wind had been warm and gentle and the trout were schooled up and hungry.

As I sat there and watched literally hundreds of fish packed in the trunks of various cars, I could not help but wonder how long the Horn of Plenty would stay full.

My son and his wife have recently returned from a two-year stay in South Florida. During his residence there, Dick fished extensively throughout the area. He worked as a part-time mate on charter boats and as a full-time deckhand on a party boat—one of those oversized affairs that fish the reefs off Miami. The stories he has related to me of his experiences make me a little ill. Take his party boat as an example.

Each day, a pool was collected throughout the passengers to be awarded at the end of the day to the lucky angler who caught not only the largest fish, but also the smallest. As a result, many tiny grunts, rock-hind, pinfish, snapper and the like were killed, only to be discarded at the end of the day.

FISH SUFFERED

Then, too, it was against the rules for any member of the crew to return a fish to the water. This was a pet theory of the captain. He felt that if a fish was thrown back to grow up, it would alarm the school. Every evening hundreds of undersized fish were discarded at the dock. The pelicans and gulls lived high, but the fish population suffered.

There is no mistaken theory among charter captains that the ocean is an inexhaustible fountain. If such were the case, how can one explain the stripping of the newly discovered shrimp beds off Dry Tortugas in slightly less than two years? How can they help but worry when they hear reports of the sardine catches off California dropping from 731,771 tons in 1936 to two tons in 1946?

Perhaps the greatest drawing card of any vacation state is its fishing. This has been realized and dealt with by the inland states. Laws and conservation of those laws keep this natural bounty in a status quo. This is not the case, however, with those states who depend on the ocean with its beaches and its fish population. Many more years of such disregard will bring on nothing a steady decline in tourist return.

ENFORCEMENT EXPENSE

Legislation is relatively easy to set up and, though difficult to get by certain interests, can be passed. But the enforcement costs to carry out such legislation are high. The simple expedient of a saltwater license has been discussed and, surprisingly, contradicted. Here is the answer to many of the problems we are now facing.

For example, let's look at the state of Florida. In Miami and vicinity, the fishing population is staggering. Almost every resident has fished or will fish in the near future. Up and down the coast the story is the same. Yearly tournaments have encouraged people to fish who might never have tried the sport. In short, the rod pressure on the coastal waters of this state, both resident and tourist, has annually well over the million mark.

Let's be fair about our assessment for license. In these days of taxes and fets, the less the better. How about a dollar? The sum thus collected would be more than sufficient to establish the three things necessary to start ocean conservation on the long road back to recovery.

THREE NECESSITIES

First, it would provide funds for the employment of enforcement officers stationed in state districts with full authority in coastal waters.

Secondly, it would provide funds for the research necessary to determine which of the inland tide water species would be protected in part from the depredations brought on by fishing pressure.

And last, it would provide sufficient funds to maintain research units to be constantly in touch with fish supply and existing conditions in the field.

Since the winter of 1948-49 I have been an annual visitor in The Florida Keys. Gradually, I have seen the fishing in these once-lush waters go from good to bad to worse and still worse. Once it was possible to see at least four or five hundred boatfish in the course of a single day. Now you are lucky if you see fifty.

Of sea trout, redfish and snook there was a ready supply in almost any channel. Now you must cruise 15 or 20 miles to find anything resembling good fishing.

FAVOR SANE LAWS

Almost any of the commercial fishermen on the west coast of Florida, will tell you that he is in favor of sane conservation laws and adequate enforcement. They know, first-hand, how much damage is done each year by the "sport fishermen" who bring in countless thousands of under-size game fish.

To be sure we do have some laws now on the books tend to protect small game fish. To my way of thinking, these laws are inadequate but they are a step in the right direction.

However, laws are useless without enforcement and enforcement costs money. After all, wardens must live, a relatively easy way to provide the cash needed to employ an adequate crew of wardens would be to impose a reasonably priced saltwater license.

Any salt-water angler surely would be willing to pay a dollar or two (less than the cost of a bait for a single day) if he knew that such an expenditure would, in the long run, give him better fishing.

FETHON ON THE LOOSE

The head keeper of the Dade County zoo, at Crandon Park, Miami, has a big problem on his hands. He has to find the mate of this 11½-foot, 80-pound python which escaped on Key Biscayne. Police were called in to aid the keepers in combing the 500-acre island. (Central Press Canadian).

FIND BODY IN CREEK

TORONTO (CP)—The body of Patrick Kelly, 17, was recovered Monday when his automobile was pulled from Black creek in York township. Police said Kelly apparently had been returning home Sunday when his car went out of control and plunged into the creek. The car, almost submerged, was spotted by a township employee.

The Winches, father Ernest, 75, (right) and son, Harold, 47, of Vancouver, have only a year to go to break the record father and son team in British parliamentary history. They began political life 21 years ago when both entered the British Columbia Legislature as CCF members. Harold Winch quit provincial politics in 1953 and carried his federal riding, Vancouver East. His father represents Burnaby riding in the legislature. (CP Photo).

Political Partnership of Father, Son Heading Toward Record

By BRUCE LEVETT
Canadian Press Staff Writer

VANCOUVER (CP)—The political partnership of E. E. Winch and son, formed 21 years ago today, is heading toward a Commonwealth record.

The Winches, father Ernest, 75, and son Harold, 47, have only a year to go to break the record for unbroken service by any father and son team anywhere in British parliamentary history.

The present record, Dominion archives statistics show, is 22 years less two days. It was set by Joseph Chamberlain and his son Austen, who sat together in the British House of Commons from July 4, 1892, until July 2, 1914, when the elder Chamberlain died.

STARTED IN 1933

It was Nov. 2, 1933, when a 54-year-old, unemployed bricklayer and his 26-year-old son, an unemployed electrician, ran for the British Columbia legislature in the first election contested by the newly-formed CCF party.

"We were both on relief at the time," Ernest recalls.

They made it, Ernest in Burnaby riding and Harold in adjoining Vancouver East. And they were re-elected in every election since for 20 years. Then, shortly before last year's federal election, Harold broke under the pressure of leading his party in a tough, close fight against the Social Credit party.

The CCF lost the election when it polled four seats fewer than Social Credit and Harold Winch missed becoming premier of British Columbia.

He quit provincial politics in 1953 and carried his federal riding—also Vancouver East—by a wide margin.

SHARP-EYED TEAM

Both father and son have penetrating eyes—the elder Winch from beneath snow-white hair and eyebrows—the son, under a shock of jet black hair.

The father speaks in a high, knife-like voice and the son in a medium tone with a faint indication of a stammer.

"I was one of the worst stammerers in Canada," he says. "There were times when I would get my mouth open and be unable to close it. I am told sometimes by my political opponents that it is still one of my worst faults."

He cured the stammer.

High spot of Harold's political career came in Vancouver in 1938 when fiery Mayor Gerry McGeer read the Riot Act as 4,000 unemployed milled in Victory square.

DARING ACT

He dared life imprisonment by snatching the act from McGeer's hands. He returned it on a police promise to allow him to address the crowd.

In that year, he was tear-gassed three times during the confusion of unemployed riots.

His father's career has been less turbulent, although his interest in socialism "goes back 40 years." And at 75, he says he will only retire to "the coffin."

Born in England, Ernest Winch came to Canada in 1898. In 1917 he met a former minister named J. S. Woodsworth. They used to argue politics "until three o'clock in the morning." Winch claimed that, to hold true Christian beliefs, a man had to be a socialist.

In 1933, at Regina, the CCF party was formed under J. S. Woodsworth.

POLITICS A CRUSADE

Ernest, known as "E. E." made politics a crusade which he fought on behalf of the aged and infirm. How well he fought is attested by a rehabilitation centre for persons recovering from mental disorders. He built it with private donations, sold it to the provincial government and used the money to begin a low-rental housing project.

Now,in his suburban riding, the New Vista development of 44 cottages and 24 apartment units where 250 "senior citizens" pay $23 a month for accommodation has includes electric stove, refrigerator and other modern conveniences.

It is the largest scheme of its kind in Canada and, when the seventh phase is complete, will have cost $500,000.

Minimum of Immigration, Customs Formalities Required To Travel in West Germany

This story is one of a series giving the impressions gained by a Canadian reporter during a two-year tour of GERMANY.

By W. E. WHEATLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Canadians traveling to West Germany find a minimum of immigration and customs formalities — no more than in travelling to and from the United States.

Starting my visit, I landed at Dusseldorf airport expecting a detailed quizzing, a thorough search of baggage and perhaps a gentle frisking.

Here's what happened: A cursory glance at the passport. How much money? How many cigarettes? Your own personal things in the bag? Thank you. It was all over in a few seconds.

The bag wasn't opened. It was the same on leaving West Germany.

NEW DIFFICULTIES

Except for infrequent difficulties because of the luggage problem, a visitor can travel about the country without worry. A smattering of German helps, but does not sign language, but usually someone handy speaks English.

A virtual block on English was encountered with most owners of small shops, and about half the taxi drivers and railway porters. In a large department store in Bonn, a salesman-interpreter was called. School children study English. A pint-sized elevator boy of about 14 in a Berlin hotel prided himself on the English phrases and expressions he knew.

I found politeness and courtesy everywhere.

One train conductor must have noticed my bewilderment at a large, station with a change of trains had to be made.

"I guess you speak English, eh?" he said, smiling. Then he said in English that might be heard in Winnipeg or Chicago, Sales John or Detroit: "Just go down those stairs and up the next ones to the left to platform 2. Your train will be there in four minutes."

FACTORIES BUSY

If a visitor expects to find West Germany busy he isn't wrong. Smoke rolls from the chimneys of giant factories through the Ruhr valley, 10 years ago a prime target for Allied airmen.

People throng city streets. Traffic is heavy, but not of the volume and semi-frenzy of downtown London or New York.

Stores present tasteful and well-decorated windows, the displays impeccable and gleaming. There seems no lack of essentials or luxuries.

One gets the impression, however, that the proportion of window-shopping to potential inside-the-store customers is greater than in Canada. Many people gaze wistfully at the displays and move on, only to stop at the next store-window.

A Canadian visitor finds himself over-tipping at first if he doesn't know that hotels and restaurants add a 10-per-cent servict charge to his bill. Similarly, for other services rating a 25-cent tip at home, the equivalent one mark is too much.

Food is plentiful. By Canadian standards it often seems cheap, as do some articles in stores, but this is not necessarily true on the basis of German earnings.

KIDNEY ACIDS

Many people never know to get a good night's rest. They have no "alarm" to tell them to "arrange" things if may be their kidneys. Healthy kidneys filter poisons and excess acids from the blood. Premier Thinks Rehabilitation Ceiling 'Fair'

Says Flood Victims Have No Claim on Either Govt.

Flood Victims' Car Is Entered, Clothing Stolen

TORONTO (CP) — A 10-month-old boy whose parents lost their home in the flood in Holland marsh Oct. 16 was robbed of his piggy bank containing $8 Tuesday by a thief who also made off with $600 worth of clothing belonging to the family, police said.

Douglas Mumbaur, 25, his wife, Thelma, 22, and their baby, Brian, had barely time to become registered to the misfortune caused by the flood when the new blow struck.

The thief broke into Douglas' car while it was parked before a hospital where the father was visiting his wife and baby son.

TORONTO (CP)—Premier Frost of Ontario said today he thinks the $5,000 ceiling for rehabilitation for property damage to flood victims agreed upon by federal and provincial governments was "very fair." Floods followed the Oct. 15 hurricane in parts of Toronto's suburbs and in the Holland marsh area 35 miles to the north.

"This is very substantial aid," Premier Frost said. "It is $5,000 above the Winnipeg flood ceiling and what was given in the British Columbia flood.

NOT INSURANCE

"In reality, the flood victims haven't any claim on the two governments. This isn't insurance or, in the strictest sense, compensation. It is assistance and very substantial assistance. It is aimed simply to give them a very substantial leg up."

Some suggestions were heard in the flood areas recently that the $5,000 assistance wasn't enough.

Attorney-General Porter of Ontario said Tuesday night it was "the owner's worry" if he $5,000 allowance did not cover all the damage to any particular house.

"We cannot set a precedent that the government assumes full liability for the victims of each catastrophe," said Mr. Porter. "The only reason they are getting anything this time is because of the scale of this disaster."

CALLED SHAMEFUL

Donald C. MacDonald, Ontario CCF leader, today called Mr. Porter's statement "ashamed of He said it was an example of "callous indifference" on the part of the government.

"Mr. Porter's attitude makes Scrooge look like a generous soul," he said. He added that the $5,000 limit will affect those who suffered most, as persons with little loss will recover most of it while those who had heavily will be limited to $5,000, "which will likely go to the mortgage companies."

Democrats Seem On Way to Sweep In Michigan

DETROIT (AP) — The Democratic party appeared today to be on its way towards its first sweep of Michigan since 1936 in the wake of the resignation of Mennen Williams to a fourth term as state governor.

Detroit's two afternoon newspapers said Senator Homer Ferguson, chairman of the Republican policy committee, might be going down to defeat in the avalanche of Democratic straight ballots in populous Wayne (Detroit) county.

The newly-named Democrat Patrick V. McNamara, Detroit businessman and labor union official, would be elected senator.

The News said Williams appeared to be carrying his entire Democratic state ticket to victory. That last had happened since the late Frank Murphy, former governor and U. S. Supreme Court justice, engineered a clean sweep at the height of the Roosevelt boom.

General Assembly Will Debate Two Russian Charges

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP)—The general assembly will debate two charges that the U.S. has deliberately committed aggression in the China seas and that Nationalist China, ally of the United States, is guilty of piracy.

The assembly's steering committee decided without a formal vote Tuesday to place the items on the agenda.

Britain and the United States said they had no objection to discussion of the charges. Nationalist China did not ask for a vote but went on record as opposed to any discussion.

BLAST PREVENTS DEMISE

PARIS (Reuters) — Platinum blonde movie starlet, Jacqueline Saraton, tried to gas herself Tuesday night, but the explosion that blew up her apartment and nearly destroyed the six-storey building in Neuilly broke down her door after the explosion, to find the 22-year-old actress dead in a nightie, stretched out on a burning bed. She is recovering.

WEATHER

TORONTO. (CP)—Synopsis: A new storm centre developed over the New York area during the night resulting in snow and rain over southwestern Ontario as moist air swept in from the Atlantic ocean. As this disturbance moves north and east drier air will cover southern sections of the province tonight and Thursday. A fresh outbreak of cold air associated with a storm over Manitoba will push south to Lake Superior by Thursday morning.

DOCKERS AGAIN DECIDE TO END THIRD STRIKE

Refusal to Reinstate 57 Strikers Was Issue

LONDON (Reuters) — Mass strike meetings in London's 18-mile dock area voted today for a return to work Thursday morning after their strike which is many days old.

A massive month-long strike ended Monday morning. A few hours later several thousand London longshoremen were out again. They voted later in the day to go back today.

A few hours after they were back on the job this morning they were out again.

The ensuing mass meetings, however, voted to return once again.

The men voted to strike at dockgate meetings in protest against the refusal of employers to reinstate 57 workers suspended this week for refusing to work with non-union truck drivers.

The dockers were swiftly condemned by leaders of the Transport and General Workers Union, which has a large membership in the docks. The TGWU chiefs declared they had been "no victimization" by employers, and ordered the strike leaders to stop giving their followers a "false impression."

Today's stoppage followed the settlement Tuesday of London's biggest dock strike, which began Monday when dock workers—on their first day back at work after a four-week strike — refused to work with non-union truckers.

About 8,000 men joined this strike but they voted Tuesday to return to work this morning on the promise that the non-union drivers would be given one month to join the union.

But as some of them went back, the new dispute broke out.

Many men who struck Thursday decided today to postpone returning to work until they see the outcome of today's new stoppage.

Bail Application Precedent Set

TORONTO (CP) — Naiffe Stephen's application for bail before a Supreme Court justice—regarded as an unprecedented step because his trial on 43 charges of fraud will be in a county court — was adjourned Tuesday for further hearing today.

Mr. Justice A. M. Lebel said that if he granted the application it might set the stage for similar applications by others. Then the justices all over the province. Such applications should be made to a county judge, he said.

Patrick Hartt, appearing for Arthur Martin, counsel for Stephen, said bail was sought before a Supreme Court judge because Crown counsel were convinced magistrates and high county courts operating on a wrong principle—that bail is always refused because of an accused person's past record.

"That's not so," Arthur Klein of the crown attorney's department said.

Premier of Barbados Refused Room Because of Color, Govt. Apologizes

OTTAWA (CP) — The Canadian government has apologized to Premier Grantley Adams of Barbados, who is colored, because he was refused a room in Montreal's Windsor Hotel.

Official said today they had learned it was not general policy of the hotel to turn away colored persons and that Mr. Adams was refused a room because of some misunderstanding.

The government's apology to Mr. Adams was contained in a letter by H. F. Feaver, chief of protocol in the external affairs department.

Mr. Adams stopped one day in Montreal last week en route home from Europe. Because he was between planes, Trans-Canada Air Lines said Mr. Adams' hotel bill.

Officials said this was the only way the matter came to light because Mr. Adams did not make any protest when turned away from the Windsor.

TCA received a hotel bill, not from the Windsor as expected, but from another hotel. When the airline investigated, it found Mr. Adams had been refused a room at the Windsor. TCA notified the government.

Pattern of Retail Prices Alters Distribution of Spending Dollar

OTTAWA (CP)—Changes in the pattern of retail prices during the last year have altered the distribution of the average Canadian's spending dollar.

Last August, for instance, he was asked to pay more for such things as rent, household supplies and health care than they cost a year earlier, but found the price tags lower on other items such as women's clothing and car operation costs.

All in all, however, the bureau of statistics found August retail prices higher than they were 12 months earlier and its consumer prices index for August stood at 116.9.

That index, based on 1949 prices equalling 100, had declined onefifth of a point from 117 in July, reversing a five-month upward trend. However, the August index was still three-fifths of a point above its place a year earlier and was at its second-highest level since March, 1952. The index's record high was 118.2, in December, 1951.

The bureau Thursday is expected to announce the consumer price index for September.

The bureau's index is determined from various categories — clothing, shelter, household operation and miscellaneous other costs.

The August index for food prices stood at 113.8 compared with 114 a year earlier. But one component, meats, fish and poultry, at 102.3 was well below the 109.3 index of a year ago.

Rents increased faster than the cost of home ownership. The August index for rents was 120.8 as against 128.3 a year earlier while the home ownership index was 122.4 as against 121.5. The total shelter index was 127.2, compared with 124.3.

In the clothing department, women got a higher break than men. The women's clothing index was 101.1, compared with 103.1 in August 1953, while the men's clothing figure was 113.7, as against 113.8. The total clothing index was down to 109.5 from 110.4.

Household operations were little changed over the year, the price index at 117.2, down from 117.4. However, the fuel and lighting index fell to 114.6 from 116.2 while the index for supplies and services rose to 119.8 from 119.4.

The overall index for miscellaneous commodities and services was up to 117.8 in August from 115.9 a year earlier. That for consumer services was up to 114.2 from 115.4, but the health care index, for example, rose to 128.5 from 125, and the recreation index was up to 119.7 from 116.3.

Queen Mother Will Wind Up U.S. Tour at Glittering Dinner

NEW YORK (CP) — Queen Mother Elizabeth winds up her nine-day visit to New York with a major address tonight—her only one of the United States tour—before some 3,000 guests at a dinner given by the English - Speaking Union.

The dinner given by the society dedicated to "Anglo - American friendship will be one of the largest ever held in the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel. With "dress and decorations" the order for this evening, it will be the most glittering event of the tour.

A particularly colorful part of the program will be provided by the pipe major and seven pipers of the Black Watch of Canada, of which the Queen Mother is colonel-in-chief. The pipers have been in Montreal for the occasion and commanded by Lt.-Col. J. C. Bourne, will precede the Queen Mother and her party as she visits several adjacent ballrooms before entering the main ballroom.

All the 3,000 will pay $25 each for the dinner, but only about 1,000 will actually dine in the main ballroom with the Queen. For the others, the proceedings in the main room will be fed into the adjoining ballrooms by closed circuit television projected on to large screens.

Thursday afternoon the Queen Mother takes off for Washington for three days as the guest of President Eisenhower at the White House. Next Monday, she is planned there for Thursday night.

She will remain in Washington until Wednesday and her only duties until Nov. 12 when she flies by private plane to Glen Cove on Long Island to visit Mrs. Roosevelt, and visited a British home for the aged during the rainswept trip back to New York.

Today the Queen Mother was scheduled to attend luncheon at the Waldorf - Astoria by Mayor Robert Wagner on behalf of the city of New York.

Thirty Stricken With Violent Food Poisoning

TORONTO (CP)—About 30 members and guests of the Canadian prominent in Toronto's business and social life—were stricken with violent but not serious food poisoning at the Canadian Club luncheon at the Toronto Women's Press Club.

Club president Mrs. A. G. M. Brown collapsed while shopping after the luncheon and her husband was also stricken. Mrs. Richard Van Valkenburg, wife of the director of Eaton's art gallery, collapsed in the store and was treated for several hours in hospital.

The guest of honor, industrialist E. P. Taylor, said he ate a hearty meal and felt no ill effects.

Newspaper men sitting with him at the head table were violently ill.

Samples of the food, which included chicken in pattie shells, rolls, fruit salad, ice cream roll, cake and coffee, are to be examined by provincial laboratory technicians.

Many of the members and guests were stricken during the afternoon about two hours after the luncheon. Others were affected later in the evening. Some of those present felt no ill effects at all.

Metro Calls Halt To Financing Of Improvements

TORONTO (CP) — Metropolitan executive committee Tuesday called a halt to any further financing of new local improvements by local municipalities for the rest of 1954.

The decision was made on recommendation of Arthur Lascelles, metro finance-commissioner, who said he was "concerned with the almost daily receipt of applications from local municipalities for additional debenture financing with respect to new projects."

It is intended to bring metropolitan financing closer to a pay-as-you go policy, he said.

Additional financing for the 13 Toronto municipalities now is done by the metro authority.

Approve Expressway Construction Plans

TORONTO (CP) — Construction of the section of the Lakeshore expressway at the western approach to Toronto and the extension of Queen street over the Humber river was approved unanimously by metropolitan executive committee Tuesday.

The committee approved the start of construction "as soon as possible" at an estimated expenditure of $2,248,000. The Ontario minister of highways will be asked to approve a provincial subsidy of 50 per cent.

CLIMATE WARM-UP KILLING CANADIAN AND MAINE BIRCH

Que. Scientist Calls Disease Dieback

QUEBEC (CP) — Some 25,000,000,000 cubic feet of white and yellow birch has been destroyed in the maritime provinces, Quebec and the state of Maine because eastern Canada's climate is warming up, a Quebec scientist says.

Dr. Rene Pomerleau, director of a forest pathology laboratory operated at Laval University for the federal government, says the disease, called dieback, has ruined 175,000 square miles of birch stands and it is still spreading.

Theory that milder temperatures caused the disease was first put forward in 1943, Dr. Pomerleau said Tuesday night in an interview, but it was pooned up in favor of what proved to be fruitless research on insects and virus.

Dr. Pomerleau said Dr. Brunswick experimented on the temperature theory by inserting wires beneath trees to heat the soil and was the first man to create dieback artificially in trees, he said.

MAPLES STRICKEN

The experiment, tried out originally in the laboratory, matched lengthy research on weather conditions in eastern Canada since 1875. Since then, 20-year temperature averages for July and August show that summers are warmer by three degrees fahrenheit.

Other types of trees are also beginning to show symptoms of the disease, Dr. Pomerleau said, illustrating his point with color slides showing stricken maple stands.

He could not say if the situation would spread to Ontario, since conditions there were different from those in provinces nearer the Atlantic ocean.

While Dr. Pomerleau described the destruction of birch stands as "a catastrophe," he made the following points:

1. Rational development of the forest may result in the save of enormous destruction of birch in eastern Canada.

2. Where birch is dying, in many areas fresh spruce is pushing up to take its place.

3. The warmer climate trend, a phenomenon before which science has apparently been helpless, was an opposite turn.

The trend in transition is particularly serious for Quebec, Dr. Pomerleau said, because birch here has grown "with extraordinary vitality" as a result of forest fires and its logging.

He said birch seeds are light, easily carried by winds and grow easily in the poor soil of burned areas. Any spruce seeds falling in the area usually germinate but are choked by the fast-multiplying birch.

Dr. Pomerleau said some natural phenomenon is causing warming temperatures in many parts of the world.

FIND ANCIENT FOSSILS

ISTANBUL (AP) — Human and animal fossils dating back 500,000 years are reported to have been discovered in a great cave on the Turkish coast of the Mediterranean coast near Antalya. Dr. Ismail Kilic Kokten, a professor at Ankara University who went there to investigate the find, made the estimate of their age.

Both Parties Need Two Of 3 Doubtful Senate Seats

N. Jersey, Oregon, Montana Will Decide Senate Battle

By EDGAR SIMON
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Republican fight to hold the Senate focused on three states today as a tide of votes from Tuesday's mid-term election gave Democrats control of the House of Representatives.

Outcome of the battle for the 96-seat Senate depends on close races in New Jersey and Oregon—where Republicans are ahead—and Montana where the Democrats lead.

Victory for either party in two of the three outstanding races will mean control of the Senate.

HAVE FINAL VOTE

If the Republicans win two of the states, standing in the Senate will be 48 Republicans, 47 Democrats and one independent pledged to support the Democrats. As such, the vice-president would cast the deciding vote in organizing the Senate with Republicans as chairmen of committees.

If the Democrats win two, they will have 48 seats plus the one independent, a majority of two.

The pressure on the Republicans could mightily when George Bender defeated Thomas Burke for the Ohio Senate seat formerly held by the late Republican Senator Robert Taft. Burke had been appointed by Democratic governor Frank Lausche to fill out the remainder of Taft's term.

This victory helped make up for two Democratic gains reported just a short time before — Michigan and Wyoming.

The voters rejected President Eisenhower's appeal for a Republican Congress when they gave Democratic control of the 435-seat House by a margin expected to exceed 25.

They also elected Democratic governors in seven states where the Republicans had been in power previously. Included in the swing to the Democrats was New York, a coveted prize which exerts a strong influence on selection of presidential candidates.

Other late Senate returns ran true to form. Republican Leverett Saltonstall of Massachusetts and Thomas Kuchel of California and Democrats Paul Douglas of Illinois and Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota won another term.

But mastery of the Senate, which the Democrats regained to take control of Congress, appeared to be just out of reach.

Regardless of the outcome in the Senate and House seats still outstanding, the election had an impressive list of successes, headed by the triumph of Averell Harriman in his campaign to be governor of New York state over Republican Senator Irving Ives.

The New York campaign was one of the most bitter in the country. Harriman and Ives were subjected to personal attack with stirring Governor Thomas E. Dewey joining in the fight to continue the Republicans' 18-year tenure in the state house.

Harriman, who served Democratic administrations as secretary of commerce, ambassador to Russia and in other high posts, had been defeated in the elective office, piled up an early lead that reached 200,000 votes at one stage. Ives narrowed the margin to a few thousand but was unable to reach his opponent.

Another big Democratic success was the return to public life of former vice-president Alben Barkley, who ousted Republican Senator John Sherman Cooper in Kentucky.

The Democrats also took a Republican Senate seat in Nevada, where Alan Bible ended the brief senatorial career of Ernest Brown, a Republican appointed to succeed the late Pat McCarran, who had kept the seat in the Democratic fold for 21 years.

But the Republicans countered by wresting seats from the Democrats in Iowa, ending the 18-year service of Senator Guy Gillette, and Colorado, where Lieutenant-Governor Gordon Allott took the seat vacated by Senator Edwin C. Johnson, who had resigned the Republican-held governorship.

St. Andrew's Congregation Bids Goodbye to Minister

By GLADYS WARD

Members and adherents of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church gathered in the school auditorium on Tuesday evening to bid Godspeed to their pastor, Rev. o.t. Gordon Hornsby and Mrs. Hornsby, who are leaving shortly to reside in Picton, where Mr. Hornsby has accepted a call to the Presbyterian church.

Clerk of the session, J. A. MacKenzie, was chairman for the occasion which was opened with a hymn and a prayer by the minister, Mr. Egerton Boyce, church organist, had arranged a program of musical numbers which included solos by Mrs. H. Brown who sang, "Valley of Laughter" and "Little Song of Life"; a violin solo by Jocelyn Reinmars with accompaniment by Mrs. J. Brisbin, "Song of Heather" a piano duet by Mr. and Mrs. E. Boyce; and two tenor solos by Alec Cunningham, "Because" and "The Lord is My Shepherd."

Mr. MacKenzie on behalf of the Kirk session spoke of the twelve years of association with Mr. Hornsby as Moderator. "It has been a privilege to work with him and the Session appreciated his pleasant, thoughtful and his diplomatic and co-operative attitude. In such a large congregation many problems must be handled confidentially, and many of these have been solved quietly and the amount of work connected with social services. The minister's wife has been a constant source of encouragement and a great comfort to those in difficulties. The session would sorely miss his sound advice and wise counsel," said Kirk Session clerk as he read a resolution expressing their appreciation of the work and the spiritual growth of the congregation. Mr. Hornsby had earned the love and respect of the people. The congregation wished him every success in his new church, and regretted that reasons of health necessitated a smaller charge," said Mr. MacKenzie.

SPEAKS FOR BOARD

Speaking for the Board of Management, Mr. J. J. Brisbin endorsed all assurance that St. Andrew's should be treasured as the most deeply religious man, one who was a keen listener, an ardent counsellor, and lover of a real sense of humor. His thought-provoking sermons and his work in the congregation had had a strong influence during his pastorate. Mrs. Hornsby had won her many admirable qualities had carried out her responsibilities graciously and with charm. Mr. Brisbin expressed the appreciation felt that Mr. and Mrs. Hornsby would still be neighbors and would be in the same Presbytery. He wished them all the best of health, and hoped that they would make many new friends and that their move would be a joyous experience for them for many years to come.

Dr. J. W. Kinnear spoke for the congregation as a senior member. He recalled that his association dated back to 1903, and he remembered how impressed he was by the men of distinction in St. Andrew's church then in their frock coats and silk hats. He lauded Mr. Hornsby as a faithful minister, who never neglected his duties, especially in visiting the sick and shut-ins and whose Biblical discourses could not be heard without the feeling that it was worthwhile. He expressed sincere regret that the minister was leaving Belleville, and hoped he would be spared for long service in his new pastorate.

PRESENTED WITH ROBE

Mrs. C. E. Argue presented Mrs. Hornsby with a bouquet of red roses and asked her to accept them as a gesture of affection. Mr. William Fairburn, as representative elder, presented Mr. Hornsby with a purse of money.

In thanking all his friends of St. Andrew's, Mr. Hornsby said that the evening marked a definite cleavage of the happiest years of his ministry, in these days of stress and emergency he had learned to walk humbly. Looking back, starting with the door of memory, he recalled that when he came to Belleville the war was on, and the congregation was absent, but their return had given hope to the future and had provided the impetus which sent the church forward. Through the years of the depression, there was marked advance, and all organizations were kept functioning condition, numerically and spiritually. He had known unprecedented kindness from the congregation, and he felt a deep sense of gratitude.

SESSION THANKED

Mr. Hornsby thanked the members of the choir and spoke of his pride in them. Theirs had been a happy relationship, the result of which was to bring the fullest confidence, trusting in common sense and loyalty. The Board of Management had also enjoyed mutual agreement.

The voluntary workers of the church choir had been a constant inspiration. Their ministry to children in the Sunday School were pearls of great price and they should be treasured as the bond on which the church of the future would rest.

Mr. Hornsby voiced his gratitude for the many generous gifts which had been given to him and to Mrs. Hornsby, and for the letters he had received from his own congregation and from others. Going away was tempered by the fact that it was only twenty miles, and he issued a warm invitation to any who could to visit them.

"Until you get a minister," Mr. Hornsby said, "If you are in a row or severe illness you have only to ask and I will have the time and thought to give you."

Refreshments were served by the Women's Guild from tables covered with lace cloths, baskets of colored flowers and lighted candles. Many took this opportunity of personally expressing their good wishes to Mr. and Mrs. Hornsby.

Field Naturalists Hold Meeting

The Quinte Field Naturalists held their regular meeting in the Queen Elizabeth Public School on Monday evening.

Despite the fact that several members were in Sault Ste. Marie attending a convention of entomologists there was a good attendance.

Miss Hart, the president, conducted the business of the meeting. It was decided to bring two Canadian artists to Belleville shortly after Christmas, Mr. Dick Bird, of Regina, and Mrs. Stewart Thompson of Toronto. Both these men are well known her and abroad.

Dr. Summerby, a newcomer to Belleville, showed a beautiful collection of colored pictures of birds, flowers, reptiles, ferns and fungi. These ranged from Bonaventure Island to Delta, Manitoba (an outstanding bird, interesting bits of nature) and those present were enthusiastic in their praise of these clever shots.

A social half hour closed an excellent meeting.

Farms Generally In Good Shape, Fine Fall Wheat

Although rains have held up plowing in some districts, crop conditions find farms in generally good shape with the apple picking completed and fall plowing progressing rapidly.

The weekly crop report of the Ontario Department of Agriculture notes that the fall wheat in Northumberland county has seldom looked better. Combining of soy beans is being general and yields were light with an average of 24 bushels per acre. Red clover has varied greatly in yield with most lost by the wet weather.

In Peterborough some envisage corn is still to be harvested. Fall wheat is growing well despite the fact some was sown very late.

In Prince Edward county favorable weather has made it possible to harvest mailage corn and most silos are full. Apple growers have harvested their Spys completing the apple picking.

TORONTO STOCKS

TORONTO (CP) — Uraniums shot ahead on the stock market today and the trading pace was the second-heaviest of the year.

Meta Uranium was the heaviest trader, with demand so great that clerks recording its activity fell behind soon after the opening and took 45 minutes to catch up. It traded 458,000 shares in the first hour and jumped 26 cents to a 1954 high of 89 after favorable property reports.

Industrial activity was scarcely less spectacular. The group's index dec climbed more than a point, a jump it hasn't shown for two weeks. Gains of 1 or more went to International Metal A, Goodyear, General Dynamics, Consolidation Life and Canada Cement.

Papers, utilities, steels, liquors and motors led the industrial advance.

Base metals, golds and western oils were mixed. Uraniums were strong with few losses in the group.

A HAPPY EXCEPTION

There is something rather inevitable about commencement speakers. They are either greeping elder statesmen of the educational elite freighted with advice which they distribute ponderously, or they are engaging entertainers who dazzle their captive audience with more wit than learning.

W. K. F. Kendrick, principal of the Teachers' College, Ottawa, who delivered the commencement address at the Belleville Collegiate Institute and Vocational School last Friday night, is a happy exception to the rule. His delightful and engaging address was the most perfect combination of scholarship, common sense, and idealism that many of the graduates will ever be presented with again in so short a time and in so pleasant a fashion. He dispensed wit and wisdom in equal portions with a charm and grace that left his audience stimulated and refreshed.

Samples of his remarks are:

"I am not going to give you (graduates) advice for two reasons. Youth is allergic to advice. The other reason is more important. I just don't know. Twenty or thirty years ago I could have given you lots of advice and believed it. But now I am not so certain about things."

"I can't emphasize too strongly that the greatest ability must be prepared for the greatest work. The heaviest burdens are on your shoulders because no one else can carry them. But this is only one side of the picture. You also have the thrill of carrying them."

"No one is so bored as he who has nothing to do. Happy people are busy people who have the thrill of doing something worthwhile. Having a worthwhile job and giving it your best is the most satisfying thing in life."

"I am delighted to see provision on your program for all-avenues of trade and to see that the graduating groups are from a number of different classes. Remember what Milton once said, 'All labor ranks the same with God.' Don't be embarrassed by intellectual snobs. Your talents are all different."

"I have only one suggestion for you. I urge you to keep alive, in this era of mass society, your own individualism whatever that may be."

In speaking of the "adjustment" of teachers to certain standards approved by educators and school-boards, Mr. Kendrick said:

"I am sick and tired of that word 'adjustment.' Adjust to what? Most people are average. If the average person sets the standard we adjust to mediocrity. Being clever seems to be a hazard. I always tell my students that they must be clever enough to hide the fact they are clever or else they will suffer the barbs of the mediocre who are more numerous."

"Knowledge is a head filled with the thoughts of others. Wisdom comes from a head that takes its own counsel. Knowledge has limited value. Wisdom is so much. Wisdom is humble that it knows so little."

Mr. Kendrick coated these bits of homely truth in the palatable guise of humor and served everything hot and spicy to an audience that was left hungering for more.

Would that all education could be so pleasant!

ARCHITECTURE AS A CHARACTER BUILDER

"Children, in particular, used to the soft, harmonious tones of home, should be protected from the ultra smart harshness of some modern school rooms," suggests the Owen Sound Sun-Times. "Surroundings have a tremendous influence in the character of the child and the quality of its work."

That is a novel view.

If architecture shapes our character and our thoughts, rather than merely being an expression of existing characteristics, there are dozens of aspects of today's boom in the construction industry which should be given most serious study by psychologists, psychiatrists and theologians.

The "soft, harmonious tones of home," to which the Sun-Times refers are not always to be found in many of our modern houses.

Nor, come to think of it, were they always present in the products of earlier years. There is little that is soft or harmonious about some of the one-room schools scattered through the countryside. The outlines of the little red schoolhouse were often starkly plain.

CAUSE FOR RELIEF

We have a new reason for optimism.

Our civilization is not going to follow the pattern of the decline and fall of ancient Rome.

That most certain author of a recent article in "The Printed Word" in which some similarities between our problems and those of Rome are noted. There is, however, a vital difference.

A historian, F. Lot, says in "The Printed Word," "quotes Lactantius as saying, presumably with exaggeration, 'Those who live on the taxes are more numerous than those who pay them.'"

That will never happen in Canada. Here, even those who live on the taxes also pay taxes.

Dr. J. J. Roberts is spending a few days in Montreal.

That seventy-four electric ranges have been installed in Belleville as a result of the campaign which has been carried on during the past few months, was reported by Manager Oswald H. Scott at the meeting of the Belleville Hydro Power System Commission. Mr. Scott also stated to the commissioners that there are now 172 flat rate water heaters and eight booster heaters in the city. Present at the meeting were George A. Reid, chairman commissioner, and Mayor F. Duff, commissioner. Mayor Geo. O. Flog was unable to attend the meeting.

Mrs. J. Blakely and daughter, Miss Moira Street West, spent the week-end in Toronto.

Mrs. Harold Hoover is home from Toronto to spend the week-end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Woodley, Catherine Street.

Wellington, Prince Edward County, was threatened with complete destruction by fire just before noon today, but by dint of the citizens' bucket brigade and the hook and ladder the fire was confined to four houses which were burned to the ground. The houses destroyed were those of Mrs. P. J. Campbell, Mr. A. Shouter, Mrs. Ida Ryan which was situated next to the telephone exchange which also was destroyed. A bonfire of leaves caused the fire.

The Schuster Block at the corner of Bridge and Pinnacle streets, which was almost entirely destroyed by fire last winter, has been acquired by the Belleville Club and work has commenced in re-building the block. On the completion of these there will be attractive and well appointed quarters for the club and on the third floor there will be a commodious billiard room for the club members. On the ground floor there will be two stores on Bridge Street and two stores on Pinnacle street. The club entrance will be on Pinnacle street.

Remodeling Doughnuts

(Windsor Star)

American doughnut producers have announced with the flourish of a manufacturer proclaiming a change in models, that their product will be given a new look. The hole will be reduced from seven-eighths of an inch to three-eighths, thereby providing dunkers with a better bite.

Thus the doughnut is reduced to a matter of engineering, when the main demand simply is for a better doughnut—better in texture, flavor and in the way it sits on the stomach.

Never mind about the dunkers. They've never been so numerous as light observations on the subject of doughnuts would have one believe. If there is any need to improve their grips, it can be done by providing a doughnut that doesn't leave the impression it has just been dunked.

What the doughnut needs most of all is a return to mother's recipe. The producers who do that need have no worry about survivals. Good doughnuts are not subject to the whims of exhibitionists let dunkers say what they may.

Journey to West Coast

By G. A. MORTON
(Managing Editor)

Another two of the "musts" to be seen in San Francisco are Golden Gate Bridge and Muir Woods and both can be seen on the same tour. Muir Woods is a natural park of 685 acres containing the Redwood trees. These are the giants of the tree world along with the Sequoia Gigantea which grows farther inland. The Redwood is the Sequoia also but has some different characteristics from its larger brother.

The drive to Muir Woods is a pleasant one of eight miles and to reach it the traveller crosses the Golden Gate Bridge and proceeds northerly mostly up-grade. The last mile the road descends abruptly in a series of very sharp curves and steep grades to a valley. In which the Redwoods are growing.

MAJESTIC TREES

The first sight of these huge trees is unforgettable — the massive trunk which the eye follows upward to the sky so that in most instances is over 200 feet and one has grown over 300 feet. The size of the tree trunk seems real to those who have never seen them before. Usually there are no branches for the first seventy to one hundred feet, the bark is rough and in the main, though this gives the impression of being a monster, grows a source of grine. Actually the diameter of the Muir Woods trees does not usually exceed seven feet. Some of them appear to be ten or twelve feet in width.

It is a pleasant walk through the woods alongside a spring between which and through the centre of the narrow valley. The guide gives out interesting bits of information and points out some unusual features about different specimens as the party proceeds. The Redwood has a habit of growing in a circle. There may be six or more trees in a group. These at one time were shoots springing up from the roots of the parent tree. In the course of this gradually increasing circle the parent tree gradually disintegrated and disappeared leaving a space of ground which is preferred to as forest rooms.

We were told that one of the reasons the tree can live for 1,500 years is that the bark is a fire resistant of tannic acid which keeps off insects and the fungi which cause it to decay because there is little resin in the wood and the bark contains cork. Even the bark section of a Redwood it can be seen that the bark is a foot or more thick and this is said to be another reason the tree survives so well. Between 150 and 200 years ago a fire raged through this woods and left charred stumps and deep scars in the living trees. In some cases the fire did eat through the bark and burnt out the heart of some trees but they still live. The tree draws its nourishment from the lateral roots for it does not have a tap root like other trees, for instance. We walked through a burnt out Redwood which had room inside its trunk for twenty-nine people crowded together. It would take a lot of people to hold a crowd of that number.

Many of the trees have large growths on the trunk and these are called burls. The largest one we noticed was its diameter and these are made into table top and ornamental pieces. In one office south of the city we saw a table top which the owner boasted must have been over three feet wide and of irregular form. The price was reasonable for the beauty, having something of the appearance of Venetian walnut but richer. It was filled with "eyes" like the Bird's Eye Maple. The piece of furniture would be incredibly expensive because burl of that size is rare, indeed.

SAME HEIGHT

Another interesting fact about the Redwoods is that they grow in a valley and up the sides of the valley wall yet viewed from the top of the valley wall they are same height. The valley runs north and south and the trees become just to the level of the hill top on the ocean side from which come air currents which the trees are usually cold a good part of the year. The trees have not grow beyond the protection of the hill even though there is quite a difference in the height between the floor and side-wall specimens.

It is interesting to see how all these beautiful trees and realize that many of them were growing there before William the Conqueror came over to England and that some of them go back almost to the beginning of the Christian era. They have survived fire, storm, lightning and fire over the centuries is a miracle of nature that is the countless years they are in the world, except other trees of the species are growing elsewhere on the West Coast.

We think tribute should be made to those who set aside these comparatively few acres for future generations to enjoy. In that regard it may be said that the founder of the Muir Woods National States Government by Congressman William Kent and his wife who purchased the land and gave their request was named in honor of John Muir a noted traveller, writer and naturalist. The woods were established as a national monument in 1908. It was worth going to San Francisco just to see Muir Woods and if we were to return to San Francisco again Muir Woods would be one of the first attractions we would want to visit.

Letter to the Editor

Poppy Fund Chairman Appeals to Citizens

Editor,
Ontario Intelligencer,

This week-end the citizens of Belleville will once more be asked to remember the dead of two World Wars by wearing a poppy. I know that if the hundreds of some people the annual poppy campaign is placed in the same category as other charitable appeals, and the question is often asked, "Where does the Poppy Fund, which is one campaign, be a part of the Community Chest, the United Appeal or Hospital Fund, would indeed be grateful Mr. Editor if the further space necessary to answer this question.

Let us go back first of all to 1921 when the Poppy Fund was born when Canada was engaged in the First World War. There are names that I would like to bring to your memory out or that context.

Dr. Jean Pierre Francis-achendesale, Vimy Ridge, Saint Julien, the Somme? In World War II have Dieppe, Falaise, Arnhem, and significance? Or have these names already faded from the consciousness of all but a few to whom they have a very personal and poignant?

If these names mean anything to you then you will be interested to be for you more than just another charity drive. The poppy campaign is the result of its purpose and the most important of these is to help the ex-service men and women of Canadian wears a poppy on Remembrance Day, thereby participating in the Act of Remembrance and helping to call to the mind of every citizen the thought that the price of our freedom was sacrifice.

Canadian men of indomitable spirit and courage shed their blood and gave their lives on foreign battlefields for one purpose alone. For no matter how old-fashioned the idea might be there can be no doubt that the only reward for their sacrifices of this magnitude is the preservation of the kind of freedom we enjoy in this country.

The work of making the poppy Disney provides useful employment for disabled veterans in the Veterans shops. The Belleville Poppy Committee, whose representatives come from the three veterans organizations in this purchases its supplies from this central source. All money received from the sale of poppies emblems and wreaths after the supplies have been paid for remains in the Poppy Trust Fund and is used to assist needy veterans and their dependents.

Canada asks very little in the way of sacrifice from its ordinary citizens. We, of the Belleville Poppy Committee, ask that you wear a poppy proudly and as much as you can spare and wear your poppy proudly so that all Canadians may be reminded at least one day in the year to the high cost of freedom.

"Lest We Forget."

Les Digby, Chairman
Belleville Poppy Committee.

Ideal Walking Partners Rare

(The Times, London)

Opinions differ on the ideal walk. It should certainly not be more than 30 miles in a day and, if it is less than ten, then it has degenerated into a stroll and the companions turn it into a marching column. But solitude, which has its great devotees, is the wrong tere side. There are people, men and women, who can go along happily, from breakfast to supper, in their own company. But they are, as a rule, hermits or writers of letters and so have lost their amateur status as walkers.

Utopia is reached when two spirits find themselves kindred—and that is not impossible. Neither party of the well-matched pair wishes to talk all the time about the scenery until the other does, and will think the same about stopping for food and drink. Never or disagree about the map and always keep step and when the last one falls silent, the other, too, is content with his own thoughts. No wonder the art of walking is so seldom practised to perfection.

Personal Health Talks

THE POOR GEEK WHO WALKS ON EGGS

Scientists, according to Uncle Pete, medical scientists, attending the second World Congress on

Dr. Brady

Cardiology (study of the heart), say that as a rule a person with heart disease may and generally should carry on with a job, any kind of moderate work, but it is extremely heavy labor.

A doctor becomes a scientist automatically, in Uncle Pete's language, by attending such a medical society meeting far from home.

These scientists-for-a-day don't stop there. No, by golly, they say that patients with heart trouble generally feel better for doing a day's work, and patients who avoid daily work because of heart trouble may be injured by taking it easy.

This may mean a lot of old fossils in the profession and to a good many persons who use "weak heart" as a handy excuse for nothing much.

So the "CVD" book (about heart and artery trouble) I explain the importance of exercise in the treatment of heart disease, graduated exercise, which, in my judgment, is second only to Nutron as a remedial measure.

Dr. Master, Deck and Jaffe reported in "American Heart Journal" that in 890 cases of coronary occlusion the circumstances preceding onset of symptoms were sleep 23 percent, rest 31 percent, mile activity 20 percent, moderate activity 6 percent, walking 12 cent, and unusual exertion 2 cent.

Conclusions of Drs. Levine and Lowne, reporting in J. A. M. A. this experience with the "easy chair" treatment of acute coronary artery disease:

Strict bed rest is injurious; sitting position in arm chair obviates some of the harm of strict bed rest.

The prompt improvement shown after patients desperately ill with congestive heart failure were placed in a chair was particularly impressive.

Beginning not later than the first week of the attack, 81 patients were kept in chair-varying and increasing portions of the day.

I'd like you these truths for the good of your health. "As I may know, I have no symptoms at all" are placed in the same thin "weak nerves" to impose upon sympathetic friends of the world. But I feel sorry for self-made invalids who have developed the habit of being waited on and pampered by poorly-trained doctors, nurses and relatives, sometimes even indulgent insurance companies. Most of all I pity the poor fellow who has a "heart attack," real or imaginary, and spend the rest of their lives walking on eggs.

STRENGTH FOR THE DAY

DR. EARL I. DOUGLASS

ENDURING THE BLIZZARD

When a blizzard sweeps over the arctic ice cap, the Eskimos retire to their igloos and stay there until it is over. But they do not bring their sleddogs into their huts or under any cover whatever. They let the dogs stay in the cold, taking the cutting gales, the terrific ice and sleet.

It seems cruel procedure, but it is not. The Eskimo has learned through the centuries that his dogs keep healthy only when exposed to the worst of weather indoors. Brought under cover and coddled to the slightest degree, these dogs will probably forget the harness and lapse into uselessness.

Sometimes God lets his children stay out in the blinding storm. Such procedure appears cruel. to those who have never developed immense powers of patience. Why should God permit this by because of the buffetings to which life had subjected him.

This is the natural question any person you have known? Is it some trend of the woman for whom life has been easy? The chances are that it is someone who has had to endure long sieges of sickness or of outrageous fortune. The blinding storm is the natural outgrowth of the hurricane strengthen them and give them real power.

This is the reason Jesus learned obedience by the things that he suffered.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

Two acquaintances of mine who did not know each other asked me to lunch. Before I sat down they could talk business. The business was this: that Wallie, the more impressive of the two, a fairly big business executive, wanted Alex, the youngster man, to come and work for him. The luncheon was a feel-out.

As the luncheon progressed, not the subject was brought right out into the open, Alex was visibly impressed with the offer that Wallie made.

"Well, tell me now," he said, "what's it like at your office? Is it a happy family?"

Wallie looked at the younger man with a sly, foxy expression. "I'm certainly not going to tell you." "The place is full of office politics. The man senior to me knows I am right on his tail all the time, and is perfectly aware I am after his job. There are three men younger than I am, and you'll be the fourth, who work with so other intention but to get my job either when I die or when I succeed in getting the top job."

Alex looked thunderstruck.

"Yep," went on Wallie." We've got old-school outfit. The rest of the staff is all involved in the politics. Some times they are on our company's side, and other times they shift their allegiance. None of the juniors knows, at any time, which of his junior bosses is likely to rise up to be the big boss. It keeps them jumping. It keeps them alert. It keeps them from making so many mistakes, none of us dare make any mistakes, or expect any favors. Everyone has to be indebted to the wrong man. No, siree! It certainly isn't a happy family. It's a darn good thriving business, with no family nonsense about it."

Alex swallowed, and stated: "Is there much turnover in personnel?"

"Except for a few stenographers who went and got married," said Wallie, "we've not left or been let out in ten years. You'll be the first executive to leave the office on since I joined them. And, boy, what a turmoil your coming will create!"

Harm the Lyon (S.D.) Plainsman for inserting a short item telling how to breed a special kind of fish which "will have the fighting quality of a rainbow trout, the eating deliciousness of a walleyed pike, the beauty of a trout, the prolific fertility of a bullhead and perch and the size of a good Mississippi river catfish." Shucks, Plainsmen, in Minnesota, we call that kind of a fish a minnow!

Council Waiting for Former Assessor to Make Next Move

TRENTON (Special) — Town council is waiting for former assessor Clive Rogerson to make the next move.

Dismissed by the incoming mayor and council last spring Rogerson following the recent Ontario Municipal Board hearing served legal notice on the town charging "irregular discharge" and claiming damages of $1,500 and costs. His assessment figures on the garage owned by Gerald Weaver were confirmed by the board. Solicitor W. A. Fraser and D. G. "Buster" Alyea were successful in their appeal case against the assessment on the Weaver property.

Letters from Rogerson's solicitor were read at the meeting.

The latest one pointed out that date that settlement would be accepted had been moved up to November 4, 7th (civil legal) notice set November 1 as the settlement date.

Rogerson has expressed intention through his lawyer, I. Willoughby of Kingston that he will press the suit.

Mayor Ross Burtt commenting on the notice said "I think it advisable to let it ride until we hear from the town solicitor." The five councilmen present agreed. The mayor said he understood Rogerson would have to issue a writ before council could act.

COUNCIL DISCUSSES OFFER

Council discussed Viola Roberts' offer to sell the town her 243 West Street property for $3,000. It was noted that the assessor valued the land at $2,000. During the 1953 term the asked price councillor N. J. McNair observed: "We don't want it that bad." In the course of the conversation one councillor said: "Yes we want the property. We want to use it as an industrial site." Councillor Gerald Weaver could not see how the town could afford to buy it right now.

Mrs. Roberts owns a part of a block of land the town wants to acquire for a factory location. Three people own the rest of it. Clerk-treasurer O. W. Larry on his return from holidays will be asked for his opinion in this matter.

Arrangements are underway to set dates for Court of Revision hearings. The hearings are expected to start around middle to Nov. One councilman looks for the court to sit until New Year's. Town assessor E. F. Hall listed 93 appeals for the court to deal with.

Councillor James MacDonald urged council to proceed with drawing up of a plebiscite for the people to consider voting money for the Community Centre project. The people will be asked to decide whether the town will issue a debenture for $100,000 after the Community Centre committee first provides $70,000.

CLADIS WRONG WAY

Councillor Weaver believed the committee was going about raising the needed money in the wrong way. He feels that the people would gladly authorize the $100,000 expenditure if the committee first collected their share and then ask for the balance.

A spokesman for the committee said the committee would wait until the plebiscite was passed before the drive for donations would commence.

Council paid a bill of $300 assessment expert George A. Lidster charged for his work in connection with the recent assessment case before the Ontario

Rawdon Farmer Shoots Big Bear Raiding Orchard

Burton Morton, sixth concession, Rawdon, shot a 400 pound bear, near his apple orchard on Tuesday morning.

The bear had been in the vicinity for some time.

When Hurricane Hazel passed over this district the russett apples in the old orchard were blown on the ground. The bear, after dining on apples tried to steal some honey from nearby bees but didn't succeed.

Later he visited another of Mr. Morton's orchards and helped himself.

Tuesday evening, Mr. Morton shot the animal before more damage was done.

Nationalists In Algeria Harass Traffic

ALGIERS (Reuters) — Strong bands of armed Algerian nationalists, linked by portable radio sets, harrassed road traffic today from hideouts in the Aures mountains as a three-day outbreak of violence continued here.

French army and police units are handicapped by difficult mountain terrain in their efforts to clean up the bands, numbered between 300 and 400 men. The nationalists have automatic weapons and hand grenades as well as rifles, French sources say.

A terrorist attack in the region of Oudjal Tuesday broke 24 hours of relative calm in Algeria after a sudden outburst of terrorist activity Monday.

French authorities banned all road traffic in the south, after terrorists blew up bridges and exceed fire against cars.

They have also endangered communications in the east close to the Tunisian border.

Officials described the situation as "delicate."

French authorities have claimed the burst of terrorism is aimed at focusing attention on the country on the eve of United Nations debate on France's two North African protectorates of Morocco and Tunisia.

CAMPBELLFORD

Chamber Will Aid In Flood Relief

CAMPBELLFORD — At the regular meeting of the Campbellford Chamber of Commerce held in the council chambers the chief business of the evening dealt with the Hurricane Relief Fund. The Chamber decided to co-operate with the service clubs in their effort, making a special appeal to those in the township who would not be canvassed. The Chamber of Commerce set up collection depots at the two banks and several stores in town.

Plans were laid for the annual Santa Claus parade to be held on December 11th, 1954.

Sea Can Solve World's Growing Demand for Food

VICTORIA (CP) — Fisheries Minister James Sinclair said Tuesday night the sea's abundant life will become increasingly important as the world population outgrows its food supply.

The minister told the Laurier Club his 1953 tour of Colombo plan projects in southeast Asia showed Asian nations are turning to the sea as never before to eke out their food resources.

"This is the shape of things to come around the world."

He said the Asian countries require help in improving their fishing fleets and methods. Some European nations was teaching new skills to natives of almost every country he visited.

In Ceylon Canadian fisheries experts were teaching the use of modern gear. Fishing vessels from the west coast of Vancouver island have scouted far beyond the range of Ceylonese canoes to find new fishing grounds.

Canada was developing a new kind of fishing vessel adapted to Ceylonese conditions. It would be about 25 feet long, powered by the simplest type of semi-diesel engine. It would enable Ceylonese fishermen to visit the new fishing grounds and return to their home villages before nightfall with their catches.

Declines to Amplify

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — Mayor Arthur Reaume said Tuesday the reason there was no statement released after the meeting of Essex county legislators last Saturday was that "there are many things that are best left unsaid."

He declined to amplify on his remark.

The meeting was arranged by Mayor Reaume to discuss strikes at the two major Ford of Canada plants in Ontario.

The company is faced with strikes at the production plant here and its assembly plant in Oakville, midway between Toronto and Hamilton.

Weddings

KELDERMAN—KOOY

A wedding of interest took place in the Frankford United Church on Friday evening, October 29, 1954, at 7.30 p.m. when Marie Kooy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Kooy of Purmerend Holland, became the bride of Mr. John Kelderman, son of Mr. and Mrs. K. Kelderman of Monnickendam, Holland. The Rev. C. E. Clarke officiated at the ceremony.

The church was beautifully decorated for the occasion with baskets of yellow and white chrysanthemums, and lighted candles in pink candelabra on the communion table. Mrs. Walter Morrow played the traditional wedding music and accompanied Mr. Ernie Wallace, soloist, singing "O Perfect Love" before the ceremony and "I'll Walk Beside You", during the signing of the registers.

The bride looked charming in a floor length gown of brocaded satin and wore a fingertip veil and carried a cascade bouquet of roses and carnations.

Miss Helene Charlesworth, her only attendant, wore a dress of yellow Chantilly lace with matching hat and gloves and carried a bronze and white nosegay of 'mums.

Mr. Harry Kelderman was the groomsman and Mr. Mervin Dafoe and Mr. Walter Morrow acted as ushers.

Immediately after the ceremony the Rev. C. E. Clarke on behalf of the officers and members of the Frankford United Church, presented the young couple with a Bible.

The reception was held in the church hall and in the absence of the bride's and groom's parents, the guests were received by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Charlesworth and Mrs. and Mrs. T. Lawrence.

After a short honeymoon the young couple will take up residence in Frankford, where the groom is a member of the staff of the Bank of Montreal.

Mrs. James Ross of Toronto, was matron of honor, wearing a gown of ice blue nylon net and lace over taffeta. The bridesmaid, Miss Shirley May of Peterborough, and flower girl, Judith McCulloch, niece of the bride, chose similar frocks in shades of pink and yellow. They carried nosegays of pink and bronze 'mums.

The best man was Roland Coombs and James McCulloch and Robert Coombs, acted as ushers.

Following the ceremony, a wedding dinner was given in the church parlors where the bride's mother received wearing a gown of navy lace with a matching hat and a corsage of pink roses. The groom's mother also received wearing a navy dress and matching hat and a corsage of Talisman roses.

The bride and groom left on a wedding trip to points west. For travelling the bride chose a blue princess style frock with a coat in winter pink and black accessories. She wore a corsage of white carnations.

RUTHERFORD—IRVINE

Colborne United Church was the setting for the marriage at four o'clock, Saturday afternoon, October 30, of Shirley Isabel Reg.N. daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William G. Irvine of Colborne, to Malcolm S. Rutherford, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mackenzie Rutherford, of Colborne. The double-ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. M. R. Brown.

Yellow and bronze chrysanthemums, arranged in tall white standards and baskets, formed a beautiful autumnal floral scene with the many lighted candles. The guest pews were designated by bronze 'mums daintily tied with bows of white satin ribbon.

The traditional wedding music was played by the groom's brother-in-law, Rev. Clare Collogg, of Cookstown. The soloist, Mrs. Robert Fleming, Peterborough, the groom's sister, sang "The Lord's Prayer", "Still as the Night" and "Through the Years."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a French Chantilly lace gown with sculptured bodice, full diaphanous skirt, featured with tier-upon-tier effect, matching gloves with small chapel collar, long tapered sleeves ending in lily points at the wrists and nylon tulle veil and carried a cascade of red roses.

Miss Shirley Johnston, Reg.N. Toronto, was maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Miss Eleanor Irvine, Reg.N. Belleville, and Miss Nadine Irvine, the bride's sister. The attendants were attired in waltz-length dresses of identical design and color Elizabethan striped nylon tulle, sheer crystalline taffeta, fashioned with bouffant skirts in a honey champagne shade. They carried bronze 'mums.

The groom's brother, Mr. Donald Rutherford, Morrisburg, was groomsman. The ushers were the bride's brother, Mr. Glenn Irvine, and Mr. William Rutherford.

The reception was held in the church parlors, catering done by the Hustlers' Sunday school class. The large number of guests were received by the bride's mother, gowned in reindeer crepe with lace trim, corsage of pink and yellow rosebuds. She was assisted by the groom's mother wearing a navy crepe, corsage of pink and yellow roses. The decorations were in the color scheme of pink and white flowers, streamers and bells, made more beautiful by the lighted candles and floor lamps.

They left on a motor trip to the United States. On their return they will reside at Colborne, R.R. 5.

The groom's mother, Mrs. Mackenzie Rutherford, at her home assisted by his great aunt, Miss Willena S. MacKenzie, entertained at an afternoon tea, Saturday, October 9th.

Following the wedding choir practice, Thursday evening, October 21, the members assembled at the parsonage, where Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Brown entertained. A wedding shower was presented to the bride and groom (to-be). Both Shirley and Malcolm are gifted soloists and the choir wished, in this way, to show appreciation for their beautiful assistance.

Malcolm and Shirley are active members of Colborne United Church, as are their parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. Rutherford and Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Irvine, in its many organizations.

Victoria Avenue Baptist Church Celebrates 81st Anniversary

The 81st anniversary of the Victoria Avenue Baptist Church was observed on Sunday, October 31. They were fortunate to have as their guest minister the pastor's own father, the Rev. Walter Daniel. Mr. Daniel gave two inspiring messages, his morning subject "Stewardship" was taken from the text on the "Talents." His evening message was on the "Love of God" taking as his text the 103 Psalm. Special music was rendered by both the junior and senior choirs under the direction of Mrs. D. Reilly.

During the morning offering Miss Dave Danford, pianist, assisted the organist, Mr. William Connor in an organ and piano selection. Mrs. D. Reilly and Miss Doreen Groves rendered a duet in the evening.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

THEY WANT TO GET MARRIED — HIS PARENTS SAY NO

Here are a girl of 20, and a young man of 21, who want to get married.

Her parents are entirely willing. His are not and, in an effort to dissuade the young people, they are bringing up all kinds of reasons—at least one of them very far-fetched indeed—why marriage now would be a bad thing.

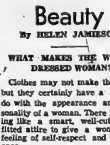
The two young people went together for a year before becoming engaged six months ago.

"That brings our courtship time up to a year and a half," the girl writes, "and it seems to me it's about time we set a date for our wedding. But although my parents believe we would be happy, because my boy friend and I get along so wonderfully and understand each other so well, and they give us their wholehearted blessing to marry if we wish, as soon as he mention's marriage to his parents they bring up a million and one reasons why we shouldn't get married.

"For one thing, they claim they need him to help out with money, but we have told them we will help them even after our marriage. For another thing, they say their son is of artist age, and that if he happened to be called, he might be sent somewhere where he would be wounded, which is so badly that something might have to be amputated. Then I tell them that wouldn't matter to me because I love him too much to be affected by anything that could happen to him, they just tell me I'd feel differently if it really did happen.

"When we explain that none of the reasons they bring up are really enough to keep us from getting married, they then begin to bring on our age, and his mother tells us she is sorry she didn't wait longer to get married herself, because then she would have been wiser, But my boy and I believe that our ages should be no obstacle to our marriage together, and nothing any problem we might have by facing them together, it would bring us to love and respect each other even more. His parents just won't see it our way, though, and I don't know what we can do about it.

"My boy friend says he is willing to get married without their consent, but I'm afraid to agree to this, because if it caused real trouble between his parents and himself, he might in time blame me for it, and then it would be impossible for us to be happy together."



What I think this young couple should do is to tell his parents as quietly and affectionately as possible, but quite firmly, what they have had a good long time to think things over, and that they are sure they are prepared to handle wisely anything that may come up. They should remind them they have promised to help them out financially, and that they are young people who would keep such a promise. Then let them say that they have decided to be married in about six months' time; that they earnestly hope his parents will accept the decision and help make their wedding a happy occasion, but that if this cannot be, they intend to go through with their plans now anyhow.

Somehow I believe that this mother and father, if confronted with such a definite statement from the young people, will come around and fall in with it. It may take them a little longer, and this is the reason for giving them six months in which to adjust themselves—but I believe that, as the date comes nearer and nearer, they will begin to help with the plans.

Even if they did take an antagonistic attitude and refused to attend the wedding, I doubt if they would carry on to feud indefinitely, particularly if the young people continued to be tactful and loving in their own attitude, refusing to become angry and resentful.

I don't think this girl should allow her apprehensions to loom so large in her mind that they obscure the rights of the situation. After all, she says that she and her boy friend understand each other, get along wonderfully and are ready to face together any problems that may arise.

I believe she should have sufficient in herself and in her young man to go ahead on the basis that I have suggested.

HAS YOUR baby discovered the dandy method of locomotion by shaking his crib? You won't have to nail it to the floor or move everything out of his room if you put a furniture coaster or sponge rubber bonded puff under each crib leg. He can still shake it, but the crib won't rail. . .

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECKMAN

TO START SAVINGS BANK ACCOUNT FOR GODCHILD

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I have just been asked to be godmother to the adorable little daughter of my dearest friend. I'm proud of this honor, proud too that the little baby has been named for me. I remember that some time ago, in your column, you suggested to a reader that it is an excellent idea in some circumstances to start a savings bank account for the child as a christening present, then, if one wishes, add to this as presents for birthdays, Christmas, graduation, and so forth. I thought that a good idea, and I'd like to follow it. If I do this, how should I tell the mother and father, and later, the child — Godmother

On each occasion when you deposit money for a gift, you may write a note giving this information. Your note might be addressed, even now when your godchild is just a baby, to the child in care of the mother. . . these precious notes to be kept until the child is able to read them. Some people send a copy of the deposit slip, but I think the friendly little note is more charmingly personal.

GOLD-TONED ROSES FOR GOLDEN WEDDING COLOR THEME

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My mother and father are to celebrate their Golden Wedding soon, and we children (four of us, two sons, two daughters) are planning to give them a reception, 4 to 7 o'clock. My sister suggested that we choose one flower (mother has lover roses of all kinds) for the centerpiece and table, and if possible, have Mother's corsage made of that same flower, and also have Father wear a boutonniere of that flower. Do you approve of such idea, or is it an impossible idea? If you do approve, would you suggest a flower for this? — Miriam

I think this is a very charming and appropriate idea. . . very imaginative, too. A perfect flower to carry out all the features of this idea would be a gold-toned rose. . . Talisman roses are an excellent answer, because of their rich golden tone, in the rosebract and on the edges. They would be a lovely centerpiece, particularly combined with some white bride's flower, such as bouvardia or stephanotis, or lilies-of-the-valley.

Have your mother's corsage made of talisman rosebuds, not too many, and perhaps with a few of the lacy white flowers chosen for added lightness. And your father's boutonniere can be two or three of the rosebuds. All charmingly of the Golden Wedding color theme!

NAME ON CONTRIBUTION ENVELOPES

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Last year my husband and I moved here, and joined the church. In the church they have envelopes which you may, if you wish, ask for to contain your Sunday contributions. Since these are, I think, very convenient, I asked for a supply. On them is a space for my name. What form of name should I write: "Mrs. Jonathan Smith," "Mrs. Anne Smith" or the form of my signature, "Anne Robinson Smith" — Anne

"Mrs. Jonathan Smith" is the correct form for you to write on these contribution-envelopes.

A Dependable Oven A Cook's Best Friend

By Mary Moore

The number of letters with requests for oven meals is gradually increasing.

I think credit should be given to stove manufacturers for this for there is no doubt that baking is a superior method to top-of-stove cooking, for it conserves minerals and vitamins and retains and enhances flavor.

An automatically controlled oven is one of a business girl's best friends, for as a substitute for a husband or a mother to kiss you "hello" as you step in the door, there is nothing to equal that heavenly aroma of dinner cooking in the oven.

Most families have three or four people in them at least, so any recipes I give you today will serve four. Cut them in half or double them if your family is smaller or larger.

HAM AND POTATO SCALLOP

Two slices smoked ham 1-2 inch thick, 4 large potatoes, 2 tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons flour, 1-3 cup tomato juice, 1 1-4 cups milk, shake of paprika. Cut ham in pieces for serving. Place in greased baking dish. Pare and slice potatoes 1-4 inch thick over the ham. Melt butter, stir in flour, then tomato juice and milk until thick. Season with salt and pepper and pour over the potatoes, sprinkle with paprika. Cover and bake at 375 deg. Fahr. for 1 1-2 hours.

STUFFED PEPPERS

Six green peppers, 1 tablespoon fat, 1 small onion finely chopped, 2 cups cooked meat ground, 1 slightly beaten egg, 1-3 cup milk, 1 tablespoon chopped parsley, 1 teaspoon salt, 1-3 cup bread crumbs, 1 cup tomato juice or hot water. Cut tops from peppers and remove seed and rib sections. Chop the cut off tops of the peppers with the onion in the fat to saute until wilted. Then combine them with the meat, egg, milk, parsley, salt and crumbs. Mix well. Fill peppers with this mixture, trim bottoms of peppers if necessary to make them stand, place in baking dish around them in the pan. Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. about 50 minutes. These may be topped with buttered crumbs if desired.

You will notice that both of these dishes call for meat and vegetables in one as it were. The following recipe for Lemon Sponge cups requires 1 1-2 hours baking at 350 deg. Fahr. It would go nicely with the stuffed peppers but would have to be started 40 minutes ahead of them at 350 to be done in time.

LEMON SPONGE CUPS

Two tablespoons butter, 1 cup sugar, 4 tablespoons flour, 1 1-2 cups milk, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 3 tablespoons lemon juice, grated rind of 1 lemon, 3 eggs. Cream butter, add sugar, flour, salt and lemon juice and rind. Add well beaten egg yolks to milk. Lastly add stiffly beaten egg whites after yolk-milk mixture is gently blended into first mixture. Pour into greased individual custard cups. Stand these cups in pan of warm water. Bake 1 1-2 hours at 350 deg. Fahr.

BLUEBERRY COBBLER

If this were being baked alone it should have 425 deg. Fahr. but if you want to serve it with the Ham and Potato Scallop, bake it at 375 deg. Fahr., about 50 minutes. Sift flour and measure 2 1-4 cups and sift it with 4 teaspoons baking powder, 1 tablespoon sugar, 1 teaspoon salt. Cut into them 2 tablespoons shortening. Add 1 beaten egg to 2-3 cup milk and quickly stir them in. Roll out 1-2 of dough and line medium-sized casserole with it. Add 1 package barely thawed blueberries and 1-2 cup sugar and grated rind of 1 lemon. Cover with remaining dough. Gash. Bake as directed above.

Beauty

By HELEN JAMIESON

WHAT MAKES THE WELL-DRESSED WOMAN?

Clothes may not make the man, but they certainly have a lot to do with the appearance and personality of the woman. There's nothing like a smart, well-cut, well-fitted suiting to give a woman a feeling of self-respect and confidence.

A woman doesn't have to spend a lot of money to achieve sartorial perfection these days, but she does have to spend time and thought. If she has good taste, an understanding of the value of line and color, she will never make a wrong selection. There will be no "orphan" frocks hanging in her clothes closet to rebuke her.

Some men believe that women think too much about clothes. But the truth is that many women don't think enough about them. If they did there would be no dowdy women. These frumpy ones are ever in a state of confusion when shopping, make hasty selections. They choose unbecoming colors.

There are girls who were born to look tailored; they don't look right in overly decorated frocks and elaborate hats, but the "fluffy" type can flaunt ruffles and ribbons to her heart's content.

After a certain age, a woman's attire should have dignity. Elderly women in play clothes make pathetic pictures; certainly such trappings do not make them appear younger. The middle-aged woman whose figure is like the spreading chestnut tree but who insists on wearing slacks is a cinder in the public eye, cinder in the public eye.

SWIMMER HONORED

NAPANEE (CP)—A new housing development on the town's outskirts will have one of its streets named Marilyn avenue in honor of Marilyn Bell. The name resulted from a newspaper poll to select a name for the street to be opened next year. Suggestions favored the 17-year-old girl who was first to swim Lake Ontario.

MARMORA

Tanner Lodge L. O. A. Observes Centennial

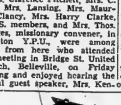
MARMORA — Salem United Church in Rawdon township was filled to capacity on Sunday afternoon for the centennial service of Tanner Lodge, 509, of the Loyal Orange Association. The hall of this lodge has stood for many years on the 8th concession of Rawdon township, a few miles away.

Other lodges of Centre Hastings County Lodge were represented, making the attendance worthy of the memorable occasion. Wor. Bro. Rev. K. J. Crawford, B.D., of St. Andrew's United Church, Marmora, was in charge of the service.

SPECIAL MUSIC

Canon J. M. Brownlie was the special organist. A men's choir of 14 voices led in the singing of rousing hymns, commencing with "Onward Christian Soldiers." It also creditably rendered as the anthem, "Will Your Anchor Hold in the Storms of Life?". William Reynolds, of Stirling, sang "Bless This House."

Wor. Bro. W. J. Johnston, chaplain of L.O.L. 509, led in the recitation of the 90th Psalm. The lessons were read by Rt. Wor. Bro. R. Sanderson, Grand Master of Ontario East, and Rt. Wor. Bro. F. Bateman, Past Grand Master of Ontario East.



In his sermon, based on the text, "Stand therefore in the liberty wherewith Christ hath made us free," the Rev. W. J. Crawford reminded his hearers that it was reformation and that on Sunday, 1517, A.D., Martin Luther nailed his famous thesis with its 95 statements of the door of the church at Wittenburg, Germany.

BIBLE SOLE AUTHORITY

The Protestant and Reformed churches today, like Luther, accept the Bible as the sole authority of holy religion and believe there is only one Mediator between God and man, the Man Christ Jesus.

He touched further upon Martin Luther's discovery of the Bible being the Word of Life, and in his quest for truth being assured of the truth of those words in the Holy Writ, "The just shall live by faith."

On Friday evening last the Bible held a turkey supper and a program of music and speeches in Springbrook Orange hall, which was most successful.

SIX REPUBLICAN

Other Republican governors fell in Pennsylvania, Connecticut and New Mexico, following up the first Democratic victory in Maine, where Edmund Muskie was elected in September.

The going was slow for Democrat senators outside the "solid south," but Clinton Anderson, the former agriculture secretary, regained his New Mexico seat and J. Allen Frear was re-elected in Delaware.

Most of the Republican veterans came through. Styles Bridges romped home to a fourth term in New Hampshire and Karl Mundt was an easy winner in South Dakota.

Kansas returned Andrew Schoeppel and in Idaho Henry Dworshak thwarted the comeback attempt of former Democratic Senator Glen Taylor, who bolted the party to try for the vice-presidency on the progressive ticket in 1948.

Despite their prospective loss of ground in Congress and in state houses, Republicans made it a battle down to the final count.

POPULARITY DEBATE

How much the party owes to the personal popularity of President Eisenhower was debated among politicians. In the closing weeks of the campaign, Eisenhower abandoned his proclaimed intention of remaining aloof from partisan politics and plunged headlong into the battle.

Of equal interest among those looking ahead to the 1956 presidential election was the question of how effective had been the campaigning of Adlai Stevenson, the 1952 Democratic standard-bearer.

There were some indications that Eisenhower's "peace and prosperity" theme of the closing days of the campaign failed to offset the "pocketbook nerve" reaction to unemployment in industrial centres where Democrats ran strongly.

But there was no clear pattern of farmer rejection of the president's flexible agricultural price support program as the Democrats had predicted confidently. In fact, Republicans fared better generally in the farm areas of the midwest than elsewhere.

Since the Republicans had 23 holdovers and the Democrats only 24 in a Senate that includes one independent, Senator Wayne Morse of Oregon, the outcome of the battle for control hinged on the remaining results.

Eisenhower left the impression in election night remarks that he regarded the results as only a temporary setback which would not deflect his administration from its established course.

The president said "anyone realizes there may be setbacks, but they have nothing to do with the worthwhileness and value of our cause."

Stevenson, the biggest name campaigner for the Democrats as titular party leader, went to bed at Libertyville, Ill., early in the morning with the comment that "I want to say I am pleased with the unmistakeable Democratic gains and proud that Democratic candidates have fought a clean fight."

Stevenson had accused Eisenhower of approving what Democrats called a "red smear" campaign against their candidates.

Harriman's hairline victory in the New York governor's race was packed with political implications. Harriman, whose candidacy for his party's presidential bid was not regarded seriously in 1952, was promoted overnight to command of the largest state's delegation to the Democratic presidential nominating convention in 1956.

Queried about his own aspirations on a televised interview, Harriman said: "I'm for Adlai Stevenson."

ROOSEVELT OUT

Ives, who has four more years to go on his present Senate term, was handed his first election defeat.

If Harriman was on the up grade, his big rival for the Democratic governor nomination, Representative Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., was counted out.

With all of the other New York Democrats winning, Roosevelt lost to Republican representative Jacob K. Javits in their race for attorney-general of the state. This seemed to most politicians to end young Roosevelt's hopes for a future presidential nomination.

While the Democrats were piling up scattered victories in House contests, such Republican stalwarts as House Speaker Joseph W. Martin of Massachusetts and House Republican leader Charles Halleck of Indiana came through as usual.

And Republicans sprang a surprise by electing their candidate, Bruce Alger, in the Dallas congressional district to break an otherwise solid line of Democratic winners in Texas.

Along with Barkley, two other veteran Democrats won Senate seats. They are Senator Matthew M. Neely of West Virginia, 79, and Senator Theodore Francis Green of Rhode Island, 87. Neely, elected for his fifth term, assailed Eisenhower during the campaign, calling him a "useless president."

One of the most startling results was the election to the Senate in South Carolina of former governor J. Strom Thurmond, whose name did not even appear on the ballot.

A dixiecrat Democrat, running against Edgar A. Brown, his party's official candidate in a state in which the Republicans did not offer a nominee, Thurmond won by appealing to the voters to write his name in the blank space provided on the ballot. He was the first write-in candidate ever to be elected to Congress.

Little Benny's Note Book

Pop was eating his breakfast in back of his paper, and he said to me, Yes gods, what happened to this toast, it's burnt to a cinder, I'm not serprized, ma said, it can hardly help being rather crisp after I let it go through the toaster 3 times, she said, and pop said, You what, for Peet sake?

Now think nothing of it, William, here's a perfect slice exactly the way you like it, ma said.

And she handed it to him, and pop said Thanks very much, but I still dont gather what the ferst slice was allabout.

It's perfectly simple, ma said, I've always contended that a man isn't the master of his own house unless his wife lets him read his newspaper at breakfist, so I make it an unwritten rule never to interrupt you while you are lost in a sea of headlines over your coffee. But there are certain mornings when I feel I simply have to talk to you or berst, she said, and pop said, I still dont get it.

Goodness, it should be clear enough now, ma said, We're talking, aren't we? And I surely didn't interrupt you. Quite the contrary, you opened up the ferst topic yourself, about that berst toast. So now that the conversational ball is rolling. I want you to eat your nice toast while I tell you what my sister Fanny has to say in her letter, she said, and pop said. Fire away, my dear, but ferst, before I forget, I would like to briefly remark that this a wuntan's world.

Being what he always says.

Horse-shoes by TIFFANY'S

AROUND THE END of the last century, when aluminum was practically a precious metal, a famous racing stable had one of its thoroughbreds shod with racing plates of the weight-saving material. They were made at Tiffany's, the famous New York jewellery house.

Nowadays it is standard practice for race horses to run on aluminum shoes. Since the turn of the century the price of aluminum has been reduced to the point where it is now one of the most economical of all materials, extensively used for things like barns and boats and bus bodies. Hints Collected by Mrs. Anne Cooke (Mother of 5)

Is there a dog in your family circle? Getting the pup acquainted with baby is easier if you first introduce the pet while your child is in his crib. Baby feels safer behind the bars—can learn to love the puppy little by little and vice versa. And such very happy lovers are established between a boy (or a girl) and a dog.

Happy love of a baby for his meals can be established if you serve a variety of foods that look good as well as taste good. Easy, with Gerber's Strained Foods. Over 31 varieties of good-tasting Fruits, Vegetables, Meats, Dinners and Desserts—all specially processed to preserve true-to-nature colors, naturally mouth-watering flavors, as well as a high retention of wholesome food values. All pureed to a wonderful smoothness that feels particularly pleasing to delicate tongues.

Bright idea division. An inventive mother offers this helpful hint: Sockers made of wool soon discolour and stiffen. So make them of terry cloth. Every bit as absorbent, and launder to lilly-white and cloud-soft in the washing machine.

Contributors corner. Many of the hints in this column come from saving mothers just like you. If you have any tips you'd like to share, do send them to me: Mrs. Dan Gerber, Box 66, Toronto 18, Canada.

Midday magic. Soup for baby's lunch—delicious and nutritious—and easy to serve especially when you use Gerber's Strained Vegetable-Meat Dinners, by simply adding a small amount of milk or water. For these hearty dishes combine three important food groups: vegetables, meats and cereal. All carefully blended for a delightful variety of savory flavors. 5 Strained Dinners. 5 Junior dinners, for tots with a few teeth.

Hot Words in Constitutional Squabble Between Duplessis and St. Laurent Still to Come

By RICHARD DARGNAULT
Canadian Press Staff Writer

QUEBEC (CP) — Spear-pointed words flung at the height of a constitutional squabble have produced attention on Canada's hotbed of politics, Quebec province.

The principals are Prime Minister St. Laurent of Canada and Premier Maurice Duplessis of Quebec. The battleground is provincial autonomy.

The subject is not a new one in Quebec province; it has been the rallying cry of Premier Duplessis and his Union Nationals followers in several provincial election campaigns.

GETS WIDE ATTENTION

The national attention it received in recent weeks is due chiefly to the personal entry of Mr. St. Laurent into the dispute which to any new policy on the part of the federal government in Quebec.

Premier Duplessis views the federal taxation agreement as a massive wa hamstring Quebec's fiscal government and has been saying so since he was Opposition leader in the Quebec legislature in the early years of the Second World War.

When the war began, the provinces, in return for subsidies, ceded certain rights of direct taxation to Ottawa for five years. These tax agreements are still in effect or have been renewed, after lapsed, by all the provinces except Quebec.

Mr. Duplessis charged that Quebec's premier at the time of the original agreements, Liberal Leonard Godbout, had sold the province's rights for a song, in a close contest in August, 1944, the Union Nationals was returned to office on a platform committed to regain the suspended taxation rights.

INCOME TAX ISSUE

Premier Duplessis has waged war with Ottawa since then and last spring Quebec imposed a provincial income tax amounting to the equivalent of 15 per cent of the federal tax. Ottawa acknowledged Quebec's right to impose the tax but would reduce its own collections in Quebec province by 15 per cent.

Other points at which the Quebec government and Ottawa are at odds are the trans-Canada highway, federal grants to universities, an Ottawa plan to turn over international a nd interprovincial road transport to the provinces, the power phase of the St. Lawrence seaway, civil defence and amendment of the Canadian constitution.

Provincial autonomy looms large in Quebec and on most of these issues. One purpose of the provincial income tax, for instance, was to raise funds for universities. Quebec won't accept federal aid because Premier Duplessis considers the offer an Ottawa attempt to buy control of education in the provinces.

The rift that may appear to divide the dominion into two Canadas is political rather than racial or religious. Although basic social and religious differences do exist their importance in the conflict is marginal.

CO-OPERATE TOO

The political differences, too, overshadow the fact that Quebec scores Quebec and Ottawa co-operate. On the economic side the picture are Quebec's acceptance of federal grants for schoolships and technical schools, for mental hospitals and sanatoria and for scientific research in agriculture; federal-provincial agreements for old age pensions, and other social measures; and Quebec co-operation in agriculture, mining and other fields.

While it has retained its French character, Quebec has become an industrial province. Today more than 71 per cent of its population is classified urban.

Quebec's Roman Catholic clergy no longer exerts the political influence they did years ago when voting directions came from the pulpit. The church has slowly moved its attention from farm to city where, through a powerful labor movement, it continues to give advice.

UP AMONG STANDING

Although Quebec has grown industrially with the rest of Canada, its traditional intergovernmental outlook has remained unchanged.

The British North America Act, conferred on Ottawa administration of affairs of the nation and on the provinces administration of local affairs. For purposes of taxation the federal government was authorized to tax directly and indirectly; the provinces, directly only.

When the wartime agreements came up for renewal in 1946, Premier Duplessis walked out of the conference, pronouncing himself opposed to a system whereby the federal government taxed more than it needed so it could redistribute the wealth to the poorer provinces. He urged revision of the taxation plan.

Quebec electors returned him to office in 1948, reducing Liberal seats in the 92-seat legislature to eight. He won re-election in 1952 with a substantial, but reduced, majority. The following year, Mr. St. Laurent's federal administration was re-elected. Both governments may hold office for five years without elections.

BUSINESS HIT

The provincial income tax hit the pocket book of the Quebec urban taxpayer, English and French-speaking business groups demanded some agreement to avoid double taxation and politicians from both camps voiced their views.

Then Mr. St. Laurent stepped into the fray. In a speech in Montreal Sept. 10 he said everyone was happy to see Canada's growth except some politicians in Quebec.

Mr. Duplessis said he would never trade taxation rights for federal subsidies.

Words were harsh but both leaders expressed readiness to talk over the situation. They met privately in Montreal and after the meeting expressed the view that, with concessions, some agreement could be worked out.

Political observers are hopeful that further agreements may be reached.

Union Accused Of Instigating Illegal Strikes

TORONTO (CP)—The International Brotherhood of Teamsters (AFL) Tuesday was accused of instigating illegal strikes of other AFL unions in London, Ont., to further its own organizing plans there.

The McKay-Cocker Construction Company asked the labor relations board for consent to prosecute the teamsters, carpenters and labourers' union and for a declaration that they and several of their officers and members had called or authorized an illegal strike. It also seeks to prosecute the business agent and a member of the bricklayers' union.

The company said bricklayers, labourers, and carpenters struck without notice on three construction projects several days in September.

The teamsters union, which is attempting to represent the company truck drivers and drivers employed by the firm's suppliers was at the bottom of the trouble, the company said.

The teamsters union has an application before the board to represent the two truck drivers and last week was given permission to have a vote conducted among truck drivers for Hutton Transport Limited, a firm which delivers supplies to McKay-Cocker.

The hearing was adjourned and date for re-opening has not been set.

Block Off Section

TORONTO (CP)—Police blocked off a section of downtown Yonge street Tuesday when it was feared a 225-foot chimney of the Dominion Brewing Co. might crash to the pavement.

By nightfall, workmen had built a supporting scaffolding 80 feet up the four-ton tower.

Police continued to divert traffic. Owners of the chimney said a buckle developed in the mast when a workman climbed it to adjust a guy wire. They said the abutment on top of a four-story building, is the highest in Toronto.

School Teacher, Jamaican Bride Return After 'Color' Uproar

TORONTO (CP)—School teacher John Hewitt and his attractive 21-year-old Jamaican bride arrived back in Canada Tuesday night, prepared to start life anew on the west coast.

They returned from Jamaica came six weeks after Mrs. Hewitt said she was asked to leave a private school in Vancouver recently because she is colored.

Mrs. Hewitt's plaintive brought a rejection of the school's offer to let them return and the hope that Mr. Hewitt can find a new teaching job in Vancouver, where they plan to live.

They were to board a plane here this morning and land in Vancouver at 8 p.m. (PST).

Mrs. Hewitt, a tall, blue-eyed, former fashion model, left her husband and returned to her home in Kingston four days after they were married.

She charged there that G. P. Kaye, headmaster of Shawnigan lake school for boys, where her husband worked, had told her to leave because the boys "were not see a colored person here."

Her husband stayed behind "for try and straighten things out and also because I didn't have enough money to go to Jamaica."

However, he joined her a month later, carrying with him a document his wife was to sign if the couple were to be allowed to return to the school.

The Hewitts said in an interview here Tuesday night the school refer to permit them to return was conditional upon Mrs. Hewitt signing the statement her remarks and actions in the dispute were "unprofessional and inaccurate." Her Dulles.

As Eisenhower left the Wilson apartment a reporter asked:

"What do you think of things, Mr. President? Are we getting anywhere?"

Smiling, the president replied: "Well, as a matter of fact, there are a lot of close races."

Lively But Legal Drapeau's Aim For Montreal

MONTREAL (CP)—Natty little Jean Drapeau, his new broom primed for action, takes office as mayor today with a chance to sweep out the vice cobwebs which he says have been accumulating in this gay old city for years.

The 39-year-old lawyer, who romped to victory in civic elections more than a week ago, delayed taking office until the deadline for requesting a judicial recount passed Tuesday night. Since his nearest opponent polled some 50,000 votes less than he did, none of the eight men who ran against him bothered to ask for another tabulation.

Mr. Drapeau has said that one of his first acts on taking over city hall will be to appoint police director J. Albert Langlois, one of the central figures in a 20-year vice inquiry that wound up with a crushing indictment of 20 members and former members of the police department for tolerating vice in the hectic era between 1941 and 1950.

LANGLOIS RETURNED

Police director Langlois was ordered dismissed, banned from public office for one year and fined $500, in a judgment handed down by Mr. Justice Francois Caron. Langlois appealed the verdict and went back to his office pending a hearing.

Mr. Drapeau, a prosecution lawyer in the vice inquiry, says his housecleaning will start "from the top" and he says he will "not be afraid to do with the value of our cause."

The president spent most of Tuesday evening following the voting away from the White House, saluting campaign workers and visiting with cabinet members. He kept in touch with election returns largely by radio and television.

Eisenhower retired at 12:45 a.m., when the lineup of the next governorship was still in doubt. He planned to watch up on late returns early this morning and scheduled a press conference for 10:30 a.m. EST.

Early in the evening, Eisenhower paid a surprise visit to Republican national committee headquarters "to thank these people who have been working so hard." Then, after returning to the White House to pick up Mrs. Eisenhower, he went to the home of Treasury Secretary George Humphrey for dinner.

Later the Eisenhowers made another surprise call—at the hotel headquarters of the Citizens for Eisenhower congressional committee.

Eisenhower told the group's workers that "be it good fortune or bad fortune for the country we can in the long run win, and will win."

"That means our country will be more prosperous and have better opportunity for lasting peace."

The Eisenhowers then moved to the apartment of Defence Secretary Charles E. Wilson, where other high administration officials joined them. The group included Attorney-General Herbert Brownell, and State Secretary John Foster Dulles.

As Eisenhower left the Wilson apartment a reporter asked:

"What do you think of things, Mr. President? Are we getting anywhere?"

Smiling, the president replied: "Well, as a matter of fact, there are a lot of close races."

Govt. Criticized For Not Calling Fall Session

OTTAWA (CP)—The Trades and Labor Congress of Canada has criticized the federal government for not calling a fall session of Parliament to deal with unemployment problems.

The leading editorial in the TLC's monthly journal says that, with the convening of Parliament deferred until early 1955, no action will be taken to improve unemployment insurance provisions until next summer.

(Amendments to the insurance legislation now are in preparation. Labor department officials said they hope to get them into operation in time to avert any unusual abnormal unemployment situation in 1955.)

"There are changes that should be made now to improve the unemployment insurance act before we again run into another cyclical depression," the TLC says, "and it was generally expected—in fact agreed—that action in such direction would be taken before another winter."

It adds that rates of benefit payments are too low and the period of payments far too short to take care of "a severe and long depression as we had last winter."

"No fall session of Parliament," it says, "means no action to be taken on enacting the necessary amendments to the unemployment insurance act until the summer of 1955."

"We are astounded at the unconcern displayed in the well-being of the many hundreds of thousands who now live in fear of unemployment."

TENDER ACCEPTED

TORONTO (CP)—A construction tender of $2,111,000 for what is to be the largest home for the aged in Canada was accepted Tuesday by Toronto metropolitan council. The home is to be built by Hughes Construction Co. Ltd., at Newmarket, 20 miles north of Toronto, will accommodate 535 special-cared aged persons from the 13 metropolitan area municipalities.

Party Organizer President of PC's Since 1943

TORONTO (CP)—Alex D. McKenzie, 58-year-old Toronto lawyer, was re-elected president of the Ontario Progressive Conservative Association at the annual meeting here Tuesday.

Mr. McKenzie, party organizer, has been president since 1943.

Elizabeth Canne of Kitchener was re-elected chairman of the provincial women's advisory committee for her second term.

Other officers re-elected were: Vice-presidents—R. A. Robinson, Port Arthur; Mrs. A. Cameron McKenzie, Beaverton; E. A. Goodman, Toronto; Sybil Bennett, MP, Hamilton; Wallace Nesbitt, MP, Woodstock; William Whitesides, Toronto; Mrs. Campbell McGibbon, Waterloo; auditors—Fred Jarrold, London; Mrs. Olive Grborne, Toronto.

Mrs. C. A. Cowan of Niagara Falls was elected vice-chairman of the women's advisory committee with Mrs. John Hizzoth of Hamilton secretary.

Mrs. Cameron, Miss Bennett, Mrs. Caswell and Mrs. Osborne are also on the executive of the advisory committee.

Frost Tells Conservatives Time Has Come for New Taxation Agreement Talks

TORONTO (CP)—Premier Frost of Ontario said Tuesday it is time the federal and provincial governments got together to work out new taxation agreements.

The premier, who delivered the closing address to the Ontario Progressive Conservative party annual meeting, called for a fresh examination of the federal-provincial agreements.

Mr. Frost and George Drew, the party's national leader, were the principal speakers at the two-day convention.

Mr. Drew took the federal government to task for "bad management" and centralization of authority.

He said the Liberal government holds Parliament in "contempt." He called for a return of "the business of the people" to Parliament.

Delegates also endorsed resolutions commending the Frost administration and the work of Mr. Drew, commending the provincial government and other organizations for their assistance in the recent floods in Ontario, and asking that all governments initiate long-range plans to prevent a recurrence of such a disaster.

KEY CANADIAN

Also passed was a resolution recommending that all governments in Canada be, where possible, a "maximum amount of Canadian-produced goods.

Mr. Frost said now is the time "we should be considering in an intelligent, impartial sort of way the powers of our various levels of government and their fiscal positions."

In a reference to the recent meeting between Prime Minister St. Laurent and Premier Duplessis of Quebec, Mr. Frost said "shotgun agreements are seldom of any value."

"These have been only a stopgap," he said.

The premier also reiterated his request of a month ago for a federal-provincial conference of unemployment.

"The government of Ontario is fully prepared to join in conference at any time with the other governments of Canada, with a view to initiating works on a public investment basis along the lines of those put forward by the federal government in 1945."

PARTY PLEDGED

He said the government has been making an "assessment" of the unemployment situation and has been looking at specific works projects which might be used in a direct unemployment.

Mr. Drew said the national party is pledged to remove from the hands of the executive "the wide and arbitrary discretion which they exercise with little or no opportunity for effective supervision."

He criticized the federal government's handling of the floods and said the immigration department is the "worst managed department of the government."

Labor Minister Orders Charge To Be Laid

TORONTO (CP)—Labor Minister Daley of Ontario Tuesday ordered a charge laid against Morley McKay, Dresden restaurateur, accusing him of practising racial discrimination.

A short time after the order was issued, an Ontario labor department official in Kent county swore out an information before a justice of the peace.

Officials originally said the next step will be the issuing of a summons against Mr. McKay, who will be brought to trial in the first provincial court under the province's anti-discrimination law passed five months ago.

Mr. Daley acted two hours after Bromley Armstrong, Toronto Negro, signed a formal complaint that he was refused service last Friday in Mr. McKay's restaurant in the small town 20 miles north of Chatham.

CHANGE IN POLICY

McKay commented:

"I'm going to just sit back and wait until those prosecutions start."

Armstrong said he was with Hugh Burnette, Dresden Negro, and Lee Lor, a Chinese-Canadian, secretary of University of Toronto Students' Christian Movement. He said all three were refused service.

The new act provides a $50 fine to an individual or $100 to a firm upon conviction.

Mr. Daley's decision to prosecute represented a change in policy. He said Saturday, commenting on the Friday incident, he still felt he was right in deciding not to prosecute in a case recently considered at a public hearing in Dresden and he still hoped education would be effective in eliminating racial prejudice.

It was previously reported McKay would be given two weeks to drop the color bar or face prosecution, Mr. Daley and Premier Frost both denied issuing an ultimatum.

Armstrong said he was afraid discrimination would spread to other centres if it were not checked.

He cited the announcement Monday of the government's approval of the merger of two Canadian banks—the Bank of Toronto and the Dominion Bank—as an example of the government's growing control over the country's economy.

Harriman's Narrow Victory Challenged by Thos. Dewey

NEW YORK (AP)—Averell Harriman's hairbreadth election as governor of New York, by a margin of about 10,000 votes on the basis of unofficial returns, prompted Governor Thomas Dewey to impound the ballot boxes today.

The governor ordered all police and sheriffs throughout the state to place guards in charge of voting machines and records pending an official canvass starting Tuesday.

Dewey issued his order at 3 a.m. after a spectacular late surge by Harriman's Republican opponent, Senator Irving M. Ives, whittled the Democratic-Liberal candidate's lead almost to the vanishing point. With only 29 districts missing, Ives trailed Harriman by 11,000 votes.

Ives conceded defeat at 10:16 p.m. Tuesday night, but his commitment was making him feel the pinch.

The contest was the closest in this state since Franklin D. Roosevelt, making his first bid for the governorship, defeated Albert Ottinger by 26,000 votes in 1928.

Harriman's unofficial tentative running mate, Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., was elected lieutenant-governor by Republican Jacob K. Javits for attorney-general.

At the stage of the counting Tuesday night, Harriman's plurality had climbed above 200,000. But big returns from populous and heavily Republican Nassau and Westchester counties, surrounding New York City, bit deeply into Harriman's lead. Long Island's Suffolk county also contributed substantially to the late climb by the Republican standard bearer.

BLOW FOR IKE

Harriman's victory is certain to project him into the national political picture, with the 1956 presidential campaign approaching. But when an interviewer asked him about his plans two years hence, he replied:

"I'm not a child Stevenson."

Harriman had been a candidate against Stevenson for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1952.

Harriman triumphed despite personal intervention in the campaign by President Eisenhower, who made a 48-mile automobile tour through New York City streets with Republican Senator Ives before the election, stopping at housing projects to greet startled housewives.

Emergency Resulting from Floods In Holland Marsh Now Over

BRADFORD (CP)—George Herridge, chairman of the local flood relief committee, said Tuesday the emergency resulting from the Oct. 15 floods in the surrounding Holland marsh area is over.

He made the announcement following a meeting with the Ontario hurricane relief committee in Toronto. $5 miles to the south.

"The emergency housing units have been set up and new refugees are being looked after by a well-oiled machine."

Siphoning of the four-foot-deep lake which covered 7,000 acres of rich vegetable farming land continues. With the aid of borrowed pumps, officials said they expect the job to be completed around the end of the month.

Some 39 damage claims, representing $50,000, have been made by local farmers to the Ontario hurricane relief fund. Claims will be between 500 to 700 families yet to be investigated. Relief officials are trying to get them to put in their claims as soon as possible.

The committee here is meeting to decide whether to appeal the $5,000 claim limit which Premier Frost has said will be paid.

Reeve D. A. Evans said there will be many cases where this sum will not be enough. The worst flooding was done in areas where there are a number of $20,000 and

Federal Grants Being Sought To Stop Floods

TORONTO (CP)—The Humber valley conservation authority decided Tuesday to ask Planning Minister W. K. Warrender of Ontario to seek federal grants towards construction of flood control measures in the Humber valley.

The resolution said the objectives would be fulfmation of a partnership to construct dams, reservoirs and other works to prevent "recurrence of the disaster" in the Oct. 16 floods.

The valley runs from the lakeshore on the outskirts of metropolitan Toronto to about 50 miles northwest of the city.

Ottawa to Ask Govt. to Replace Coat of Arms

OTTAWA (CP)—The city will ask the federal government to replace the old Ottawa coat of arms on the Vimy Ridge war memorial in France with the city's new coat of arms.

Mayor Charlotte Whitton told the board of control Tuesday she has learned that the city's arms now carved on the memorial have become almost illegible through weathering.

The board of control decided it is opportune to have the carving changed. Two weeks ago a redesigned coat of arms approved by heraldic experts replaced the city's former emblem.

TORONTO (CP) — Contributions to the Ontario Hurricane Relief Fund amounted to $136,306 Tuesday, bringing the total to $2,534,831.

Accused Admits In Statement He Killed Wife

ST. CATHARINES (CP) — A statement admitted as evidence Tuesday at the murder trial of 32-year-old Nunziato Tripodi quoted him as saying he strangled his wife, Domenica, last July 27 because he was convinced she had been unfaithful.

The body of Mrs. Tripodi was discovered two hours after she and her sons had arrived in St. Catharines from Bagnladio Reggio in Italy.

"I went to Halifax to meet my family and I came back to St. Catharines with them on the train" the statement quoted Tripodi as saying. "I brought her to St. Catharines and I killed her because she deserved that after what she did to me."

Crown attorney Lloyd Goodwin said earlier Tripodi came to Canada in the summer of 1953 and saved enough money to bring his wife and children to Canada.

SECOND STATEMENT

The statement also quoted Tripodi as saying:

"I wanted my wife and sons to come to Canada as I wanted my sons to be raised in Canada that they would have a better opportunity here.

"I am sure my wife went around with other men in Italy and I didn't want to abandon my wife as my children would be left in Italy. If I abandon my wife my children would starve over there and I did not want that to happen and if I stayed they would have to starve here if I got to die."

A second statement, given by Tripodi to police two days after the death of his wife, also was admitted as evidence Tuesday.

In this statement, Tripodi said: "I swear in front of God that my wife double crossed me during my absence."

Search Called Off

FORT FRANCES (CP) — The search for a private "missing" plane with two aboard was called off Tuesday after it was discovered the craft had arrived safely at its destination Monday night.

Pilot Kenneth Cone, 26, and his mother, Mrs. Russell Cone, both of Mine Centre, were reported lost when they did not reach Shoal Lake Sunday.

The float-equipped plane encountered a bad snow storm while en route and landed on the Seine river until the storm blew over.

Peg-Leg Admiral of Pacific Wars to Be Centre of Story

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

A lick and a promise is not enough for support of a suit bid by your partner. If your combined holdings are insufficient where do you expect the rest of the trumps and/or Out on vacation?

When your partner mentions a suit and you assist that suit you are telling him you have enough support; adequate support, that must be adequate enough to make a sound trump suit with what he has.

Culbertson says adequate trump support is three cards headed by jack-ten or queen or any higher honor. With four cards it is not necessary to have even as much as a ten.

Goren says adequate support for trump is three cards headed by a jack or higher honor; or four cards of any kind. My rules say three cards with a queen or higher; or four cards.

You will notice that Culbertson advises three card support with a jack and ten; Goren with as little as a jack among three cards. Whereas as weakest is a queen among three cards.

None of us agree on the minimum. Two of us must be wrong. Which of us is correct? An opinion does not make a thing. Proof is the real decider. And proof is available.

Some weeks from now you will read here and over the telephone. It will contain proof of the correctness of each rule to be used bridge. Believe you me that player can profit by it.

Suppose your south partner open with a bid of one heart when you have the north hand shown here:

♥Y 10 3
♦8 6 4 2
♣8 6 4 2

According to my rules you would pass. Culbertson rules tell you to assist to two hearts. So do Goren rules, even if the ten of hearts was a smaller heart. I can prove they are both wrong.

Without the proof, to swear you know is foolish or can be. You'd have to be an awful schmoo. My gosh! Could that be me?

Western Grid Union Attracts Over 600,000

WINNIPEG (CP) — More than 600,0 fans attended the 60 league games dished up this year by Western Interprovincial Football Union at its stadiums in Vancouver, Calgary, Edmonton, Regina and Winnipeg.

While official figures are not available from past years, there is no doubt the 1954 season topped them all as parks in each city added to their 1953 capacity. And despite heavy downpours early in the schedule and low temperatures near the close, fans responded speedily to the extra seats.

Winnipeg Blue Bombers, playing their second season in the 20,000-seat Winnipeg Stadium, were top in total attendance with 136,587 fans clicking the turnstiles out of the 617,634 who watched all league contests.

Clarke Stadium at Edmonton passed 135,445 persons through the gates as the Eskimos fought their way to a first-place finish in the final league standings but were runners-up in attendance.

AT THE CAPITOL — The Big Chase — Huntz Hall and Leo Gorcey are deafened by the howls of Jet Norman (centre) as a jungle Tarzan in Allied Artists' new Bowery Boys comedy "Jungle Gents", Thursday at the Capitol Theatre. Laurette Luez has the feminine lead. On the same program "Two Guns and a Badger" starring Wayne Morris. Both hits are first showings.

VIVID SPECTACLE AND POWERFUL ACTION

Majestic settings and big stories go together, and in "The Seekers" starting Thursday at the Odeon McCarthy Theatre a perfect marriage is formed. Here against the grandeur and violence of some of New Zealand's most spectacular scenery is placed the rugged struggle of the early British settlers in that country.

The friendship which can only spring from mutual trust, and the flashing bitterness that can rise spear-like from a thoughtless deed are both finely drawn in a production which captures the growing pains of a great nation.

"The Seekers" is the gripping tale of a small band of settlers striving by trial and error to forge a new life and, that is more difficult, to forge the bonds of amity with wary tribes jealous of their native rights.

For Jack Hawkins it offers the strongest part of his screen career, and as Philip Wayne leader of the pioneers he invests the role with the action and farseeing determination it needs. Excelling in the many moments of swift and desperate action, Hawkins also has the power to grasp the natural dignity of the character, even making its weaknesses utterly believable. He is partnered by lovely Glynis Johns as a wife willing to work her share in the grim battle. She, too, lives up to strenuous demands of her role and maintains the film's natural piece throughout.

Both she and Hawkins are backed up by a brilliant cast with Maori singer Inia Te Wiata in his major role, creating a fine portrait of the understanding Maori chieftain who befriends the newcomers.

Continental discovery Laya Raki adds to the picture's vivid color with her fascinating study of the chieftain's wife — a dynamic, restless characterization highlighted by a sensational dance sequence.

Noel Purcell brings the picture its well-placed moments of light relief and Ulric's are good supporting performances from Francis De Wolff, Kenneth Williams and Patrick Warbrick.

Produced on location in New Zealand by George Brown, "The Seekers" has been directed with clarity and sympathy by Ken Annakin, who has allowed the Eastman color cameras to obtain the utmost effect from the magnificent surroundings.

National Hockey League Tougher Circuit Than Last Year, Says Adams

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By Geo. H. Carver, Sports Editor

THAT'S MORE LIKE IT!

Whatever kind of a display the Memos dish up to the fans after last night's scintillating exhibition against the rugged Brockville Maroleaus, it must be admitted the material is there. Coach Jim Beecher must have whipped the boys to a near mid-season form over the week-end for they came up with a sparkling two-way effort that paid off with a neat 6-4 victory, their second in a row. Temporarily the Memos are edging the Cornwall Colts at the top of the Senior "B" heap with four points.

If there were any stars given out last night, at least a couple should have been tossed the way of diminutive Paul Charron, who played a sensational game in goal for the Maroons. The little French Canadian was a Jesse James on skates, especially when the Memos raced in alone to his doormat. Any other goalie and the Boucher Buckaroos would have had at least a half dozen more goals.

The entire Memos squad came up with an all-out two-way display that was featured by the fine defensive work of big Jake Wade. The big Point Anner was as cool as an ice cube and effectively figured in the first three goals, scoring one and helping with the rest. The Memos' lines maintained a high rate of speed while the defensive work of the entire squad is evidenced in the fact that the Maroons only got one assist on the night's play.

It was a hard-hitting affair with fifteen penalties being handed out. The big Brockville defence took on all-comers, and the same time Messrs. Bob Macey, Wade, Verch, Coyer and Bob Wilson weren't passing up any opportunities for tossing. Up front the Duncans, Keith McDonald, those Jones boys, Dougie Hull were in high gear with Red Doran and Ted DeGrey also turning in fine jobs. Those Memos really looked good.

MEMOS' DEFENCEMAN

Jud Seamark, who was "cut" from the roster the other day, may not come up to the team's requirements as a player, but he ranks tops in sportsmanship.

Jud told this department that he held no ill feelings towards the club, coach or players. "Why should I?" he said. "After all it is the team that counts, and if somebody else is better than I am, then it is all right with me. I want to see Belleville win this year, and I will do all I can to help the club. I rave the best of luck to the team, but good enough then somebody else should have the job."

Jud said he will coach one of two minor hockey clubs this season, and is thinking strongly of turning to refereeing.

SOFTBALL

Paradoxically speaking, the Ontario Amateur Softball Association "rolled its knell of parting day" in a blaze of record-breaking glory. Frank Fowler, the amiable secretary of the association in a beautiful 1954 stylized the obsolescence for eleven successive record-breaking seasons.

In the Ontario playoffs, 517 games were played by local winners while the 1954 registrations totalled 34,591 players. The championship playdowns commenced on August 16 and ended November 30.

The annual conclave of the OASA is set again for the Easter week-end with the softball forces marshalling in Peterborough on Good Friday, April 8. The objective for the annual is 300 voting delegates. Each association is allowed three ballot-markers.

The OASA champions for 1954 are: Senior "A", Windsor; Senior "B", Oshawa; Girl's Intermediate, Florence; Intermediate "A", "AA", "B", "C" and "D" respectively, North Bay, Toronto Local 598, Wiarton, Kincardine and Brougham; Junior "A", Toronto; "B", Simcoe; "C" Virgil; "D", Apsley; Juvenile "A", Hamilton; "B", Bracebridge; "C", Wingham; Midget, Oshawa; Bantam, Larder Lake; Peewee, Blackheath.

YOU CAN HELP!

The following from Jack Christie, secretary of the Ontario Minor Hockey Association, speaks for itself:

"It is not necessary for us to elaborate on the great loss and tremendous amount of destruction caused by the recent storm and floods in the wake of "Hurricane Hazel." Nor is it necessary for us to stress how much our friends and neighbours need our help. Because we know that you, like ourselves, want to help, we of the Ontario Minor Hockey Association are setting up an agency through which the teen-ager athletes of Ontario may contribute to the Ontario Hurricane Relief Fund. Contributions should be addressed to our secretary, J. L. Christie, 6 Glen Eden Crescent, Toronto 16, marked "Hurricane Relief."

"It is our hope that every team in the OMHA, and every team in every affiliated local league, will make at least a small contribution through the OMHA. We have the largest hockey organization in the world, and even a small contribution from each player and team will result in substantial aid to the fund. If every player of every team, OMHA or local league, will contribute, through you, a dime or quarter, we shall be in a position to say that minor hockey has done its part well."

Mr. Christie goes on to suggest that each team manager or coach or local league secretary collect a small donation from each player and send it to the OMHA Hurricane Relief Fund. But it should be done as soon as possible. No youngster will miss a nickle or a dime, and it will be greatly appreciated.

'Jolly Jawn' Says Leafs Good, Canadiens Are a Great Club

By The Canadian Press

The National Hockey League is a tougher circuit than it was last season says jolly Jack Adams, general manager of the defending champion Red Wings — "and rougher, too."

"They tell me there isn't as much body checking around the league, Adams said, when he came to Toronto for tonight's initial Maple Leaf Gardens' meeting between Wings and Toronto Maple Leafs.

"If that's so, then they must all be throwing their best Sunday punch at us."

Leaf manager Hap Day appparently has thoughts along the rough-tough line, too. But his comparisons refer to Toronto's up and downs, not the league.

"When you guys concentrate on the man we're okay," he told his charges during workouts. "But when you go for the puck we're in trouble."

league," Adams said when he came

Adams, whose Red Wings have given up—temporarily at least—the familiar surroundings of first place to Montreal Canadiens, said Leafs' defensive record is fine but "they need a few more goals."

"They'll be pretty dam' tough if they get straightened away," he added.

New York Rangers, he said, "are a skating club and very tough." Boston Bruins would have to improve to get anywhere "and I think they will because they have plenty of young guys." Montreal Canadiens "are a great club."

A six-game junket into Winnipeg within a point of the front-running Canadiens while a Leaf victory would narrow to two points the margin third-place New York now holds. No change in outcome standings will be unchanged.

The rest of the league's idle tonight, while Rangers are at Chicago against the last-place Black Hawks and Red Wings meet Bruins at Boston Thursday night. Saturday all clubs get into action.

Mercs Defeat Dutchies 7-2; Bulldogs Win

By The Canadian Press

The defending-champion Owen Sound Mercurys began climbing away from the pack in the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A League Tuesday night with a 7-2 victory over Kitchener - Waterloo Dutchmen.

The Mercs now have nine points three more than the second-place Dutchmen, Stratford and Chatham, idle Tuesday night, share third place with five points each.

Windsor Bulldogs defeated Niagara Falls Cataracts 7-4 at Niagara, but remain in fourth place with three points before the Falls' haven't won a game yet.

GOT TWO EACH

Bill McComb and Elmer Skov each scored two goals for Mercurys before 2,000 hometown fans. Ted Reid, Ken Green and Buck Forslund scored one each. Jim Lagan and Don Oberholtzer scored the Dutchmen's goals.

Windsor broke a 3-3 tie late in the second period, then went on to score three more before the halfway mark of the third.

Gord Haidy and Bobby Brown scored two goals each for Bulldogs. Ted O'Connor, Jack Armstrong and Reg Abbott added singles. Lorne Pirie, Danny Nixon and Bill Hartsburg scored for Cataracts.

Tonight Chatham plays at Kitchener instead of at home against Windsor, as originally scheduled. Owen Sound plays at Stratford.

Forty-Niners Tops In Ground Attack

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — If the San Francisco 49ers win the National Football League's western division crown they'll probably be the first pro team to "run" to the title in many years.

Pro football teams in recent seasons have used the running game merely as a diversion for the all-important forward pass. The Cleveland Browns with Otto Graham, Los Angeles with Bob Waterfield and Norman van Brocklin, Detroit with Bobby Layne, they've all been potent passing teams. Most fans probably couldn't tell you who the top ground-gainers or runners were for those clubs.

Now comes San Francisco with Hugh McElhenny, Joe Perry and John Johnson higging the ball, Not that Steve Van Buren and Bosh Pritchard were in their prime with the Philadelphia Eagles in the late 1940s has any ties mbad a running game really worthy of attention.

McELHENNY LEADS

The latest National Football League statistics show McElhenny leading the league in ground gaining with an eight-yard average per carry. But the former Washington U. ace has carried 64 times for 515 yards, suffered a shoulder separation Sunday and will be out for the season. Perry has a 6.1 yard average on 73 attempts for 446 yards. Johnson who ranks forth behind Tank Younger of Los Angeles with 343 yards on 56 carries good for 333 yards. Younger has gained 419 yards on 69 attempts for a 6.1 average.

Van Brocklin continues to lead the league in passing with 1,501 yards. Ram ace has thrown 145 passes, completed 78 for 1,501 yards and nine TDs. Bobby Thomason of Philadelphia ranks third with an 8.4 average. He has thrown, completed, 622 yards gained, six TDs.

Yanks Favored Over Jeep For Hoop Title

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—The favored United States team has a chance to wrap up the world basketball title when it meets unbeaten Brazil here Friday night.

The 12-nation round-robin tournament had an off day Tuesday before moving into the final stages of competition.

The Peoria Caterpillars, representing the United States, have a slight individual advantage over the Brazilians but it could be offset by the home court advantage and the partisan crowd.

The tournament already appears a financial success since it has been playing to near capacity crowds in the 12,000 Maracana.

The Philippines, surprise winner over Canada Monday night, are favored to capture third place. They've still got to get past Uruguay and France, both tough customers. France also has a chance for third place.

REMEMBER WHEN

By The Canadian Press

Newsy Lalonde, all-time hockey great with Montreal Canadiens and star lacrosse player, was traded to Saskatoon of the old Western Canada Hockey League 25 years ago today for Aurel Joliat. Newsy was nearing the end of his spectacular ice career but later held brief coaching jobs with Canadiens and Ottawa Senators. He was named Canada's outstanding lacrosse player of the half-century in Canadian Press poll of 1950.

Bob Celeri Chosen MVP In ORFU

KITCHENER (CP)—Bob Celeri, a pass-firing American import who started his Canadian football career with Hamilton Tiger-Cats, has been chosen most valuable player in the Ontario Rugby Football Union.

Celeri, 27, came to Hamilton of the Big Four Union, last year but was fired in mid-season. He signed with Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen during the winter.

As most valuable player in the league, he receives the Imperial Oil Trophy and a berth among the Auchterlonie Memorial Trophy all-star valuable player on his own team.

Both awards are made by vote of the players, the former including votes from Toronto Balmy Beach and Sarnia Imperials; the other two senior ORFU teams.

Celeri, a triple-threat quarterback, impressed most as a passer. He fired an average of 53 per cent complete in 12 league games this year and led his club to a top-place finish. His kicks average 40 yards in the same number of games.

In 1949, playing with University of California, he was chosen most valuable player in the college team, selected the best player in San Francisco district and the best in the Pacific Coast Conference. He gained professional experience with New York Yankees and Dallas.

ORFU senior playoffs open today with Sarnia Imperials at Kitchener. The best-of-three series continues Nov. 11 with Kitchener at Sarnia and back in Kitchener Nov. 13. The winner meets western Canada senior champions in a Grey Cup semi-final played in the west.

Galt Black Hawks Flatten Teepees As Barrie Flyers Edge Kitchener

By The Canadian Press

Hank Ciesla, husky captain of St. Catharines TeePees, barely held on to his scoring lead in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A league Tuesday night as TeePees dropped 5-2 to Black Hawks at Galt.

Bob Barlow, Barrie forward, moved to within one point of Ciesla with two goals and an assist as Flyers defeated Kitchener-Waterloo Canucks 6-5 at Kitchener.

Ciesla, who scored one point on an assist, now leads the individual scoring records with 13 points in six games. Barlow has 11 points and has played only four games.

Black Hawks spotted TeePees two goals in the first period, then staged a strong rally to take the game.

Galt tied it up with goals by Rec Lalande and Floyd Smith in the second. Jim Marshall scored the winning goal in the third and Gus Ronson and Dunc Brodie clinched the game. Barry Cullen and Elmer Hoekstra scored for St. Catharines.

The victory moved Galt in a third-place tie with Barrie. St. Catharines remain in second place with Guelph Marlboros, idle in six points, two behind the league-leading Toronto St. Michael's and Guelph Billmores.

Canucks, who haven't won a game this season, remain in the cellar.

Canucks put on a fighting finish but Barrie nicked a goal in the last period to win. It was Canucks fifth straight loss.

Bob Barlow scored twice for Barrie, John MacDonald, Bob Gasser, Howie Glover and Johnny Mc-Neil scored one each. The Canucks goals were shared by Gary Collins, Bob White, Glen Cressman, Jake Smola and Stan Baliuk.

Tomorrow night Marlboros are at Stratford, Friday St. Michael's are at Guelph, Galt at Kitchener and St. Catharines at Barrie.

Memos Defeat Brockville 6-4 In Thrilling Senior 'B' Fray

Give Great Two-Way Display In Second Straight Victory; Goalie Charron Rated Stars

By GEORGE H. CARVER
(Sports Editor)

The Brockville Memos vaulted into a first-place tie with Cornwall in the Eastern Ontario Senior "B" League here last night, defeating the Brockville Magedomas 6-4 in a thrilling hard-checking battle. It was the second win in four starts for the Memos and the second defeat for the Magedomas in three games.

The game was held up an hour and ten minutes when a Brockville bus carrying the Magedomas' equipment ran into trouble near the Ivy Lea Bridge.

The Memos scored the only goal of the first period and were never headed. They added two more to Brockville's one in the second beat with the teams splitting six goals in the third marker.

Paul Charron, diminutive goalie of the Magedomas stole the hero thunder. He came up with a brilliant netminding exhibition and time after time he threw back the Belleville goal-getting forays. Three times he outgeneered Memo forward who raced in on him alone. Tony Parisi in the Memone nets also stood out, tossing out Brockville rubber like a fence. In the dying minutes Thompson broke into the clear and raced in on Parisi who coolly picked the puck out of the air.

Fifteen penalties were handed out by Referee Maurice Walsh and Jim Crombie with Brockville getting the odd one. Of the seventences were minors in a game that was inactive of mid-season hockey.

Jake Wade, brilliant Memos defenceman, paced the team's attack with a goal and two assists with Edwin Duncan scoring twice. Peter Jones, Red Doran and Doug Hull got two each for the Memos and Bob Macey good for helpers.

JAKE WADE
... One and Two

Gibson, Scott and H. Legris scored for the Magedomas with Prevost getting the credit when Vern Geyer, standing in his own goalmouth with not a Brockville player within ten feet deflected the puck behind a surprised Parisi. M. Legris got the only Magedoma assist of the night.

Charron stopped three close-in shots from MacDonald, Davy Jones and Hull in the second minute of play in the first period. Both teams checked hard and Allen, Geyer and MacDonald drew penalties in a row, but sharp defensive work kept the score sheet clean. Brockville missed from close in then Allen and Geyer went off for roughing.

Charron stopped Dorsin at the goalmouth and a second later Peter Jones took Wade's pass to finally beat Charron for the only goal of the period. With seconds to go Charron outgeneered Ed Duncan on the doormat.

SCORE IT!

Red Doran drove the puck past Charron after 1:11 of the second period and Scott got a charging penalty. The crowd gave the Brockville Jails a big hand as he swept away Memos rubber in a remarkable display. Jake Wade put the Memos two up after six minutes with a hard drive from twenty feet out.

Gibson and Hec Legris staged a pretty passing play to score the first Brockville goal after eight minutes. Scott and Dugan drew penalties as MacDonald broke into the clear but the speedy winger was outgunned by Charron. A minute later Hull duplicated the feat but again Charron kicked aside his hard drive for the corner.

Scott and Thompson combined to put the Magedomas within striking distance after a minute's play in the third period. Then came Geyer's defection and the score was tied. Wilson got the gate and Parisi withstood a hard Brockville Siege.

Thompson went off for interference after five minutes had gone and Edwin Duncan, spearheading a Memos attack, gave the Memos a 4-3 lead with a goalmouth drive. Doug Hill potted the rubber from a pass from Dave Jones in a goalmouth scramble and Ed Duncan scored another insurance marker from Macey's pass.

Rockburn got the gate and the Memos drove in for the kill. The Magedomas roared back and Hec Legris scored with a screened drive from well out. The same player was penalized with seconds to go.

The teams:

Brockville — goal, Charron; defence, Thompson, Rockburn; centre, Smith; wings, Scott, Richardson; subs, McKenney, Prevost, H. Legris, Gibson, Richer, Godwin, Allen, M. Legris, Davidson.

Belleville — goal, Parisi; defence, Wade, Macey; centre, Doran; wings, Dugan, P. Jones; subs, D. Jones, MacDonald, Hull, Ed. Duncan, Erwin Duncan, Day, Dorsin, Gray, Geyer, Wilson.

Don Cockell May Meet Canadian Champ

TORONTO (CP)—Max Waxman, for 26 years manager of former heavyweight champion Jack Dempsey, said Tuesday he believes he can arrange a British Empire heavyweight championship match here between Empire champion Don Cockell and the winner of the Canadian heavyweight title scrap here Nov. 9.

Waxman, in Toronto for the Canadian boxing title bout between champion Earl Walls and James J. Parker, said at a press luncheon:

"I know that with the help of Dempsey and a cheque book I could get Don Cockell (of Britain) here for an Empire title fight with the winner between Walls and Parker."

Frank Tunney, Toronto match maker who is promoting the Walls-Parker fight, said Waxman also is interested in arranging a world heavyweight championship fight here.

Tunney said that if Waxman likes what he sees at the fight here Nov. 9, he will recommend that Dempsey try to arrange a match between the winner and champion Rocky Marciano. Dempsey is interested in the possibilities and would join Tunney as co-promoter of such a bout, Tunney said.

Finger Cut May Finish Chief's Career

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—A slip in the shower last week may cost Allie Reynolds, the New York Yankee super chief, the remainder of his pitching career, his friend conjectured Tuesday.

The famous hurler told the Daily Oklahoman the index finger of his right hand was severely cut in the accident last Thursday at Colorado Springs, Colo.

Reynolds, 37, has returned from deer hunting. While taking a shower the mat slipped, throwing him into the glass enclosure.

A specialist was summoned and soon after performed an 80-minute operation in a Colorado Springs Hospital on the finger which suffered a bone-deep gash. Skin had to be grafted over the cut.

Results of the surgery were expected to be known today, Reynolds informed the newspaper.

ASK SOLO PROJECT

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — The Windsor and Area Development Association has asked city council to circulate a resolution calling for Canada to build the St. Lawrence seaway without American help. The resolution, to be presented to council today, asks that Windsor "call on all municipalities "which have as yet not taken appropriate action" to urge the federal government to honor their 1953 promise to the Canadian people to construct an all-Canadian seaway."

German Aspirin Man Gives Headaches To International Jumping Society

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP)—Hans Winkler, who works for an aspirin manufacturer in Germany, is giving headaches to the international horse set.

The world champion jumper from Frankfurt helped the West German team win two important international events Tuesday as the national horse show opened at Madison Square Gardens.

Winkler, a handsome dark haired man of 26, has been riding since 1948—the last two years in international shows. He won the world championship this year at Madrid after finishing second last year.

"It is very difficult to get good horses in Germany," he said Tuesday night in good English. He had just won the International Good Will Challenge Trophy over riders from Spain, Mexico, Canada and the United States on his nine-year-old mare Halla.

"The military used to have plenty of horses," he said. "Now there is no military. We have no cavalry, just like you. It is all civilian. You have to buy your own horse and you're never sure what you'll get."

Halla skimmed over the difficult 10 jump course to win the good will with the only faultless ride of the night. Seven others knocked down one barrier each.

Winkler's teammate, Fritz Thiedemann on Nordstern, also had a perfect ride in the afternoon low score team competition, won by the Germans. Although the West German and Mexican teams each had 12 faults, the Germans won on a time basis with 107.3 seconds to Mexico's 113.3 seconds (the total elapsed time for the three contestants).

Canada's riders were third with 16 faults, followed by Spain with 30 and the United States with 34½.

It was the first time since 1930 the German national anthem had blared forth at national show.

The Germans won only one of the 11 international events last week at Harrisburg where the favored Mexicans had captured nine championships.

Paul Andrews KO's Willis

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Paul Andrews, third-ranking light-heavyweight contender, lined up for his Dec. 1 fight with Joey Maxim in Chicago by scoring a technical knockout over Bo Willis of Miami in the second round of a scheduled 8-round feature Tuesday night.

Andrews, of Buffalo, N. Y., weighed 184, the heaviest of his career. Willis also weighed 184.

WIN SCHOOL TITLE

ST. CATHARINES (CP) — Burlington High School won the Niagara district Junior Central Ontario Secondary School Association football championship Tuesday by defeating St. Catharines Collegiate 5-1.

Bobo Olson Garth Panter Fight Tonight

RICHMOND, Calif. (AP)—Gerth Panter, whose only ring finesse is to bore in and keep swinging, faces the slightly herculean job tonight of trying to beat the world middleweight champion, Carl (Bobo) Olson.

The 10-round nontitle clash will be nationally televised (CBS) at 10 p.m. EST.

This will be Olson's tune-up fight for his title defense against Joey Giardello in a 15-rounder at San Francisco Dec. 15.

The champ, who never takes an opponent lightly, is expected to set a fast pace. It will be his second meeting with Panter. Olson won a 10-round decision in Butte early last year and from all accounts had a tough battle on his hands.

Panter is a 24-year-old from Richmond. He fights out of Salt Lake City. In 75 fights, he has won 37; lost 16 and has five draws. He ended 40 of his matches by knockouts.

Olson, the master boxer, has a fine reputation to uphold. From all indications, he holding Honolulu born ringman is destined to join the list of outstanding middleweights since the division was created. He's probably two years away from his peak yet none of the present crop has been able to menace him.

Frank Filchock Signs With Sasky-Riders

REGINA (CP)—Frank Filchock, the coach who couldn't quite make it this year, will be back with his Saskatchewan Roughriders in 1955 for another attack on the Grey Cup.

Team president Dr. Beattie Martin announced Tuesday night, following a meeting of the club executive, that Filchock has signed for next season, his third with the club.

The word came less than 24 hours after Saskatchewan dreams of a Toronto cup trip had been shattered by Winnipeg Blue Bombers who trampled over Riders in the semi-final on their way to the Western Interprovincial Football Union final against Edmonton Eskimos.

It was a bitter pill for Filchock. His squad had created the league standings most of the season and even when it was relegated to second place by Eskimos in the stretch, many were predicting Saskatchewan would take the playoffs.

BOARD APPOINTED

KITCHENER (CP)—The city has been informed by Ontario department of labor that Judge R. S. Clark, Guelph, J. G. Brown, Kitchener, and A. G. Hearn, Toronto, have been appointed a board of conciliation to deal with the wage dispute between the city and the Civic Workers' Union. Date of the first meeting is to be announced. The workers are asking a 10-cent-an-hour raise above the present starting rate of $1.15½ cents an hour.

MAKES FIRST AND LAST TRIP TO CITY

Citizens of Port Arthur, Ont., thought they were in the wrong location when they saw this 1,000-pound moose ambling through their backyards, ripping clotheslines and fences and charging at individuals in his path. Mr. Moose apparently became lost in the six inches of snow that covered the area and at daybreak found himself inside the city limits. He did the only sensible thing to do under the circumstances — he tried to find a way out. Being a stranger in town, he just wandered from one street to another, via backyards and lanes. Then department of lands and forests officers caught up with him, and Mr. Moose became steak on the plates of youngsters at the city's underprivileged children's shelter. (Central Press Canadian).

Jerry Lewis Back at Work After Seven Weeks' Illness

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Jerry Lewis is back and Paramount's got him.

The studio may have expected a more restrained Lewis after his recent illness with virus pneumonia and jaundice. He was required to stay abed for 35 days—if you can imagine the frenetic comic doing that.

But that setback hasn't changed his exuberance. When I saw him on the set of "You're Never Too Young," he was disguised as a dapper Frenchman, with wig, moustache and goatee.

A GOING CONCERN

Jerry is the kind of fellow who can't be overlooked. He carried on four conversations at once, pausing in the middle of one to give an imaginary eye test to a passerby. He disappeared behind a piece of scenery and let out a blood-curdling shriek. He reappeared and started stuffing huge camera lenses in his shirt.

"I can use these for my home movies," he explained. Then he looked puzzled and returned the lenses. "I almost forgot—this is our production and I'd have to pay for them!"

Director Norman Taurog came up for a conference. Jerry took his arm and they danced a foxtrot unconcernedly as they discussed the next scene. Jerry was changing his shirt when he was called into the scene. When he didn't respond, Taurog and an aide dragged him bodily before the camera.

Afterward, Jerry simmered down long enough to talk seriously of the future. Despite his illness, he plans full steam ahead on his career.

"We've got a lot of catching up to do," he reported. "We should have done two TV shows by now; our first will be Dec. 5 and we do four more this season. We've got to play The Sands in Las Vegas and start a picture for Hal Wallis in February. Then there is our concert tour."

BASEBALL BANNED

What does his doctor say about such a schedule?

"Oh, it's all right for me to resume full activity," he said. "The only thing is I've got to rest in between. Sitting around and talking is all right between shots. But I've got to cut out the playing baseball or hopping on a scooter and going all over the place."

As if his schedule were not busy enough, Jerry also has the notion that he wants to direct a TV series. That will come during his vacation!

DEER HUNTER KILLED

WOODGATE, N. Y. (AP) — A deer hunter who had been missing since Saturday was found shot to death Monday in the Bear creek section of the Adirondack foothills. State police said the bullet that killed Jesse Moore, 31, was not fired from Moore's gun.

FOUR MUST DIE

MBANE, Swaziland (Reuters)—Four Africans were sentenced to death here Monday for the black magic slaying of a three-year-old child. They killed the child, Temsiell, and buried the mutilated body in a field to fertilize the soil and increase the prestige of the headman.

Commonwealth Parley Will Open At End Of January

International Developments Will Be Among Main Topics

OTTAWA (CP) — A Commonwealth conference of prime ministers will be held in London, Jan. 31, Prime Minister St. Laurent said today.

Mr. St. Laurent quoted an announcement by Sir Winston Churchill, British prime minister, in the British House of Commons today.

Mr. St. Laurent said the date for the opening of the meeting was selected after consideration of what might suit the convenience of the majority of Commonwealth prime ministers.

He said he hopes the work of the forthcoming session of the Canadian Parliament would be well under way by the time he leaves for London.

The statement quoted the following paragraphs from Sir Winston's announcement:

"I have recently been in communication with the prime ministers of the other members of the Commonwealth about the holding of a further meeting between us.

MUCH TO DISCUSS

"Many events of great importance in the international field have taken place since our last meeting at the time of the Coronation.

"These will provide the principal subjects for our consideration when, as we have agreed, a meeting of Commonwealth prime ministers is held in London, opening Jan. 31.

"I know the House will join me in welcoming the opportunity of consultation with the heads of other Commonwealth governments from which I am confident that fresh and former occasions general benefit will result."

The announcement here followed persistent reports in the last few days that a Commonwealth conference would be held soon.

LIBERTY FORCE

Among the topics of discussion at the conference will be the recent Paris agreements ending West German occupation and West European Union.

Other possible matters to be discussed include the situation in Indochina and Korea and other Far East subjects.

Another major topic for discussion by the prime ministers likely will be economic affairs, including possible moves toward the multilateral convertibility of sterling.

Increased trade between Canada and British Guiana, the subject of an address here recently by Lord Swinton, British secretary of state for Commonwealth affairs.

He said Britain was buying more from Canada and that only a shortage of dollars would halt purchases of Canadian products. But he urged Canada to buy more from Britain and said that in country after country he finds will power the British market more and more.

London Dockers Return to Work; Fear New Strike

LONDON (Reuters) — Nearly 7,000 dockworkers have defied strike staged London's third successive strike returned to work today and began unloading 75 ships tied up by the stoppage.

The men struck over the alleged refusal of employers to reinstate suspended dock workers who declined to work with non-union truck drivers.

Although there was a full resumption of work today fresh trouble was foreshadowed over the suspension of 27 truck drivers who refused to cross a picket line when the dockers were on strike.

The National Amalgamated Stevedores and Dockers union which met a tattoo-while, month long stoppage last month, has given its full support to the latest event of any further victimization."

WEATHER

TORONTO, (CP) — Synopsis: Colder air is pushing southward through central Ontario this morning and will cover the entire province tonight. Some rain and snow is falling ahead of this cold air and a few snowflurries will be scattered throughout the province.

Congress, itself, must "pay a great deal more attention to permanent consideration of policy" than to "manoeuvring for 1956."

The Journal's fears were echoed by The Times, which said the split in Washington "can be profoundly corrosive to good government."

The Times said the Democrats "will not be content with the next two years to discredit the performance of the Republicans." If they do results, it added, "cannot fail to weaken even the special position the Eisenhower has won."

Europe in general put down the Democratic article in relief to the Republicans, but not to President Eisenhower.

Conservative newspapers agreed that the split between Congress and the White House will not change the United States' foreign policy appreciably.

The Express, in contrasted sharply with the official view in Russia. An article in Izvestia said the American people Tuesday had repudiated "the aggressive policy of Cc. U. S. ruling quarters.

Too Much Love Causes Bride To Ask Divorce

MILWAUKEE (AP)—A bride of less than six months filed suit for divorce Wednesday because her husband showed her too much love.

Mrs. Beverly P. Shaw, 21, complained that her husband, John, 21, was unduly possessive and demanded her attention "every waking minute that he were logically" with her.

Shaw, said the bride, persisted in "holding her unduly often and long" insisted on remaining with her even while she brushed her hair and "generally denied her privacy whatsoever."

Shaw, serving in the navy at Montoursville, Pa., said in his answer that the couple lived together only six weeks and that he would not contest the divorce.

FRENCH OPPONENT OF GERMAN ARMS GETS KEY POST

Jules Moch to Report On Paris Agreements

PARIS (AP) — Former defence minister Jules Moch, a strong opponent of German rearmament, was chosen today by the National Assembly foreign affairs committee to make its report on the Paris accords for adding German forces to the defence of the West.

Moch, a Socialist, has been representing France in disarmament talks at the United Nations in New York.

Friends said they could recall no public comment by Moch on the recent agreements but, from his past record, he can be expected to oppose them.

His choice marked the eagerness of French legislators of many political tendencies for the pursuit of talks with the Soviet bloc on armament. Premier Mendes-France told the committee when he made the weary rounds to tell that they should not interfere with ratification of the new Western European Union which would give West Germany its own army, navy and air force.

SHAW SERVING

Moch's nomination was a personal blow to Mendes-France, supported as it was by the Red Communists and Socialists on the committee. They are the Popular Republican Movement (MRP).

But the MRP deputies, the premier's chief opponents on foreign policy, rallied to Moch's cause. They were strong supporters of the supranational European army scheme, bitterly opposed it. So did the Communists and Mendes-France allowed it to be killed in the French Parliament without taking a stand for it.

The premier undoubtedly will have a hard fight if he means to push through agreements through the National Assembly by the end of the year, but he has great strength among the deputies which was not reflected in today's committee voting.

Ford Union Asks Financial Aid Of Labor Groups

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — United Automobile Workers Union (CIO) said Wednesday it has started to send speakers to labor conventions across Canada to recruit financial aid for striking Ford of Canada workers.

Spokesmen for UAW's Local 200 said speakers are touring Ontario and Quebec and have canvassed Toronto, Hamilton and Montreal.

The UAW is asking for full moral and financial support of the Canadian Congress of Labor for 10,000 strikers.

THE STRIKE

The strike of 5,700 production workers at Ford's Windsor plant is 25 days ago. Another 800 employees at the Ford assembly plant in Oakville left their jobs 20 days ago.

Workers at both plants are demanding wage and fringe benefit increases.

Eisenhower Must Forego Second Term Become Non-Partisan, British View

LONDON (Reuters)—The Manchester Guardian today said President Eisenhower must give up seeking the Republican presidential nomination in 1956, in view of the Democratic gains in Congress.

"The Guardian editorial lamented the new split between the White House and Congress, and suggested that these remedies:

Eisenhower now must "become a non-partisan president. That it a great deal to ask of any man, but it is necessary in other things, abandoning any thought of seeking the Republican nomination in 1956."

He must "consult the Democratic leaders in the House of Representatives in drafting his program."

Congress, itself, must "pay a great deal more attention to permanent consideration of policy" than to "manoeuvring for 1956."

Collins Goes to Indochina On Mission for Eisenhower

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. J. Lawton Collins is speeding toward Indochina on a mission for President Eisenhower aimed at finding out how to help divided Vietnam from falling completely to the Communists.

Collins, former United States army chief of staff, will have the personal rank of ambassador as a special representative of the president. A White House announcement Wednesday night said his mission is diplomatic—not military.

The trouble-shooting task assigned Collins is expected to result in recommendations to Eisenhower for extensive American operations designed to stabilize South Vietnam and bolster the government of Premier Ngo Dinh Diem.

Eisenhower has several hundred millions of dollars available for spending to prop up South Vietnam against communism if Collins can come up with a program which will persuade the government and Congress of a reasonable chance of success.

The White House statement said the country had been ravished by 10 years of war, divided between free and Communist zones as a result of the Indochina peace settlement last summer and controlled by "dangerous forces of growing its independence and security."

Senator Mike Mansfield (Dem. Mont.) reported last month after a personal tour of Indochina that he found "great hope" in preventing the Reds from taking over because of bitter political rivalry and that he termed lack of strong government in Viet Nam.

In Mansfield's opinion and that of the administration, the Ngo Dinh Diem government offers the best prospect of building strength in the divided country.

Canadian Pipers Add Color To Dinner Given Queen Mother

By LLOYD McDONALD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK (CP)—The lights came down on dazzling jewelry, gleaming shoulders and snowy shirt fronts but in the midst of the throng at the Black Watch dinner was a kilt of the Black Watch—the men of Canada's royal regiment—who walked behind them.

It was Queen Mother Elizabeth's last night in New York, and the 3,000-odd guests at the dinner in the English-Speaking Union stood and watched and applauded as she walked through the grand ballroom of the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel.

Theme of the dinner was British-American friendship—the aim of the sponsoring society—and Canada's link between the countries was symbolized by the pipers from the Royal Highland Regiment of Canada in the place of honour.

The Queen Mother is colonel-in-chief of the Black Watch, as the regiment has long been known, and the pipers commanded Lieut.-Col. J. C. Bourne, were invited from Montreal to escort her to the table and her place as guest of honor at the dinner.

Only about one-third of the guests, who paid $25 a plate for their chance to dine with the Queen Mother, could be seated in the main ballroom, so Her Majesty toured the various other rooms before the dinner began.

With the kilted pipers slowly marching ahead to such airs as "Pibroch of Donal Dhu," "Atholl Highlanders" and "A Hundred Pipers" and "Queen Elizabeth March" she last night made her debut for the occasion — the Queen Mother and her party ternoon.

passed through lines of diners who rose to their feet and applauded as she passed.

The Queen Mother wore a richly-brocaded, ivory-colored gown trimmed with the light blue ribbon of the Order of the Garter. The Queen wore on their right breast a set green, bearskin hats and the regimental tartan of dark blue and red black.

The Queen Mother made the only speech of the night at her tour which began here Oct. 26 and ends Nov. 18 after a 7,000-mile trip, on the theme of everincreasing closer unity among the English-speaking peoples of the world.

"The Atlantic," she said, "once a highway between Europe and new a lake that links us. . . We are, in truth, a union of peoples by speech, people, bound—whether we like it or not—not only by a common language but by a common literature, extending from Shakespeare to our own time, and by the common language of our Bible and our prayers.

"The understanding between the countries, much too precious to be taken for granted," required "patience as well as goodwill, forbearance as well as firmness of intentions, hard heads as well as warm hearts."

As the Queen spoke, the guests in adjoining rooms who could not see her clearly watched on giant screens linked by a closed-circuit television system.

Today President Eisenhower sent his personal plane Columbine III to New York to bring the Queen Mother to Washington in the afternoon.

ARMY HAS NEW WEAPONS CARRIER IN DESIGN STAGE

Would Replace Bren Carrier of Second War

OTTAWA (CP)—A new weapons carrier for the army is in the design stage.

It would replace the Bren gun carrier, used extensively during the Second World War and still the army's standard carrier.

What the army wants, officials say, is a vehicle with good cross-country performance and protection against land mines. That means it must be fast, take well to rough ground and carry heavier underside armor plating than the Bren carrier.

In atomic battle, dispersal, speed of movement and avoidance of mass concentrations are vital, army officers say.

A fast weapons carrier for ammunition, mortars, machine guns and wireless equipment would be a big help toward this objective.

NEED BETTER CARRIER

"We must have much better carriers," Maj.-Gen. John Rocking, army general officer commanding Canadian Infantry Division, said in a recent interview.

The question of armor is not being designed to carry specially-heavy armor, but armor that is adequate to its main purpose.

The universal carrier—the name comes from its three carrier—has been or is used for reconnaissance, ammunition supply and as a gun tractor.

One of its chief disadvantages is that it rides too high. It is a land mine and most of its crew killed. Shells and machine-gun bullets can penetrate its relatively thin armor plate. It can carry few anti-tank weapons or air-burst shells.

The Bren carrier usually carries a crew of four, can transport 10 men and has a top speed of about 37 miles an hour.

The new carrier's belly and side armor probably will be heavier.

Engineers Called To Demolish Prison Wall

OTTAWA (CP) — Prisoners at Kingston penitentiary have been drilling holes in a prison wall so it can be blown up with dynamite.

The guards aren't allowed in the act.

It's all on the up-and-up, though. The 1st field squadron, Royal Canadian Engineers, of Ottawa has been called in to demolish the 36-inch-thick limestone wall left standing when the prison was demolished during a riot last summer. The wall, erected in 1835, is the second oldest stone building within the prison compound. Beneath it is the still-active penitentiary workshop.

The militia unit, aided by 55 sappers from Camp Petawawa, Ont., expects to use some 300 pounds of dynamite to demolish the 36-foot section. Each explosion will be small so the workshop and other buildings will not be damaged.

The demolition will be directed by Maj. P. W. Carr-Harris, the regular army staff officer engineer from Kingston. Under his direction sappers have been drilling dozens of holes to take the dynamite charges.

SEVEN KILLED

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP) — A landslide touched off by torrential rains smashed a home near Pasto, killing seven persons, including three children.

CNR Will Go $25,000,000 In 'Red' This Year Says Pres.

TORONTO (CP) — The boss of Canadian National Railways said today the line will go in the red by at least $25,000,000 this year and he termed the loss a "crushing disappointment."

Donald Gordon, in an address to a luncheon meeting of the Canada Club and Executive Club, predicted a revenue decline of $60,000,000 in 1954 from last year. $40,000,000 of that shortfall preceded added:

"I refuse to translate the verdict of this year's operations into a gloomy forecast for the future of your line. The CNR management is dedicated to an unshakeable resolve to make the railway serve in a way like any other Canadian corporation. It will be provided with the engineering and determination can make it profitable."

The remarks were included in the text of a speech issued to the press before delivery.

Mr. Gordon said the current problem includes a big wage bill, a competitive drive for freight and passenger revenues and branch line extensions and subsidies.

He said it is sometimes asked whether it is necessary for the publicly-owned railway to show a profit and added:

"It must do so if it is to reach peak efficiency and provide Canadians with a maximum of service at minimum transportation cost. Efficiency is not basically a question of ownership but of management and of skilled and employee morale. Exhortations from an executive office or an act of parliament are the discipline of a profit and loss account."

Referring to the challenge of a "high-wage society," Mr. Gordon declared "we have been suffering from a severe squeeze between rising costs and revenues limited down by less elastic railway rates.

"Our physical plant and working efficiency have never been better than they are right now. But every improvement has gone either to our employees as higher hourly earnings, which have risen 132 per cent since 1939, or to our customers in lower maintenance of a relatively low level of rates."

The paradox of transportation is that highway trucks, whose costs are from five to five times ours in proportion to distance, have been cutting into this crucial high-rate traffic."

He was hoped to increase passenger traffic "with our $59,000,000 worth of new passenger equipment now on order" and modernize freight stock. We are changing dining car accommodation from class to cafe cars to reduce prices and encourage volume patronage."

Voters Ignore Editor's Advice To Defeat Him

FARMINGTON, Mo. (AP)—Voters followed Jess Stewart's editorial advice—with one exception, Jess Stewart.

Stewart, editor of the weekly Farmington Press, was defeated for re-elected St. Francois county circuit clerk despite his editorial support from his own desk.

Voters heeded his 'advice to cast their ballots according to county-10 Republicans and one Democrat split out of office.

Stewart, a Democrat, had urged the people, to support the Republican candidates after criticized himself for dividing his time between the county office and his newspaper.

Oregon Victory Gives Democrats Senate Control

Recounts Could Upset Two Critical Senate Races

By EDGAR SIMON
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

WASHINGTON (CP) — A close victory in Oregon and a hairline defeat in New Jersey, both decided more than 24 hours after the polls closed, gave the Democrats a one-vote edge in the Senate as well as control of the House of Representatives as a result of Tuesday's off-year elections.

Recounts could upset both critical Senate races, adding an additional vote to the bare Democratic majority or swinging control back to the Republicans, who have ruled both Houses for the last two years.

The Democrats would assert their right to control the Senate because of the narrow margins Senator Carl Hayden of Arizona said Wednesday night his Democratic colleagues will confer to consider the advisability of leaving it in Republican hands to avoid the possibility of mid-session deaths causing a turnover.

As matters stood today, the Democrats hold 48 seats in the November chamber and have the promised support of Oregon independent Wayne Morse in organizational maneuvers. That would give them control. Senate proceedings. The Republicans have 47 senators.

WIN GOOD MARGIN

In the House the Democrats have a comfortable 48-vote edge, having elected 232 members to the Republicans' 203.

President Eisenhower, who had spent the last week before election day campaigning for votes for the friendly Republican Congress, took the latest philosophical attitude toward his work with the Democrats in putting across his legislative proposals.

"If there are any road blocks thrown in the way of getting things done, I am not going to be responsible," he told his press conference Wednesday.

His statement raised prospects of a happier relationship than existed between him and Truman before President Harry S. Truman battled his Republican Congress, and from 1930 to 1932 when an unfriendly Democratic Congress frustrated and confronted Republican President Herbert Hoover.

One of the Democratic chief campaign arguments this year was that Eisenhower had received more support from them than from his own party on many key issues. While a certain amount of political jockeying for the 1956 presidential campaign is to be expected, this may be likely to reverse their stand on these basic policies.

Democratic National Committee leaders as Representative Sam Rayburn of Texas, who will be the Speaker of the new House have expressed resentment at Eisenhower's campaign statement that a Democratic congressional win might lead to a political "cold war."

TONES DOWN REMARK

Eisenhower himself backed away from that statement at Wednesday's press conference, admitting perhaps it was "too strong for what I had in mind."

The 1954 election was racist in New Jersey and Oregon, hung in the balance as the Democratic and Republican candidates admitting defeat.

In New Jersey, Republican Clifford Case had a bare 300-vote margin when the last returns were reported and supporters of Democrat Charles Howell called for a recount. Republicans predicted further gains for Case, whose revised lead grew to more than 1,000 votes.

In Oregon, where no Democratic senator had been elected for the last 40 years, Richard Neuberger trailed Republican Senator Guy Cordon until Wednesday night when a flood of returns from Portland, which normally favors the Democrats, pushed him in front.

Schweitzer Makes Impassioned Plea For Return of Second War Captives

OSLO, Norway (Reuters) — Dr. Albert Schweitzer, winner of the 1933 Nobel peace prize, today made an impassioned appeal for the return of hundreds of thousands of Second World War prisoners and deportees to their homelands.

This would help heal the wounds of the past and create "a more atmosphere of confidence" in which outstanding post-war problems could be solved.

The 79-year-old, Alsatian - born humanitarian, philosopher and scientist made the appeal in a lecture entitled "the problem of peace" which he delivered before the Nobel Institute here.

"The peace prize was

PARIS (AP) — Former premier Robert Schuman said Wednesday he has refused the job of French ambassador to the United States. Recounts Could Upset Two Critical Senate Races

By EDGAR SIMON
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

WASHINGTON (CP) — A close victory in Oregon and a hairline defeat in New Jersey, both decided more than 24 hours after the polls closed, gave the Democrats a one-vote edge in the Senate as well as control of the House of Representatives as a result of Tuesday's off-year elections.

Recounts could upset both critical Senate races, adding an additional vote to the bare Democratic majority or swinging control back to the Republicans, who have ruled both Houses for the last two years.

The Democrats would assert their right to control the Senate because of the narrow margins Senator Carl Hayden of Arizona said Wednesday night his Democratic colleagues will confer to consider the advisability of leaving it in Republican hands to avoid the possibility of mid-session deaths causing a turnover.

As matters stood today, the Democrats hold 48 seats in the November chamber and have the promised support of Oregon independent Wayne Morse in organizational maneuvers. That would give them control. Senate proceedings. The Republicans have 47 senators.

WIN GOOD MARGIN

In the House the Democrats have a comfortable 48-vote edge, having elected 232 members to the Republicans' 203.

President Eisenhower, who had spent the last week before election day campaigning for votes for the friendly Republican Congress, took the latest philosophical attitude toward his work with the Democrats in putting across his legislative proposals.

"If there are any road blocks thrown in the way of getting things done, I am not going to be responsible," he told his press conference Wednesday.

His statement raised prospects of a happier relationship than existed between him and Truman battled President Harry S. Truman battled his Republican Congress, and from 1930 to 1932 when an unfriendly Democratic Congress frustrated and confronted Republican President Herbert Hoover.

One of the Democratic chief campaign arguments this year was that Eisenhower had received more support from them than from his own party on many key issues. While a certain amount of political jockeying for the 1956 presidential campaign is to be expected, this may be likely to reverse their stand on these basic policies.

Democratic National Committee leaders as Representative Sam Rayburn of Texas, who will be the Speaker of the new House have expressed resentment at Eisenhower's campaign statement that a Democratic congressional win might lead to a political "cold war."

TONES DOWN REMARK

Eisenhower himself backed away from that statement at Wednesday's press conference, admitting perhaps it was "too strong for what I had in mind."

The 1954 election was racist in New Jersey and Oregon, hung in the balance as the Democratic and Republican candidates admitting defeat.

In New Jersey, Republican Clifford Case had a bare 300-vote margin when the last returns were reported and supporters of Democrat Charles Howell called for a recount. Republicans predicted further gains for Case, whose revised lead grew to more than 1,000 votes.

In Oregon, where no Democratic senator had been elected for the last 40 years, Richard Neuberger trailed Republican Senator Guy Cordon until Wednesday night when a flood of returns from Portland, which normally favors the Democrats, pushed him in front.

Smash and Grab Thief Gets $250 In Jewellery

Tossing a brick through the plate glass store window at the R. E. Wonnacott jewellery store on Front Street, a smash and grab thief last night made off with about a dozen Zircon rings valued at $250.

Two persons saw the thief run from the window and were able to give police a fair description of the man, who disappeared down the footbridge gangway.

Leonard Ashley, Trenton, telephoned police a few minutes before midnight stating that he had seen a man "push" in the window at the jewellery store, while a Belleville man, F. Enos, 41 Gordon Street, described the thief as being six feet tall, with thin face and pale complexion. The man was said to be of slim build and fairly young.

Police officers Sgt. R. Milligan and Constables Cook and Parker searched the footbridge gangway area and nearby streets without success.

Driver of Car That Hit Boy Not Located

Provincial police at Belleville are still seeking the hit-and-run driver of an American car, which struck Douglas Manastyr, 10, of Bayside, as he was riding his bicycle on No. 2 highway. The boy was carried over 200 feet on the hood of the car but fortunately escaped serious injury.

The licence of the hit-and-run car was traced to Syracuse, N.Y., where it was found the vehicle was owned by a drive-yourself car rental business. The person who rented the car is still unknown, however, as the car was rented through showing an Ontario driver's licence which had been stolen.

This Friday Flying Officer Jean Holmes of the Toronto R.C.A.F. Recruiting Unit will be in the city. Miss Holmes is a native of Kensington, Prince Edward Island, and received her primary education there. During the war she served with the R.C.A.F. Women's Division, receiving her discharge on the cessation of hostilities. Following demobilization Miss Holmes attended the University of Toronto where she received her Bachelor of Arts degree. On graduation she returned to the R.C.A.F. as a women's career counsellor.

Flying Officer Holmes is coming here to interview and supply information for all young women interested in the many career opportunities available to them in the Royal Canadian Air Force. She will be located in the R.C.A.F. recruiting office in the Belleville Armouries from 1 p.m. until 7 p.m. on Friday.

Paper Suggests Queen Mother For Canadian Post

LONDON (CP)—The Daily Mail suggests that the Queen Mother become governor-general of Canada.

The Conservative newspaper, elaborating on an editorial Wednesday in Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express, asks: "What might she not accomplish in that great and rapidly developing land if she were to take up a more permanent residence there—perhaps as governor-general?"

The Express suggested she be appointed governor-general of one of the Commonwealth countries.

The Mail says "there is a precedent for those of royal blood holding such an office. The Duke of Connaught became governor-general of Canada in 1911 and the Earl of Athlone . . . from 1940 to 1946."

Creaking Swing Span of Bridge To Be Replaced

VICTORIA (CP)—It became official Wednesday.

That two-lane, creaking swing span which once held up Prime Minister St. Laurent for 45 minutes, is going to be replaced.

Premier Bennett announced tenders would be called at once for construction of a new, four-lane high-level toll bridge across the Fraser river at Marpole in suburban Vancouver.

He estimated the cost at $8,000,000 and said until the federal government and the city of Vancouver "are prepared to put up one-third of the cost," the only bridge to span the British Columbia toll bridge and highway authority.

Torrential Rains Alarm Italian Flood Survivors

SALERNO, Italy (AP)—Torrential new rains poured down today on the mountains over the gulf of Salerno, where 318 persons died in last week in Italy's greatest flood disaster.

Scores of houses already weakened by the floods and landslides were imperilled by the rain.

Police warned people in hill villages were near panic. Authorities announced, however, that the situation for the moment should cause no alarm.

No collapse of buildings or new landslides were reported.

The cloudburst was so blinding trains were halted in the area. The lower section of Naples' central railroad station was flooded, halting train service briefly.

Tanks and Planes Battle Guerrillas In Algeria

ALGIERS (Reuters) — French tanks and planes went into action for 3 days today to clear the mountain village of Foum Toub of nationalist guerrillas who are holding whole populations in the area under a withering hail of automatic fire.

Foum Toub, in the rugged area south of Batna, was evacuated Wednesday because it was impossible to guarantee its security.

About 1,000 civilians, led by Tunisian guerrillas from across the border have been operating in the area since Monday.

Fighter planes are strafing nationalist positions on the crags commanding the roads. The nationalists control the heights overlooking Arris and have defied attempts to dislodge them during the last three days.

Helicopters dropped supplies to the besieged town Wednesday. Some of the 200 Europeans among the population of 2,500 broke through the encirclement in a military column covered by machine guns.

Jacques Chevallier, French secretary of state for war, said here Wednesday that the situation was critical at Arris, while the Arues region generally was "practically in a state of revolt." Between 200 and 250 Tunisian guerrillas have crossed the frontier, he said.

The terrorists are armed with automatic weapons and equipped with mobile radio transmitters.

Roger Leonard, new governor-general, announced Wednesday night that 120 arrests have been made since the first wave of violence swept Algeria Monday.

Couple Killed Near Newcastle

PETERBOROUGH (CP) — Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Irving of Hamilton were killed Wednesday when their car collided with a truck on No. 115 Highway, nine miles northeast of Newcastle.

Their granddaughter, Mary Jane Irving, 5, of Peterborough, suffered fractures of both legs.

The Irvings were returning the child to her parents. Mr. and Mrs. Donald L. Irving, from a visit with them in Hamilton.

Truck driver Fred Seymour, 28, of Bowmanville, was unhurt.

Police said the car went off the slush-covered highway onto the soft shoulder, then veered into the path of the truck.

RICE AGREEMENT

RANGOON, Burma (Reuters)—Communist China will buy 150,000 long tons of rice from Burma under an agreement signed in Peiping Wednesday, it was announced here. No price was disclosed. The agreement was concluded under the protocol of the three-year trade treaty between the two countries, signed in Rangoon last April.

Humphrey Bogart Back at Old Stand With Gun in Hand

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The movie whirl—

Humphrey Bogart is back at his old stand with a gun in his hand.

Back in 1936, he made his adult debut as a tough guy in "Petrified Forest." He played the desperado Duke Mantee, who terrorized the inhabitants of a roadside cafe.

Today he's playing an escaped convict who bullies a suburban family in "The Desperate Hours." "Some progress, huh? I told him I didn't think so.

CHANGES PERSONALITY

This brought out the Duke Mantee in him. He has a knack of adopting a character he is playing. When he was doing "Sabrina," he was every bit the witty, dapper business executive he was playing. Now he was a stubble-faced, scarred criminal and he acted the part.

"Now isn't that a bright remark," he remonstrated. "You reporters are all alike—always go for the obvious."

"Say a guy starts out from New York, goes around the world and comes back to New York. You'd say he was back in the same place. Well, I'm like that guy who went around the world. I may be back in the same place but I've been somewhere."

He added that he was paid $500 a week for "Petrified Forest." Today he earns $250,000 per picture.

FICKLE TITLES

At RKO they're making a picture with the impossible title of "Bow Tamely to Me." Now you know this title has got to go.

Especially at RKO where they change titles at the drop of a Howard Hughes' whim. Before they shot a picture called "Where the Wind Dies." It was to be released as "Passion." A film with the reasonable title of "The Big Rainbow" is changed to "Rainbow 'round Your Shoulder."

I asked Barbara Stanwyck about "Bow Tamely to Me," in which she stars. "It makes sense," she remarked. "The picture is about elephants in Burma, and that's a command they give to the elephants.

"But of course we can't educate the American public to that. We're looking for a new title.

"Yes, I think titles are important to selling a picture. A case in point is 'Roman Holiday.' It was a delightful film, but the public shied away because they thought it was a travelogue or a religious film."

Note: At press time, they landed a new title—"Escape to Burma."

FIRST PRIME MINISTER OF NORTHERN NIGERIA

Ahmadu, Sardauna of Sokoto, has been elected the first prime minister of Northern Nigeria under a new constitution set up with the co-operation of the British government. The rank of sardauna is an historical one, held only by a son of the royal house of Sokoto. The 45-year-old prime minister is the descendant of a long line of hereditary rulers. He is a Moslem and his cousin, the sultan of Sokoto, is spiritual leader of Northern Nigeria's 11,500,000 Moslems.

Duke Prefers To Be Called 'Prince Philip'

LONDON (AP) — The Queen's husband prefers sometimes to be known as Prince Philip rather than the Duke of Edinburgh.

The Royal Society of Arts, of which he has been president since 1952, discovered his preference when it struck a presentation medal bearing his likeness.

A spokesman for the society said today: "The design for the medal was sent to Buckingham Palace for the prince's approval. In that design we called him the Duke of Edinburgh. It came back with the inscription altered to Prince Philip."

A spokesman at Buckingham Palace insisted, however, that he should be referred to as the Duke of Edinburgh in strict accuracy.

Says Hotel Full When Barbados Premier Called

MONTREAL (CP) — J. A. Raymond, president of the Windsor Hotel here, said Wednesday night the room clerk who refused accommodation to Premier Grantley Adams of Barbados "did the best he could under the circumstances."

A report Wednesday from Ottawa said the Canadian government has apologized to Premier Adams, who is colored, because he was refused a room through what officials termed a clerk's stupidity.

Mr. Raymond said room clerk Theodore Gallant "could not provide a room for Mr. Adams because the hotel was full. He had found accommodations at another hotel.

He said Gallant had not been reprimanded in any way although he was told to be more careful in future "about trying to handle more guests than the hotel can take."

Mr. Raymond said Premier Adams arrived last week by air without guaranteed reservations en route home from Europe.

He added that Mr. Adams had been a guest several times previously at the hotel.

Fire Three Shots As Suspected Thieves Flee

TORONTO (CP) — Three shots were fired as detectives chased two shopbreaking suspects early today.

The man was captured after a short run. The second refused to heed police bullets on two occasions and was not caught until he was too tired to climb a fence.

Police fired all shots in the air. Charged with shopbreaking are Lorde Gagnon, 21, and Gordon McNeil, 18, both whom said they had no home.

New Proposal For Tax Accord Is Said Likely

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent says he hopes to have a new tax proposal to place before provincial premiers before the end of the year.

Such a tax plan, he said, would result from a study of new proposals made by Quebec Premier Duplessis for solving the tax dispute agreement between the Quebec and federal governments.

Mr. Duplessis' proposals, received Tuesday, were studied by the cabinet Wednesday and Mr. St. Laurent indicated following a morning meeting that a Dominion-Provincial tax conference likely would result.

Such a conference, he said, likely would lead to a later full-dress conference on federal-provincial fiscal relations before the present tax agreements with nine provinces expire at the end of 1956.

CORONER TO PROBE MAN'S SUDDEN DEATH

TRENTON (Special) — Coroner Dr. J. Y. Byrne, and local police today are investigating the death of John Lionel Post, 71-year-old widower, who was found dead in a chair by the side of a coal stove in the kitchen of his home here on Catherine Street, this morning.

A neighbor became alarmed and notified police when she got no answer from the phone in the Post home earlier.

NEW OPPORTUNITY FOR POLITICIANS

The election campaign in the United States is over—and the post-mortem sessions are in full swing.

A Canadian has no business in this chat league.

But in the New York Times, however, published a picture on the eve of the voting which brought forcibly home the fact that modern science has made possible an improvement in technique in politics, as well as in a great variety of other fields.

This picture showed Averell Harriman, the Democratic party's candidate for governor of New York State, intently studying his Republican rival, Senator Irving M. Ives, as the latter delivered one of his campaign speeches. Harriman was watching television.

In the past, candidates were continually replying to speeches and charges which they had not heard. They depended for their information on newspapers or on reports from friends and colleagues. Result—system left much to be desired. Newspaper reports are generally accurate, but few newspapers report everything a candidate says. If the required information was obtained privately, inaccuracies could easily occur unless a shorthand stenographer was employed. Even if a full and accurate shorthand report was obtained, the rival candidates would not be able to determine the manner of delivery and the emphasis on different portions of the address. Obviously, the best preparation for refuting a rival's argument is to have heard that argument oneself and to have watched one's opponent as he advanced his ideas. Yet, even when that was physically possible, few candidates would have dreamed of attending a rival's meeting.

Television has changed all that. Hundreds of candidates in the recent U.S. election must have copied Harriman and sat with their eyes glued on their opponents' images on the television screen.

Those who fully appreciate the opportunity which television has provided should be able to improve vastly his technique in offering rebuttal of his rival's arguments.

JAILED FOR A KIND HEART

The chivalry of Morris W. Balken of Van Nuys, Calif., landed him in jail.

The Associated Press regarded the incident as humorous and sent the item over its wires as a "news-worthy" one.

If it is true that all humor is essentially cruel, as it is sometimes argued, then the story certainly qualified as humor, for it was a striking example of a commonplace cruelty.

Balken saw a 19-year-old girl burst into tears when she was told she would have to go to jail for three days because she could not pay a $15 fine for speeding.

Balkerr held her fine.

Then his own case was called. He had failed to signal a turn and had been driving without a license. He was given a choice of paying a fine or going to jail for seven days. Because he did not have $35 he went to jail.

In courts throughout the United States, Canada and other countries, people are constantly being let away to jail because they lack sufficient money to pay their fines.

The fact that their pocketbooks are empty does not make their crimes against society any more serious. Almost everybody would concede that fact. If there be any who would dispute it, then Balken's case provides a more than adequate answer. Perhaps, if he had not paid the weeping girl's fine, he would have had enough money to pay his own. So it may very well be that the reason he will spend seven days in jail is not because he broke two traffic regulations, but because he had a kind heart.

It is said all men are equal before the law. They are not—and they never can be. It is obvious, of course, that when one man goes to jail and another man is fined for identical offences, they are not being treated equally. Even if both men paid identical fines, the punishment might not be identical. For one man it might involve a considerable sacrifice, for another none. Even if both men were fined the same amount, might not be equal. For one, jail might be a heavy penalty, for another, a welcome temporary shelter.

Yet existing law in personal liberty would appear to be a closer approach to equal treatment than levying a fine. The allotted span of life and the desire for freedom of two men are more likely to be similar than are the sizes of their bank accounts.

As a deterrent for a variety of misdemeanors, short jail terms would appear to be more effective than fines. Where offences are trivial, the period of incarceration might be short—an evening, perhaps, or a night in jail. Losing an evening out would be equally distasteful to a millionaire and a man possessing little of this world's goods.

The Ottawa Journal in a learned treatise on the decline in revenues of the Ottawa Transportation Commission places much of the blame on the increasing use of private automobiles.

No mention was made of the calibre of ride currently being supplied on the Spark Street trams or on the midnight car service to and from Hull.

REFRESHER COURSE

Time was I used to know them,
Where they lived and what they did.
To the children I could show
them
And the places where they hid.
But I've been so long without them
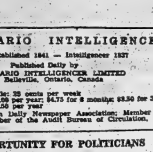
I thought fairies were no more.
Now I have to learn about them
For a little girl of four.



I've not seen one in the garden
For so many, many years,
I shall have to beg for pardon
If one suddenly appears.

Of a new queen, tulip dwelling,
I have never met before,
I must very soon be telling
To a little girl of four.

To the children I could name
them
Back in nineteen hundred nine,
And could confidently claim
them
As devoted friends of mine.
But I've been a wayward rover,
Out of touch with fairy lore,
Now I'll have to learn it over
For a little girl of four.

Albertans Get Refunds

(Calgary Herald)

The indefatigable (and let us hasten to add, consistently unsuccessful) Dominion Bureau of Statistics has kindly provided us with a further proof of Alberta's superiority over other, and less favored, regions. The birth-rate in this 63-year-old dominion-like province, according to the official figures, the highest in canada.

While we are preening ourselves with just pride over this unexpected eclipsement, we may tell you ourselves how it happens.

Has it anything to do with the climate? We can see certain impediments in the way of claiming that the Social Credit government is responsible for the rising birth-rate.

Much more likely, we think, that Albertans, reflecting on differential freight-rates, the iniquities of agreed charges, the cost of the tariff and the other ways in which the East has exacted tribute from the West all these years, have seen in the baby boom the one sure way of getting their money back.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

FOR THE LOVE OF IT

People who devote their lives to the thing that interests them most, and from which they get the greatest satisfaction, to me seem to be living out the most natural of lives.

A friend recently told me the story of a wealthy and extremely successful man who had a great love for the Circus. His love for it was so great that each year—for some fifty years—he arranged with a great circus to be one of its regular clowns during every week of its popular season. And all because he loved it, and was so proud of the opportunity to bring hope and cheer to thousands of children, and grownups as well.

The thing we put our heart into is the most valuable of all the tasks which we perform. I recently read of a railroad man who retired, but so fond had he become of the whistle of the trains, and the atmosphere about the station where he worked, that he built a little home right near it so that he might live out his days in surroundings so familiar and beloved.

I believe the happiest people in this world are those who do the things they most love to do, regardless of whether it is financially profitable, or whether it is popular to do so.

"Grandma" Moses took up painting at the age of seventy-five, not because she wanted to earn money, but because she wanted to do something for which she love it. It is when we do things for this reason that we suddenly learn the full significance of the expression and the spiritual satisfaction it brings.

A friend showed me through his garden recently. It was beautifully arranged, and all the work that went into it he did himself. His selection of trees, flowers, and the landscaping was his own. He could well afford to hire others to do it, but he spent all his odd time doing it all himself—for the love of it.

Journey to West Coast

By G. A. MORTON
(Managing Editor)

Like so many other things, a bridge has to be seen to be appreciated especially one the size of the Golden Gate. Seen from a distance it appears to be a beautiful, delicate looking structure that a good wind could blow over.

But up close, one is impressed with the huge weight of the thousands of tons of steel and concrete, the massive steel towers hundreds of feet high and the splendid roadbed sufficient to carry six lanes of traffic. The bridge stretches over the Golden Gate channel which is about two miles wide and very deep with a current running ten or more miles per hour.

As mentioned earlier, San Francisco is on the north end of a narrow peninsula which extends forty miles up the coast and this encloses San Francisco Bay into which empties the Sacramento River as a result of respectable size. The only outlet for all this water is the Golden Gate channel and it is through this opening that all shipping must pass as well. The city has ever bridges connecting it with Oakland on the east which with its approaches is over eight miles long. The first was finished in 1937 the same year as the G.G. bridge. Their total cost was $130,000,000 and that was when a buck could buy a lot more than it does now.

The G.G. bridge is the suspension type—by far the world's longest span of over 4,200 feet.

GREAT BRIDGE DESIGNER

Because many years ago experts and engineers said no bridge could ever be built over the Golden Gate the chasm because of the great depth of the water and the current. Joseph B. Strauss, the renowned bridge designer, was employed and made an extensive study of the problem and after a year said he could construct one. Experts said he did not live long after the work was completed and he died a few years later. A statue of him is to be seen at the south entrance. Prior to the building of the bridge the two cities must have been served by ferries.

Another tour that took nearly all day was to Stanford University which is situated a few miles south of San Francisco on the peninsula. Here is the finest campus I have yet to carry six of us. It was fortunate we did go by car otherwise we would have missed the beautiful residential section known as Hillsborough for sightseeing buses are not allowed in this exclusive section.

At one time the land on which Hillsborough is now owned was owned by a Mrs. Caroland, said our guide, and when she died left each man family so, of course, did not have to worry about where the next meal was coming from. Prior to the San Francisco World's Fair in 1915 she bought an 800-acre estate and built a 56-room mansion so that would entertain in royal splendor the celebrities in the proper manner.

The plan and work well for one reason or another so she and her husband left and never returned. It wards off the spend much time there. It is said she did not live to the mansion more than two or three days after it was completed. Since then the building has fallen into disuse at times and owns it now we did not learn, but weeds and unkempt lawns are not in the picture. Some steps, statuary is lying on the ground and the building is greatly in need of painting and repairs.

HIGH CLASS HOMES

The land is said now to be developed into a residential district and from what we saw a beautiful job has been done of transforming the hills into a suburb of deluxe, high class homes. Not a shack to knock your eye out. We would judge that prior to the $9,000 to $50,000 class and the odd one even more. Most of them shared the characteristics that what we were noting — brick houses are the predominant type. Each lot but nearly every one of these houses had some well or chimney of brick construction which was taken from an old building. It's interesting to note the irregularity of appearance which was attractive against so much white stucco. Another thing is the use of cement block. There was one house which was built of this block in coral and it looked better than you might expect. Quite a number had interesting posts in the back gardens. There were streets and streets of such homes, and no two alike.

Coming back to the old mansion we were told that the present owner wanted to give the house to an orphan girls' school but the Hillsborough officials turned the proposal down because it would be a commercial venture. So there the house stands by itself overlooking a great piece of country, but what will become of it is not yet known. We would expect it will be torn down and a house more in keeping with the surroundings will be built to take its place.

During the drive south many sections of the highway are lined with large eucalyptus trees. The air is pungent and refreshing with the pungent odor characteristic of these trees. A medicine is made from the leaves that is used in cold remedies. Instead of shedding its leaves, it sheds the bark in long thin curls. This gives the tree rather an untidy appearance. Eucalyptus honey keeps ground underneath that way. It grows quickly and is a popular tree for shade all around San Francisco.

LARGE STUDENT BODY

Stanford University at Palo Alto, with a student body of around 7,000, has a handsome set of buildings of Spanish architecture. In the centre front of the Senator Leland Stanford and Mrs. Stanford, who acquired great wealth through railroad and mining and was reputed to be the richest man in California at one time. Mrs. Stanford is said to be the driving force behind the project and it was her husband's money that financed it. She endowed the university with over $20,000,000 and it was most of the buildings as well. The university was founded by the benefactor as a memorial to their only son who died before he was able to enter college.

The university owns nearly 9,000 acres of land.

We were invited to visit the Memorial Church which was built and dedicated to the husband by his wife after his death in 1893. The church is a large building dominated by a huge dome. Above the front wall is decorated with the famous "Last Supper." On closer inspection we found that the whole wall was a glass mosaic and that the picture is larger than a half inch. It was all done by hand, brought over from Italy as was the tile.

During the earthquake in April of 1906 the dome crashed to the ground knocking out the entire front wall, but leaving all the stained glass windows intact in the other three walls. However, they soon rebuilt exactly as it was originally. Inside the windows glow in all their loveliness and never have we seen their equal. The coloring and grace of the figures depicted is beautiful in their portraiture. The expressions, on the faces of the children particularly, are as real as any painted on the finest canvas. It is with great regret that we finally left this beautiful sanctuary. We could have remained for a different religious faith conduct the day's services in the church.

We also visited Hoover Tower, a 285-foot landmark which houses the Hoover War Library on Library on War, Revolution and Peace, a re-gathering place for Stanford alumnus and trustee. An elevator takes the visitor to the observation floor where one gets a fine view of the campus and surrounding country.

That day we had luncheon at Rickey's Town House at Palo Alto, noted for its American cuisine. There was a bewildering selection of food as usual in such restaurants and as usual we over-did it. That is one place where a strong mind is necessary.

Carry On, Paramecia!

(Winnipeg Tribune)

A biologist at Temple University in Philadelphia has announced that life on earth would probably continue even if atomic radiation killed off all the human beings on the globe.

Professor Ralph Wichterman bases this encouraging conclusion on the fact that the paramecium, a creature at least 850 times as lethal as a man-killing dose to every human being, survived the bombing. These little creatures do not even get sunburned by radiation. That causes human beings to disappear in a wisp of pink smoke.

So even if we men succeed in wiping out human life from this planet, paramecia will keep on stiff upper lip and carry on. Moreover, it should give the planet a chance to get a breathing spell while another human race is being evolved.

Intangibles Come First

(San Pedro, Calif., News-Pilot)

Andreas Panufnik, expatriate Polish composer, is conducting a writing from London in the New York Times, says:

"If I had any doubts about the rightness of my decision to leave my country, these doubts vanished when I reached the West and felt the free atmosphere and saw the well-being of the people."

Note the sequence here: He (first in importance) felt the free atmosphere and (secondly) saw the well-being of the people."

The free atmosphere is an intangible, spiritual thing from which comes the tangible, material well-being."

As Jesus told us, "seek ye first the kingdom of God, and His righteousness (spiritual); and all these things (material) shall be added unto you."

The spiritual truth which the materialistic collectivists have yet to discern.

Personal Health Talks

By DR. WM. BRADY

DON'T MAKE A FEDERAL CASE OF IT

A pile or hemorrhoid is a dilated (varicose) vein of the margin of or just within the rectal orifice. When inflamed (and are extremely painful) it is called an "attack" of piles.

It is as childish to hope that any medicine one can take or apply locally can cure varicose vein in the leg as it is to hope such medicines or medicost can cure piles.

A person who has an attack of piles is at least as likely as anyone else to have repeated attacks after radical operation, injection, treatment, or spontaneous cure. You see there are scores of little veins just within and around the rectal orifice, and any one of them may become dilated (varicosed) and inflamed, if the cause or causes which brought on the trouble remain uncorrected.

Correcting the location of piles—that's a proper subject to discuss in a health column, I hope—but, perhaps, but it is difficult to do so in a quarter or a half of a column.

Most victims of piles and the many doctors they consult think the only cure is radical surgery.

I thought so, too, and I acted in this column years ago. But fortunately, for thousands of readers, I learned better, from a New Jersey physician whom I first heard at a chautauqua when readers in that area assured me he had cured their piles by painless injection treatment administered in his office, without detaining them from their everyday activities for more than a few minutes at each seance. Later I had to admit they were right. I made my apologies to the doctor and thereafter recommended him to many readers who sought such treatment.

Per persons who have undergone the standard nineteenth-century clamp and cautery operation or radical excision will deny that it is a harrowing experience.

Ambulant office injection treatment is not applicable for external piles.

Readers of the merchant who lures you by telling you he cures piles without operation or with the method recommended by a well-known health columnist.

Among the track repair gangs working on a railroad there is always one person whose only duty is to watch for approaching trains. Whenever the lookout sights that a train is approaching, blows a whistle. The men know that at the blowing of this whistle they are not only to get off the track on which they are working but to get off all tracks. While they are watching one train pass by, another may speed down upon them from the opposite direction. The whistle says, "Get off the track completely and stay off until the way is clear."

The railroads learned that it is good guiness as well as humaneness to employ a man in every work gang whose sole duty is to look out for approaching trains.

We need men like that in the nation's capital and in the state capitals. We need them in every business to warn the enterprises of dangers in the trade and politics. The testimony of the Word of God is that the wages of sin is death.

It is significant that the railroads take no chances in the face of danger. Watchmen must be always on the tracks and stand by. And those who would warn men must be always on hand to warn men not to take chances with any unnecessary dangers.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

In Boston there are many apartment houses on which you will see tell-tale mirrors. These are like rather large rear-view mirrors such as motor cars wear, and they are set outside the apartment windows so that the ladies of Boston, especially the elderly ones, can sit at their windows and see both ways, up and down the street.

The first tell-tale mirrors, I am told, were small ones set at upstairs windows, so you could sit at your front window at your front or back door without having to come outside that way. If a new-comer body you did not want to be bothered with, you did not need to answer your door. When Boston went in for bay windows even in apartments, the tell-tale mirrors had a two-way vision up and down the street and to a considerable distance on the size of the mirrors, and it turned out to be a very popular installation. Some discreet curtained windows in the living room permit a lady to see what is going on on the neighbors. But a bay window is too revealing for those who want to see without being seen, and who would be disturbed to discover a neighbor doing any peeping herself. Hence the telltale mirror.

Visiting one of the Boston ladies, I enquired if radio and television had not more or less usurped the function of her mirror, since she had both wireless machines in the living room.

"No!" she replied. "I find the goings-on in my own street, here and among the neighbors, far more entertaining than the TV and radio. Much of what they present is frankly fiction, and isn't half as enthralling as the real life around me. And what is not fiction but fact on TV, has been edited for tiresome and confusing to a person of my age. It is true they give us glimpses of Mr. Mendes-France or Mr. Eden—if understand it is always known which one, they should surely have made him duke at birth—but the average gentlemen seem so bewildered. It is not comforting. I find it more fun to see in my street that the grocery van is carrying in a huge new stock of potatoes, for instance, so I know that young Mr. Wilks, the son, is coming with his wife for the week-end from New York. Or, from the laundry man, I can tell that Mr. Johnson across the street must be up and about now, after his long illness. For the hausfrau to warn them not to take chances with any unnecessary dangers.

Proposes New System of Voting For Controllers

WINDSOR (CP) — Controller Hugh Simpson Wednesday proposed a "primary" system of voting at all of control elections here.

Under this system, used in several western Canadian cities, the voter marks his first, second, third and fourth choices. Points are awarded for each position on the ballot, and the candidate with the greatest number of points is declared elected.

City council has not taken any action on the proposal.

ORDER COURT MARTIAL

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—A general court martial was ordered Wednesday for 2nd Lieut. Charles C. Anderson, charged with humiliating Camp Gordon army trainees, one of whom allegedly was strung up by his heels. Anderson, 24, is a Korean combat veteran with two battle stars.

Sask. Will Not Pay Bounties For Wolf Hides

REGINA (CP)—The Saskatchewan government has decided in the business i props from under some of the Canadian north's sharpest traders—the wolf-runners.

Imaginative Indians of the Northwest Territories who bootlegged dead wolves across the Saskatchewan border to collect bounties are going to have to take their bust ness elsewhere, effective Dec. 1.

That's the date Saskatchewan stops paying lucrative bounties, by authority of a cabinet order-in-council which states the $10 paid for each skin or carcass is "an ineffectual" method of wolf control.

The province's extensive predator-control p r o g r a m killed off nearly 1,000 timber wolves last year, largely through use of poison baits.

No bounty is paid in the Northwest Territories. Wolf-sly Indians who killed wolves there brought them across the border and collected the Saskatchewan bounty without detection.

Contact Club Enjoys Party

It was Fun Night at the Contact Club, Christ Church, on Monday evening when the members entertained their husbands at a Hallowe'en party in the parish hall. Dignity was shelved for the evening and the guests appeared attired in some of the most weird used finery seen in these parts for many moons. President Florence Lennox, wearing a chic hat made from a roll basket, welcomed the husbands and another guest, who included Archdeacon the Venerable J. S. Creeghton and Mrs. Creeghton and a couple of newcomers to the parish, Mr. and Mrs. Alan Lasby.

The program was under the direction of the Evening Hand Dozen. Mmes. Francis Rogers and Freda Patterson kept things moving at a fast pace all evening. After a lively Paul Jones, with Evelyn Wareham at the piano, games followed in quick succession. A climax was reached when Georgina Bennett, Robert Taylor, Lee Lennox and Harry Burkett battled it out in a tongue twisting contest. Prize-winners for the best costumes were Mrs. Lasby and Fred Bellamy. Other winners of contests were King Lake, Robert Taylor and Mrs. Lasby in relay teams.

Under the guidance of Fred Bellamy, community singing was introduced in square dancing.

"The Italian men have charm, but of all the Latin races, "I liked the Spanish best. And I'm not saying that just because you're expected to," she added.

The 5-foot-7 Italian maid That was a different story.

"They got too many pinches to have any fond memories of my visit there. And from complete strangers, too."

Miss Paton, whose home is in Guelph, Ont., added:

"I think I'm through travelling for a while. . . The thing I'd like most is a meal of corn on the cob and blue Canadian grapes."

Willing to Be Movie Star On Own Terms

By RON EVANS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—Wendy Reming-ton is willing to be a movie star—but only on her own terms.

The 20-year-old British actress admits that no one has asked her to be a movie star. But if they do, she's ready with the rules:

1. "I won't pose for cheese-cake."

2. "All statistics, including age, must be in the black measurements are my own business."

3. "I refuse to hire an agent."

EIGHT BIT PARTS

So far, Miss Remington, a brunette with snapping blue eyes, has had bit parts in eight movies, none of which has made the critics or public. Her last was with Alan Ladd in the film "Hell Below."

But she has her sights set on stardom and the determination to get there. Another determination which conquered a crippling bout of poliomyelitis.

Born on a ranch near Heart River—she won't say where—Miss Remington contracted polio while studying ballet, soon after coming to Britain with her parents at age 15. For six months she was in bed. Then through a rigid schedule of exercises, which included kicking a heavy bassock around the living room floor, she overcame the disability. She now walks without trace of a limp.

She diesn't, however, did close her career as a dancer and she turned to acting.

After studying at the London Central School of Speech and Drama she took a walk-on role in "They Made Me a Fugitive," a British film directed by Alberto Cavalcanti.

FIRST SizABLE ROLE

Other small parts followed and her first sizable role was in "Against One Five," a film on the RAF which she played a WRAF aircraft plotter.

"I saw that one 12 times in two weeks" she smiled.

Film acting is a rough life, the 5-foot-seven Canadian says, especially if you are not a star.

"I'm up by 5 a.m. to get into my make-up and on set in time, and I generally don't get home until 8 p.m. and then I'm so tired you don't have a stand-in and that means you wait hours while they measure lighting angles and so on."

Miss Remington works in offices and continues her dramatic studies while waiting for the break that may put her name in lights.

Now in her early 20s, Miss Remington says she'll return to Canada some day—"but not until I prove myself."

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

A SCHOOLING PROBLEM, AND HOW IT MIGHT BE SOLVED

"A few months ago," writes a large girl, "both my parents and two brothers were killed in an accident. Since then, I have lived with a married sister and her two children.

"At times, things have been pretty trying, especially in regard to my schooling. I have only one more year to go, and I would like to finish, but since my sister lives out of the school district, we must pay tuition fees for me to go to high school, and this has caused many quarrels between us. The only way I could go to school without paying would be to live at the Home in our district.

"Because of all this trouble with my sister, I am wondering if it might not be wise for me to marry a boy who has asked me several times. If I did marry, I would not only have his love, but also the means of independent support. As things are, even if I do get to high school, I am afraid that after that I would have no place to turn.

"The trouble about marrying this boy is that I did have a very wonderful time when we went to bed in the Air Force, and while I think I could learn to love him a second boy, I feel that I would never be sure I wasn't still in love with the first one. . . . I was also taught that real love comes only once, and I know I can never love the first boy than I ever cared for anyone. Do you think it would be possible for me to be happy, or, that, if I waited another year, I could really learn to love the second boy?"

This girl need not worry lest she should never love again, but she certainly will, although it may not be the particular boy in which thing of marrying now. And the first thing I want to say is that I hope she will erase this thought of marriage immediately off the list of things she might possibly do at this time. Anyone who marries simply to escape from an unhappy situation is practically certain to be sorry later on, and that goes particularly for girls in their teens. So let's consider that alternative ruled out, and see what others there may be.

Apparently there are two others. The first would be to stay with her sister and try to find the necessary money to attend high school, and the second to go and live at the Home on Pelee Island. Of the two, I feel the better plan is to stay where she is for this one more year, at least, lest if she cannot work out some way of financing the school year without burdening her sister.

I believe that if she were to explain her whole problem to some one of the teachers at school whom she particularly likes, this teacher would take the matter up with the School Board and some way should be found to solve the problem. While rules and regulations have to be made about what school districts will be served by which schools, there is always a way to take care of special cases, and this certainly is a special case. I just don't believe that any members of any School Board anywhere would refuse to relax their rules and regulations where they were working hardship and distress to any one family.

The girl says that if she did finish high school she would like to know where to turn afterward, but I think that those who took sufficient interest in her to arrange for her schooling would help her with this problem, also. Perhaps her high school gives courses in such things as stenography and typewriting which she could take during this last year to prepare herself to earn her living after she graduates next Spring. Or there might be some other way by which she could get ready to earn. She should talk this over with her teacher, and see if she can't get help her plan a little for the future.

Maybe this teenager has heard that old saying: "Where there's a will, there's a way." If she has the will to go ahead with some way to have just suggested, I feel sure her problem will be solved in one way or another.

LITTLE coats and jackets in dark colors seem to be the world's greatest lint-picker-uppers. One effective way to remove that stubborn stuff is to brush with cellophane tape, sticky side out, wrapped around your fingers.

Substitute Skill for Money When You Entertain

By Mary Moore

A smart girl I know used to serve roasted pigs' tails by request during meat rationing days to the board of education—chairman of which was her husband. The house had its best newspaper session in its history. Her chairman-husband claims his wife must be given the credit, for despite meat rationing she still kept their social life afloat and the board of education in well-fed agreement, with her skill.

Probably 99 per cent of this audience has a built-in squeamish resistance to anything as outlandish as a pig's tail.

But, at our house last night nine people thought they were a squealing success.

You might want to pursue this subject of pigs' tails once I'd told you how I did them, and how delicious.

You may remember (for I wrote about it on October 23 here) that the chef at Schneider's of Kitchener, Oscar Radtke and his assistant, Walter Wolf, sold me how they roasted the pigs' tails they served at the International Plowing Match, Award Dinner—except for the subtle blending of the spices.

I managed to have five pounds of pigs' tails delivered to my house—their arrival almost coincided with my sister Doris' birthday—so since my brother-in-law is a pushover for anything novel in the way of food—it all added up to a family party.

Dear me, did I ever have to think. It was hard. I had to draw on my memory of that plowing match dinner, my experience in cooking other pork products, and veiled hints I'd heard on the cuisine of Pennsylvania-Dutch-born cooks.

Our menu was:

Apple Juice
Roasted Pigs' Tails
Red Cinnamon Apples Stewed
Sauerkraut
Macedoine of Frozen Limas and Kernel Corn
Celery, Radishes, Dills, Pickled
Whitemotion Blind Pork
Lemon Meringue Pie Coffee
Cashews

Doris' favorite dessert is Lemon Meringue Pie so instead of a birthday cake with candles we had lemon pie and Marianne provided Pete with a tall candle in a tall holder, while he carried in the pies.

EMEM'S ROASTED PIGS' TAILS

To serve nine people order 3 lbs. pigs' tails—very fresh, Wash and dry. Place in largest size roasting pan that will fit your oven—these should be in one layer but mine were piled in nearly two layers, however, over 1 cup rich chicken gravy diluted with 3 cups boiling water to which you have added 3 tablespoons each vinegar and brown sugar, 1 1/2 teaspoons salt, 1 teaspoon monosodium glutamate, 1-4 teaspoon black pepper, 6 drops garlic juice, 1 each beef gravy cube and 1 tablespoon instead of chicken gravy.

That's all—it was then roasted, uncovered, at 325 deg. Fahr. for 3 hours and I guess I basted and turned them six times in all. By that time (some all of the liquid had cooked off, and the tails were golden brown and little bit lighter and altogether delicious and some of us ate them with our fingers and then passed a huge finger bowl in the best C.P.R. fashion. I repeat myself —it was a squealing success.

Housewives Have Best Chance Of Making Good as Authors

By JIM SHERIDTON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

EDMONTON (CP)—Housewives among Canada's growing clan of aspiring authors have the best chance of making good.

The statement comes from Mrs. Sheila MacKay Russell, attractive 32-year-old author of two successful books and a housewife with a young daughter.

Mrs. Russell says she risks a barrage of pots and pans in putting forward her theory that the housewife to be an author is only a matter of mind over clatter—and of finance.

MENTAL DISCIPLINE

People, she says, don't use their minds to capacity. The mind should be trained to work.

"I just think back now and then and trace your train of thought," says Mrs. Russell. "With practice you will be able to think consciously and bend your mind back to any particular point."

Housewives can think and plan while doing the menial and automatic task of housework "and if they can find time to put their thoughts on paper, fine."

Where housewives have a big advantage over other would-be authors, she added, is in "technic." She feels "really sorry for males trying to support a family on their literary earnings" and housewives get an income through their husbands.

Mrs. Russell's second book "The Living Earth," (Longmans Green) was published recently. Advance sales alone of nearly 10,000 copies promise to make the book a big hit—a bit as her first, "A Lamp Is Heavy," published in 1950.

Both books are what Mrs. Russell calls "fiction based on fact" of her former career in nursing.

HOUSEWIFE AUTHOR

Mrs. Sheila MacKay Russell, 34-year-old author of two successful books, says housewives have the best chance of making good as authors. Her theory is that for a housewife to be an author is only a matter of "mind over clatter," and of finance. She says mental disciplines, in between the two training periods, she had a year's experience in a rural hospital and a year's rest at home because of a tubercular lung.

While resting, she began writing —"something I've wanted to do since I stitched my first crayon."

The first draft of "A Lamp Is Heavy" was produced in 1947 while Mrs. Russell was assistant director of both public health and health education with the Alberta government. The book, a story of a student nurse, has sold more than 11,000 copies in Canada and has been published in England, Holland and Australia.

"The Living Earth" is drawn on Mrs. Russell's experiences in district nursing.

Born at Airdrie, Alta., and raised in Calgary, Mrs. Russell married her lumber salesman husband in 1947. They live "a quiet life" in their charming south Edmonton bungalow with five - month - old daughter Catherine MacKay.

Already Mrs. Russell has started work on a sequel to "A Lamp Is Heavy."

NOT SO EXPERT

NEW DELHI (AP)—India's minister of commerce and industry, T. T. Krishnamachari, once said "two out of four" foreign technicians sent to help India are proving unsatisfactory. He told the Foreign Correspondents Association here that out of every four experts sent "one is very good, one is good and other two we could do as well or better without." Most technicians here are American.

Analyze Your Features

If ears are large, cover the tops with curls and wear drop earrings, such as these sizzling gold ribbon loops.

By HELEN FOLLETT

Beauty specialists seem to have the ability to weigh instantly a woman's good points and those not so good. It is largely the key to their success.

We can cultivate this ability to a remarkable degree by observation, by good comparisons.

IN A TRIPLE MIRROR

Study your facial contour in a triple mirror when you are fresh, back and side views. Bind back your hair, remove make-up. Consider your forehead. Is it high and wide? Wear a swept back hairdo.

What about your eyebrows? If eyes are set close together, extend the brows by using a crayon, a dark brown one, never black.

If your ears are small and shellike, call attention to them by wearing earrings. If ears are a bit too large, cover the tops with side locks, wear drop earrings.

If any feature dominates—and that is sometimes the case with most—that one must predominate as we would have ordered—subordinate it by playing up other good features.

INTERESTING EYES

Make your eyes more interesting by darkening the lashes and giving the eyebrows a graceful arch.

Consider carefully the effect of your coiffure; the wrong one can accent the nose. This happens when the hair is swept back tightly at the sides, combed flat away from the forehead.

Check the beauty aids on your vanity table. Is there a reason for that particular shade of powder? There should be, is that lotion just right for your skin, or did you pick it up casually.

Every cosmetic compounded is for a special purpose, so read labels carefully before buying.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECKMAN

A GIRL WITH THE RIGHT IDEA ABOUT MANNERS

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Thank you for answering in your column the question I sent you concerning my daughter's wedding plans. Now will you please answer another question for us? My daughter received many gifts at a shower given for her, and immediately afterward she sent out thank-you notes. At her place of business a girl thanked her for sending her a thank-you note, but two other girls, to whom my daughter had sent thank-you notes at the same time for the same shower, remained silent although they heard the first girl thanked my daughter for the note. Should they also have thanked my daughter for the note? I myself don't think it is really necessary to thank anyone for sending a thank-you note, but my daughter thinks it is very gracious to do this — Mother of Bride.

I'd like to know that, too, since two of your friends wonderfully refreshing it is to hear about a girl who has such charming manners, who, although she is employed and is busy making the acquaintance of those who have been kind and generous to her, she has a joy in life. I have in your home. . . and with that graceful and appreciative habit, she'll be a joy "to come home to"!!

It was proper and pleasant for the girl to thank your daughter for the thank-you note. But the other two girls—may have been too self-conscious or perhaps even too interested in such gracelessness, to remember that they too should have said something like, "Yes, and I thank you too. You're a dear to write me, and I love your note."

MESSAGES OF SYMPATHY

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

"A" says that only flowers sent by a funeral and letters of condolence should be thanked for. "B" insists that not only flowers and letters should be thanked for, but also all messages of sympathy, of whatever kind. Little notes or cards left at the door, telegrams, sympathy cards, Mass cards, and all offers to help. Who is right?

—Katherine L.

"B" is right, speedily right. Every kind message and thought should be thanked for by a personal note. One or two sentences may be right to express the thanks.

Dear Sara,

Thank you for your kind message of sympathy. Your good words were a comfort to all of us. —Dewitelly.

CONCERNING WEARING BLACK DRESS AT WEDDING

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I'm confused. I used to think that black wasn't suitable to wear to a wedding. What about this? Is it a matter of fact, recently I saw a woman guest wearing black at a wedding—and she cut the bride's cake.

(1) If one helps serve at a wedding, pouring tea or coffee for example, or cutting the cake, is one supposed to dress differently from the other guests?

(1) It is correct to wear white to an evening wedding, with black or navy-blue accessories? — Perplexed.

(1) Today it is entirely correct for a woman guest at a wedding to wear a black dress or suit, so long as she adds a lightening touch to her accessories: a flower hat, for example, or a hat of a harmonizing color; a purse and gloves of a harmonizing color; a bright corsage ornament; necklace earrings of an interesting color to spark the black.

(2) Not necessarily.

(3) This depends on the type of evening wedding it is, and the type of dress the white dress is.

Belleville Man Circumnavigates Continent

HMCS Labrador, the RCN's new Arctic patrol ship, is now well into the second half of a historic voyage which, when completed, will have seen the 6,000-ton vessel completely circumnavigate the North American continent. She made history by being the first warship to smash her way from east to west through the fabled, ice-packed Northwest Passage in Canada's vast Arctic region. Commanded by Capt. O. C. S. Robertson, of Montreal and Halifax, the Labrador left Halifax July 23, and reached Esquimalt, B.C., September 27. She is now returning to Halifax via the Panama Canal, and due at her home port late in November.

BUSINESS INVASION

LONDON (AP)—About 30 British businessmen are going to Communist China for trade talks, the Sino-British trade committee announced Tuesday night. The announcement said the group expects to leave Nov. 10 and spend two weeks in Peiping. A second party will leave early next year in follow-ups to trade discussions held here last June between a Red Chinese mission and the Sino-British trade committee.

Little Benny's Note Book

I was washing my face before breafist and pop was shaving his, and I said, Heck, pop, I wish I could wash my hands and face after breakfist instead of before. It's always chilly when you ferst get up in the morning, but it's warmer after breakfist, so I'd get more pleasure out of washing myself, I said.

That's good sound fillosophy, pop said. We always injoy the werk that gives us the most pleasure, and as a result we do a better job. I've often had the same idea about shaving, he said.

Do you mean you would rather shave after breafist? I said, and pop said, I'd go several steps ferther than that, I'd prefer to shave in the evening, after dinner. That way, I'd never be in a hurry, and I'd have time to massadge my face tenderly before I shaved, and lovingly pat it down with sweet smelling lotion afterwards. In other werds I'd injoy myself so thoroughly that I'd do a more workmanlike job, and look better and feel better, he said.

Well jimminies, pop, that's just the way I feel about washing myself after breakfist, so let's both do it, I said and pop said, We'd have to contend with the force of public opinion, in your case as represented by your mother, and in my case by your mother and certain influential bizness acquaintances.

Which just then ma called, William, if you're really serious about getting to the office erly this morning, all that chattering wont help.

Health Unit Will Not Occupy Town's Building

PICTON.— Town council received a surprise Tuesday night when informed by Deputy Reeve W. Nightingale of Ameliasburg, chairman of the County Health Unit Board, that the Unit will not move its offices to a building on Benson Park which is owned by the town. The cost of upkeep of buildings and grounds, together with necessary repairs, is beyond the financial ability of the Unit, he said. It would cost nearly $3,000 to put the building in condition; and from $150 to $100 a month to maintain, he declared.

The town had asked $75 monthly rental, painting of the building and upkeep of the park grounds by the Unit.

Expressing disappointment, Mayor H. J. McFarland said the building had been left vacant and council has been left out on a limb.

Council voted to ask the Unit to vacate their present premises in the town-owned market square by Dec. 1st.

It is understood that the Unit may purchase the former Kindergarten building for offices.

MAKE OFFICE AVAILABLE

Council will advise the police commission that it will make a police office available at the market square. The present office on Main Street is inadequate and offers no privacy (being located in a hallway in the utilities building), said the mayor.

Council approved a request for erection of a house to be built for occupancy by Provincial Police at a cost of $14,000, and for a supermarket — a cost of $20,000. In future, requests for removal of trees must be made in writing as there has been confusion over verbal promises, council decided.

Discussing police protection, council recommended to the Police Commission that a Chief of Police be engaged as soon as possible. The former chief has been on sick leave some time.

A committee will meet with the principal of the public and high schools to discuss the possibility of certain spc. pupils operating traffic lights at school crossings.

Morris Sandford, Dorland, Honored At Cheese Banquet

PICTON — Morris Sandford, cheesemaker at U.E.L. factory, Dorland, had the highest total score in Quinte Cheesemakers' Factory Improvement competition. He received the H. J. McFarland and Son Gold Trophy, presented at the annual banquet in Picton, Wednesday night.

Donald A. Harvey of Bloomfield won the dairy instructor E. W. Henderson trophy for highest percentage of first grade cheese, with a score of 99.37 out of a possible 100.

Mr. Harvey also won the T. Eaton Co. Trophy for highest average score in cheese with 93.383 out of 100.

A clock given by the Bank of Commerce for best outside factory conditions was won by Bert Jones, Black River.

Harold J. Henderson, maker at the McFarland factory at Royal Street, won the Bank of Montreal Trophy for best condition inside the factory.

Nelson Sarles, Elmbrook won the LeHump trophy for highest score in workmanship, 99.95 points out of 100 possible.

William Drew, Weller's Bay, takes the W. J. Henderson Memorial Trophy for best curing room and cheese on hand.

Trophy winners also divided $25 cash donated by the Bank of Nova Scotia.

Chief judges in the competition were C. E. Lackner, director of dairying for Ontario and J. M. Bain, chief instructor for central Ontario.

Wednesday night's banquet at the Royal Hotel was an early sell-out with more than 200 present.

In addition to presentation of trophies and many prizes, a fine program of entertainment by Toronto artists was given, courtesy H. J. McFarland. Guest speaker was J. A. Carroll, assistant Deputy Minister of Agriculture for Ontario, who was introduced by agricultural representative D. A. Taylor and thanked by Phil Dodds.

J. M. Bain acted as chairman. Mayor H. J. McFarland extended the town's welcome. Don Harvey presented gifts to Mr. Carroll, Mr. Bain and Mr. Lackner, while instructor and Mrs. Henderson also received gifts. Donors of trophies made presentations, awards being announced by instructor Henderson.

County Assessor Will Be Named By Council

PICTON—Prince Edward county Council has endorsed the adoption of the County Assessor system in a resolution presented by Reeve James Clemiaxon, Wellington, and Deputy Reev. W. Nightingale, Ameliasburg at the fall session. A by-law to appoint a county assessor will be presented at the December session, and if approval is received, applications for the position will be sought. Any appointment would be made at the first session of 1955 council.

Council was told that thirty other counties in Ontario have such assessors.

A suggestion that three representatives from different sections of the County meet to attempt to equation assessments in the different municipalities was defeated.

Reeve Clemiaxon felt a county assessor system would mean a more uniform assessment valuation throughout the county. Difference in methods used in valuation of land by assessors has been debated throughout the year.

Kingston TV Station Will Be Ready Nov. 27

Kingston's brand new telecasting station, operated by the Frontenac Broadcasting Company, hopes to be on the air with a test pattern by November 15, according to Jim McNamee of the Booth Radio and Television Ltd. here.

The station's programs will come in on Channel 11 and Class "A" signals will be received in the Belleville and Trenton area. The 400-foot stack antenna of the station is located at Camden East and is directed east and west.

The transmission output will be 257,000 watts approximately two and one-half times the power of the Rochester and Syracuse stations.

McNamee said that if all goes well the new station will telecast the Grey Cup football game scheduled for November 27 in Toronto.

Bob Cobb is the chief engineer for the new station.

Commission Sets Damage By Hurricane at $24,643,580

TORONTO (CP) — The extent of damage done by hurricane Hazel in its swath through Ontario Oct. 15-16 was set at $24,643,580 by the commission on damages which issued its report Wednesday.

In the breakdown of the damage figure, the commission, jointly appointed by the provincial and federal governments, listed physical damage at $17,689,280; cost of fighting the flood and clearing debris, $607,300; cost of emergency relief including continuing provision for widows and children, $838,500; cost of emergency precautions to guard against a recurrence, $5,500,000.

With regard to the latter item, the commission recommended that all land lying below the flood contour line in the Humber valley be expropriated for public authority and that many of the buildings remaining in the area be moved to higher ground.

"Those which cannot, should be demolished," it said.

It was also recommended that the Humber river bed be cleared and straightened and that several small and obsolete bridges be replaced.

"The same approach is recommended for the valley of the Etobicoke. The area surrounding the mouth of the creek should obviously be expropriated at once. On the other four streams—the Don, Rouge and Credit rivers and Mimico creek — an authority should be set up with powers at least to prevent future house building on dangerous grounds."

The commission told Premier Frost a different problem existed at Holland Landing where 600 homes and a large number of sheds and storage buildings sitting on the marsh floor are protected from surrounding rivers by only a low mud dike.

"The low dike surrounding the area, some 17 miles long, is just wide enough for a double line of traffic," the report said. "Your commission recommends that work be started at once raising this dike, possibly by 18 inches, and widening it to an extent that will permit the moving of these houses onto the crest of the dike and out of the danger zone.

"With modern equipment and some engineering energy, this dike work could be carried out in about 60 days at an approximate cost of $500,000. Any money on top of this, which may be offered as assistance to rehabilitate the houses which can be moved, should be spent only when they are moved.

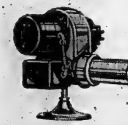
"The Dutch, population historically have always lived behind their dikes. This prejudice may be difficult to overcome but in the public interest, it should be."

While a set figure has been given for the total cort resulting from the hurricane, it was emphasized no report can adequately estimate all the damage which includes such factors as soil erosion, loss of land productivity, wind damage. In addition, relief work still is going on.

Discussing the future cost of provision for widows and children, the report said the Hurricane Flood Relief Fund has just set up a committee to appraise this situation and it will be some time before this answer is available. The commissioners said they included the arbitrary figure of $500,000 as representing "the best guess at the moment."

The commission reported it was advised by the provincial department of planning and development regarding conservation studies now proceeding on watr courses in the greater Toronto area and on proposed dams to regulate the flow of the Humber to cost some $12,000,000.

It termed as "quite unsound" any attempt to impound the flood flow, "since it carries the implication people are still going to live on the flood plain of the river.



"In brief, don't try to hold back the flood water," it said. "Give it a clear run to the lake and get out of its path."

'TWAS CLOSE RACE FOR INDIVIDUALS IN U.S. ELECTIONS

Leader of the ruling party in the U.S., but occupying no official position, is Adlai Stevenson, Democratic party chief. When the final election results were tabulated his party had a majority in Congress.

Strom Thurmond of South Carolina made election history when elected as senator. He was not nominated as Democrat candidate, but enough voters scratched out the party's nominee and inserted his name to give him a senate seat. It was the first time a write-in candidate has ever been elected.

James Roosevelt was successful in his candidature for a congressional seat in California. He is the eldest son of the late president.

The magic of the Roosevelt name, failed to elect Franklin Roosevelt Jr., in his bid for post of attorney-general of New York. He was deeply disappointed at his failure.

Averell Harriman emerged as winner of the closely contested race for governor of New York. His victory over Ives is significant in that Ives was supported by Governor Dewey. — Central Press Canadian.

Average German Is Well And Neatly Dressed

Editor's Note: This story is one of a series giving the impressions gained by a Canadian reporter during a two-week tour of West Germany.

By W. R. WHEATLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

A smart promoter for lipstick might do a rich business in West Germany.

Use of lipstick appears only now to be catching on slowly there.

The number of buxom lassies and older women especially—who wear no makeup is remarkable. Those who use lipstick do so sparingly.

In proportion, more women seemed to be lipstick users in Berlin than in other cities, and more lipstick is worn in hotels and restaurants, particularly by evening diners, than in the streets.

NEATLY DRESSED

The average German is well and neatly dressed. Styles and cut of men's and women's clothes lack the sharpness and extra touches we know, but these differences may easily go unnoticed. The German leans toward the more sombre colors.

Shoes aren't up to Canadian standards. Even the most expensive lack smartness.

A Canadian woman living in Germany said she often notices German women looking at her shoes; "they can spot the difference in a flash."

The average German family must budget closely. I was told the average wage is 300 to 500 marks a month—about $75 to $125 in Canadian money, though this is not an index of the mark's purchasing power in terms of commodities. In terms of Canadian funds, many articles and staples are cheaper in Germany.

A married office worker in a government department said his salary is 417 marks a month and his income tax is 31 marks.

The taxes include a special tax to pay for restoration of war-damaged churches and a Berlin emergency tax to aid the divided and isolated former Reich capital. A turnover tax of four per cent, corresponding to our sales tax, is levied on both retailers and manufacturers.

There are also many other taxes —inheritance tax, property tax, commercial capital tax, land tax, corporation tax, commercial yields tax, etc.

A government pamphlet admits the large number of tax types is tough on business.

"A business enterprise with a capital of 1,000,000 marks and a turnover of 3,000,000 marks, even though it shows no profit, has to pay 80,000 marks turnover tax, 55,000 marks property tax and 61,800 marks profits tax levied on property tax—a total of 196,800 marks funds, many articles and staples are cheaper in Germany.

"A business enterprise with a capital of 1,000,000 marks and a turnover of 3,000,000 marks, even though it shows no profit, has to pay 80,000 marks turnover tax, 55,000 marks property tax and 61,800 marks profits tax levied on property tax—a total of 196,800 marks funds, many articles and staples are cheaper in Germany.

A married office worker in a government department said his salary is 417 marks a month and his income tax is 31 marks.

The taxes include a special tax to pay for restoration of war-damaged churches and a Berlin emergency tax to aid the divided and isolated former Reich capital. A turnover tax of four per cent, 20 per cent in favor of inland revenue.

"Only where profits exceed this rate of 20 per cent will there be something left for the corporation and its shareholders. This balance is then subjected to the normal capital yields tax."

The pamphlet says a total profit of 360,000 marks, in the case mentioned, would leave 54,500 marks for the corporation, making the actual tax burden 85 per cent.

Eisenhower and Stevenson May Be Rematched in 1956 For Presidency of U.S.

By ROGER D. GREENE

WASHINGTON (AP) — The outcome of Tuesday's elections contested elections served to whet interest today in a possible rematch between Dwight D. Eisenhower and Adlai E. Stevenson in the 1956 presidential race.

The prospect was emphasized by the fact that the mid-term ballot catapulted only a few hundred new personalities into the spotlight as potential entries in the '56 sweepstakes.

As returns rolled in, President Eisenhower told his press conference that as far as he could see, the elections would have no effect one way or another on whether he will seek a second term in 1956.

All the same, he would say was that there is plenty of time for a decision. At Lawrence, Ill., Stevenson hailed the outcome as "a portent of things to come" — an obvious allusion to 1956 — but with a twinkle he added quickly that it had "nothing whatever to do with whether I'll run again for the presidency."

In some respects, the results appeared to enhance Stevenson's chances of winning the Democratic ticket two years hence. The party's 1952 standard bearer campaigned strenuously in a drive to put Democrats back in control of Congress and carried the fight of the fight on the national level.

MIGHT BE DRAWBACK

In another sense, however, the Democratic upsurge could make it harder for Stevenson. Democratic hopefuls may now figure the party's chances for a presidential victory in 1956 are bright enough that could touch off a free-for-all struggle for the nomination.

Among the new faces to thrust into the national spotlight were 36-year-old George D. Lawder, who won the governorship of Pennsylvania by 160,000 votes over 16 years Republican rule, and Michigan's newly-elected Democratic Senator Patrick V. McNamara.

McNamara unseated Republican Senator Homer Ferguson, a key adviser to the Eisenhower administration.

Meanwhile, Michigan's 43-year-old Governor G. Mennen (Soapy) Williams, their top vote millioner, gained in prestige by winning a landslide victory for re-election. A Democrat, Williams was in his second term in the governor's mansion—the first time this has come to pass in Michigan's history.

In New York Averell Harriman, 62, broke a 12-year Republican reign by defeating Republican Senator Irving Ives for the governorship.

Two Reprimanded For Tardiness In Peress Case

WASHINGTON (AP)—The army has told Reserve Joseph McCarthy (Rep. Wis.) it officially reprimanded two officers for delay in handling the case of Dr. Irving R. Peress, who was promoted to major and given an honorable discharge.

But, said army secretary Robert Stevens in a letter to McCarthy replying to a new series of questions by the senator about the case of the man called a "fifth amendment Communist," the army has taken no action to discipline any high officers. They were only carrying out provisions of a congressional law and regulations, he said. In the army's opinion "no acts performed by them interfested the slightest indication of Communist sympathies or any other dereliction of duty."

Stevens said the three were Maj.-Gen. William E. Bergin, the adjutant-general; Brig.-Gen. Ralph Zwicker, commanding officer at Camp Kilmer, N. J., when Peress was stationed there, and Maj. John J. McManus.

The two officers given administrative reprimands were not named by the army.

Stevens, in response to McCarthy's questions, said the discharge papers were signed by McManus, and not by Zwicker, and that the promotion from captain to major was signed by Bergin.

Stevens said Bergin merely was carrying out a new provision of law passed by Congress. He said McManus signed the discharge papers for Peress "as a purely ministerial act which he was performing several hundred times a day."

McCarthy charged a Peress should have been dishonorably discharged.

GETS STIFF TERM

HAMILTON (CP) — John Ross Markham, 43, of Hamilton, was convicted Wednesday of manslaughter in the death May 16 of 22-year-old Martha Wolzar after what police said he was arranging to bring about an abortion. He was sentenced to four years in penitentiary.

Union Officers Agree to Vote By Secret Ballot

TORONTO (CP) — A provincial government probe into the settlement of a contract dispute between Massey-Harris-Ferguson and Local 439, United Automobile Workers of America (CIO-CCL), will be voted on in a secret ballot of the local's 2,600 members.

Officers of the local agreed Wednesday to the ballot, during a meeting with labor department officials. The proposal has been accepted in advance by the company, whose Toronto plant has been struck for eight weeks by a strike of the local.

TIMES NOT SET

Union officers did not say how they would urge members to vote. Time and place have not been decided.

Each recommendation, it says, is still under consideration, they said.

The local's last secret ballot was taken Sept. 8 and 9 when it favored striking, but the margin in vote of hands has turned down company settlement proposals and set the strike date.

About 20 strikers hired a private research firm to poll members of the local on the subject of a secret ballot. First results showed 51 per cent of the workers in favor of a secret ballot on acceptance of the settlement terms offered.

A spokesman for the group said the earlier vote was "just a farce" that some members of the union voted more than once to show it was not unanimously opposed.

DEFIED DIRECTOR

The local by going on strike defied Canadian Conciliation Service recommendation that it accept a settlement proposal which would have extended the present contract, virtually without change, until spring.

Original demand of the union was a 15-cent-an-hour increase for all workers. Membership recently turned down by a show of hands a company proposal that would have brought a five-cent increase to a small group.

Guilty of Assault

CHATHAM, Ont. (CP) — A Supreme Court jury Wednesday found Victor Stanley Crandell, Dresden carpenter, guilty of common assault against his son Edward, 12. He was tried on a charge of attempted murder.

Sentencing is set for today.

Edward struck his father in the face in a domestic quarrel Sept. 19. The elder Stanley later loaded a gun and aimed it at his son. A shot went into the wall when Edward knocked the weapon aside. Crandell then fired a shotgun blast at the wreckage after a smashup near this community. 30 miles north of Stratford.

Second Attempt On Man's Life In Four Years

VANCOUVER (CP)—Shot in a gangland fray early Wednesday in Vancouver's heavily - timbered Stanley Park, ex-convict William Semenick 12 hours later looked as though he would survive what police described as the second attempt on his life in four years. Semenick, with a bullet wound in the left groin, was in good condition under guard in hospital but complained that pain suffered with a heart condition created a "potentially dangerous" situation.

It was the second similar shooting in Vancouver within two months. Last September Danny Brent, 25, died after a gang clash here, was slain after being driven to a suburban golf course. No arrests have been made in the case, which police said arose from narcotics gang rivalry.

Brent and Semenick were reported to have been good friends.

The previous attempt on Semenick's life came, police said, in 1950 shortly after he was sentenced to four years in the British Columbia penitentiary for possession of drugs.

At that time, two shots were fired into the home of the widow of a rented house.

The chance arrival of constable Bill Linden, who mistook the rapid-fire drumming of an automobile engine for the backfire of cars shooting off firecrackers, was credited with saving Semenick's life by scaring off his attackers.

Egyptian Leader To United Nations Dies Suddenly

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP)—Dr. Mahmoud Azmi, leader of the Egyptian delegation to the United Nations, died late Wednesday after completing drafting a Security Council debate on an Israeli complaint against Egypt. He was 65.

Dr. Azmi was speaking for the second time in the resumed debate when he suddenly collapsed. Doctors that Egypt had rightfully seized an Israeli ship as it tried to sail through the Suez Canal.

He took a glass of water and then said forward onto the horse shoe-shaped council table.

First to rush to his aid was Dr. Rafik Asha, a fellow Egyptian who is also a medical practitioner. Assistants carried Dr. Azmi in his chair to a council anteroom where a UN physician awaited them.

At the UN clinic he was given oxygen and the doctor gave him artificial respiration for more than two hours.

A Canadian doctor said later Dr. Azmi had been dead since 4:30 p.m., and his medical staff attributed the cause of death after he suffered a heart attack complicated by diabetes. He never regained consciousness.

After Dr. Azmi collapsed, Henri Hoppenot of France adjourned the meeting indefinitely.

COSTLY TURN

DETROIT (CP) — Police said Wednesday a 19-year-old youth, arrested in a traffic mix-up, caused $10,000 damage to a doctor's office he broke into because he couldn't find any money. They said Donald Ubrug plugged the plumbing in the office and then turned on the taps on. A 14-year-old youth was also arrested in connection with the incident.

CHARGED

Morley McKay (right) Dresden, Ont., restaurant owner, is to be charged under Ontario's anti-discrimination law by an order issued by Labor Minister Daley. The restaurant allegedly refused service to Bromley Armstrong, Toronto negro, Hugh Burnette, Dresden negro, and Ruth Lor, a Chinese-Canadian. Mr. McKay is shown with F. J. Nutland, an official of the labor department. (CP Photo).

Accused Admits In Witness Box Killing Wife

ST. CATHARINES (CP)—Amnistio Tripodi, 32, charged with murder in the strangling of his wife July 27, admitted Wednesday he killed the 27-year-old woman, but didn't know what he was doing.

He made the admission during cross-examination by crown-attorney Lloyd Goodwin.

"Is there any doubt in your mind that you are the person who killed your wife?" Mr. Goodwin asked.

"No," replied Tripodi.

Asked by Mr. Goodwin what happened next, the accused replied: "I don't know what I was doing. I lost my senses."

Tripodi said that his wife, Domenica, told him shortly after she arrived in St. Catharines from Italy that she could not have more children because she had had an abortion in Italy. He hadn't seen his wife in two years.

In reply to a question by defence counsel John Agro of Hamilton, Tripodi said he never intended to kill his wife.

Mrs. Francesca Porpiglia, sister-in-law of Tripodi, to whose home he and his wife went after they arrived in St. Catharines July 27, said that after they had eaten, Tripodi said to his wife, "I'm tired, let's go to sleep." At first the wife objected, but finally she went with him.

Mrs. Porpiglia said Tripodi told her later he was going to give himself up to the police. When Mrs. Porpiglia asked why, he said: "What I had to do is done."

SUTTON (CP)—A search of the Salvation Army camp at nearby Jackson's Point was carried out Wednesday by relatives and friends of 70-year-old Aubrey Carpentier, missing from his home since Oct. 19. Mr. Charpentier was a grounds crew supervisor at the camp. It is thought he may have become lost on an inspection trip after the 15th.

Dept. Experts Will Testify In Murder Case

SIMCOE (CP) — Two experts from the Ontario attorney-general's department are expected to testify today at the murder trial of two Americans charged with a double ax-slaying earlier this year.

The crime laboratory specialists are Dr. Lorne Sharp and Dr. Ward Smith. Both are from Toronto.

The defendants are Jerry Simmons, 47, of Syracuse, N.Y., and Joseph Glen Lotharp, 23, of Detroit. They are charged with the murder of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Beatty. The elderly couple were attacked and fatally injured Feb. 2 at their service station at nearby Renton.

Wednesday, detective Harry Connell of the Detroit police department identified a mantel radio exhibited in court as one he confiscated from a Detroit pawnshop Feb. 8. A Simcoe appliance dealer had sold the radio resembled one sold to the Beattys more than a year before their death.

Henry Little of Detroit, Lotharp's uncle, admitted he pawned a mantel radio for Simmons last February.

The trial began three days ago with an indictment in the death of Beatty. A second indictment in the slaying of Beatty's wife will be used later. Simmons and Lotharp are also charged with robbery with violence.

GETS SIX YEARS

BARRIE (CP)—Delbert Corbeau 55, was sentenced Wednesday to six years in penitentiary on a charge of robbery with violence.

Corbeau originally was charged with attempted murder after Joseph Jauvin was found severely injured last September in a rooming house. Police said Corbeau attacked Jauvin and stole $18.

Sweeping Probe Is Launched Of New York Voting Frauds

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—Attorney-General Nathaniel Goldstein today launched a sweeping state-wide investigation of a report of voting frauds in Tuesday's New York election for governor, as Averell Harriman held a slight margin in apparent victory dipped and bobbed with unofficial recanvasses and other irregularities.

He said the inquiry would be concentrated in New York City and adjoining Nassau, Suffolk, and Westchester counties, but extended to upstate cities where complaints had been received. He declined to identify the cities.

Goldstein said the elections fraud probe was particularly concerned with "the disposition" of a recorded vote of 18,857 persons whose right to cast a vote was challenged at the polls.

He estimated that about 5,000 of these persons had been refused a ballot at the polls upon failure to prove their qualifications.

Meanwhile, the recanvasses, the Republicans were planning their hopes of ultimate election victory on an anticipated 40,000 absentee ballots not yet counted.

Mr. Wilson was graduated in 1938 from North Carolina State College with a degree in chemical engineering. He joined the Bakelite organization in 1941 and was made sales manager in 1950. In 1953 he was appointed vice president in charge of sales.

RCAF to Hold Training Exercise In Far North

OTTAWA (CP) — A sub-Arctic training exercise for the RCAF's tactical and transport commands and the army's mobile striking force will be held at Fort Churchill, Man., early in December. Some 2,000 men will be involved.

The defence department said Wednesday the exercise "Bulldog Two" has been planned on the assumption that "enemy" forces landed in Canada's central sub-Arctic area. The army and RCAF will be required to launch an airborne assault to reduce the enemy to submission. Operations will be on the main base and Fort Churchill as an advanced base.

All personnel, weapons, equipment and supplies of the assault force will be flown to the area by transport aircraft. The exercise will last about 40 miles from Fort Churchill.

Buganda's King Wrongly Ousted Is Court Ruling

KAMPALA, Uganda (Reuters)—A civil court ruled here today that Britain was wrong is withdrawing recognition of the Kabaka (king) of Buganda a year ago.

Chief Justice J. B. Griffin gave the decision in the Supreme Court in Buganda, this East African territory's biggest province.

The 30-year-old ruler was deposed and exiled Nov. 30 for failing to constitutional duties, official authorities.

Chief Justice Griffin said recognition of the kabaka's authority could have been withdrawn as an act of state only if it had not been done, he said that technically the British government had acted in violation of its agreement with the kabaka.

But Griffin rejected an application for a declaration that the kabaka is the authorized native ruler of Buganda.

It does not appear that the judgment will affect the present status of the kabaka. It is thought likely that appeals will be lodged.

The court ruled that his court could not legally enforce the kabaka's right to recognition as Buganda's ruler. But if the court held such a power, it would mean that the kabaka had been deposed in wrongful manner, he said.

Ontario Hydro, Two Seaway Areas Agree on Relocation And Costs at Private Meeting

TORONTO (CP)—Ontario hydro officials met Wednesday with councillors of two tiny St. Lawrence river communities to talk over compensation principles for 6,500 persons affected by the St. Lawrence seaway power project.

Robert Saunders, chairman of the Ontario hydro-electric power commission, accompanied by first and second vice-presidents George Challies and W. Ross Strike and hydro experts, visited Iroquois and Morrisburg for private meetings.

After the Iroquois meeting it was reported here that both sides approved compensation principles over property to be flooded and relocation of homes, farms, municipal services and factories. No agreements were signed.

Mr. Saunders gave the council details of the compensation-relocation agreement between hydro and Caldwell Linen Mills, the village's only industry. It includes individual settlements for the 14 companyowned dwellings in the village.

Lloyd Davis, reeve of Iroquois, said it still will be necessary to meet with hydro officials and work out details. He was convinced most of the residents would be satisfied with the program planned by the commission.

NEAR REPLACEMENT COST

Although Mr. Saunders told both councils that hydro could not pay full replacement cost, Mr. Davis said figures for the settlements of the company houses were "very close" to what was considered replacement cost in the area.

"If the same principle is used that was applied in these cases we have been assured it will be—I feel a basis of settlement satisfactory to all the way can also have been established," he said.

Hydro has also agreed in broad terms formula as fair market value plus a percentage, higher than the usual 10 per cent, for the "forced" parts of the province.

The Saunders-Strike meeting was less conclusive. Reeve George Beavers reported that Mr. Saunders ducked a direct question on what relocation compensation would be achieved and no direct cost to the people concerned.

A week ago, Morrisburg and Williamsburg planning board turned down hydro's proposal for relocating the area of the town to be flooded.

Choice of Site Has Become Major Problem

OTTAWA (CP)—For two years, the defence department has been "looking over the site" — "where and when" of a new, multi-million-dollar defence headquarters. It is still mulling it over.

In the atomic age, the choice of a site has become a pretty well ruled out because it is felt such dispersal would be time-wasting and inefficient.

This could be taken as a fair indication that the government is opposed generally to wide dispersal of industry.

The amount of time lost through dispersal of industry would be considerable, officials said. "The Russians could sit and watch us ruin ourselves."

Political Pollsters Find Voters Unpredictable Folk

By MEL SUFRIN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK (CP) — Tuesday's mid-term election has underscored something the political pollsters learned the hard way in 1948—the American voter is an unpredictable creature.

The pollsters did not go out on the limb this time as they did when they predicted defeat for Harry Truman two years ago, but right up to the last days of the campaign they were unanimously predicting a swing to the Democrats.

On that they were right. But where most went astray was on the degree. The swing wasn't nearly as great as had been expected.

Possible reasons for the relatively slim Democratic victory in the House of Representatives and the tight race for Senate contests are manifold.

President Eisenhower's participation in the campaign; his appeals for a Republican Congress, may have helped stem the tide in some areas.

Vice-president Richard Nixon's campaign swings in the western states, with emphasis on linking the Democrat party with communism, may also have played a part.

Local issues, sold to play a major part in off-year elections, could have played a less-easy-to-detect part.

The party in power—in this case the Democrats—usually loses ground in mid-term voting. The Democrats lost 28 seats in the House in nine of the last 10 mid-term elections had been in this time the Democrats picked up fewer seats than the average.

The Republicans are taking some solace from the fact that the losses weren't as great as had been predicted. At the same time, the Democrats are hoping their gains will give party leader Adlai Stevenson said, a "portent" of things to come.

Faulty Wording Of Document May End Hearing

OTTAWA (CP)—The tariff board, after two days of hearings, questioned Wednesday whether it has jurisdiction to continue the special-broad tire tax inquiry because of what one member described as the "faulty" wording of a ministerial document.

The document in doubt was the letter written by deputy revenue minister David Sim asking the board to inquire into complaints by standard-brand tire manufacturers that federal tax policy discriminates in favor of competing special-brand producers.

Board members criticized the letter as being too vague and not relating to some specific tax proposition, thus raising the question of whether the board has jurisdiction to continue the inquiry and reach a firm decision.

However, after huddling with board colleagues, chairman Hector McKinnon ruled that the board would assume it has full jurisdiction and continue the inquiry, but that it may conclude after all the evidence is in that it can make a finding on only one company, or that it is unable to find on any at all.

He adjourned the hearings until today to give government officials time to consider what they could possibly to rephrase the letter, relating it to some specific tax transactions.

Unemployment Is Main Issue In York Election

TORONTO (CP) — Four candidates in the Nov. 8 York West federal by-election campaign last night gave their views on the high unemployment situation at a New Toronto election rally.

John R. Hamilton, Progressive Conservative and the Liberal government is so tied to tradition it cannot meet a crisis when it develops.

Bruce Evans, CCF candidate suggested the reason a session of Parliament was not called this fall was that the government feared a renewal of public interest might endanger the Liberal regime.

Labor-Progressive Leslie Norris said labor was the present scarcity of jobs for Canadian workers could be placed on the federal government policy of subservience to American interests.

Liberal candidate Robert M. Campbell said he recognized the existence of unemployment but it was the inevitable by-product of Canada's recent tremendous growth. He saw nothing alarming in the present unemployment figure of 400,000 quoted by other candidates.

Uranium Boom In Manitoba Is Expected

DAUPHIN, Man. (CP)—A frenzied boom in the next five years to see uranium extraction become Manitoba's largest mining operation was made Wednesday at the annual convention of the Manitoba chambers of commerce.

Mark Smerchanski, a geologist who is president of Rio Explorations Ltd., also told a symposium on future development in Manitoba that Canada "definitely" will be using uranium-supplied power.

"I am giving you frank, definite figures," he said. "This will take place . . . and Manitoba is going to have a terrific impact."

DELAY ON CITY HALL

TORONTO (CP)—Board of control Wednesday approved a $31,000,000 capital works program for 1955 and submitted it to metropolitan council. But $10,000,000 item for construction of a new city hall was deferred. The program included $500,000 for local improvements and $2,500,000 for new pavements.

CHURCH SWELLS FUND

OSHAWA (CP) — The Seventh-Day Adventist Church in Canada, through its Dominion executive committee, voted Wednesday to give $1,500 to the Ontario Hurricane Relief Fund. The board also made plans for this year's annual session of the denomination, scheduled for Ottawa next April.

Ontario Tardy In Using Grant For Crippled

TORONTO (CP)—More than 200 handicapped persons had to be turned away from the Society for Crippled Civilians in the last 12 months because of lack of funds, managing director D. E. Parks said here.

Mr. Parks told a board meeting he was disappointed at Ontario's delay in ratifying an agreement with the federal government which would release funds for rehabilitation of crippled civilians in Ontario.

He said a federal grant of $2,200,000 to be spent for this purpose over the next five years across the country carried a proviso calling for dollar-for-dollar contribution on the part of the provinces. So far, he said, nothing has been done in Ontario to take advantage of the federal offer.

Canadian Forces Get Along Well With German People

Editor's Note: This story is one of a series giving a reporter's impressions gained during a two-week tour of West Germany.

By W. R. WHEATLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Canadian forces in West Germany seem to get along well with the German people.

Canadians are located at the RCAF station near the spa city of Baden-Baden in the Black Forest area and at th 1st brigade group's camp just outside the little city of Soest. Both bases are in farming districts.

Pending completion of married quarters at both places, Canadian families have been living with Germans in the nearby towns and getting along famously.

GREETED LIKE RELATIVE

An army officer and I dropped in at a small hotel-restaurant overlooking the Mohne See where he had formerly lived with his wife and child. He was greeted like a relative by the owner and his wife. The husband served with the German army during the war.

"We don't have any serious trouble around here," the officer said. "Sometimes I visit the roadside cafes and other spots where the boys go for beer or to dance with the neighborhood girls. If anyone is getting boisterous I order him back to camp."

On trains and in the cities, small groups of Allied personnel draw no more attention than civilians, although there may be casual glances at those speaking English. The only specific complaint I heard about behaviour was from a waiter in a Karlsruhe cafe.

"The only trouble we have is from French troops and American Negroes," he said, "Some of them have a few drinks, become argumentative and want to start a fight. We get along all right with the others."

MINGLE WITH CROWDS

At Munich, in the American zone in the south, American soldiers mingled freely with German crowds at the October festival—something like the Canadian National Exhibition, Coney Island and a dozen country fairs rolled into one.

Like other Allied personnel, Canadians travel widely when on leave. They not only visit in West Germany but go to France, Holland, Belgium and sometimes Spain.

HEARTY WELCOME FOR ITALIAN TROOPS

Despite a heavy downpour, residents of Trieste crowded the waterfront to welcome Italian troops, mostly members of the famed Bersaglieri, who took over garrison duty in Zone A in accordance with the recent Italo-Yugoslav agreement. Here a Bersaglieri leans from his truck to shake some of the hands offered to him. (Central Press Canadian).

Little Benny's Notebook

Ma started to laff out loud to herself, saying to pop, I got through my shopping sooner than I expected this afternoon, so I dropped in at the Narcissus to see the picture, and I haven't laffed so much in years.

Well, what was the picture about? pop said, and ma said, I dont know, I cant tell you.

Why cant you, for Pete sake? pop said, and ma said, Because I'm no accurate judge. What happened was, 2 fat men were sitting directly in front of me, and they were laffing so it their sides would break, she said.

Yes, go on, pop said, and ma said, Well, you know how it affects people when fat men laff so hartily. Every time they laffed I had to laff from pure simpathy, and so did everybody around me. I was so dizzy laffing that I had no idea what the picture was about. In a way I felt cheated, so at the end of the picture when the fat men left, I decided to wait and at least see the 'beginning' of it over again, to find out. If it was really that funny, she said.

And was it? pop said, and ma said, I dont know, I'm really no judge. Two thin men took the fat men's seats, and my dear you never saw 2 such sour faces in your life. Every time I started to laff, I had the impression that they were turning around to look at me in diskust, until finely I couldn't laff at all, so I dont know to this day whether the picture was funny or not, but those fat men really were amusing, she said.

And she laffed again just at the idea, and so did pop and so did I.

Nesterenko Turns Boos Into Cheers When He Scores Leafs' Tying Goal

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By Geo. H. Carver, Sports Editor

STRAIGHTENING AWAY!

It an early season levelling off process and another indication perhaps of strength equality in the Senior "B" group is the fact that after last night's games four teams are tied for top slot with the remaining three sharing second place, or the cellar. Take your choice.

The Clinton Comets walked into Peterborough and clipped the Petes 4-3 in an overtime battle, while up Whitby way, the ex-Transporters handed the revamped Kingston Goodyears a 7-4 setback. This puts Cornwall, Belleville, Whitby and Clinton in a row with four points, while the Petes, Kingston and Brockville each have a pair.

The Memos take on the Peterborough Petes here tomorrow night and a win over their ancient rivals from the Kawarthas will give the Smith-Boucher crew the top spot, if only for a day.

SO THE MEN SAID!

You don't have to know Chopin, Bach, Rachmaninoff or Brahms in order to play piccolo in Pat Patterson's OHA unsymphonic orchestra of referees.

According to that irrepressible pair of Icelane troublesshooters, Maurice "Moe" Walsh, who gets his mail at Ajax, and Jim Crombie, who says "present" when the Bowmanville roll of native sons is called, the necessary requisites are a diploma from a mind-reading institution, a Marco Polo instinct, a mirror-man-passing recognition of profanity, especially when it is addressed to one's ancestry, utter disregard for past friendships, and the willingness to be introduced to the little woman at least once a week.

"The musical knowledge," this whistle-tooting Damon and Pythias told us in their dressing room Tuesday night "is merely incidental. In these days when a player gets the gate for merely thinking, the whistle is liable to blow itself."

"Add to the requisites," said Moe, striking a dramatic attitude after he was informed the meaning of the word, "the ability to make an after-dinner speech. The season the referee bows are required to go to the dressing rooms prior to a game, call the rannies to attention and murmur apologetically, "Gentlemen, we are required by the gubernatorial powers-that-be of the great parent association that any misdemeanors on your parts, by unnecessary use of the vocal chords; by actions which threaten to cause bodily harm on the persons of the arbiters, or by even thought of such actions; by seemingness on your parts by lethargic and lackadaisical play to unnecessarily prolong the competitive activity; or by physical combat between you and the gentlemen of the opposite forces, will be met with stern judgment. You will be given a brief respite at first. If this does not meet with your approval, the rest will be prolonged. If you insist upon displaying by voice or deed, your dissatisfaction, you will be respectfully requested to deprive the arena of your presence. Who knows, if you feel that you have been wrongly dealt with and manifest such feelings, you may get a two-weeks' all-expense trip to Florida."

Cromble grinned as Moe put the book away, and stagewhispered "What that so-and-so means is 'Lissen youse guys, one peep outta yuh, one finger raised, or one evil thought—and you get the gate'."

Seriously, OHA referees this season have strict orders from the top brass to swell any upstages before they start. Teams are warned beforehand what will happen if the rules of play are not more or less rigidly adhered to. And the boys of the whistle-sweater brigade in this Senior "B" group, at least, have been obeying orders to the letter as the following facts will substantiate. In the first nine games played in the group 134 sentences, including six misdemeanors and three majors, were handed out by officials. This is an average of nearly 15 per game.

FOOTBALL

Coach John Bradley's Belleville Collegiate Junior "A" gridders with the sights set on the COSSA title, meet the first barrier here Saturday when they clash with the Oshawa Collegiate squad. The game is scheduled for Albert College field starting at one o'clock. Bradley's boys form a well balanced squad but they will likely meet a stern test against the Oshawans. It should be a hard-fought inside and grid fans of the city should not miss it.

Gangling Winger Hits Hemp With First Goal of Season To Stalemate Game With Wings

By The Canadian Press

Eric Nesterenko, a gangling youngster who was touted as a future National Hockey League great, burned the boos of thousands into cheers with one shot Wednesday night.

The 21-year-old rightwinger with Toronto Maple Leafs, who is having scoring troubles in the big league this year, registered his first goal of the 1954-55 campaign to give Leafs a 1-1 tie with Detroit Red Wings.

He didn't do it with the flair of a Rocket Richard or a Gordie Howe, but the goal came in the dying minutes when all seemed lost. It was enough to bring 12,780 fans to their feet. A few minutes earlier, Nesterenko was razzed when he looked bad on a couple of plays with veteran centre Ted Kennedy and leftwinger Sid Smith.

It was the only league game of the night. Nesterenko, who broke into the Leafs for one game in the 1951-52 season, beat netminder Terry Sawchuk at 18:38 of the third period. The tying rebound by Tim Horton's rebound into the nets.

Up till then, the second-place Detroiters appeared to have the game wrapped up. Leftwinger Larry Wilson gave them a 1-0 lead at 8:54 of the first period with a long drive during a pileup in front of goaltender Harry Lumley. Alex Delvecchio and Vic Stasiuk were given assists.

ATONES FOR BOOS

The second period was scoreless. Kennedy had to retire from ice after serving a slashing penalty in the final period when Nesterenko made up for the catastrophe. The six-foot-one native of Toronto, who hit the NHL with unnerved accolades, is off to one of the slowest starts of his brief career. He didn't score in the 1951-52 season, got 10 goals in 25 games of the 1952-53 campaign and 16 in 70 games last season.

The deadlock moved the Red Wings to within two points of the leading Montreal Canadiens, who have 15 points on seven victories and a tie. The Leafs remained in fourth spot with eight points, three behind New York Rangers and five behind Detroit.

Tonight, Rangers go against the fast-place Black Hawks at Chicago and the Red Wings play the Bruins at Boston.

The New Yorkers got the good news' Wednesday night on Wally Hergesheimer, 37-year-old rightwinger who broke his left leg last March 11 in Boston. Doctors said his leg has mended and that he can start skating again immediately. They didn't guess how long it might take him to get into shape.

Prices Off In Auction

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — The Keeneland fall sales of thoroughbreds ended Wednesday with prices off considerably from last year.

Wednesday's session saw 85 head bring $84,200, an average of $991. Breeding stock sold this week averaged $3,445 as 338 head sold for $1,371,300. Over-all, 1,018 head brought $2,940,500, compared with last year's total of $3,071,700 for 943 head.

B.C.I. Juniors Hand Trenton 22-5 Setback

By Dick Hurst

The BCI Juniors handed Trenton a 22-5 setback on Monday afternoon on the latter's home field in the final game of the COSSA schedule.

BCI scored early in the 1st quarter when Marsele crossed the goal line on a 15 yard plunge through the line. Ray converted the touchdown and the score was 6-0 for BCI.

In the second period Jones added more punch to BCI's attack as he galloped 30 yards for Belleville's second touchdown. The convert was incomplete.

Early in the 3rd quarter Trenton threatened to score. BCI parraded down the grid-iron with Jones carrying the ball again over the goal line to notch another major. But the convert was blocked making the score 12-0.

Trenton scored its only touchdown in the third quarter when Holmes of Trenton snagged a pass in BCI's end zone. The additional point was incomplete and the score stood BCI 16, Trenton 5.

BCI's last tarke came in the 4th quarter when Ray made a spectacular 50 yard run to score. Ray converted his own touchdown by skirting around the right end over the line.

As the score indicates BCI had too much experience and power, Ray and Jones were outstanding for Belleville while Holmes sparkled the Trenton team.

Mack Family Under Pressure From Three Sides

By Tom Bradshaw

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Individual members of the Mack family were under heavy pressure from three sides today to make up their collective mind about the future of Philadelphia Athletics.

At the risk of sounding repetitious, a decision could be reached today.

Arnold Johnson, the Chicago business man who thought he bought the As for transfer to Kansas City, has been generally lost out to an eight-member Philadelphia syndicate, is reported to have given the family of Connie Mack until noon today to come to an agreement or a parting of the ways.

A re-organized four-man Philadelphia syndicate, meanwhile, was urging the Macks to consider an offer similar to that made by Johnson and even better than the one made by the eight-man Philadelphia group — and turned down by the American League.

And in Chicago, American League president Will Harridge said he had telephoned Roy Mack, the As' executive vice president and boy in the current jam, urging that some sort of decision be reached before the Philadelphia league scheduling. If the As remain in Philadelphia, they will stay an American League club; if they move to Kansas City, Baltimore will become an eastern club with the As taking a western spot.

SYNDICATE REVAMPED

The Philadelphia syndicate, turned down at a league meeting in New York late last month, came back to life in cut down form Wednesday night.

John P. Crisconi, retired Philadelphia automobile dealer, announced that Jerry Lechman, another member of the original eight-man group, had accepted Connie Mack Sr., and his wife Wednesday.

The syndicate spokesman said he and Liebman pulled out cheques totalling $600,000 and offered to buy Connie Mack's share in the As. They also agreed to "buy out or keep" Connie Mack's two sons, Roy and Earle.

Johnson, on the other hand, offered to give Roy a front office job and provide Roy's son, Connie Jr., with a job. He would train him in the big business of baseball. The syndicate hasn't made any open overtures to Roy's son and that may be the big hitch in the whole affair.

Chicoutimi Trims Valleyfield 4-3

VALLEYFIELD, Que. (CP)—Chicoutimi Saguenecns came from behind twice Wednesday night to defeat Valleyfield Braves 4-3 and move into undisputed possession of fourth place in the Quebec Hockey League.

Goals by Rocky Bartlett and Pete Tailleur with less than four minutes remaining in the final period decided the issue.

The other Chicoutimi goal-getters were Georges Roy and Stan Smrke. Counting for Valleyfield were Rhouis Jeannette, Gordie Haworth and Gagnon.

They'll Do It Every Time

By Jimmy Hatlo

Ottawa Mayor Blasts Pro Baseball Club

OTTAWA (CP)—Mayor Charlotte Whitton took bat in hand Wednesday and said that failure of Philadelphia Athletics' International League venture in Ottawa was not due to lack of Sunday baseball in the capital.

"I don't think that club would have played any better on Sunday than they did any other day of the week," the outspoken mayor said of Ottawa Athletics, who folded last in 1954.

"And I say that if I have to give up God or triple A baseball, I'm for giving up triple A."

Miss Whitton said that if Philadelphia had given Ottawa a good, fighting farm team the city would have supported it.

"They gave us a bunch of has-been-football professionals who were paid to do a good job and wouldn't do it."

Four Teams In Y Basketball

Dutchies Hand Maroons 4-1 Defeat As Owen Sound Bows to Indians 4-2

By The Canadian Press

Kitchener - Waterloo Dutchmen appear to be strong contenders for the Allan Cup in the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A this year. They won it two years ago.

They moved to within one point of the league-leading Owen Sound Mercurys Wednesday night, defeating Feathern Maroons 4-1 before 2,500 hometown fans in another game, Stratford Indians defeated Mercurys 4-3 at home.

In the Northern Ontario Hockey Association senior southern group North Bay Trappers defeated Sault Ste. Marie (Ont.) Greyhounds 5-3 at North Bay.

Mercurys, on top of the league with nine points, suffered their second loss. They've played six games. Dutchmen have two games in hand.

Ken Laufman scored two first-period goals for the Dutchmen. Jim Logan and Jack McKenzie added singles. Ernie Dick scored the loss Chatham goal.

Denis Brodeur, purchased Tuesday from Windsor Bulldogs, made an impressive debut in the Dutchmen nets. He made 26 saves compared to 39 by Al Bennett in the Maroons' goal.

But for some wild shooting Indians would have had a wide margin over the defending-champion Mercurys.

Dinny Flanagan scored twice for Indians. Mickey Rodi and Tommy Walker notched a goal each. Bill McComb and Buck Forslund got the Owen Sound goals.

Rene Pepin scored two goals in 23 seconds to win the game for Trappers. Other marksmen were Claude Robert, Don Hogan and Norm Guimond. Ken Watson, Mike Ratchford and Terry Blocchi scored for Greyhounds.

No games are scheduled in the OHA tonight. Friday Kitchener is at Chatham, in NOHA games tonight Greyhounds' meet Pembroke Lumber Kings at Pembroke and Sudbury Wolves play at Sault Ste. Marie (Mich.) Indians.

Valdes Still Top Heavy Contender, Billy Smith Leads Light Heavies

NEW YORK (AP)—Boardwalk Billy Smith of Atlantic City became the No. 1 challenger to light heavyweight champion Archie Moore in the ratings announced in the latest ratings of Ring magazine.

Smith leaped from fifth to first in the 175-pound class by knocking out Harold Johnson who had been leading champion Moore until he was stopped in the late rounds of his title bid. Johnson was dropped to fifth place, just ahead of Floyd Patterson, the fast-rising Olympic grad from Brooklyn.

The heavyweight ranking were revised due to the long illness of Jimmy Slade, Roland LaStarza and Hurricane Tommy Jackson.

Heinz Neuhaus of Germany, who recently defended his European championship, took over Slade's No. 4 spot.

NINO VALDES TENDER

The ranking contender behind heavyweight champ Rocky Marciano still is Nino Valdes, the Cuban Slugger, but Britain's Don Cockell and Ezzard Charles of Cincinnati.

When Johnny Saxton took over the welterweight crown by winning a disputed 15-rounder over Kid Gavilan at Philadelphia, the ratings were revised to make Gavilan the No. 1 challenger in place of the co 'rowery over the verdict. Carmen Basilio, the rugged Canastota, N.Y., left hooker, was dropped to the No. 2 spot although by probably will get first whack at the new champ.

In the lightweight division where champion Paddy Demarco is defending against Jimmy Carter, the former champion, at San Francisco, Nov. 11, the Cuban Orlando Zulueta dropped from second to fourth after his defeat by Richie Howard at Sydney, Friday. Howard, the Canadian champion, now is rated No. 8. Duilio Loi, the Italian who holds the European title, took over Flanagan's old No. 2 ranking.

Teddy (Red Top) Davis spurted from fourth to second in the featherweight class to be behind champion Sandy Saddler and Philadelphia's Percy Bassett.

Kitchener Defeats Sarnia Imperials In Opening Game ORFU Final Series

KITCHENER, Ont. (CP)—Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen, fighting for a berth in the Grey Cup semi-final, squeaked through to a 13-12 overtime victory over Sarnia Imperials Wednesday in the first game of the best-of-three Senior Ontario Rugby Football Union final series. It was close most of the way.

The Dutchmen rolled up a first quarter 12-0 lead on two converted touchdowns but the hard-tackling Imperials tied it up before regulation time and yielded the winning single by Kitchener quarterback Celeri in the first overtime period. Sarnia muffed chances to win shortly before the fourth quarter ended and again in the second overtime period, in each case field goal attempts by Cookie Gilchrist failed.

Second game of the series is scheduled for Sarnia Nov. 11 and the third, if necessary, will be played at Kitchener, Nov. 13 with the winner to meet the Western Interprovincial Football Union champion out west in the cup semi-final Nov. 20.

A 55-yard kick by Celeri, veteran import, decided the issue on the last play of the first overtime period. Jim Lambert was rouged to break the tie.

The Dutchmen, with Celeri playing a standout game, went over the two touchdowns in the first quarter and appeared to be headed for an easy victory but Imperials came back with two field goals and a converted major to send the game into overtime.

Jay Fry went over for the first Kitchener major when he scooped up a fumble by Gilchrist on the Sarnia 12 and romped over. Bill Tonnguine took a pitchout from Celeri on the Sarnia 13 to go over for the other. Both were converted by Paul Amodio, the league's leading scorer.

Gilchrist cut the margin with a 39-yard field goal in the second quarter and added a 25-yard placement in the third. Sarnia marched 37 yards for a touchdown in the fourth quarter with Johnny Checrotecki going over from seven yards out. Jim Lambert kicked the convert to make it 13-12.

Grid Telecast May Be Over

TORONTO (CP)—The Toronto Star said Wednesday the $200,000 television deal between NBC and Canadian football clubs is almost certain to be a one-year proposition.

Next year NBC will probably televise United States college football in place of the Canadian game which was carried this year by the largest U.S. TV network, it says.

Barons Defeat Hershey 4-1; Springfield Wins

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Cleveland Barons are back in the driver's seat of the tight American Hockey League race.

Cleveland defeated Hershey Bears 4-1 Wednesday night and broke a tie with Providence Reds. Both clubs were deadlocked for first place with 11 points each. In the only other game, Springfield Indians nipped Buffalo Bisons 2-1.

Four Barons tallied in each of the three periods with Freddie Glover, right winger, scoring his 10th goal of the season to take over the league scoring race with 17 points.

Springfield tallied two goals in 30 seconds of the second period and made them stand up. The Bisons took a 1-0 lead in the first period on Ken Wharram's goal. The Indians' scores were by Carl Boone and Harry Pidhirny.

In the closing seconds of the game Goalie Tottle of Springfield and Frank Sullivan of Buffalo came to blows. Tottle's stick flew into the crowd, and a spectator picked it up and hit Tottle on the head. He suffered a two-inch cut which required six stitches.

Selke Says Clubs Should Help Hawks

MONTREAL (CP) — Managing director Frank Selke of Montreal Canadiens insisted today that something should be done by National Hockey League clubs to help the last-place Chicago Black Hawks.

With reference to the meeting of NHL club owners in New York next Tuesday, Selke said if the Chicago situation is dealt with he hoped the "others" don't try to bolster the Hawks with "castoffs."

"I am not in favor of that kind of treatment," he said. "It will have to be something better than castoffs if we're going to help Chicago."

Albert College Defeats Port Hope, Qualifies to Enter COSSA 'B' Final

On a wet and muddy field Albert College gridders put a sweep from Port Hope High School to take the COSSA "B" semi-final by a score of 20 to 7.

Port Hope kicked off to Albert and on a series of line smashes and passes moved to the Albert 30 yard line for a touchdown which Dave Conn, Albert marched all the way from their own 70 yard line for a touchdown which was not converted. With Port Hope in possession of the ball two smashes at the line gained nothing, and on the third down the visitors fumbled with Albert recovering. Another march developed and finally Bob McCuaig raced across from the five yard line for Albert's second touchdown which Bob Rupert converted. Play remained around centre field until near the end of the quarter, when on a series of runs around the end by Conn and Rupert and Pete Miller, Jim Hamilton plunged across from the seven yard line for a touchdown which Rupert again converted. Score: Albert College 17, Port Hope 0.

During the second quarter play was within more even limits and Port Hope got away for some nice runs, as did Boyko and Gordon Trowsdell at the end of the half. Miller, McMillan and Donaldson made good gains behind good line blocking by Gormley, Beaton, and Hauganen and got the ball down to the Port Hope 10 yard line from where Hamilton crashed across for his second touchdown of the game. Half time score, Albert College 22, Port Hope 0.

As the second half opened Albert played a wide open game, throwing continual passes in spite of the heavy ball. Gormley made a picture catch of a toss by Rupert, and after a couple of line plays that gained yards, Rupert zipped away a second pass to Gilchrist who was over the goal line for Albert's last scoring play of the game. Hamilton attempting a convert was caught with the ball on — but ran it over the line to score the additional single.

From this point on Port Hope fought hard and on a series of line blocks took the ball across for a touchdown, which Lax converted to make the score, Albert College 28, Port Hope 6.

Albert Now proceeds into the COSSA final which will be held on the Albert College Field on Saturday, November 13. The visiting team will likely be either Notre Dame College High School of Welland, or Beamsville High School, representing the Niagara District of COSSA.

Teams:

Port Hope H.S. — Scully, Dolzko, Mustard, Limick, Loevenmark, Wakely, Lax, Richards, Talle, Boyko, Dermott, Rose, Rutan, Watts, Greenaway, Martin, Roberts, Trotter.

Albert College — Beaton, Boucher, Boylan, Bromley, Budgell, Conn, Dewan, Edwards, Fleck, Gillanders, Gormley, Hauganen, Hamilton, Hoffman, Justus, Miller, Perry, Robertson, Rupert, Walnman, Watson, Bothwell, Donaldson, Gittelson, McMillan, McCuaig.

Officials: referee, Jack McBride, Belleville; Jos. Lyons, Port Hope; Arragh Vampiew, Belleville.

Eskimos Will Favor Split T Against Blue Bombers Sat.

EDMONTON (CP)—Think of Edmonton Eskimos and you think of the split-T.

Eaks introduced the strategy in modern Canadian pro football in 1952, have since dominated the interprovincial Football Union standings with it for the last two years and will aim it with renewed vigor at Winnipeg Blue Bombers Saturday in the first game of the 1954 league finals.

Darrell Royal brought the split-T to Edmonton from Oklahoma Sooners via Mississippi State at the start of last season. Eskimos headed the loop but were stopped by Bombers in the finals.

Royal left to rejoin Frank (Pop) Ivy, from Oklahoma Sooners, took over as coach and mentor of the split-T. And now it's Eaks and Winnipeg again.

Ivy is a dashing defender of the split-T school with its running or run-and-pass formation operating behind a spread-out line, forcing the opposition to leave big gaps in the front wall.

PLAYS IT CAGEY

The cagey Ivy is not taking Saturday's task against the primarily straight-T Bombers lightly. In fact, he says, Eskimos would have preferred to take on Saskatchewan Roughriders, whom Winnipeg defeated in the semi-finals. Eaks got a big send at with Ivy.

"We aren't much better off than we were before the layoff," Ivy said, pointing to still-injured guard Ron Howard, defensive back Ray Willsey and end Frank Anderson.

Bombers emerged from the semi-finals without a serious injury. Ivy and coach Al Sherman of Bombers, both completing their first year in the Canadian game, will bear a lot about a jinx that has thrown over the last four years of the final WIFU series.

The team that has won the first game has always lost the series.

Hearing Held Into Man's Death

TORONTO (CP)—Elsie Bishop, 19, of suburban New Toronto, screamed in court Wednesday when asked to take hold of a broom said by crown attorney Stanley Hogg to have been the instrument with which her friend, William Causton, was fatally injured.

Miss Bishop was a witness at the preliminary hearing of a charge of manslaughter against Herbert Worthington, 63, accused of beating Causton at the Worthington home Sept. 26.

Causton died early the next day in hospital.

Dr. E. C. Fielden, a pathologist, said the youth died from a severe blow to the head.

The hearing will continue Monday.

Chinese Team Beats Canadians In Hoop Game

RIO DE JANEIRO (CP)—Nationalist China won its first victory in the finals of the world basketball championships at the expense of Canada Wednesday night, defeating favored Winnipeg Canadians 74-61.

Canada, mathematically eliminated from the eight-country round-robin tournament after falling before the Philippines Monday, now has lost four games and won two.

The score was tied 29-29 at the half time and the Canadians managed to hold a brief one-point lead in the final quarter before the Chinese staged a whirlwind finish to win. The tall Winnipeggers were hamstrung by the fast, low-passing attack of their shorter opponents.

Carl Kidd, Canada's high-scoring forward, amassed 29 points for Winnipeg.

The United States, represented by Peoria (Ill.) Caterpillars, and Uruguay are tied for first place with 5-0 records.

'Fisherman' Beats World's Best In International

LAUREL, Md. (AP)—Fisherman is not likely to win any American turf honors this year but he'll go down in the books as the "substitute who whipped the best that three other countries had to offer in the rich Washington, D.C. International.

America's hopes of breaking the foreigners' monopoly on the international were none too bright after this country's first two choices, Determine and High Gun, were forced to withdraw because of injuries.

But Wednesday the little brown colt from C. V. Whitney's stable took the measure of five of the finest thoroughbreds from England, France and Ireland plus another American entry.

Stanley Mikell's Brush Burn ($3. subbed for Determine. High Gun was hurt Monday and Whitney rushed Fisherman here from New York.

Fisherman actually was the third choice. Closed Door originally had been designated as a substitute, but he, too, was injured.

Although Fisherman had won seven stakes, he has never raced on the grass and many looked askance at his chances for that reason. But he had Eddie Arcaro, one of America's top jockeys, to guide him around the oval and a half.

Arcaro and Fisherman grabbed the lead from Queen Elizabeth's Landau and Autre three-eighths of a mile from home.

Fisherman's award was $80,000 and his bettors got $8.80, $4 and $3.

This single-barrel Kentucky rifle was first used about 1750 by early settlers in the vast uncharted country west of the Alleghenies.

Muzzle loading, this weapon was fired when a piece of flint hit the frizzen and sparked, igniting powder in the pan.

TODAY, this Remington 410-gauge autoloading gun, weighing slightly over six pounds, is one of our most modern sporting guns. The peaceful use of firearms provides healthful, competitive sport. The thousands of marksmen who use our ranges each year have developed a high standard of self-discipline, keenness of eye and steadiness of hand necessary to successful rifle shooting.

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

You can always get a rise out of me when you raise with a hand that does not contain enough tricks. From where I sit in a game of bridge a raise by my partner always looks like more tricks.

This applies even if it is an assist raise in a suit bid by a partner. The most prominent masters, however, take another stand in this. They recommend a raise assist with a poor hand.

Culbertson says a single raise assist generally shows 1½ to two plus honor tricks. But he adds: This may be pared down to one honor trick with (1) four card support and a doubleton, or (2) three card support and a singleton.

Goren says a single raise assist has a fairly wide range from a weak zero count struck them when they fail flat on their faces.

According to Goren a partner responds to a bid only if his hand has two high cards with another trick of some kind. If it is a raise assist the partner must also have adequate trump support.

Partner opens with a heart when you have this north hand.

♥J 8 4 2
♦A 7 5 3
♣J 6 2

Culbertson rule tells you to assist with two hearts. So does the Goren rule. My rule tells you to pass because your hand does not contain high cards among whatever else you may need.

So, you see, my rule does not agree with what Culbertson and Goren advise for a minimum single raise assist. Does this make me wrong? Not if I can prove they are not right.

You can not spoof a basic proof.

Sasky Kicker Sets New Punt Record

REGINA (CP) — Larry Isbell, left footed kicker with Saskatchewan Roughriders, established a punting record in Western Interprovincial Football Union competition this year.

Statistics released today by Bill Hawrylak, league statistician, showed Isbell averaged 45.3 yards a punt on 106 kicks. The old record of 44.7 yards was held by Butch Avinger, another left-footed hoofer who performed for Saskatchewan Roughriders in 1952.

Isbell led in total yards on punts with 4,909, his longest travelling 83 yards, tops in the league this season. One of the former Baylor star's kicks was blocked.

Jack Jacoby of Winnipeg Blue Bombers made the most kicks, 114, for 4,614 yards, averaged 40.4 yards, the longest one going for 82 yards. Eddie LeBaron of Calgary Stampeders punted 109 times for 4,264 yards and a 39.1 average. His longest punt travelled 80 yards. Four LeBaron kicks were blocked. Vic Chapman of B.C. Lions averaged 38 yards on 100 punts.

Another league record was set by Gerry Doherty of Edmonton who booted 19 field goals, well over the old mark of nine. Field goals hooted by Bud Korchak of Winnipeg a year ago. Joe found the range on 63.3 per cent field goal tries.

Bobo' Olson Whips Panter

RICHMOND, Calif. (AP)—Middleweight champion Carl (Bobo) Olson, 160, tuning up for his next title defence, scored a technical knockout over tough Gerardo Panter, 162, of Salt Lake City in the eighth round of a scheduled 10-round fight here Wednesday night.

The champion gave Panter a rough beating until referee Joe Louis, former heavyweight king, halted the bout in 41 seconds of the eighth round.

Olson smashed over a left that opened a deep cut on the side of the Salt Lake boy's right eye in the eighth.

Million Fans Attend British Soccer Games

By JEFF RYAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—Nearly 1,000,000 English soccer fans turn out Saturday afternoons in season, rain or shine, sleet or snowstorm. Canadian standards, they do it the hard way.

They might spurn the wonderful dressing of drum majorettes, bands and other North American halftime links even if they could have them. But they might look with more favor on the good old Canadian custom of sitting down at sports events.

The majority of England's soccer fans watch standing up, packed shoulder to shoulder and front to back along rows of foot-wide concrete terraces.

"What's the use of paying good brass for a seat when you're always on your feet cheering the team?" said a North country supporter.

Granted the English fan, and those from other sectors of the United Kingdom, is hardy and dedicated type willing to follow his team as far as stamina and money will allow. The fact remains that there aren't enough seats for everybody.

The four London first division clubs, Arsenal, Charlton, Chelsea and Tottenham, drew an average total of more than 160,000 fans a game. Their combined seating capacity is around 32,000.

Wembley, where 100,000 assemble for the cup finals and international matches, seats just over 55,000. The rest stand.

Usual terrace price for the soccer fan is under two shillings or a few pence over, depending on whether he stands at the end or the middield mark.

He is on his feet for the two 45-minute halves of soccer action plus the 10-minute halftime break, and probably has queued for an hour or two if it's a big game. Stretcher men are located at strategic spots but their work depends largely on the weather. Surprisingly few victims are claimed.

Soccer enthusiasm has declined a bit, however, since the boom period following the Second World War.

The clubs blame television for the fan ausgage. Sports writers seem to think the clubs will get their fans back when English soccer improves to continental standards.

USE SUPER CLUBHOUSE

BALTIMORE (AP)—A new clubhouse seating 2,325 will be in use during 15 days of horse racing starting today at Pimlico. The new $2,000,000 clubhouse has three levels, is as high as a seven-storey office building. Escalators and an elevator connect the different levels.

The executive was changed in composition to include one president, four vice-presidents and a non-voting secretary.

Elected were: president, Art Duncan, Batawa; 1st vice-president, Les Bradshaw Point Anne; 2nd vice-president, J. R. Jones, Hastings; 3rd vice-president, G. Jefds, Campbellford; 4th vice-president, M. Kyle, Havelock; secretary treasurer, Cecil Nobes, Marmora.

A rules committee composed of a delegate from each team meets at Batawa Sunday, November 7, to bring recommendations to the executive. A pre-season league was discussed and tabled until next meeting.

PERSONAL

Mrs. J. Wilkes left on Sunday for Barrie where she will spend the winter with her daughter, Mrs. W. Linton and Mr. Linton.

TROUBLE OVER TRADE

BARRIE (CP) — Hap Emm, owner-coach of Barrie Flyers of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A league, said Wednesday he made a three-for-one trade with Kitchener-Waterloo Canucks of the same league, but he ran into some trouble.

Canucks obtained Bob White, Barrie forward for three years, who refused to accept the $60-a-week maximum salary.

Kitchener gave up forwards Howie Glover and Gary Eatbough and defenceman Doug Falby. All three played Tuesday night against Barrie when Flyers were 6-5. But Eatbough and Falby have refused to come to Barrie.

ROUGHIES PIC KPAIR

OTTAWA (CP)—Ottawa Rough Riders today nominated end Bob Simpson and centre Bruno Bitkowski as their candidates for the Most Valuable Player. The Big Four football award goes to the player who best displays sportsmanship and ability. Each Big Four club nominates two players.

AT THE CAPITOL — Three Jungle-eers — Huntz Hall, Leo Gorcey and their merry gal-ape starred in "Jungle Gents", new Allied Artists Bowery Boys' comedy, the current hit at the Capitol Theatre starting tonight. Laurette Luez has the feminine lead as a seductive Tarzana. On the same program "Two Guns and a Badge" starring Wayne Morris. Both hits are first Belleville showings. Special added attraction Saturday matinee Roy Rogers in "Bells of Coronado."

AT THE McCARTHY

HIS HATS ARE THE SAME SIZE

Although so far as the average cinema-goer is concerned Jack Hawkins has been a leading performer only since the end of the war, he was in fact starring on Broadway twenty-five years ago!

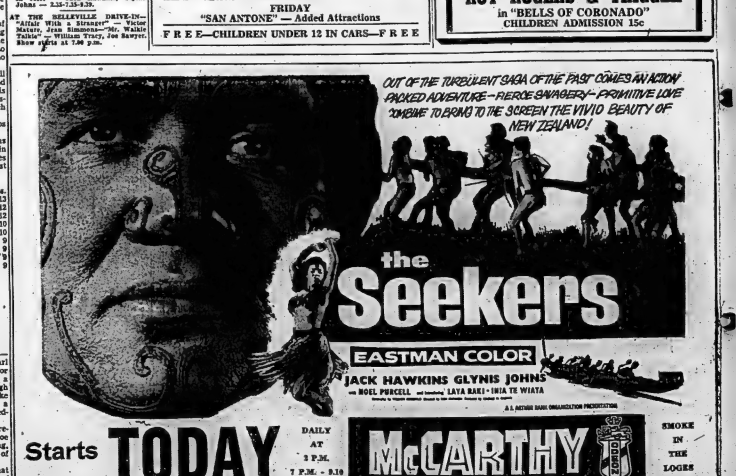
This actor, who now tops all the polls as Britain's most popular star, has behind him a length of acting experience which began when he was only thirteen. By the time he was eighteen he was playing in London's West End and made his name as a solid Shakespearean actor long before the war.

He was also in front of the cameras during the pre-war years, in fact by the time he joined the Army in 1940, he had already appeared in fifty plays and fifteen films.

But it was the post-war years which were to rocket him to fame and such films as "Stolen Secret", "No Highway," "Angels One Five" "Mandy", "The Planter's Wife", "The Cruel Sea" and "Malta Story" made everyone realize that here was the hunky star Britain had been looking for for years.

Now he cape those roles with a vigorous portrayal as a New Zealand pioneer in "The Seekers" now at the Odeon McCarthy Theatre. In fact which calls for every ounce of his ability. Now need film-goers fear that "The Seekers" will be one of the last of his long string of star performances. Jack is even busier than before, he has just signed a contract for six pictures with the Rank Organization. It may have taken him twenty years to achieve top honor, status as a star, but he is certainly making up for lost time with a vengeance.

And success could not come to a nicer person. Modest to a degree, it is a tribute to his maturity and intelligence that he has stood as firm as a rock in the face of the current wave of success which might well have overwhelmed a lesser man.



JUGGLED RULES FLOP

MONTREAL (CP) — Two high school football teams juggled the rule book Wednesday—and came up with a dismal failure. Loyola and West Hill high schools used four downs instead of the regulation three, but had to make 15 yards instead of the usual 10 for a first down. Only one first down was recorded as Loyola won 15-0.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is according to the stars, for FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 5, 1954.

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Encouraging vibrations from most major planets should stimulate this day's activities and make up for some previous losses of time. Trades, artistry, scientific matters favored.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) — Both personal and general interests are sponsored. This can be a very productive day for whole-some interests. Artistic pursuits, difficult mental work, new ideas especially favored.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — You may not be as clever as usual in promotion, advertising, original ideas, etc., but the day on the whole will be excellent for lasting advantages, returns from past ideas, investments, useful activity.

June 22 to July 22 (Cancer) — A peak day for your interests and talents; for formulating plans for future execution, for study, improving quality of work; for consultations, agreements, debates.

July 24 to August 22 (Leo) — Your Sun, Saturn and some other planets, in fine array, encourage known and unfamiliar matters in well-executed. Necessary improvements, trying out new (if sound) methods could prove advantageous. A good day generally.

August 23 to September 23 (Virgo) — You may not be as mentally alert as usual, but you certainly can gain ground in occupational duties. Solve possible domestic problems. All useful and necessary projects favored.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra) — Step out smartly. If you would achieve fresh gains, make improvements. Better your present status by study, gathering knowledge and advice. Hold conference, listen to new and valuable ideas.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio) — This should be one of your most stimulating and purposeful days. Without overstraining, get a proper start and maintain a productive, steady pace. Much can be accomplished.

Then rest.

November 22 to December 22 (Sagittarius) — Both big events and less noticeable (but equally as important) details and jobs are under fine aspects that benefit you. Use your specialized knowhow to put over tasks efficiently.

December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn) — Your job is important to many: your family, community, and your nation; so do it well and conscientiously and you will receive satisfying recognition and untold benefits. Finish chores.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius) — Best rays so far this month. Don't close your eyes to opportunities (or new avenues leading to personal attainment). Attend to important matters first. Then take time for rest.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces) — Don't be content with mediocre accomplishments, just so-so benefits on this day which you could really make a splendid success in either familiar or new ventures.

YOU BORN TODAY are generous, purposeful and fond of knowledge, which you know how to use to your advantage. You may tend to choose the wrong associates at times, and this trait could bring unhappiness, disappointment. Choose your friends and other associates carefully — not foly to improve your own status but to bring true inner contentment, greater happiness. You can accomplish, attain real success in almost any field of endeavor you like and work at faithfully. You are talented, very capable. Burb tendencies to domineer and to worry. Birthdate: Hans Sachs, German poet, singer.

BANCROFT

Lions Sponsor Meeting to Study Commerce Board

BANCROFT — At a meeting arranged by the Civic Improvement Committee, headed by Geo. McKelvey, Bancroft Lions and a number of the merchants of the town studied the desirability of setting up a Bancroft Chamber of Commerce. The meeting was supplementary to the regular gathering of the Lions held at Hotel Bancroft on Monday evening.

Jim Fraser, secretary of the Peterborough Chamber of Commerce, described to the gathering the organization and objects of such a body and Bob Mundle, of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce field service, presented a history of the organization and enumerated the essentials necessary for the success of a new chamber.

Referring to the Canadian chamber as a parliament of business, the speaker told the meeting that, should they decide to set up a chamber, they should strive to get a balanced organization, with retail, industrial, tourist and agricultural fields represented.

The speakers were thanked by Ray Tompkins and a general discussion, under the chairmanship of Jack Hattin, followed. Recalling two previous ventures, the North Hastings Tourist Association and the Better Business Bureau, which failed, Mike Burns wondered if the causes of failure could be examined and avoided in future.

After a lengthy session, it was decided that a committee, headed by Jack Hattin, should contact all the business and professional men of the district and arrange for a later meeting.

During the business session the club heard an address by Bud McAllister, of Toronto. Mr. McAllister is superintendent of public relations for the Ontario Society for Crippled Children and rendered a comprehensive review of the history, aims and accomplishments of the society.

Thanking the guest speaker, Jack Hattin thought it regrettable that more time was not available for consideration of Mr. McAllister's address. The work of the society was, without doubt, one of the most worthwhile causes in the province and it was a privilege for Bancroft Lions to be able to play a small part in the furtherence of such work.

TWEED

Pastors Exchange Sunday Pulpits

TWEED — On Sunday, October 31st, St. John's United Church, Tweed, celebrated the 62nd anniversary of its founding with large congregations attending morning and evening services.

Rev. Ronald Vatchey, B.A., B.D., pastor of Princess Street United Church, Kingston, was guest preacher for the day in an exchange of pulpits with Rev. W. K. Pace, pastor of St. John's United. The choirs, under the leadership of Mrs. S. H. Connor during the absence of Mr. Connor through illness, and Mr. Fred Porter, organist, prepared special music for the occasion.

The congregations of Sulphide and Actinolite cancelled their services for the day to worship with the St. John's congregation. Rev. Vatchey gave two very inspiring messages and the thank offering amounted to nearly $1,400.00.

ELECTED PRESIDENT

Mr. Graham Moock was elected first president of the newly-organized Tweed Consolidated Home and School Association, at its inaugural meeting held in the school last week.

Mrs. C. Coons of Lakefield District, organizer for the Ontario Federation of Home and School associations, installed Mr. Moock as charter president.

Along with Mr. Moock the following charter executive was installed: vice presidents, Mrs. Raymond Cotton and Mrs. Charles Hunt; secretary, Mrs. Gordon Fraser; treasurer, Stan Walters; elected members, Mrs. Percy Jordan, Mrs. Don Matheson, Mrs. Reg Reid, Mrs. Burton Thompson, and Norman Thompson.

Seventy charter members were received into the association at the close of the meeting.

A fee of 50 cents per member was agreed upon and meetings are to be held on the second Wednesday of the month at 8 p.m. at the school.

Mrs. Coons went into detail in the aims and advantages of Home and School Associations, the code, rules and regulations concerning organization. She noted that such an organization was necessary in any school as a liaison among teacher, pupils and parents.

Since 1916 when the Ontario Association was organized much has been accomplished by Home and School Associations, which now boast 1,500 branches and 200,000 members.

Both parents and teachers were urged to participate in the activities of the association. Mrs. Coons stressed that the organization was not in any way a social club. Its prime objective was to better parent and teacher relations, improve school conditions and generally assist in promoting goodwill within the school.

ATOMS-FOR-PEACE PLAN OUTLINED TO UNITED NATIONS

U.S. Ready to Start Talks With Members

By FRANCIS W. CARPENTER

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. told the UN today the United States is ready to start talks with other countries on bilateral agreements to furnish atomic materials for research reactors overseas as part of a program to share atomic knowhow for peace.

The chief American delegate to the UN appeared to the General Assembly's 60-nation political committee that this would be a gigantic forward step for 1955 in President Eisenhower's plans for an international pool of atomic energy for peaceful purposes.

Outlining a program of action for the next year, even before a proposed international agency is created to operate the atoms-for-peace program, Lodge said the United States is ready to train persons for atomic nuclear reactors, offer courses in nuclear science and to invite 150 foreign cancer experts to visit American cancer research facilities and swap views with U.S. doctors.

OFFERS LIBRARIES

Lodge also announced the United States is ready to give to the principal public libraries of 60 cooperating nations 10 libraries of data on nuclear energy that will be cards abstracting 50,000 scientific and technical books and reports published in the United States.

There was no word from Moscow whether the Russians had changed their minds and decided to go along with the Eisenhower proposals. With negotiations still under way between Washington and Moscow, Lodge said it was clear that the door is still open to the Russians to join the president's program.

He said the United States has had talks with Britain, France, Canada, Australia, Belgium, South Africa and Portugal on the program. The United States is said to be ready to deal with the countries on whether the Russians join or not.

Lodge said further that the United and other countries will sponsor a resolution calling on the UN to convene an international scientific conference next year to discuss every phase of the atomic peace pool plan.

OLD FRIENDS HOLD A REUNION

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, Queen Mother Elizabeth and Mr. and Mrs. John Roosevelt leave Hyde Park, N.Y., after lunching together. For the Queen Mother and the wife of the late president, the luncheon rendered a friendship that began when Mrs. Roosevelt was the hostess at the White House in 1939 to the late King George VI and the Queen during President Roosevelt's administration. (Central Press Canadian).

Queen Mother Is Honored At White House State Dinner

WASHINGTON (CP) — After a busy nine-day visit to New York, the Queen Mother flew into Washington Thursday and a few hours later, amidst the splendor of the White House state dining room, was honored at a dinner given by the president and Mrs. Eisenhower.

More than 60 guests attended Thursday night's dinner, including vice-president and Mrs. Richard Nixon, Chief Justice and Mrs. Earl Warren and Speaker Joseph Martin of the House of Representatives.

The Queen Mother sat at the president's right while Mrs. Eisenhower was on his left at the centre of a large fan-shaped table, which was bathed in light from a great silver chandelier above.

A gift to the White House from King George VI, a painting of flowers framed in gilt over a mirror, hung from the north wall.

At a reception in the richly decorated east room following dinner, the guests were joined by British Commonwealth ambassadors and their wives, justices of the United States Supreme Court and prominent members of the White House staff. Entertainment was to be a form of a program of light music.

The Queen Mother, paying her first visit to Washington since the royal tour of 1939, will stay at the White House as guest of the Eisenhowers until Saturday when she moves into the British embassy. Next Wednesday she will pay a short visit to Williamsburg, Va., then fly to Ottawa.

She arrived in the capital aboard the presidential plane Columbine and was greeted at the airport by State Secretary Dulles, who told her he felt confident her visit would serve to advance "peace and welfare of all humanity. . . Through being here you will certainly add to the ties which join together two important sections of the world's people."

The Queen Mother replied that she was "delighted to be in this country once again, for I have always had happy memories of my stay here in 1939 with the king. . . I told her.

DAIRY INDUSTRY FACING MOST SERIOUS CRISIS

World Surplus Of Products Cause

SMITHS FALLS, Ont. (CP)—A world surplus of dairy products faces the Canadian dairy industry with the most serious crisis in its history, W. Frank Jones of Toronto, president of the Borden Company Limited, said today.

He blamed the inroads of margarine on butter consumption as the principal factor for creating dairy surpluses throughout the world.

"In Canada, per-capita butter consumption dropped 27 per cent since the introduction of margarine," he told a local Rotary Club meeting.

The statements were contained in the text of his speech issued in advance of delivery.

Mr. Jones, former president of the National Dairy Council, said that in the 15 main milk-producing countries of the world, consumption of milk products is not keeping pace with increases in milk production.

"The estimate of 1954 world milk production, just released, forecasts a further increase of 9,000,000,000 pounds in the leading countries of the world. This will bring production to the astronomical total of 267,000,000,000 pounds."

Because of that, "many of the world's dairy countries have believed it to be necessary to impose restrictions and embargoes of one kind or another on the importation of dairy products from other countries, which have in turn been confronted with the most serious crisis in the history of the marketing of dairy products."

The United States had placed rigid restrictions on dairy product import, Yet Canada was importing vast quantities of vegetable oils, with little or no tariff protection, to compete directly with Canadian butter which took up nearly half of Canada's total milk production.

Democrats Canvass Job Of Assuming Congress Control

Pledge to Meet President 'More Than Half Way'

By JOE HALL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Democrats canvassed the job of taking over the reins in the Senate as well as the House of Representatives today, with a pledge to meet President Eisenhower "more than halfway" in tackling the country's problems.

Although several veteran senators expressed misgivings about the wisdom of moving to take control of the Senate with the narrow margin given them as a result of Tuesday's elections, Democratic leader Lyndon B. Johnson said:

"Apparently there will be a majority of the members of the Senate sufficient to organize it. If we can organize it, we will."

The Texan, in a statement issued at Austin, said the Democrats are determined to approach the issues "in a spirit of responsibility."

He added:

"We will meet the president more than halfway in any effort to work out a common solution to the difficult problems of national security, of peace and of prosperity.

VOTE FOR CONVICTIONS

"Naturally, if we cannot agree with the president, we will vote our convictions. But we will do so with no obstruction for the sake of obstruction and no harassment for the sake of partisan advantage."

The Democratic Senate victory apparently was sealed Thursday when a virtually-complete Oregon count showed that Richard L. Neuberger had unseated Republican Senator Guy Cordon by slightly more than 2,000 votes.

Barring any upsets in possible recounts there or elsewhere, it appeared a Senate lineup of 48 Democrats, 47 Republicans and one Independent, Senator Wayne Morse of Oregon, who says he will vote with the Democratic Senate control starting in 1955.

In the House, the Democratic margin was more solid—232 to 201.

Eisenhower told his press conference Wednesday he would do all he could to work harmoniously with the Democrats.

Crystal Ball Goes Cloudy At Wrong Time

JERSEY CITY, N. J. (AP)— A fortune teller's crystal ball went haywire here Thursday, according to Florence Nickelson.

She said she entered a store dwelling, said she was a housewife and was greeted by Mrs. Mary Lee, 28, dressed in gypsy costume and equipped with crystal ball.

Florence said Mrs. Lee told her:

"You are a good woman and never cause any trouble. You are a respected lady in the community and mind your own business."

At that point, Florence pulled out a badge to show she is a member of the Jersey City police force. A squad of waiting detectives rushed in and arrested Mrs. Lee and Bob Mitchell, 31, on disorderly persons charges as alleged fortune tellers.

Quick Switch Gives Key Job To Mendes-France Supporter

PARIS (AP)—In a surprising reversal, the National Assembly's foreign affairs committee today named Pierre Billotte, a supporter of Premier Mendes-France, to write its report on the recent Allied agreements to rearm West Germany.

The move apparently assured Mendes-France of aid in his efforts to obtain assembly approval of the agreements before the end of the year.

The selection of Billotte came after Socialist Jules Moch turned down the job. Moch, a bitter opponent of German rearmament, wrote the committee's critical report on the defunct European Defence Community.

There was no generally-accepted explanation of the committee's switch. Chairman Daniel Mayer, a close friend of Moch, passed off the earlier choice as "a student's whim." Moch was selected over Billotte in that vote.

In turning down the bid, Moch said he considered more important his assignment as France's representative at a power disarmament talks authorized Wednesday in New York by the United Nations General Assembly.

Feeding Cattle To Drums' Roll Is Going Too Far

VIENNA, Austria (Reuters)—A Communist Hungarian newspaper said Thursday it thinks that rumors the commanding officer of a state farm "is working on plans to introduce marching with shouldered spades and feeding cattle to the roll of drums" is going a little too far.

The Bekregen paper, Neplap, rapped the chief agronomist at the state farm in Ebes. It said he made laborers "play soldiers" by saluting and standing at attention when they entered the "commanding officer's sanctum."

Gem-Throwing Witnesses Face Lie Detector

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The first of seven persons who witnessed a diamond-throwing melee at a Hallowe'en party took a lie detector test today. Six others will go through the same thing before midnight Saturday.

Detective Barney Kaplan said Norman McMartin, Montreal millionaire, lost about $100,000 worth of jewelry at his wife as a climax to the party and that a $25,000 diamond clip was missing.

All seven spectators agreed to take the test voluntarily, Kaplan said.

Will Offer Awards

TORONTO (CP) — Awards for high yields and high quality in growing tomatoes will be offered this year for the first time by the Ontario vegetable growers' gardening branch.

Awards will be made to growers in eastern, central and western Ontario producing the highest yield per acre, the highest average percentage of No. 1 tomatoes.

Purpose of the awards is to encourage yield increases and improved quality.

Mendes-France Wins Authority To Push Program

PARIS (AP) — Premier Pierre Mendes-France won authority from his cabinet today to push his program through the National Assembly at his own rapid pace, using the threat to resign to good dallying deputies.

The cabinet authorized him to make issues of confidence in necessary over these controversial subjects: The budget, the handling of the Algerian crisis, and the scandal of leaks from the national defence council to the brigade on revising the constitution.

He was told he could make issues of confidence on any point he likes in the debate on the budget. That enables him to tell the deputies, in effect, that if they want to add even 10 francs to spending by the communities ministry, they'll have to find another cabinet.

Many deputies would like to add a good deal more than 10 francs to that particular budget item for discussion today. They want pay increases for government employees and more money spent on equipment.

Found Cheque In Lining Of Old Shoe

TORONTO (CP)—John Drazic bought a pair of second-hand boots for $2.50 and found an old cheque for $2,000 in the lining.

Drazic saw the felt-and-rubber boots in a store last Saturday but the $3 price was too high. He returned twice until the price dropped to $2.50.

He found the cheque in the sole when he got home.

The cheque, dated March 20, 1930, was made out to a man in Hong Kong and payable in Hong Kong currency. It wasn't cashed so it's no good to Drazic.

He's keeping the boots and would like to find out who issued the cheque.

Municipal Board Chairman Orders Tape Recording Machines Removed

SUDBURY (CP) — Lorne Cummings, chairman of the Ontario municipal board ordered radio reporters to remove tape recording equipment from the board hearing here today.

The board was convened to hear Sudbury's application to annex McKim township. Before the hearing started, Mr. Cummings said that an adjournment until the radio equipment was removed.

"It will not have any person or witness embarrassed by the unauthorized broadcast of these proceedings," Mr. Cummings said.

Mr. Cumming said ordinary reporters in the assembly room at the board, but arrangements for "such an irregular proceeding" as tape recording should have been made before the hearing opened.

Mr. Cummings said the board hearings are the same as court proceedings and subject to the same rules.

"We do however, welcome reporters in the ordinary fashion for public reading."

Report Adenauer Has Agreed To Reopen Question of Saar

BONN, Germany (AP)—A leader of West Germany's Free Democratic party said today Chancellor Konrad Adenauer has agreed to open negotiations with France over the future of the Saar. The government declined to confirm or deny the claim.

August Martin Euler, an FDP member of Parliament, said the chancellor told FDP leaders at a meeting here that negotiations on the Saar are essential."

The FDP is rebelling against the French-German agreement in its present form, demanded that Adenauer reopen the talks with France on the question of the future of the German-speaking territory.

FDP leaders at a conference with Adenauer, submitted a long list of proposed changes in the agreement reached last month in Paris.

They declined to make public their proposals but said they are based on three basic principles. The German-speaking Saar must be officially regarded as German territory; the Saar can be temporarily placed under the control of a neutral commissioner; the agreement must be temporary; genuine political freedom must be assured for pro-German political parties in the Saar.

Adenauer, fighting hard to keep his rebellious coalition from killing the Saar agreement, said leaders of the four parties in his coalition government will meet next Monday to consider the proposed changes in the agreement he signed last month in Paris with French Premier Mendes-France.

The Free Democrats and the Refugee party—both members of Adenauer coalition — have joined the opposition Socialists in opposing the Saar agreement in its present form. They maintain that the Saar will be lost to German forever under this agreement and that it provides no guarantees of political freedom for the pro-German parties in the border state.

Stops to Dress As House Burns, Man Suffocates

OTTAWA (CP) — An elderly man was asphyxiated in an early morning apartment fire here today which chased more than a score of other tenants onto the street.

A man tentatively identified by police as Damase O. Traversy, about 60, perished after he apparently stopped to clothe himself. Many of the other tenant clambered down fire department ladders after smoke blocked exits.

The fire was discovered by Det.-Sgt. Charles Tracey and his wife when they returned to the apartment house from bowling and companions aroused tenants by pushing door bells and shouting.

Blames Ignorance For Scurvy Cases

SUDBURY (CP) — A Sudbury doctor Thursday night pleaded for increased health education in isolated, unorganized sections of the district after he told the board of health that five children were treated in city hospitals for scurvy this year.

Dr. Ford Dixon said the disease, once rare, resulted from parental ignorance of elementary dietary laws.

Subway Building Will Not Qualify For Timing Grants

TORONTO (CP)—Premier Frost said Thursday night it is doubtful that the building of subways in Toronto would qualify for timing grants 'from Ottawa and Queen's Park.

The premier was commenting on earlier reports that he had indicated Ottawa would contribute to subway construction as an unemployment relief measure.

His said subways could be considered timing projects only those held in abeyance until they were used to relieve unemployment—but they might not come within the scope of timing grants because of being self-liquidating projects.

Mr. Frost said he would place the proposed $50,000,000 lakeshore subway project before Ottawa as an unemployment relief measure.

Two Children Burned to Death

MONTREAL (CP)—Two children were burned to death Thursday in a three-room cabin at Lac Nominingue Station, while their mother was shopping at a nearby store.

Police identified the victims as Deborah Garmon, 4, and six-year-old Jacques Garmon. A third child in the cabin, three-year-old Derek, was rescued by Mrs. Garmon who heard cries from the apartment in flames.

The children were asleep in the cabin when the fire started.

About 10 of the week-long courses are given at various northern centres each winter.

U.S. Government Will Start Planning Space Satellite in 1955 Says Expert

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP)—An aircraft industry executive predicted Thursday the government next year will start planning an artificial planet which will circle late 500 miles or more above the earth, providing military intelligence to the United States armed forces.

William P. Lear, of Los Angeles, board chairman of Lear, Inc., and holder of the 1950 Collier aviation trophy, said a press conference construction of the planet would be a project on the scale of that which resulted in the first atom bomb.

Lear said this man-made solar body would be about 500 feet in diameter, would be equipped with automatic cameras capable of photographing any part of the earth's surface on its daily trips around the world. He said exact details of the project are secret.

Lear said the planet would have to be designed so parts can be sent out individually and assembled by remote control in outer space.

Britons Glad That McCarthy Loses His Job

LONDON (Reuters) — British newspapers today hailed the imminent removal of Senator Joseph McCarthy from chairmanship of the Senate permanent investigations committee as the most important result of the United States' elections.

The Daily Telegraph said that since McCarthy "has used his position to attack the Eisenhower administration, his replacement... will certainly not cause any White House regret."

The News Chronicle, commenting on the Republican defeat, said: "perhaps tonight we shall have bypassed if American Republicans had been as much as the British parties in dealing with their most reactionary elements."

The Herald headlined its front page story, "Hitchhunt Joe loses his power."

Utilities Take No Action On Council's Request

The city Public Utilities Commission will take no action with respect to taking over the operation of the sanitary sewer system until it is in receipt of further detailed information regarding sewer plans and expected operational costs.

This was decided at the regular monthly meeting of the commission held Thursday afternoon when members said the commission could not act on a city council recommendation of last March which directed the commission to take over operation of the sewer system.

Both Commission Chairman W. Harry Rollins and Commissioner "Sandy" Lummis said there was also the question of whether the commission could take over operation of sanitary sewers, when there was no sewage disposal plant.

It was pointed out that the city must supply the information required and this could be secured only through Gore and Storrie, consulting engineers.

"It is not a simple matter," said Commission Chairman Rollins, noting that the commission faced the tremendous cost of providing a sewage disposal system. "We would like to have assistance from somewhere."

The Council recommendation to have the utilities take over operation of the sewers was presented to council by Mayor John Both early in the year and since that time the mayor has written the commission asking what action had been taken on the matter. Mayor Both was not present at yesterday's meeting of the commission.

Autumn Beauty Is Captured In Glowing Color in Film

The most colorful autumn ever witnessed in Belleville came and went in an hour and a half of glorious technicolor last night as photographer - narrator Stan Midgley proved that "Autumn in Across America" is beautiful.

The most brilliant hues in seven years of autumn photography in New England, the Middle West, the Rockies, the Pacific and California were captured in glowing color in this film which was the second in the current series of Kiwanis World Travel and Adventure films.

An added feature was Mr. Midgley's technicolor record of the 1954 Rose Parade in Pasadena, California, in which ten million flowers were used to decorate 60 mammoth floats.

New England's flaming sugar maples, white birches and yellow aspens were caught in all their splendor against a background of quiet towns, stately white churches, well-kept town squares and cobalt blue skies.

Autumn, whether in the mountains of New Hampshire or Vermont, the quiet towns of Massachusetts, the deserted summer cottages of the Adirondacks, the Placid and Saranac Lakes—or on the stately campus of Princeton University in New Jersey proved to be a season of quiet days and glowing color as seen through Mr. Midgley's camera.

Autumn down the Skyline Drive of Virginia into North Carolina and Tennessee, through the Alleghenies, across the Blue Ridge Mountains to the Great Smokies is a season, that lingers long in one's heart and a half million gallons of gas, the scent of the oil of oak and hickory take over Mother Earth, the flaming reds and crimsons of sugar maples as one moves south.

CAN BE RUGGED

Along Lake Michigan and Lake Superior autumn can be rugged as well as beautiful, and Mr. Midgley demonstrated in vivid pictures of an autumn storm in the upper Michigan peninsula.

The great flatlands of the midwest cornbelt were filled with the color of yellow corn and orange pumpkins.

The tour continued westward through the Rockies of Colorado through Wyoming to Utah and Arizona into the "inland Empire" of Oregon and Washington and the spectacular Columbia River gorge, Grand Coulee Dam and snow-capped Mount Hood.

Geysers in Rocky Mountain National Parks golden peach orchards with the waters of mountain streams and gem-like blues of mountain lakes set off the magnificence of autumn in the Rockies. Quaking aspen in the High Sierras and Redwood and long leaf mining booms and picturesque waterfalls accentuated the beauty of autumn in Yosemite, and California.

An engaging sense of humor and informal narration added greatly to the enjoyment of the picture.

School Board Takes No Action On Teachers' Pay Hike Request

Members of the Belleville public school board at a special meeting Thursday evening took no action on a request from the local public school teachers' institute for across-the-board salary increases effective next year.

At the same time, however, they gave consideration to a group of teachers long service with the local board, who have not had the salary of such teaching equipment to the maximum.

At the present time the basic salary of new teachers is $2,000 with an annual increment of $200 up to a maximum of $3,600 for a permanent 1st class certificate. Through university training and by acquiring additional degrees, the maximum can be increased to $4,500.

In addition to this Belleville teachers receive a cost-of-living bonus of $233 per year.

The consideration given to teachers with long service without university training was for the maximum salaries of teachers with 25 years' service to be increased by $200 and after 35 years service by a further $200 increase, both to be achieved by regular annual increases.

DRAW DISTINCT LINE

Board members drew a distinct line for teachers who are not able to benefit under the new ruling. Only those with 20 years' service at the present time will be eligible for the long service consideration and that is between 25 and 35 years' service with the board.

It was this group which board members felt had not had the opportunity to benefit their financial standing through university training.

In turning down the across-the-board request for salary increases, board members pointed out that a cost-of-living bonus of $233 was now paid to all teachers, and with the cost of living index having gone up since the last adjustment, the bonus to be received by teachers next year would be $300 per year. This amount does not appear in the salary schedules listed for provincial comparison.

There was considerable discussion on whether or not the cost-of-living bonus should be incorporated into the salary, the argument in favor being "that it would look better on paper," and that this is becoming common in industry.

The majority of the members felt, however, that it was better to pay the cost-of-living bonus separately and the motion was carried by a 7-3 vote.

Board members approved in principle the request of public school principals for additional time away from teaching duties to give further supervision to schools.

SUPPLY TEACHERS RAISED

There was a general recognition of the fact that supervisory duties in the schools had increased and that principals should have more free time for this duty. Hiring of occasional teachers would be necessary to take over the classes of principals while they were engaged in supervisory duties.

Fred Symons moved that the principals be given the half-time requested for supervisory duties, but an amendment by Dr. J. Russell Scott calling for up to half-time for schools with 15 or more teachers, and up to three half-days per week for smaller schools was approved.

The board raised the salary for supply teachers from the present $8 per day to $10 per day.

Will Not Grant Use of Schools For Sunday School Classes

Belleville public schools will not be made available to religious bodies or associations for the holding of Sunday School classes on Sabbath, at least, it was decided not be available for the time being.

Thursday evening at a special meeting, board members turned down a request from the United Church for the use of Queen Elizabeth School for holding Sunday School classes and reaffirmed its policy of not opening schools on Sunday.

But the board did appoint a committee to investigate further the matter and to ascertain the policy in other centres.

The various aspects of the matter were thoroughly discussed by board members who attacked the subject from all angles.

VIEWPOINTS EXPRESSED

Those in approval with the request pointed out that schools in Kingston, Peterborough and in Leaside were being used for Sunday School classes; that schools were owned by the taxpayers and should be put to a greater full time use.

Those opposed pointed out that use of the schools on Sunday would sharply increase the cost of operation; that additional janitors would be necessary. Already janitors were working the full time in view of the present regulations.

Board members Dr. J. Russell Scott and Mrs. Effie McCabe spoke strongly in favor of Sunday use of schools, the former stating that if the public school supporters wanted it "let them pay for it."

VOTING ON POLICY CLAIM

Chairman William Maxwell pointed out the board would not be voting only on the use of Queen Elizabeth School, but would be voting on a policy of opening all schools for Sunday School purposes.

Jim Ward said the cost for coal and janitor service would increase but he was in favor if additional janitor service was provided.

"But it would mean subsidizing certain congregations," pointed out Mac Smith.

G. H. Tyrill moved an amendment calling for schools to be opened on Sunday for religious services and additional janitor service to be hired so no janitor would work seven days a week, the charge for the use of the school on Sunday to be $50. The amendment was lost and the original motion re-affirming the board policy of not opening the schools on Sunday was carried.

The board decided, however, to look into the door complaint and on recommendation of Chas. Ellsworth appointed a sub-committee consisting of Mrs. Effie McCabe, Fred Symons and Ellsworth, and Gerald Campbell, Board Secretary.

Three Accidents Cause Extensive Property Damage

Three accidents causing considerable property damage were reported by city police yesterday.

On Station street at the Memorial Park a car driven by Kathleen M. Chapman, North Park Gardens and Addington, turning left on Harry Kirby, 203 Charles street, were in collision. The Chapman car was proceeding east on Station and had stopped to make a left-hand turn, when it was scrapped by the bus as it skidded to a stop on the right.

An accident left torn by a truck on Dundas street east, was the cause of another accident which saw Don J. Barrett forced into the ditch, where his car struck a pole doing $100 damage. Driver of the truck was Robert G. Hoskins, R.R. 4 Belleville. Barrett was attempting to pass when the accident occurred.

At College and Yeomans streets vehicles driven by Robert Orr, 43 Graham and Maurice Dulmage, Trent Road, were in collision. A woman passenger in the Orr car, Aileen Day, 28 suffered bruises.

Dulmage was backing his dairy truck out of a driveway and was struck by the Orr car proceeding east on College. Orr swung in an attempt to avoid the truck and sluced into the ditch.

1,500 Non-Supervisory Office Employees at Ford Laid Off

TORONTO (CP) — Ford Motor Company of Canada today announced layoff of 1,500 non-supervisory office employees at its Peterborough Windsor plant, effective today.

The company said, however, about 470 of the 1,500 will be recalled at once to carry on essential work in temporary offices.

The layoff comes three weeks after Ford closed the powerhouse at its Windsor plant charging pickets of the striking United Automobile Workers' Union (CIO-CCL) prevented company supervisors from entering. Closing the powerhouse forced the office to close but Ford paid its office workers until today.

The UAW production workers went on strike Oct. 10 to enforce demands for wage increases and fringe benefits. The Ford production plant at Oshawa was closed by a strike a few days later.

Rhys M. Sale, Ford president, said the latest layoff was necessary because of the indefinite nature of the UAW strike. He said the company has no way of telling how long it may continue.

He said several hundred office workers have been operating in rented quarters throughout Windsor and Toronto. He said office force salaries amounted to $500,000 a month and the company could not bear this cost indefinitely because of its tight competitive position.

"It is costing the company more than $20,000 a day to rent space and carry on limited office operations in temporary quarters," Mr. Sale said. "The work is being done under severe handicaps, because of the lack of adequate equipment and the fact that most of our records are locked up in the strike-bound plant."

"The law provides for picketing by peaceful persuasion but Local 200 has gone far beyond this law in permitting its pickets to deny free entry to company premises to members of management and supervision, maintenance workers that are provided for under the union-company agreement, powerhouse supervisors, business visitors and scores of others who do not belong to the UAW bargaining unit and have no part whatever in the Local 200 strike," Mr. Sale said.

Writer Followed Directions And Coon Meat Was Delicious

TRENTON. (Special.) — When does a gourmand become a gourmand? Answer: When he eats raccoon meat.

Take this tip. Coon has no substitute if it's properly prepared.

The other day a kind neighbor dropped off two plump hind legs. His wife dreaded the thought of cooking them. So she suggested giving them away to the writer who hasn't liked all sorts of different foods and has the waistline to prove it.

The legs looked wholesome. If somebody didn't tell you your guess would be they had been the heavy underpinning for a monster turkey gobbler. The other half of the household agreed. However, she observed it was a man's job to make them ready for the table.

This hobbiest of the culinary art hunted up an old recipe for cooking game. It goes: "Wash the edibles thoroughly and remove all visible fat. Place in heavy frying pan half filled with water and add a spoonful of baking soda and a spoonful of salt. (A dash of Worchestershire sauce stimulates the flavor.) Boil slowly until the meat is next to tender. Then pour off the water and wash the meat thoroughly again making sure it is clean of loose pieces of fat. Pour a glassful of port wine in the cooker and allow the meat to simmer in it for 30 minutes. Remove meat, wash out pan, placing liberal chunks of butter in it for frying. When the meat is golden brown fall for help to save some for the cook."

Just in case you doubt that coon is a delicacy ask a Belleville milkman, a young Belleville barrister and his sister and the thoughtful neighbor, who provided the tasty feast. They all thought it was fowl until told differently.

Kidney Split When Child Falls From School Slide

TRENTON (Special) — A five-year-old boy is on road to recovery in the Trenton Memorial Hospital following a delicate surgical operation for removal of an injury from a fall from a slide in the school yard at Broadmoor Public School at Middleton Park last Monday.

Bruce Edward Ricketts, son of LAC. George and Mrs. Ricketts, living in Apartment 28 at No. 4 Middleton Park, took a bad tumble and suffered critical internal injuries. He was rushed to the hospital where X-rays revealed emergency surgery was necessary to save his life.

Surgeon Dr. W. A. L. MacDonald, assisted by Dr. S. Bailey, performed the operation. They found one of the boy's kidneys split in half and profuse hemorrhaging. The damaged kidney was removed and bleeding stopped.

Latest report is that little Bruce is expected to be well enough to return home soon for care from his worried parents.

ELECTED PRESIDENT

At a meeting in Belleville this week Jack Goldberg of Trenton was elected president of the Ontario Dry Cleaners' Institute Bay of Quinte Division. The organization's purpose is to promote good relations between the customer public and the dry cleaning mechanics.

Bill Lynch of Belleville was chosen secretary and the executive completed two other Belleville business men, Jim Halpenny and Addison Lloyd.

GIVEN CANDELABRA

Some members of the Trenton Lions Club had a field day last night. Object of their latest fun was Lion. Norman Ostrander, who recently took up piano studies for evening. Amid years of laughter he was formally presented with a candelabra bearing the engraving "Liberace Mac-Pherson."

CHIPPED VERTEBRA

John Firkin, 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Firkin of Spring St., Trenton, had a heavy fall from a teeter-totter while playing in the Dufferin Public School grounds, after school hours, one day last week. The boy walked around for five days and went in swimming before the injury showed up and started to give him pain. Examination revealed the youth suffered a chipped vertebra at the end of the spine.

ATOMS-FOR-PEACE

The international agency could be set up, Lodge said, on a basis similar to specialized agencies of the UN. These agencies are related to the UN in common purposes but operate under their own budgets and constitution.

Lodge said small research reactors, which can be built in a year's time for well under $500,000, would be the practical application of atomic research to medicine, farming and industry.

Looking to the immediate future, he declared:

"We are prepared to start discussion with other countries for the conclusion of bilateral agreements which will make it possible for us under our laws, to furnish technical information, technical assistance, and necessary amounts of fissionable materials for the construction and operation of research reactors to be located abroad."

PLANS CHANGED

He explained that the United States originally envisioned the international atomic agency would hold fissionable materials itself, "but after the Soviet rejection of the United States' proposals, all the negotiating states concluded that it might be preferable that the agency act as a clearing house for requests made to the agency by the various beneficiaries.

"The donor state would earmark fissionable materials for the agency's operations and would transfer those fissionable materials directly to the projects approved by the agency."

UP TO POETS

If ever a country should be brimming over with poets it is Canada.

Her vast expanse, infinite variety, seasonal changes, great waters, wide plains, rolling farmlands, crags and mountains, fertile prairie and barren tundra present a wealth of material that should stir the least poetic amongst us, if not to composition, at least to appreciation.

It is, therefore, surprising to note the lack of poetry deriving its inspiration from Canadian sources. The recent glorious autumn moved only one local poet to submit a sample of verse inspired by autumn and abounding with autumn flavor. That someone was Helen B. Anderson, a youthful octogenarian of Wellington-on-the-Lake whose friendly rhymes have illumined these pages with tasteful good cheer for years.

In the area served by this newspaper there are 85,000 people. It is unthinkable that such a population there was only one person impressed sufficiently by seasonal changes to record an impression in verse.

Poets are notoriously tender shoots in the literary garden and are inclined to shrink from that many authors prefer to blush unseen rather than risk offering their life's blood to the daily newspaper reader.

This belief, whether founded in modesty or fright, withholds from the substance of regional and national culture the priceless ingredients of an individual's feelings on subjects which affect him.

Contrary to the opinion of the framers of the Constitution of our neighbors to the south, all men are not created equal, and it is the poet's place in the scheme of things to interpret life and its surroundings to those of his fellows who are less gifted.

Publishing a book of poems is a staggering financial undertaking these days, not to mention an emotional upheaval, and therefore it becomes necessary for newspapers to assume the task, once left to certain types of magazines and periodicals, of publishing the works of poets. It is not possible, however, to publish something not submitted.

It is now up to the poets—but it should be good.

GOOD NEWS FOR MOTORISTS

A report from Detroit carries cheery news which may mean that hundreds now living will not die in automobile accidents in the years ahead.

A four-year co-operative effort by U.S. automobile manufacturers and the makers of headlamps has resulted in the development of a new type sealed beam lamp. It will become standard equipment during the coming year.

The new lamp provides greater illumination both the upper and lower beam patterns. The lower beam gives as much as 80 feet more vision distance along the right side and shoulder of the road. Yet in spite of this increased light when the driver needs it, this lamp sharply reduces the stray light radiating upward from the lower beam filament into the eyes of the drivers of approaching cars. The upper beam wattage has also been increased.

This improvement in automobile headlights will be welcomed by all who drive at night. When the sealed beam headlight was first introduced, it proved to be a remarkable improvement over former lamps. In the intervening years, though, improvements in many other features of the automobile have resulted in a steady increase in the rate at which the lights flicker and fade. As a result, it appears likely that many drivers today are "out-driving their lights." In other words, they could not stop within the distance over which their headlights give them clear vision.

A suspicion that this condition exists makes a driver uneasy. Equally disconcerting, however, is to find an approaching driver frantically switching his lights up and down at a time when the lights of your own car are already on low beam. It is then evident that, although your lights are "dimmed," they are bothering the driver of the approaching vehicle. And there is nothing that you can do about it.

This new headlamp promises to remedy both these conditions.

A LIVELY TOWN WITHIN THE LAW

Mayor Jean Drapeau of Montreal appears to possess the sagacity which is all too often lacking in reformers.

Swept into office by an aroused citizenry after the nonsensical rule of the fumbling Camillien Houde, he, for which he acted as prosecution lawyer, Mayor Drapeau will, in the words of a dispatch from Montreal by The Canadian Press, "keep out the vice-ridden element." He says have been accumulating in this gay old city for years."

He will not, however, fall into the error of imposing so-called "blue laws." Instead his aim is to make Montreal "a lively town within the law."

Mayor Drapeau will thus be avoiding one of the pitfalls into which reform administrations sometimes fall. In a reaction against the open vices which have been followed by previous corrupt administrations, they frequently display a puritan approach which alienates public support and invites law-breaking of the new and unduly restrictive regulations.

The best way to make the residents of a city law abiding is to make certain that the laws which they are required to observe are reasonable.

No city the size of Montreal—and certainly no seaport—can be turned into a puritan city and any attempt to achieve such a result would make law-breaking inevitable. But operation of "a lively town within the law" is quite feasible—and is all that any administration has any right to require.

20 YEARS AGO

Interesting story about McArthur Mills, due to the resignation of Mrs. Annie Harvey as postmistress of McArthurs Mills, Dungannon township, after forty years of service, and at the age of eighty years, the office passes out of the family for the first time since it was established by the Bancroft Times. The origin of McArthurs Mills name dates back in this way close to seventy years ago: Mr. A. McArthur, the father of Mrs. Harvey, the retiring postmistress, was attracted to the location by the giant pine trees and water power and decided to found a settlement on the spot. The only person to lay claim to the waving pines at the time was a lumberjack named White Duck, whose abode was a nest of leaves and boughs under a turned-up root. Bringing his family and Alonzo Mills McArthur built a place to accommodate them and also a saw mill. Later he added a planing and turning lathe. In his workshop furnitures of various designs grew under his skillful fingers. Neighbors soon came and gradually the nucleus of a settled area grew into a community. Many persons laughed when Mr. McArthur advanced his dream of a school, a cheese factory and a saw mill. But in the face of overwhelming odds and with the oft repeated phrase, "We'll show 'em Archie", ringing in his ears the pioneer persevered and finally the post office was established and named McArthur's Mills in honor of Archie. His daughter Annie and her husband Robert Harvey were now members of the settlement and she eventually fell heir to the post office and for many years discharged well the duties of the office. At the advanced age of eighty years she feels that she should pass the duties on to a younger generation and will be succeeded by Mr. C. H. Cavanagh.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

Packaging, as they call it, is now in its age, almost a fine art, that stands very high on the agenda of both industry and the advertising profession. But packaging has its pitfalls, the chief of which is the thought that might be inspired in the public's mind that they are being more for the package than for the contents. This is an illusion that will be dispelled in due time, because plastic and other materials employed in modern packaging are becoming so commonplace that whereas a year or two ago, a man would lie in hiding around the kitchen for hours in search of those tissue-like synthetic bags that groceries come in, to keep his tobacco, now they are tossed away as casually as paper bags were.

One of my problems is to find small tin boxes to keep used razor blades in. I have a big hand to large for the crowded medicine chest in the bathroom. So I asked my druggist if he had any small boxes I could beg for the purpose. He said behind the partition and appeared with a carton full of the most extraordinary collection of colorful little structures, plastic boxes you ever saw. Some were hinged, some were telescoping, some had a handful of them to serve as a gift, and there is no more delighting user than one receiving old razor blades. I took some for trout flies, and not five years ago, I had to pay a couple of dollars for a fly box made out of the same stuff and used for keeping bachelor buttons in, and collar stiffeners, and paper fasteners, and all the small elusive things a man gradually amasses around himself and his dressing table and desk.

"Help yourself," said the druggist, cheerily. "I'm glad to be rid of them."

"How do you get them?" I enquired.

"Well, sir", said the druggist, confidentially, "in this business, we have to deal with certain psychological factors. Some of the costliest drugs and preparations we have to sell are both by poor people and rich. Drugs are not luxuries. When a customer of modest means has to pay $8 for what seems a small box of these boxes contained, I always take it out and put it in a cardboard pillbox. I don't want to distress him by letting him think that the package is part of the cost. It isn't, of course. It is a matter of a couple of cents."

Journey to West Coast

By G. A. MORTON
(Managing Editor)

There is a small historical collection in San Francisco that is well worth a visit although no mention of it was made in any of the city guide books that we saw. It is maintained by the Wells Fargo Bank in their head office in the business district. Some time ago the National Geographic Magazine had a small write-up of it in reference to early California history and was responsible for the interest it aroused.

It is a museum but many notable exhibits including a well-preserved stage coach of the 1850's and the golden spike which commemorated the completion of the first transcontinental railroad to the west. The spike was resting in a safe and by means of mirrors it was possible to see the names of those who had officiated at the last golden spike ceremonies held on a promontory overlooking down into Great Salt Lake End across which the railway ran. This was in 1869. That was over eighty years before the CPR was completed across Canada.

The stage coach was one which had been in service, but was in a good state of preservation. Judging from the interior seating arrangements, it was not a vehicle which pampered its passengers. There was no padding on the two seats facing one another and the front and between, there was a board suspended from the top which had room for three passengers and on the outside there was a strap stretched across between the supporting corner straps. These three seats would accommodate nine persons, six more could ride on the roof and one beside the driver.

NO SPRINGS

There were no springs and the body was suspended on steel side straps in multiple layers which rose from front to rear under the body. These straps were called "thoroughbraces." The description of this museum said the leather took away some of the jolting from the roads, but nothing was said about how the passengers fared. Under the driver's seat high up on the front was a space where valuable cargo was carried and this space was covered by a leather apron. At the back of the coach body was a small trunk rack for the ordinary luggage and this was covered by a leather apron and other leather apron as protection against the rain and dirt thrown up by the wheels. It was certainly was a heavy ungainly vehicle according to modern standards.

The coach being heavy had a brake on each rear wheel and this was operated by a pedal alongside driver's feet. When the grade was extra steep, iron runners attached to the body by chains were placed under each rear wheel so that the friction of the runners under the weight of the coach kept it from ever running the horses.

RECALL OF OLDEN DAYS

While looking over the coach we got in conversation with a very fine gentleman, Mr. A. H. Jamieson of Santa Ana, California, which is near Los Angeles. He told that during the latter part of the century he had driven mule teams of ore from the mines to freight hauls. He explained it was not too difficult if the lead team was trained to keep to the left on the corners so that the wagon would automatically follow on the inside track and not in the ditch as was the danger. When asked about the kind of horses used on the stage coaches he said that they were usually of the heavy draft road horses weighing about 1,100 pounds and anything heavier than that was too slow for the pace which had to be maintained. Sometimes there were four horses on each coach. They travelled in stages of about twenty-five miles each and in all irrigated areas where he grows cotton. He also owns another 150 acres in Orange County. Here where the county is located we did not see any cotton but five years ago two he raises considerable quantities of spinach and table beets. Mr. Jamieson started in November and cut in February and March.

Picking of cotton has come to be pretty much mechanized now, he said. A spray is applied to the cotton plant to take off the leaves and when it is ready to pick the cotton picker can do a much cleaner job. Formerly, he said, even before the defoliage process was developed was the practice in the early days of mechanical picking.

MUCH WATER USED

Mr. Jamieson also explained something of system of payment for water used in irrigation. The Imperial Valley belonged to an association which owned the water and it was least controlled the water distribution. Farmers were charged at the rate of so much per inch. In the Santa Ana area he used the equivalent of sixty to seventy inches of water annually all of which came from

Appreciation Shown in Will

(San Angela, Texas, Evening Standard)

Julius Lehmann, a native of Germany who lived in this country 50 years and found it good to him, left all but $1,000 of his $70,000 estate to the "government of the United States of America."

His will said he and his wife were much indebted for the blessings we have enjoyed as citizens of this country.

This is on the unusual side, but most of us have perhaps pictured figure that the government is going to gets its share anyway, insamuch as these quarterly medication days, such as Sept. 15, get around frequently enough to reveal that Uncle Same is very much a partner in private enterprise these days.

Those who pay with regularity probably figure they are expressing their appreciation, too.

Mr. Lehmann had a background of which the people of his country that impelled appreciation for the land. His last will and testament is a refreshing break in much of the news that somehow gives the impression that the United States is not properly appreciated by many who live under its protection.

If the Voice of America is looking for something to broadcast, this man and his will provide a compelling proof that truth is stranger than fiction. Breaks in the iron curtain might well be filled with such information as this getting back home to the slaves of the Communists and other totalitarian countries.

the Colorado River.

This amount of moisture is considerably more than is received by rain and snow in the Bay of Quinte area which averages around 30 inches. The longer growing season in California naturally required much more moisture because the air is drier and warmer. Mr. Jamieson said that he was able to raise from two to three bales of cotton per acre compared with one to one and a half produced in other parts of the States. The Imperial Valley of California is the Valley is higher than the average, he said.

It is hope that if Mr. Jamieson ever does this report he will exercise more care. His geography is a little faulty at times. For instance, he stated that the facts are substantially correct. In any case we enjoyed meeting this gentleman from California and many interesting things he had to say.

COLLECTORS' ITEMS

Returning to the inspection of the exhibits in the museum we saw a fine assortment of rifles, chiefly Winchesters, used in the early days of the West. Also there was a fine personal protection and some used by gamblers, including a 1,000 dollar bill. There are many cases of letters with stamps which would make a collector's mouth water. There are also many documents of historic value. One of these was a printed sheet announcing a religious one, the toastmaster of which acted after the stage had departed, that there were those who left something of themselves behind when they had performed. In this instance the whole atmosphere of the place was charged with that artist's personality.

I love my friends. I love to have them visit my home and my summer island retreat. I like to visit them in their homes. But all the parties in the world cannot take the place of loneliness. It's because something of our friend is left behind in the form of personal property gone. On the other hand, however, there is the hope for other meetings.

I dare say that there is no spot upon this earth that will be a happier greeting extended than the one to greet a Rotarian in Hawaii. You land from your boat to that heart tightener of all songs "Aloha" and with you leave joyous upon the Pacific from your boat that same song. It is that you given to you, as a gesture that you will some day return. Women are not the only sentimentalists as visitors leave Hawaii after a visit. I have seen the leis of friends, big, strong men as they have left that flower and beauty scented island. When we leave something of ourselves behind, wherever we go, we have left the essence of ourselves!

Personal Health Talks

By DR. WM. BRADY

TREATMENT OF A SURGEON'S FILES

Arthur S. Morley, F. R. C. S., in his monograph on Haemorrhoids (quoted spelling of haemorrhoids), published by Cornell University Press in 1924—"I am a firm believer that better results think before twice are obtained by making any incision into the horse and buggy era — quicker, one has

Dr. Brady

Charles Royall, presumably a man of distinction, as follows:

"With regard to interstitial injections, he considered they gave very good results, and this method of treatment (for internal piles) was especially useful in the aged and debilitated, but at the same time one could not call it a cure. He did not state his reasons either for depriving all excepting the aged and debilitated of the obvious advantages of injection.

Charles Royall with faint praise is typical of the way the old timers in surgery hold their practice against popular demand for new or improved methods.

He did not deign to explain why one could not call it a cure, nor did he venture to say that one could call radical surgery (removing by incision and excision) or the formidable excision of the entire pile-bearing area by what is called "Whitehead surgery" (ligation) a cure.

Morley treated 2,000 cases of internal hemorrhoids by injection at St. Mark's Hospital in London and about 1,500 private cases in his office. That was results from injection, compared favorably with the results his colleagues obtained from radical survey was indicated by the fact that three of the house-surgeons who had ample opportunities to observe both methods—that is, radical surgery and the ambulant (office) method — and compared them, became enthusiastic practitioners of the injection method, and one of them chose injection treatment for himself rather than submit to the clamp and cautery ordeal, which Sir Charles and other old timers prefer—for their victims.)

By the way, does Sir Charles Ryall or any other nineteenth century surgeon, specialist, practitioner or authority in England or in America dare say that cutting and searing by cautery, removal by ligature or dissection by the Whitehead method cures piles? Probably not. That is an inference the shrewd ever-ready reporter for the press is prepared to draw for himself.

Piles may have a simple, painless injection of a pile, which takes a minute or so in the doctor's office, without a hitch. Particular pile as positively as any other method can—but chilterpiles of one or more piles, by any means you choose, does not prevent the latent incurable development of the same varicose condition in one or more of the numerous small veins of the area if the faulty hygiene that caused the formation in the first place is not corrected.

STRENGTH FOR THE DAY

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

LITTLE WHEELS FIRST

After a windstorm has swept across a countryside and all varieties of damage have been overtorn and twisted, the gangs of repair men who rush in to handle the damage often find that they have to repair damage which seems relatively unimportant before they can get to the really serious damage. What people want is the telephone and the lights restarting again. Sometimes the big wheels cannot start to turn until the impairment of the myriad little wheels from turning has first been attended to.

In building satisfactory moral character, we very often have to give our initial attention to the repairing of little damages. One of the great mistakes made by zealous leaders today is their attempt to enlist in the solving of great problems before the little problems before these people have repaired the personal weaknesses that they have. No use talking to a person about manifesting a broad outlook on social questions if he or she has no control of his temper. It is futile to urge a person to join in the work of human benefactors who are striving to make the world better, and at the same time be evasive, slightly dishonest, and unreliable in what he says and does. It is useless to preach gospel in vain to people whose minds are impure and whose habits of life reflects this impurity.

So it often happens that we fail to do anything to make the world better because we need so desperately to make our own hearts honest, pure, sincere, and generous.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

LEAVE SOMETHING BEHIND

So much of life is taken up with meetings and—partings.

Meetings bring joy and happiness, and the partings a certain sadness that can't be fully explained. It seems sometimes as if we have forgotten to tell our friend something that we meant to, or there is still something more that we wanted to learn but forgot to ask.

I like people who leave something behind them, after they have gone, to remind us of their presence. It may be no more than their cheer and freshness of mind, and their sense of kindliness. I once heard a magnificent singer at a choir meeting after one of his songs, which was a religious one, the toastmaster introduced, after the singer had departed, that there were those who left something of themselves behind when they had performed. In this instance the whole atmosphere of the place was charged with that artist's personality.

I love my friends. I love to have them visit my home and my summer island retreat. I like to visit them in their homes. But all the parties in the world cannot take the place of loneliness. It's because something of our friend is left behind in the form of personal property gone. On the other hand, however, there is the hope for other meetings.

I dare say that there is no spot upon this earth that will be a happier greeting extended than the one to greet a Rotarian in Hawaii. You land from your boat to that heart tightener of all songs "Aloha" and with you leave joyous upon the Pacific from your boat that same song. It is that you given to you, as a gesture that you will some day return. Women are not the only sentimentalists as visitors leave Hawaii after a visit. I have seen the leis of friends, big, strong men as they have left that flower and beauty scented island. When we leave something of ourselves behind, wherever we go, we have left the essence of ourselves!

Loudest Voice In British Army Now Retired

ALDERSHOT, England (Reuters) The loudest voice in the British army almost cracked with emotion Thursday when Regimental Sergeant-Major Ronald Brittain used it to bellow his last command.

The towering sergeant-major, retiring after 33 years' service, confessed afterwards, "I felt very sad."

His last order to 400 officer cadets passing inspection by the Duke of Gloucester, the Queen's uncle, was "eyes down."

There was a lump in his throat as he gave the order.

"But I went off in full song with a perfect rendering," he said.

Company Turns $1,400 Over To Relief Fund

HAMILTON (CP)—The Ontario Hurricane Relief Fund is $1,400 richer because employees of the National Steel Car Corporation Limited was fired 30 years ago.

Officials of the corporation said Thursday they received a box containing 28 $50 bills Aug. 7. There was no explanation, and the sender identified himself only as a "former employee."

The company turned the money over to the relief fund. Spokesmen for the company said they believe the money came from an employee of the accounting department, who was fired from his job 30 years ago when auditors discovered a shortage of $1,400 in his books.

They said the loss was "due mostly to carelessness," and no charges were laid.

ASTRONOMY HAS PRACTICAL VALUE

Practical use of astronomers' studies of the sun is displayed at the 11ph Altitude observatory at Climax, Col. There, an artificial eclipse of the sun is photographed giving the corona effect as shown right. Then the astronomers examine the photo and predict the weather. So accurate have they been that a nearby airline relies on them for transcontinental schedules. Above, W. O. Roberts, left, director of the observatory, and astronomers E. D. Farthing and R. H. Cooper study a slide which shows the corona in color. Red, they have found, precedes rain; green fringes indicate dry spells and by a series of computations they draw a weather chart for days ahead. Eight Miners Stage 'Stay Down' Strike

ABERDARE, Wales (AP)—Eight coal miners Thursday went on a "stay down" strike underground.

Three hundred miners who came to the surface supported them by refusing to work and forced the colliery to shut down.

Well supplied with food, the strikers said they would not come up until the general manager of the government-operated mine was transferred.

Union leaders went down the pit and tried to persuade them to press their grievances through normal channels.

The strikers wouldn't budge.

Security Pact With Chiang Is Considered

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is holding talks with Nationalist China with a view toward a security pact, diplomatic authorities said Wednesday night.

The talks are being held by assistant state secretary Walter Robertson and George Yeh, Nationalist Chinese foreign minister now in Washington.

The U.S. supplies arms for Nationalist forces on Formosa and the American 7th Fleet protects the island against the possibility of Communist invasion attempts.

At present the United States and the Nationalists have a "gentlemen's agreement" whereby the Nationalists will consult Washington before undertaking any action, even of a defensive nature against the Communist mainland.

Informants said the proposed pact would continue this arrangement.

Woman, Secretary to French Premier, Known in Ottawa

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—The visit to Canada next week of French Premier Pierre Mendes-France brings back to political life an attractive young Frenchwoman well known in wartime Ottawa.

The circumstances are exceptional. Three months ago Elisabeth de Miribel was in a convent of the Carmelite order, where she had spent 4½ post-war years removed from worldly influences.

Now, at 34, forced by ill health to give up the severe life of the Carmelites, she is ready to resume a political career. On the North American trip, which starts Nov. 12, she will act as adviser to Mendes-France, with a particular eye to facilitating press coverage.

REVIEWS CANADA

This tall, soft-voiced woman, who is acquainted with many Canadian diplomats, is busy looking through reference books, refreshing her memory on a country she knew from July, 1941 to July, 1943 as head of the Free French information bureau in Ottawa. There, as Gen. de Gaulle's personal representative, she was virtually an ambassador, presiding over a staff of 12 in a big house on Daly avenue, in constant touch with diplomatic circles.

Miss de Miribel appears unperturbed at the prospect of going back to the world of press conferences and off-the-record talks.

"It's become second nature with me," she said in an interview. "If I were going straight from the convent into something new and different, it might be more alarming."

Miss de Miribel, born in Commercy, France, started her working life as an expert on child psychology. She was chosen to go to Ottawa in 1941 partly because the Free French were short of men. She spoke little English at the time and pays her tribute to her "teacher," Gladys Arnold of Ottawa, now with the French embassy in London.

She later went to Algiers, rode into Paris at the liberation behind the late Gen. Leclerc and joined the French foreign office in 1946, dealing especially with Anglo-Saxon affairs. In Algiers she came to know Canadian diplomat Gen. George Vanier, now retired.

SOUGHT CONVENT LIFE

Vanier was known as "ambassador of the resistance" because of his close contacts with French resistance leaders.

Miss de Miribel joined the Carmelite order in February, 1949. She says she found exactly what she hoped for in this 800-year-old order which practises total abstinence, almost living and silence. She left only on doctor's orders and with the approval of her superiors at the convent.

During her cloistered life, at Notre-Dame-sous-Terre, she wrote a book on a saintly German Jew named Edith Stein, who died in 1942 in the gas chambers of Auschwitz. Practically her only other contact with the outside world was the weekly reading of an American newspaper sent by a friend.

After leaving the convent Miss de Miribel hoped to get a job with the United Nations but the dust d'Orsay heard she was back and asked her to accompany the French delegation to Canada and the United States.

She quickly accepted. She thinks Mendes - France is a "dynamic" premier and the first to offer the French people some hope of shaking off the long post-war nightmare of instability and decay.

St. Margaret's Guild held its regular meeting in the church hall on Monday evening. The president, Mrs. F. E. Moore, opened the meeting with prayers.

Largest project on hand is the Christmas bazaar under the general direction of Mrs. C. Partridge. The treasurer, Mrs. R. E. Wood, reported on the recent bridge and euchre.

Highlight of the evening was an informative talk by Canon A. S. McConnell, rector of Trenton, on "The Women's Church Year." This organization which is carrying on successfully in Trenton is the only one in operation in this diocese.

The Rev'd. Arthur Page introduced the speaker and the appreciation of the Guild was expressed by Mrs. F. E. Moore.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. R. Bailey and Mrs. F. R. Clarke.

Princess Margaret Attends Showing of Gowns by Dior

WOODSTOCK, England (Reuters)—Princess Margaret watched with lively interest as 12 French mannequins showed the latest Dior's winter fashion collection Wednesday at Blenheim Palace, seat of the dukes of Marlborough since 1704.

The Princess, wearing a full-skirted black velvet dress with low-cut bodice and matching black velvet hat, arrived at the palace in a full-length mink coat. She exchanged that for a mink shoulder cape before walking through eight thronged drawing rooms and staterooms to the long library.

The occasion was a charity show organized by the Duchess of Marlborough in aid of the British Red Cross.

With one exception, the collection which Dior brought over from Paris was that which launched his controversial flat-chested line in August.

The exception was a gown named blenheim, specially designed for the occasion. It was a full-skirted evening dress, but on princesses lines, with a cross-over bodice. It was made of palest rose pink satin embroidered with mother of pearl sequins, while silk chenille tassels and pearls of a deeper rose pink than the dress. With it was worn a head white satin stole.

More than 1,600 distinguished guests each of whom had paid $14.70 for their gilt chairs, watched the parade.

Bazaar and Tea Held at Carmel

RAWDON. — Carmel Jubilee Hall in Rawdon township, was decorated with baskets of bittersweet, and autumn blooms last Friday for the bazaar.

A long table, full length, was arranged in booths. Here was displayed the wares for sale.

The apron booth was filled with gaily-pretty dusting, pinkies in various colors and patterns, hand aprons modelled from the newly-designed print in patchwork style, organdy and broadcloth and some hand-trimmed.

The sewing booth displayed flannelette nightties in sprigged design, embroidered pillow cases and tea towels, children's clothes, handicraft mitts, crocheted wear for babies.

The home-made candy booth was filled with pounds of fudge, creams and chocolates.

The tea table displayed pies, layer and square cakes.

The bazaar opened following a program in the church.

Across the front of the hall a dining table was set with silver candelabra, bowls of flowers and the silver tea services on a white Madeira cloth.

Quartet tables were set up with small vases of baby 'mums as a central theme and lovely linen table covers.

Mrs. Arthur Fraser provided music in the church as the guests from the neighboring districts filled the church to capacity.

Mrs. Ray Hagerman was financial secretary.

Mrs. Joe Grills, president of Carmel W.A., presided and the program opened with the Doxology. Mrs. A. Packman was in charge of the devotional period.

Mrs. Grills welcomed the large audience.

She paid special honor to Mrs. Arthur Fraser, who is now president of Hastings and Prince Edward Presbytery W.A. Mrs. Fraser replied thanking the Carmel W.A.

Mrs Herbert Smith, of Mount Pleasant, read a selection and Mrs. Ross Hart, of Burnbrae, sang, with Mrs. Elwin C. Pollock as accompanist.

Mrs. Russell Hubel introduced Mrs. John Mulheron, the guest speaker of the afternoon.

Mrs. Mulheron spoke on "The Highlights of Evanston" World Council of Churches meeting, from a woman's point of view.

The speaker traced Methodism in Evanston which is over 100 years old. She described the church in detail and said all the sessions held in the church were largely attended.

The World Council of Churches was founded 18 years ago with the hope that unity would strengthen the various churches. It was a tremendous task. The first movement began in 1910 at Edinburgh, Scotland, when an international conference council was formed, then in 1925 at Stockholm, Sweden, the universal church council had its beginning. In 1937, at Lucerne, Switzerland, the World Council of Faith and Order was constituted and in 1937 at Oxford, Edinburgh the basis for the World Council of Churches was planned, with the fellowship of churches to be formed by all acknowledging Jesus Christ as Saviour of the world. The war prohibited further meetings. However in 1948, at Amsterdam, Holland, the first great meeting was held.

SECOND MEETING

The second meeting of the World Council of Churches, at Evanston, Illinois, U.S., was attended by 163 churches representing 48 countries. The representatives from the eastern churches were garbed in ecclesiastical dress and there were scores of people in attendance from the United Church of Canada.

The speaker told of Canada's help in contributing 30,000 bales of clothing, a large quantity of cash and many other essentials and this assisted 134,000 families in war-torn Europe.

Canada was the second largest contributor in helping the underprivileged peoples of the world.

The opening service or worship was colorful as the delegates marched through the passageway to the First Methodist Church.

The Soldiers' Field Service in Geneva depicted "The Festival of Faith", a Biblical narrative giving the story of Creation down to the Resurrection. Over 100,000 people viewed this spectacle.

The plenary sessions were held in McGaw auditorium and one address of special note was "Christ—the Hope of the World".

PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS

President Eisenhower urged the peoples of the various churches to put their part in helping to show the way to live in unity in these troubled times.

Notable Christian leaders in attendance included Bishop Sergei from Hungary, and Kagawa of Japan, and they all proclaimed the vitality of the Christian faith.

Mrs. Mulheron closed with a message from Paul of the tremendous need for folks in the United Church to be willing to work for the Kingdom.

NEW HYMN

A new hymn written by Dr. G. Harkness and sung at the Festival of Faith entitled "Christ, the Hope of the World", was rendered by Mrs. Walter Warren, after the speaker concluded.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

HE MAKES DATES, THEN STANDS HER UP

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I have been going out off and on with a boy who is in the navy. The last two times he came home he called me up and made a date, and then never showed up. This time, he telephoned the next day and apologized for not keeping the date. He said that something else came up and he couldn't help it. He said he hoped I wasn't angry, and that he would call me next time he was in town.

Do you think a boy who liked a girl even a little would treat her like that, and do you think I should make any more dates with him? — Lucie

Dear Lucie:

I can't see why you would want to keep on making dates with any boy who treated you in such a casual fashion.

If he calls you again and asks for a date, don't turn him down as though you were mad about the other dates, but just tell him that you're sorry you're tied up for that night. If he suggests another night, say you have something on then that night, too. That will make him understand, without your having to tell him in so many words, that you don't care much about making dates with a boy who leaves you sitting around waiting for him.

If he really likes you, and wants to see something of you, he'll probably apologize and promise it will never be repeated. Then, if you like him enough to want to give him another chance, that's all right. If you don't just tell him that you're afraid you have too many dates scheduled ahead to be able to find a free one, which should make it perfectly clear that you're not interested in seeing him again.

HER FIANCE IS BUSY—CAN SHE GO OUT WITH OTHERS?

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am 20 and engaged to a young man the same age. Because he has to help his family financially, he has a job in the daytime and goes to college at night, so he can't take me out too often. This makes it very dull for me.

Since we're not making any definite plans about marriage until he is out of college, which will be a couple of years more, we haven't yet announced our engagement, so do you think I am wrong in wanting to go out to the movies, or to a party, with some other boy occasionally, just for companionship and a good time when my own love friend cannot be with me? — D.W.

Dear D.W.:

I'm afraid I do think you would be wrong to go out with any other boy while keeping people in ignorance of the fact that you're engaged. That wouldn't be fair either to your fiance or to the other boy.

My advice to you would be to announce your engagement, even though your marriage is a good way off. Then, if your fiance doesn't object, I can't see any real reason why you shouldn't go out now and then with someone who thoroughly understands the situation and will behave accordingly. I do think, though, that it would be better if you went out with a group of friends, rather than with one boy alone. Your boy friend could hardly make any objection to your having good times with the crowd on some of the evenings he can't be with you.

Beauty

FOUNDATIONS MOLD THE FIGURE

There are few feminine shapes so perfect that a foundation garment does not improve the silhouette. According to one corsetieres, there are four basic figure types; junior, misses, normal and full. There are numerous variations of each type; large hips and small breasts; large breasts and small hips, and so on. These variations pose separate and special problems that can only be solved by an experienced fitter.

Whether buying a bandeau, brassiere, girdle, or all-in-one, the most important thing to remember and consider when making a selection, is her type. It must be exactly right because health, comfort, grace and style depend upon the correct cut and size.

The ideal figure is well-proportioned. Hips and breasts are mature, waistline trim, abdomen flat.

The overweight woman has difficulties because adipose tissue creates distortions of good figure but the proper foundation garment reorders these less noticeable. Usually the waist line has followed a policy of expansion, hips are reduced. The flesh may be firm or relaxed. Corsetieres say that it is necessary to determine whether the size of the figure is due to large bones or an over-supply of fat cells.

There are women who are slender above the waist but who have increased in size below it. Some have large legs and small torsos; others have short legs and long torsos. Breasts may be placed high, low, large or small, which means that the brassiere must also be carefully selected to create pleasing lines.

Readers' Friday Column

By Mary Moore

QUESTION:

. . . could you give me a recipe for macaroni with tomatoes. . . my elder daughter had it at the Y.W.C.A. and said it was delicious. —Mrs. John H.

ANSWER:

I have written to you separately about the first part of your letter.

MACARONI-TOMATO CASSEROLE

For six generous servings boil 8 oz. (uncooked) macaroni in 2 quart boiling salted water until tender—about 10 to 15 minutes—do not overcook. Place it in alternating layers in large buttered baking dish with 1 1-4 cups cut up old or rolled cheese and 3 1-2 cups canned tomatoes, sprinkling on the layers 3-4 teaspoon salt and 1-4 teaspoon pepper. If desired you may sprinkle top with mixture of 1-4 cup stale bread or cracker crumbs and 1-4 cup dry grated cheese. Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for 40 to 50 minutes or until bubbling and golden.

QUESTION:

Because I don't know so well how to write, the English I just say: Thank you very much. This little things ar: "Just Blow" are so fine to read and learn about. Would you please send me the recipes for Green Tomato Mince, Brown Sugar Boiled Frosting? How could I put parsley in the locker? I would like to have a pressure cooker. I wonder if it saves the proteins and vitamins or if the big heat makes damage. Excuse my writing.—M. S.

ANSWER:

Your English and writing and letter are all fine. I have mailed you a copy of the release which appeared here containing Green Tomato Mince, Oct. 22. Store raw parsley in covered jar and freeze. Shred to use.

BROWN SUGAR BOILED FROSTING

One cup brown sugar well packed, (white sugar may be used in this recipe if desired), 1-16 teaspoon cream of tartar, 1-2 cup boiling water, 1 white of egg, 1-2 teaspoon vanilla or 1 teaspoon lemon juice. Mix together sugar, cream of tartar and water and stir over low heat until sugar is dissolved. Then boil without stirring until temperature is 238 deg. Fahr. (soft ball stage when tried in cold water). Let syrup cool until you can hold your hand on side of pan. Beat egg white until stiff, then slowly pour syrup into it beating, and beat until it will hold its shape. This makes a soft icing. If firm crisp icing is desired add syrup to egg white while it is hot.

You may buy a pressure cooker at large hardware stores or hardware department of large department stores. Let me know if you have any trouble procuring one in your city. The pressure cooker definitely conserves vitamins.

QUESTION:

We picked all of our corn at the first frost. I have a bushel basket of it, and a lot is too ripe to eat. What can I do with it? . . . I tried your glazed blueberry pie. It was lovely . . . how do you dip up blueberries thick enough to have ready for pie or tarts, and yet not too sweet.—Mrs. Wm. R.

ANSWER:

I am afraid that by the time you receive this reply it will be too late to salvage that corn. If you had a pressure cooker you could can it "cream-style" or make cream of corn soup or corn chowder. What you do to avoid the skin of each kernel is slit through them down each row with a sharp pointed knife, then with back of knife strip out the "cream" in centre of each. But you cannot can this successfully without a pressure cooker. If you have a freezer you could husk the corn, wrap it in freezer paper and freeze it, then thaw it and cut it from cob as above and make cream of corn soup or chowder as you need it in the next week or so. See tomorrow's column for canned blueberries.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECKMAN

BRIDE'S DIVORCED MOTHER SHOULD USE CORRECT FORM OF NAME

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I am divorced, and my daughter has very recently become engaged to a young man who is in the Army Air Force. I am planning to announce the engagement in our papers here as soon as I receive some information details regarding his family, to be used in the announcement, I am not sure how I should use my name. On some occasions I have used my surname as the first name: Mrs. Holden Smith, and on other occasions I have used Mrs. Clara Holden Smith. Which is really correct for the newspaper announcement? — C.H.S.

Correct form to use in this announcement: Mrs. Holden Smith.

For this so-important announcement you must surely use the correct form of your name, for the incorrect form ("Mrs. Clara Holden Smith") will "stand out like a sore thumb" in the announcement.

TO SEND CARD TO BROTHER'S EX-FIANCEE?

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My brother and his fiancee have recently broken their engagement. His ex-fiancee and I have been very good friends ever since we were in our early teens, and we have always sent birthday cards to each other, sometimes birthday presents. I don't know what caused them to break their engagement, but I haven't seen her since. Do you think it would be proper for me to send her a birthday card for her birthday soon, or do you think she might think this inappropriate under the circumstances? — Jo

I think you should send her a birthday greeting card as you always have done. Since your brother hasn't confided to you the reason for the breaking of the engagement I think you should take it for granted that it probably has no connection with your friendship, and so that friendship can endure. At least if or until you find out differently.

HOW MARRIED WOMAN SIGNS LEGAL PAPER

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

How should a married woman sign legal papers? Is "Mrs." included in any way in the signature? Soon I shall need to have this information, and I would like to be prepared. — Anne D.H.

It is correct for you to sign a legal paper with your three names in full. . .(1) your first name, (2) your maiden surname, (3) your married surname. For example; Anne Davis Hall.

Note 1: Generally "Mrs." is not included in the signature of a legal paper.

Note 2: If for any special reason the legal paper or document requires a special form of signature (as initial for the maiden surname, for example) you will be informed about this either in the paper itself or by the person directing the signing, a lawyer, for example.

Book of Remembrance Listing Canada's 41,901 Dead In Second World War Completed

By BERNARD DUFRESNE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—A book of remembrance listing Canada's 41,901 dead in the Second World War is now complete. Nobody seems to know where it should go.

The 66,451 dead in the First World War are recalled in the Memorial Chamber of the Parliament Buildings' Peace Tower. There, on Aug. 3, 1927, the Duke of Windsor, then Prince of Wales, "set-apart the altar of this chamber to receive and hold forever the book of remembrance that the valour of those whose names are written herein may live for all generations."

REQUEST FOR SPACE

So far, there are no plans for a second memorial chamber to enshrine the book now in production. There is only a request in the cabinet for appointment of a committee to study the matter.

However, a number of informal suggestions about a suitable repository have been filed for reference.

Some government officials are reported inclined to disregard suggestions that the book be placed in the new veterans' memorial building, which will house soon the veterans affairs department, or in a war memorial planned for Gatineau Park, north of Ottawa.

They prefer a site closer to the present chamber at the foot of the Peace Tower in Parliament's centre block.

One view here is that the new book would be out of place alongside the first one. All the sculpture in the chamber is related to Canadian achievements in the First World War.

It is doubtful that space for a second chamber could be found higher in the 293-foot tower. The carillon's 53 bells take up most of the space.

There is a suggestion that a chamber could be built just off the circular gallery which runs above and around the centre block's main entrance. Confederation Hall, Or, there might be space near the entrances to the Senate or Commons wings.

Some support for a memorial chamber near the present one comes from the policy of the Imperial War Graves Commission which has recommended that Second World War memorials should be, as far as possible, additions or extensions to First World War memorials. Canada is a member of the commission.

The new book of remembrance, in preparation more than three years, is the work of Ottawa artists, headed by Alan Beddoe, 41-year-old retired RCN lieutenant-commander who did the decorative illumination on the 601 pages of the first book.

DESCRIBED NAMES

The names were inscribed by two men with a similar handwriting—Jean Paul Champagne, 36 now an army private, and J. D. E. Rae. Decorative work on the 601-odd pages—now almost completed—was designed by Mrs. Yvonne Dicoman. The colors are being filled in by Mrs. Nancy Ann Dicey and Sandra Lowther. The book should be completed in about 1½ years.

Besides is one of the few top people associated with the first memorial chamber still living.

He's there as F. J. Hollister, Toronto, who designed the stained glass windows, Frances Loring, designer of the figures over the doorway, and Col. A. Fortescue Dugald, retired director of the defence department's historical section, who wrote the history of the war for the stone tablets lining the walls and sketched the arrangement of military emblems.

Sqdn. Ldr. William H. Baldwin, who inscribed the names in the first book, was killed during the Second World War. Now, his names will be listed in the new book of remembrance.

"CANADA AT ROME" . . . Here in Italy, in the warm tones of a friendly language, Canada was talked about . . . and read about, too. From conversation in the shadows of the Coliseum to enthusiastic reviews in the press, Canada was on the lips and in the minds of thousands of Romans.

Through the international language of art, the Seagram Collection of Paintings of Canadian Cities interpreted to the world the dramatic growth of our nation and the vitality of our citizens. Above all, the Seagram Collection earned many new friends for Canada by bringing a fuller understanding of things Canadian to peoples of other lands.

Nutrition Expert Returns After Two Years in Baghdad

By H. L. JONES
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—A Canadian nutrition expert has just returned after two years in Baghdad where she taught Iraqi girls—and learned a lot.

Dr. Jessie Brodie of Toronto says she had little idea of life in Iraq when she went there in 1952. But she soon learned about the strange ways of the Middle East, where red tape abounds, where woman is still considered inferior to man, and where students hold sway over teachers.

She found herself in the middle of a student riot that brought martial law. She went through floods and heard shooting in the streets. And she found she had to tread softly in her job of teaching the meaning and value of nutrition lest she offend the Moslem religion which forbids the consumption of certain foods.

MAKING PROGRESS

And while she was glad to leave Baghdad, she said in an interview she wouldn't have missed it for the world.

She believes the Iraqis are making progress, though they have a long way to go in certain fields such as hygiene and nutrition. The government is using vast amounts of its oil wealth to build new schools and roads, establish industries and build flood control.

Dr. Brodie left the directorship of the home economics department of the University of Toronto in 1952 to take the Baghdad assignment with the Food and Agriculture Organization. Her job was to establish a home economics course and set up a laboratory at Queen Aliya college for girls.

The first thing she had to do was learn key Arabic words. Few of any of her class of 35 spoke English.

TAUGHT WITH CAUTION

Dr. Brodie said Moslems believe Allah is responsible for the timing of each event from birth to death. Thus she could not attempt to teach that nutrition would make people live longer, but rather that it would make for happy, healthy children.

Iraq, she said, is a police state. It takes days to get a parcel through customs. Permits must be acquired to take pictures. Ten persons with cameras are allowed. Those who take pictures of bridges and other landmarks of possible military significance are jailed, including Westerners.

TIN IN THE BAG

VANCOUVER (CP)—A lone gunman escaped with $3,700 here today in a closing-time holdup of a downtown branch of the Bank of Toronto. R. J. Crompton, manager, told police the man, aged about 45 or 50, entered the bank shortly before closing time and thrust a gun at the teller, Mrs. Y. J. Collis. She handed the money to the intruder who thrust it into a bag and departed with $45,000.

Returns from Baghdad

Dr. Jessie Brodie, of Toronto, Canadian nutritional expert, has returned from a two-year teaching assignment for the United Nations food and agricultural organization in Baghdad. Besides teaching Iraqui girls she got an education herself in Eastern living and found herself in the middle of riots and floods. (CP Photo).

Sunday School Lesson:

Tragedy of The Self-Deceived

By ROY L. SMITH

The worst fooled man is that one who fools himself. He has so much confidence in the one who fools him that he cannot believe he has been fooled.

ALCOHOL A DECEIVER

The Scripture passages in this week's Sunday School lesson, although they are taken from the misted wisdom of a great people and are thousands of years old, sound almost as if they might have come from this year's report from a board of psychologists that has been studying the problem of alcohol.

> The Uniform Sunday School lesson for November 7: "The Splendor of Self-Control," Proverbs 14; 15:1-3; 16; 20; 23:29-35; 25.

The "perverse things" men say when they are under influence of liquor, the "worst" men suffer as a result of alcoholism, the deceptions men visit upon themselves in the process of drinking —all this is very ancient as well as very modern. We may have invented new names for our maladies but we have not altered the character of their woes.

Psychology, experience, and the preachers are agreed in at least one matter, Alcohol is always a deceiver.

Contrary to an impression that is widespread alcohol never stimulates; it always depresses. It has the effect of loosening the nervous and psychological controls with the physical functions of the body allowed to run wild. It is precisely like a racing motor which is in neutral. The engine is running but the car is standing still. The drinker is deceived into thinking that he is accomplishing more because of the fact that he has lost his ability to evaluate his own effort.

We talk about the drinker drowning his troubles, but the facts are alcohol never dissolves even the smallest difficulty. The alcoholic always finds all his troubles standing around waiting for him when he gets back from a binge.

DRINKS TO ESCAPE

When the drinker is honest with himself, he admits that he drinks in the hope of experiencing the "effect" of alcohol on his nervous system. He has discovered that it slows up reactions, benumbs his perceptions, and makes him less conscious of the facts and forces of the world about him.

Instead of walking straight up to his problem and solving it, he seeks to escape from his problem by drugging himself into temporary oblivion.

One of the odd things about our drinking habits is that so many times it is made to appear that the drinker is the "he man," whereas the man who drinks to escape is actually a sissy who is running away from his problems because he cannot endure the thought of facing them.

NEVER DRINKS ALONE

The question of drinking would be a personal problem in which no other person would have any right to interfere if all drinking were done strictly in private, but that is an impossibility.

The scientists are very emphatic on one point, that the surplus quantity of alcohol in the blood stream of the drinker impairs his ability to react as quickly and as accurately as that one whose blood stream is unpolluted. The drinker who has had "a couple beers" becomes a menace on the highway to every driver who is strictly sober. The cost of automobile insurance could be reduced almost half if all drivers were total abstainers. This means that the drinker requires the non-drinker to pay some part of the bill for his drinking in excess insurance fees.

And in the face of such facts —and there are thousands of them —we have allowed alcohol to deceive us into thinking it is the friend of man.

Drapeau Takes Over as Mayor As Police Director Langlois Bows Out Before Suspension

APPOINTED

Air Commodore Larry Wray, 46, of Toronto, has been appointed chief of the RCAF's defence research board at St. Hubert, Que. (CP from National Defence).

MONTREAL (CP)—Surly J. Albert Langlois bowed before a threat of suspension by fiery little Mayor Jean Drapeau Thursday night and stepped down from his job as police director.

The 56-year-old police chief was granted permission by the city executive committee to take a leave of absence until his appeal against a conviction for tolerating common-law vice in the wide-open period between 1941 and 1950 is heard.

Mayor Drapeau, sworn into office Thursday night in a public ceremony at city hall, said Mr. Langlois' decision "relieves me of the obligation of suspending him."

The reform mayor, voted into office overwhelmingly on the heels of a vice inquiry commission that found 20 members and former members of the police force guilty in varying vice, had made Mr. Langlois' suspension one of the planks in his platform. The police chief, who expected to receive the suspension notice, acted first.

"I'LL BE BACK"

"But you can be sure I'll be back in this office again once everything is straightened out," Mr. Langlois said. "I might as well take this leave of absence because they were going to suspend me anyway."

Announcement of Mr. Langlois' departure from his office was made by J. O. Asselin, chairman of the city executive committee, which met all day discussing the application.

"Mr. Langlois requested a leave of absence without pay for the duration of his appeal and we have given him that leave of absence in the same manner as we recommended his suspension at the council Oct. 18," Mr. Asselin said.

The police chief was suspended disciplined, suspended from public office for a year, and fined $500 in the first magistrate's judgment handed down by Mr. Justice Francois Caron, Mr. Langlois appealed the appeal and claimed the right to remain in office until it was heard.

Four-Level Plan In School System Will Be Studied

TORONTO (CP)—Toronto board of education next month will consider creating a four-level system of public schools to replace the present two- or three-level system.

The plan was outlined in a report by board officials which showed the need to rehabilitate schools in the south part of the city especially those in areas where enrollment is expected to increase.

The plan would provide four types of school: kindergarten and grades 1, 2 and 3; grades 4 to 6; grades 6, 7 and 8; and grades 9 to 13.

Purpose of the plan is to provide better educational facilities for all children, to make it possible to cater for junior grades by having them walk shorter distances along quieter streets, less crowded four movement of junior pupils in established districts possible and better recreational facilities.

NO BLAME ATTACHED

BRANTFORD (CP)—A coroner's jury returned a verdict Thursday night saying Mrs. Harold Scarrow and her three small children died of asphyxiation when fire destroyed their home Oct. 9. No one was to blame for the deaths. The verdict came as the blaze started when a pail of grease boiled over on a kitchen range in the two-storey frame building.

Communists Bomb Nationalist Isle

TAIPEH, Formosa (Reuters)—Two Communist Chinese light bombers today dropped 21 bombs on Nationalist-held Yi Kiang Shan island, off the southern Chekiang coast while Nationalist planes were grounded by a typhoon, a Nationalist communique reported.

May Extend Term

OTTAWA (CP) — Some British newspapers are proposing Queen Mother Elizabeth as Canada's next governor-general but the question of a successor to Governor-General Massey is not being discussed here at present.

"The earliest to my knowledge has not discussed who will be governor-general after Mr. Massey's term expires," a government informant said Thursday.

London newspapers proposing the Queen Mother as governor-general include the Conservative Daily Mail, Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express suggested she be appointed governor-general of one of the Commonwealth countries.

Mr. Massey's term as governor-general still has two years to run and there have been suggestions that it may be extended.

Ottawa Mother Chosen to Place Memorial Wreath

OTTAWA (CP) — An Ottawa woman who lost two sons in the Second World War will place a wreath at the foot of the National War Memorial here Remembrance Day.

Mrs. R. J. Heeney, representing all Canadian mothers bereaved by the war, will place one of four official wreaths during the Nov. 11 ceremony.

The others will be placed by Governor-General Massey on behalf of Queen Elizabeth, Prime Minister St. Laurent for the Canadian people and Very Rev. J. O. Anderson, Anglican dean of Ottawa, also president of the Canadian Legion.

Both of Mrs. Heeney's sons were in the RCAF. Cpl. Cecil George Heeney, 23, an air gunner, was lost on convoy duty out of Newfoundland in October, 1941. P/O. Robert Tirton Heeney, a Spitfire fighter pilot, went missing in August 1943, while on combat duty over France.

Accused Slayer Hugs Pictures Of 'Dearest Wife'

ST. CATHARINES (CP) — The murder trial of Anastazio Tripodi, who is charged with killing his wife July 27, was expected to go to an Ontario Supreme Court jury today.

The 39-year-old immigrant is already on trial for killing his wife, Domenica, 27, two hours after her arrival from Italy with their two sons. Tripodi has admitted in court that he killed his wife but says he does not know what he was doing.

When Crown attorney Lloyd H. Sheppard produced a set of wedding photographs Thursday Tripodi snatched them, hugged them and kissed them fondly.

Mr. Goodwin asked: "Whose pictures are those?"

"My wife's, my dearest, dearest wife's," Tripodi said.

He was shown other pictures with portions cut out and was asked what had been cut. He said his wife had been cut out of some of the photographs because her picture had not turned out very good.

"I suggest," said the crown attorney, "that the reason you cut your wife out of the pictures was because at the time you heard she was unfaithful to you in Italy."

Four Are Killed, Eleven Injured In Plane Crash

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — A crippled United States Air Force plane crashed while trying to make an emergency landing at Tucson municipal airport Wednesday night killing four persons and injuring 11 others.

FREDERICTON (CP) — At a special meeting of the executive of the city of Fredericton accepted as a gift from Lord Beaverbrook a $100,000 recreation centre worth about $400,000. The building, to be named "Lady Beaverbrook rink," is expected to be ready for use by next November.

Congress Bodies Will Probe Eisenhower's Administration

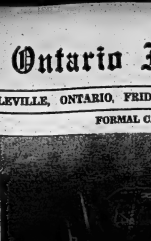
By ROWLAND EVANS Jr.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The searchlight of congressional investigations during the next two years will be turned on the government under the guidance of Democrats certain to get inequitatively into the private life of the Eisenhower administration.

Some Democrats said today they want no political excuse for traditionally, opposition-controlled Congresses; with an eye on the 1956 presidential election, to conduct into executive branch doings than what their own party holds the White House.

Senator Albert Gore of Tennessee was one Democrat who told an interviewer he opposes the "political circus of investigations." He said:

"We don't want that, but hope that we will ferret out for all to see the influences that have helped shape the policies of the Eisenhower administration resulting in inordinate favoritism to vested interests."



Conversations with several Democrats indicate a new Democratic Congress will concentrate on these three general areas of Eisenhower administration:

1. Its civil service job system, and whether a recent administration order really has made a "merit system" out of the system as charged by Senator Olin D. Johnston (D-SC). This would stand in line for the chairmanship of the Senate civil service committee.

2. Its foreign policy, to determine that the Eisenhower administration "got off first" with the Communists, fellow travellers and other security risks hired by the Truman administration.

3. Administration policies on power, public lands and natural resources. One target is the Dixon-Yates project to feed private power into a public power system.

4. Defence contracts, mobilization plan; and strategy matters such as administration plans for building up the air force.

Accused Weeps Silently as Jurors View Grisly Pictures of Slain Wife

By WILLIAM NEWARK

CLEVELAND (AP) — Spine-tingling photographs of the battered head of a slain woman. The shocking shoulder of her husband, silhouetted against a window in a darkened courtroom. Jurors unnerved by the display of gore and emotion.

This was the setting Thursday as the state showed vivid, colored slide films in the opening phase of its case against osteopath Samuel H. Sheppard.

The films showed the gashes left by blows which shattered the skull of pregnant Marilyn Sheppard, 31, and left her lifeless in her bed last July 4.

There were seven views in all. As they were shown by deputy coroner Lester Adelson, the state's first witness, Sheppard slowly lost his composure and gave way to sobbing, silent sobs.

Sheppard did not see the photographs. He chose to sit behind the screen set up in the common pleas courtroom. But he could hear as Adelson as the coroner's aid described some of the 35 injuries he said he found on the body of the slain woman. Sheppard.

LOSES COMPOSURE

At first, the 30-year-old defendant sat stiff and erect, his figure outlined against the dreary half-light which filtered past drawn venetian blinds. Soon, his head plunged into his hands and his shoulders shook.

The state, in its opening statement Thursday, claimed Marilyn Sheppard was killed after she and Sheppard quarreled over the osteopath's activities with other women. The defence declared Sheppard, a man who loved Marilyn Sheppard with great tenderness" was not a man who could kill.

Assistant prosecutor John J. Mahon said the state would prove that Sheppard had lived with Susan Hayes, an auburn-haired hospital technician with whom he once worked, for a brief period about four months before the murder.

Defence attorney Fred W. Garmone described the state's case as built upon "inferences upon inferences."

Navy Shows Off Fantastic Vertical Takeoff Fighter

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—The U.S. Navy showed off its fantastic vertical takeoff fighter, the Convair XFY-1 Pogo Stick, for the first time today.

The dramatic takeoff and aerial transition to forward horizontal flight, and the equally amazing tail-to-ground landing were displayed.

At the informal naval air show, staged for visiting aviation writers and navy officers, A. F. (Skeet) Coleman of Convair, 36-year-old pilot, took the turboprop Pogo up about 50 feet, then backed down gently to the ground. Again he turned on the power—the whirling props appeared no noisier than for any conventional conventional planes and the fighter plane again rose majestically.

At no more than 40 or 50 feet, Coleman nosed the plane off the vertical into an easy transition to the horizontal position, without any visible change in stability.

No Investigation

TORONTO (CP) — A Dominion electoral office spokesman said Thursday there will be no investigation into CCF charges of irregularities in Trinity riding by-election procedure.

The charges were contained in a wire from Eamon Park, president of the CCF Ontario section, to Nelson Castonguay, Dominion electoral officer.

He said voters' names were omitted for nonexistent addresses or factory sites and in one poll, a person who moved three years ago is listed.

Endeavor to Link Man to Murder By Stray Hairs

SIMCOE, Ont. (CP)—The Crown Thursday tried to link scrapings from the body of Bruce Beatty, 68-year-old victim of a beating last winter, with one of two men charged with Beatty's murder.

The Crown called two experts from the attorney-general's department laboratory to testify at the trial of Jerry Simmons, 41, of Syracuse, N.Y., and Joseph Glenn Andeway, 27, of Detroit.

The two United States residents are charged with the double murder of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Beatty at the elderly couple's service station at nearby Renton. The Beattys were fatally beaten Feb. 2.

Dr. Nobel Sharp, medical director of the laboratory, told a Supreme Court jury a hair removed from Beatty's body was "similar in all respects" to one found on Simmons' grey fedora hat.

He said the identification of hairs is not as definite as that of fingerprints, but "when you find only two hairs you feel is very good evidence they came from the same source."

Cross-examined by Simmons' defence counsel, Harold E. Stafford of St. Thomas, Dr. Sharp admitted there is no way of determining how old the hair is.

SIAMESE PAIR DO WELL

CHICAGO (AP)—Chicago's Siamese twins, born Oct. 1, weigh more than 18 pounds and are "doing beautifully," a spokesman for St. Anne's Hospital said today. The Andeway girls, joined at the head, weighed about six pounds when delivered by caesarean section. No date has been set for tests to determine whether it will be possible to separate them surgically, the hospital spokesman said.

Punched, Kicked In Police Station Inquiry Into Alleged Violence

TORONTO (CP)—Robert Wright, a 21-year-old six-footer, Thursday told a special coroner's inquiry into alleged police brutality that he was punched and kicked while in the back room of a police station Oct. 23.

Wright and a companion, Michael Griffin, 22, were arrested after a football game which ended with fans scrambling on to the field for the ball.

A University of Toronto policeman, John Cowie, 49, died of a heart attack in a scuffle with fans moments after the game.

Mr. Justice W. D. Roach is conducting the inquiry at the request of Attorney-General Dana Porter.

He said he will determine whether unnecessary violence was used in making arrests or arresting defendants, whether arrested persons were improperly denied communication with relatives, friends or counsel, or detained on undue time.

Wright said the game had been over for several minutes when he and three friends, who had consumed about 50 ounces of liquor between them during the game, went down from the stands and crossed the field to see a friend.

As a line was opened up to let a stretcher through, Wright said, a man pointed to him and his companion, Peter Whitlock, and shouted: "There they are. He is one." Then grabbed by a policeman.

The beating followed, Wright said.

Moves to Bring Quebec Into Line on Tax Agreements Overshadow House Opening

QUEBEC (CP) — Ottawa and Quebec moves to bring this French-Canadian province into the Canadian taxation agreements picture dominate the busy provincial political scene set for the opening session of the legislature opening Nov. 17.

For the first time in years little is known about the legislation the Quebec government intends to bring down. Premier Duplessis may make known his government's legislation projects during a press conference today.

Fast-moving events of the last two months catapulted to the forefront the Quebec-Ottawa taxation disagreements and subsequent efforts to iron them out.

After 10 years of wrangling, punctuated by angry speeches with references to Quebec's racial and religious background, the talk is that a tax settlement may be possible in the near future.

Premier Duplessis, who set the course of provincial politics on provincial rights in 1944 when he came back to power and denounced wartime taxation agreements as encroachments on provincial autonomy, has sent a letter to Prime Minister St. Laurent outlining the basis of a tax-deal with Quebec.

Mr. St. Laurent, after a telephone conversation with the premier, announced Wednesday he hopes before 1955 to present the proposals based on the letter in provincial premiers.

PROPOSALS NOT KNOWN

What Mr. Duplessis has proposed in his letter to Mr. St. Laurent is not known except that the two French-speaking political leaders, who met privately in Ottawa Oct. 1 to reach a broad basis of understanding, and to members of their cabinets.

Inauguration of the session, third of the 24th legislature since the 1932 Quebec election, is expected to be marked by a significant speech from the throne outlining support the Quebec government's stand in federal-provincial relations.

Mr. Duplessis has already announced that his government will bring down a bill amending the Quebec income tax law adopted last spring.

The bill will propose that refund given to Quebec's claim to a proper right in direct taxation be cut out. The former federal finance minister, Douglas Abbott, had said the claim was unacceptable and Mr. St. Laurent supported him.

Mr. Duplessis has said the claim will be pressed until the new law but his opinion hasn't changed.

Combine Fountains

OTTAWA (CP)—Two fountains which formerly stood in Victoria Square, Kingston, will be combined into one fountain here as a memorial to Col. John Mc. Founder of Ottawa.

It will be erected below Parliament Hill at the mouth of the rideau canal, which was built by troops under Col. By during the 1826 last century.

The two original fountains were set up in London in 1845 as a memorial to Sir George Burrard. They were badly damaged by Second World War bombing that both could not be reassembled but it was decided to combine them into a single memorial.

TROUBLES CONTINUE

NEW YORK (AP)—A 19-year-old youth told police Thursday that a gang of toughs beat, kicked, starved and burned him for refusing to obey trying, in vain, to find $1,000 he said he had stolen from his uncle. The youth, Angelo Dino, was found in the basement of an upper east side building. He was treated at the police station and immediately arrested on burglary charges.

July Dry Month

TORONTO (CP)—July was the driest on record in the southern part of Ontario.

The Toronto weather office, which has records for the last 115 years, said only .32 inches of rain fell during the month.

Democratic Win Improves Hope for Freer Trade Plan

NEW YORK (CP) — The New York Times says today prospects for favorable action on President Eisenhower's liberal foreign trade program have been "decisively enhanced" by the Democratic victory in Tuesday's congressional elections.

In a dispatch from Washington under the byline of John D. Morris, The Times says prospective chairmen of House of Representatives and Senate committees having jurisdiction are strong advocates of freer world trade programs.

The president's recommendations would be the first order of business in the house ways and means committee, the dispatch says. It quotes Representative Jere Cooper (D-Tenn.), who will become chairman of the committee: "I have always strongly supported the reciprocal trade program and all Democratic members of the committee have done so."

In the Senate, the story says The Times, "the chairmanship of the committee of jurisdiction, that on finance, shifts from a protection-minded Republican to a liberal-trade Democrat."

Senator Walter F. George of Georgia is in line for the chairmanship. He has announced his intention of yielding the post to Senator Harry F. Byrd of Virginia.

Federal Govt. May Provide Aid Under 1953 Act

OTTAWA (CP)—The federal government may provide financial assistance under a 1953 act of Parliament for construction of water conservation and control works in Toronto's hurricane Hazel flood area.

An informed government source said Thursday assistance likely will be given under the Canadian Water Conservation Act if it is registered by the Ontario government and municipalities in the flood area.

Aid under the act would be in addition to federal financial help to those whose homes were damaged or destroyed in the Oct. 15-16 floods.

The Carswell-Shaw royal commission report estimated that damage to dwellings amounted to $2,670,000. Prime Minister St. Laurent indicated Wednesday the federal government would pay half this or more than $1,000,000.

The Water Conservation Act permits the government to enter into agreements with provinces for construction of major water conservation and control projects. However, the assistance must first be requested at the provincial and municipal level.

Under the act the government is permitted to pay 31⅓ per cent of the cost of such projects. A province must pay an equivalent amount with the municipalities absorbing the remaining 37 per cent.

Poultry Replaces Apple Industry In Nova Scotia

KENTVILLE, N.S. (CP)—Nova Scotia's apple industry, crippled by storms and loss of export markets, has given way to poultry as the most important phase of agriculture in the Annapolis valley.

In Kings county, particularly, so many orchards have replaced orchards that residents now claim it ships more eggs than any other Canadian county.

Amos L. Blenkhorn, manager of a poultry cooperative and co-operative in nearby New Minas, says valley eggs are in demand and markets are no problem.

Further southward, in the French Acadia district of Clare, turkeys have displaced foxes as a thriving industry, where the fox industry slumped, ranchers sold out. They later found that the fox pens made ideal turkey houses.

Blow to West Germany When EDC Fell Through

Editor's Note: This story is one of a series giving a Canadian reporter's impressions gained during a two-week tour of West Germany.

By W. R. WHEATLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

West Germany has waited patiently for the signal that would put into operation a rearmament plan in collaboration with the Western powers.

The job of blue-printing the plan has been that of a department directly under Chancellor Konrad Adenauer since it was set up in 1950. It envisages the use of more than 450,000 men. The department might be considered the nucleus of a future defence ministry.

"We are ready for what we call X-Days," H. Guhr, a spokesman for the department, told me. The interview in Bonn occurred during the interim between France's rejection of German rearmament under the European Defence Community and the nine-power agreement reached in London.

"Our preparations were drawn up in accordance with EDC," said Herr Guhr. "It was a blow to us when EDC fell through. Our plans are for a supra-national army in co-operation with other countries, not for a national army.

"If some agreement similar to EDC is reached under NATO or through other means, we will be ready 24 months after X-Day with 12 divisions, about 180,000 men. In addition, there would be another 180,000 as secondary or supporting troops; about 80,000 men for a future air force and 20,000 to 25,000 for a future navy.

BASED ON POPULATION

"Those figures would be the limit based on our population. There is an old rule that for 2,000,000 population you can build one division. We have about 50,000,000 population.

"We need only about 150,000 professional soldiers. The others would serve 18 months."

Asked what he thought would be the reaction of young Germans to entering military service through conscription or otherwise, Herr Guhr said:

"Our young people are not very enthusiastic about becoming soldiers. The young people today are busy with school and jobs, and our employment level is high.

"We would have to learn from the Americans and the British about all kinds of new weapons, even atomic weapons, and the newest types of planes."

Defence is everybody's business

One or two evenings a week, in thousands of Canadian homes, doors open wide. From them come young men who have accepted full responsibility as free Canadians . . . the responsibility of helping to preserve the freedom we all enjoy. They do it by serving part-time as Citizen-Soldiers in the Militia. Their training, skill and devotion is combined into one great common effort — to build a strong Militia capable of helping to defend Canada.

Ron Millichamp is typical of many young Canadians who realize the necessity for and the practical advantages of Militia service. By this service, they are training to be ready and able to protect their own families and communities, in time of emergency.

Many more young men are needed to help in this great national effort. How about you? Are you doing your share?

Black Hawks Win 'Must' Game Over Rangers; Wings Tie Habs For Top

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

PETES TONIGHT

Those pesky Petes, who always come up with a thrilling exhibition when they safari here for ice-lane combat with anything wearing a Belleville uniform, are here tonight to battle the Memos in a senior "B" tussle. The Petes thus far are the only team to hang a defeat on the Cornwall Colts, and are said to be bolstered with some new faces, but they still have the Cowleys, the Fryias, the Leonards, et al.

* * *

A win tonight will make the Memos a "King for a Day" for it will give them undisputed, if temporary, possession of the top rung. Coach Boucher has kept the troops a-drilling at a merry pace since their outstanding display against Brockville. They will need to be at their best for these Petes always play standout hockey when they come here and tonight's battle should be another of those merry old Peterborough-Belleville get-togethers.

GOOD SHOW!

The Bobcats softball team may not have won a title but they proved they can be excellent hosts. At a surprise party last night they honored their sponsor and catcher with handsome gifts and Alderman Bob Temple was caught with his law books down. There were no speeches, eulogies, just presentations, with lots of refreshments and camaraderie. It was a grand evening organized by grand fellows with a grand time being had by all, thanks to Doug Bone, "Dutch" Donevan and Jim Ethier.

OSHAWA C.I. VS. B.C.I.

The Belleville Collegiate junior gridders tangle with the pigskin punters from Oshawa C.I. tomorrow afternoon at Albert College field starting at one o'clock in a football battle for the COSSA semi-final. Mr. Bradley's charges are "ready and rarin'" for what should be a hard-fought game.

SYMPATHY!

This department joins sportdom of the city and district in conveying deep sympathy to the family of the late C. R. Bastedo of Stirling, who passed away suddenly at his home Saturday night. Mr. Bastedo was an ardent sports fan and followed the fortunes of Stirling teams for years. His sons Doug and Bert, are well known in hockey circles hereabouts.

REMEMBRANCE—

An hour or two after the war bugles blew the "Cease Fire" on that memorable November 11, 1918, a young warweary Canadian soldier wended his way slowly through the white crosses in a Canadian cemetery behind the lines in France.

The mud of Flanders was caked on his puttees. There was weariness in his young eyes. Lines were etched on a face that should have worn the smile of carefree youth. He was just past his 21st birthday.

He paused beside a grave. His head dropped slowly on his breast. He stood silent in the hush of that hallowed ground. Then he straightened. His hand came to the salute, dropped to his side.

A tear glistened on his cheek, as he looked down at the last resting place of a buddy with whom he had shared his boyhood joys and disappointments, school hours and play times and last of all the ball that is war.

His lips moved. "It's okay, buddy," he whispered. "We won."

At that time he thought "we had won." Time proved it was just the beginning of an interim. Twenty-one years later another holocaust of bloody conflict burst over the world, as men went to battle to defend their freedom.

More men gave their lives. More cemeteries were filled. More buddies stood over the graves of hero pals. And so it goes. If men want to preserve their freedom, it seems they must fight for it. And men must do so that the remainder can continue to live as free men.

Today and Saturday the poppy, that blood-red symbol of Remembrance, will be sold on city streets. Remember, the freedom you enjoy was dearly bought. Honor the memory of those who paid for it with the deepest thing they had to give—their lives.

Eskys Use Locked-Gate Policy In Preparation for Bombers

EDMONTON (CP) —Edmonton Eskimos have dropped the "pigskin curtain" over their preparations for the first game here Saturday against Winnipeg Blue Bombers for the Western Interprovincial Football Union championship.

Explaining the locked-gate policy, coach Frank (Pop) Ivy said, smiling: "We haven't got any secret weapons but it seems there have been one or two allen-looking characters hovering around our recent workouts. I decided a little privacy wouldn't hurt."

But Ivy's little oratory was not as heated as the sounds from Winnipeg and Bombers coach Al Sherman who said in that city he figured his "rinky dinks" deserved a little recognition.

Said Sherman: "Nobody believes we have a good club. But now my rinky dinks are starting to scratch it out, on heart and guts."

Sherman predicted the Bombers will win the series in two straight games.

Coach Ivy also believes in winning as quickly as possible and as decisively as possible. In other words, two straight.

The Eskimos are rated heavy favorites. Odds layers went 12-5 on Edmonton; Winnipeg is 9-5 against.

The second game is at Winnipeg Nov. 11. If a third game is necessary it will be played in Edmonton Nov. 12.

Said Sherman:

"I want to thank everybody who has been kind enough to let us go to Edmonton for the finals. I want to thank Frank Tripucka (Rider quarterback) and Harry Lampman (Rider end) for getting injured, and Frankie Filchock for not taking advantage of us when we couldn't score six times within their 10-yard line."

Sherman said the only serious injury was his lead ankle suffered by import fullback Paul Rimkus. He probably will miss at least the opener.

Meanwhile, the Eskimos report that defensive back Ray Willsey, out with a broken arm, won't start in the first game.

Give Up Cellar to Boston; Gordie Howe Misses 1st Game In Five Years With Detroit

By The Canadian Press

It's a little early to take about clutch games in the National Hockey League, but Chicago Black Hawks said they won one Thursday night.

The ailing Hawks, told by coach Frankie Eddolls that they needed this one even if some Chicago players got hurt, took the prodding seriously and defeated New York Rangers 3-1 at Chicago.

It was the Hawks' second victory of the season and pushed them out of last place for the first time this year. Eddolls didn't say why he considered it a "must game," but it was obvious that he figured it was as good a time as any for the Hawks to start winning games. Nobody was injured, either.

In the only other game, the Howeless Detroit Red Wings beat Boston Bruins 3-2 in Boston to move into a first-place tie with the idle Montreal Canadiens. Bruins, with only one victory and three ties in nine games, slipped into the cellar.

The Chicago scoring was handled by Larry Wilson, Dick Gamble and Jack McIntyre.

LEWICKI TIES IT

Danny Lewicki tied the game temporarily in the second period but the Rangers couldn't do anything after that. It was Lewicki's seventh goal in the season. The Rangers remained in third place, four points behind Detroit and Montreal.

Wilson sent Hawks into a 1-0 lead at 3:48 of the first period on a three-man ganging attack. Lewicki got that one back at 6:40 of the second but Dick Gamble, traded to Hawks by the Canadiens earlier this season, put them ahead to stay. McIntyre tallied the insurance goal at 17:24 of the third.

At Boston, leftwinger Ted Lindsay, playing without rightwinger Gordie Howe for the first time in five years of regular competition, scored the winning goal in the second period. Howe was out with shoulder injuries suffered against the Maple Leafs in Toronto Wednesday.

Lindsay's deuter signalled the fifth defeat for the Bruins. Marty Pavelich and Bruce Gamble scored the other Detroit goals. Rheal Chevrefils and Lorne Ferguson tallied for the Bruins in the second period to give Bruins a brief 2-1 lead. There was no scoring in the third.

Referee Bill Chadwick called 13 penalties, including fighting majors to Detroit's Glen Skov and Boston defenceman Fern Flaman.

Five games are scheduled during the weekend, with the Hawks at Toronto and Detroit at Montreal Saturday. On Sunday it's Toronto at Chicago, Montreal at Boston and New York at Detroit.

Delay Filing Huge Law Suit

WASHINGTON (AP)—Attorneys for a Piedmont League owner have delayed indefinitely the filing of a suit seeking millions in damages for alleged "chain" of minor league territory by radio and TV accounts of the major league baseball games.

James P. McGranery, lawyer for Frank Lawrence who owns the Portsmouth, Va., club in the Piedmont circuit, said Thursday he was not yet ready to act. McGranery said the suit will be filed, but he refused to indicate when.

Lawrence has said he will seek damages from the 16 major league clubs and baseball commissioner Ford Frick. Previously, Lawrence had said the suit would be entered by Nov. 1.

'Baby Rocket' Starts Hockey Career at Four

By W. R. Wheatley
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL (CP) — Interview with Montreal Canadiens' youngest and highly promising prospect:

Question: Are you going to be a hockey star?

Answer: "Oui." End of interview.

Four-year-old Normand Richard had just skated from the Montreal Forum ice Thursday with his more illustrious father, Maurice (Rocket) Richard.

The National Hockey League club had gone through a hard, driving 30-minute practice. The Rocket tarried an extra 30 minutes to skate around and work out with Normand.

Normand wears Canadiens-insignia sweater, proper boots and skates and uses a regulation stick, the handle cut down to size. He takes the workout seriously, although at times he allows himself to be towed along by papa.

The Rocket took over Normand's end of the interview in Canadiens' dressing room.

CHIP OFF OLD BLOCK

"He started skating last year when he was 3½ years old," said the Rocket, "I started when I was four. Oh, yes, I suppose he will have the style of skating he watches me. He comes to all the practices with me if I don't have to go anywhere else than home immediately afterward."

About the 33-year-old Rocket, now in his 13th season in the NHL, wasn't quite so loquacious.

Throughout his 12 seasons, in some of which he missed quite a few games because of injuries or illness, he has placed second in point-scoring four times; he was third once, fourth twice and seventh once in the ranking eight times among the first 10 scorers.

What about this season and his NHL-career total of 400 goals? He's 12 shots away. When can he figure he can get them?

"Oh, I'm not worrying about that 400. I'd really like to get 30 goals or more this season."

Why? Almost dead-pan, the Rocket answered:

"Then I'd feel maybe I could make the team next season."

BIG SEVEN

By The Canadian Press

Don Raleigh of New York and Alex Delvecchio of Detroit each picked up an assist Thursday night to move closer to the leaders in the National Hockey League scoring race.

The single points left them tied for fourth place in the standings with 11 each. Each player has one goal and 10 assists.

Bernie Geoffrion of Montreal continues to lead the scoring parade with 14 points. His nine goals also top that department.

In second place, one point back are Ken Mosdell and Maurice Richard, both of Montreal.

Terry Sawchuk of Detroit has two shutouts to lead the goalies in that department, but Jacques Plante's goals-against average of 1.73 is best in the league.

Shawinigan Paces Quebec League

By The Canadian Press

A one-year rest appears to be paying off for Shawinigan Falls Cataracts.

The Cataracts, who sat out last year's Quebec Hockey League schedule, are turning into the hottest team of the new season. Thursday night they polished off their seventh win in nine starts to take over first place in the standings.

Eddy Kachur paced the attack with three goals as the club downed Quebec 5-3, after trailing 3-0 in the first period. Gerry Desaulniers and George Faulkner were the other marksmen.

Bing Crosby, Jim Uniac and Ludger Tremblay counted for Quebec.

In the only other game, Chicoutimi Saguenens edged Montreal Royals 3-2 in Montreal. They now trail Montreal and Quebec by three points.

Pete Taillefer, Brent McNab and Germain Leger scored for Chicoutimi, Andy Barnett and Ike Hildebrand for Montreal.

Bears Bounce Barons 3-2

By The Associated Press

It doesn't take much these days to change the standings in the American Hockey League. The race is that close with only three points separating the first four teams.

In the only game played Thursday night, Hershey Bears defeated Cleveland Barons 3-2 and jumped into second place. The result left the Bears a point back of Cleveland and a like distance in front of third-place Providence with two games in hand.

Gordie Wilson scored Hershey's winning goal in 2:39 of an overtime period. Cleveland jumped out in front on a goal by Cal Stearns but Obie Brazil counted before the first period was over.

Ed Thomas went ahead again in the second on Johnny McLellan's goal but O'Brien tallied again in the third period to send the game into overtime.

Colleges Grab Grid Spotlight, Big Four Plays Out Schedule

By The Canadian Press

The colleges take over the football spotlight in eastern Canada this weekend, with University of Toronto Blues running against one of the hottest jinxes in the business.

The Blues meet Western Ontario Mustangs in an intercollegiate tussle game at London. It's been 17 years since they've beaten the Mustangs on their home field and they need a victory to stay in the championship race.

In the other college game, the winless McGill Redmen go against Queen's Golden Gaels at Kingston. The league-leading Gaels are favored to win.

Big Four union teams have decided the playoff spots and are just playing out the schedule. Ottawa Rough Riders clash with the Argonauts at Toronto and Hamilton Tiger-Cats meet the Alouettes in Montreal Saturday.

The games won't mean much. The league-leading Als and second-place Ticats clinched playoff berths last week and move into a best-of-three series after the season ends Nov. 14.

BLUES HANDICAPPED

The Blues may be without the services of four first-string players. Out will be all-star backfielder Phil Muntz and defensive end Frank Filaroma. Both suffered ankle injuries when Varsity walloped the Redmen 36-13 in Toronto Oct. 30.

Doubtful starters are end Fred Szabo, who has cracked ribs, and quarterback Bill Stevenson, who hurt his arm two weeks ago.

Ticats also have troubles. Coach Carl Voyles said Thursday night that tackles Vince Mazza and Lee McClelland will miss the Montreal game. Mazza has a back injury and McClelland has a bruised knee.

"Vince Scott and Ray Ramsey also were injured in our game against the Rough Riders last Saturday," Voyles said. "I don't think we'll be able to use them too much."

The Als will be at full strength except for end Hal Patterson, who broke his ankle in the Toronto-Montreal game last week.

The Rough Riders, with only one victory in 12 games, will be bolstered by the return of tackle Jake Dunlap, out since mid-season with an injured elbow.

However, backfielder Tom Meghugh, who has a broken leg, tackle Don Carter with a dislocated shoulder and end Ed Sowalski, whose back was injured two weeks ago, won't be in there.

Major League Baseball And Connie Mack Separated After Half-Century

Famous Diamond Figure Abed With Memories, $604,000; Athletics Go to Kansas City

By TOM BRADSHAW

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Bursting big league baseball and aging, ailing Connie Mack were all that separated today after an up-and-down "marriage" that lasted more than half a century.

Mack, who saw the game's last of vital equipment run from a lop-sided ball on a sandlot to a lawyer's bulging briefcase, was abed in his suburban apartment with a million memories and a cheque for $604,000.

That last was the price the 91-yearold founder of Philadelphia Athletics received Thursday from Chicago business man Arnold Johnson for Mack's share of stock in the As' franchise.

There remained to make formal the separation of "Mr. Mack" and major league baseball some paper work involving his sons, Roy and Earle, and the granting of approval by the league owners.

A league meeting was scheduled by president Will Harridge for Monday in New York. At that session the owners of the seven other clubs in the loop will be asked by the Mack family—"by the way" to Johnson, 47-year-old coin-machine tycoon.

BIG PAY-OFF

Johnson plans to pay sons Roy and Earle Mack each $450,000 for their stock and to shift the Athletics to Kansas City, where plans were being pushed to remodel the ball yard now occupied by the American Association Blues.

Only one league owner, W. O. (Spike) Briggs of Detroit, has expressed opposition to the Johnson deal and he would have to be joined by two others to block the transaction.

The deal involves a total of about $3,500,000. In addition to the payments to the Macks, it was said Johnson and his associates would take over the $1,200,000 mortgage on the A's property plus the $500,000 in outstanding club debts.

George Fleming, secretary of the National League's Philadelphia Phillies, said the Phillies probably will go ahead with their previously announced plan to buy Connie Mack Stadium if the Johnson deal goes through. Phillies' president Robert R. M. Carpenter, Jr., "reluctantly" agreed, when it appeared the first time that Johnson would take the As to Kansas City, to pay $1,675,000 for the ball park. The apparent end of the Mack baseball dynasty—to all intents and purposes—came Thursday in the setting of Connie Mack's sick room.

Representatives of a four-man Philadelphia syndicate—the remnants of an eight-member group that had failed previously to get league approval of their offer for the club—showed up at the Mack home with cheques for $604,000.

Johnson had beaten them there, however, by an hour and the Chicagoan emerged the winner.

SHORT TWO TACKLES

HAMILTON (CP) — Hamilton Tiger-Cats of the Big Four Football Union will be without tackles Vince Mazza and Les McClelland when they meet the Alouettes in Montreal Saturday.

Bobcats Honor Sponsor-Player Ald. Bob Temple

Alderman Bob Temple, young city lawyer, is not averse to taking a case or interviewing a client. Quite often.

Last night a friend told Mr. Temple he had a client for him. And the lawyer immediately left home to see the potential "customer".

He wound up at the Wharf Street Debating Club where the "client" proved to be his Bobcats softball team who had staged a surprise party for their popular sponsor-player.

Mr. Temple was caught with his defences down, so to speak and surprise followed surprise as Manager Ronald Calcher and Doug Boone presented him with a handsome desk pen set and gold wrist watch. The desk set bore the inscription "Thanks a Million, Bob—from Bobcats". The watch band also bore an appreciative inscription.

In addition, Mr. Temple received an illustrated card, beautifully decorated by the artistic pencil of softball insignia, the Bobcats' "emblem" and the names of the players inscribed in Old English.

To say that Mr. Temple was "flabbergasted" is to put it mildly. He expressed his appreciation briefly, adding, "This is one of the finest nights of my life."

Some twenty-five players and guests attended the function, enjoying refreshments, cards, refreshments and softball amenities.

Doug Bone, "Dutch" Donovan and Jim Ebbler, coach of the Bobcats, formed the committee which arranged for the function.

Hamilton Cubs Marlies Play Four-All Tie

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

A goal by Bob Robinson of Hamilton Cubs with less than three minutes of regulation time left Thursday night tied up an Ontario Hockey Association Junior A game at Hamilton and sent Cubs and Toronto Marlboros into a scoreless overtime session.

The first tie game of the OHA Junior A season, it ended in a 4-4 score and took more than three hours to play.

Other Hamilton goals were scored by Lloyd McKay, Jerry Sullivan and Brian Kilrea. Ken Gilbert, Billy Harris, Don Kendall and Mike Nykoluk scored for Marlboros.

Marlboros led 3-2 going into the third period after the Cubs had split four first-period goals. Marlboros outshot Hamilton 33-22 but Dennis Riggin in the Cubs' net kept it even between the clubs.

Marlboros signed the only second place in the league with their win and now are solo leaders behind the league-leading Toronto St. Michael's and Guelph Biltmores, each with eight points.

Hamilton remains in seventh spot, three points above the winless Kitchener-Waterloo Canucks.

Tonight St. Michael's meet Guelph, Galt Black Hawks play at Kitchener and St. Catharines Teepees play Barrie Flyers.

Win West Title

WINNIPEG (CP) — Winnipeg Rods gained a berth in the western Canada Junior football final Thursday night when they overwhelmed Weston Wildcats 22-6 in the second game of their two-game total-point series for the Manitoba-Saskatchewan championship.

The victory gave Rods a 43-13 margin on the round and their first championship in seven years. Rods now meet the winner of the Calgary Bronks - Vancouver Blue Bomber series. The winner of the sudden-death game in Winnipeg Nov. 13 will represent the West in the Canadian championship.

Crepe Hangs Over Hockey in West Claims Priest at Sports Banquet

EDMONTON (CP)—"Hockey is in a bad way and today crepe hangs over the very name of hockey," says Rev. Athol Murray, famous founder of Notre Dame college at Wilcox, Sask.

Father Murray made his comment at a sports dinner at Red Deer, Alta.

There isn't one organized senior hockey league on the Prairies. The only two in the West both are in British Columbia, the Okanagan loop and the Western International) "intermediate hockey . . . is hockey's last standby" on the Prairies, Father Murray said. All four western provinces have intermediate teams but there are organized leagues only in Manitoba and Alberta.

In Saskatchewan there is a new Intermediate league and in British Columbia plans for the 1954-55 season still are being furnished out with expectations there will be teams in the Kootenays and in the Moose Jaw Canucks, Lethbridge Native Sons and Edmonton Oil Kings.

The other Prairie league is the Saskatchewan which has four teams — Saskatchewan Wesleys, Humboldt Indians, Prince Albert Mintos and Flin Flon Bombers.

In junior hockey British Columbia merge did have a strong contender for the Memorial Cup except one year when the Prairie teams were below par. The coast province's junior outfits include one in the Kootenays and two or three in the Okanagan, all of B calibre and likely candidates for a series next spring with the Alberta Junior B champions.

In minor divisions, there are numerous teams all across the West, even in British Columbia. Last year there were 208 midget, juvenile and pewee teams operating.

Manitoba has only one potential senior team—Winnipeg Maroons who plan to play exhibitions until next spring's playoffs.

In Saskatchewan, senior teams at Yorkton and Melville were left on their own after Weyburn and Moose Jaw senior entries folded. Weyburn and Canora joined Yorkton and Melville to form an intermediate A league.

"Remember the old Regina Vics?" Father Murray asked. "Remember the town hockey? It was great, it was fine, it was grand."

He said "I have nothing against playing salaries but the players provided that the boys are in there for the sport, and not for the love of money. That is killing hockey faster than anything."

He urged a return to the "days of the great town teams, the days when every city was the least of the considerations."

Canadians Lose Final Game In Hoop Series

RIO DE JANEIRO (CP)—Winnipeg Canadians lost their final game in the world basketball championships Thursday night after leading until five minutes before the end. A last-minute rally by France overwhelmed the Canadians 63-59.

It was the Canadians' fifth loss against two wins. France shared an identical 2-4 record with the Winnipegers before the game, now has a mark of three wins and four losses.

France managed to win by pulling two guards on Canada's star forward, Carl Hiek. Nevertheless Hiek managed to emerge high scorer for the game with 25 points.

Will Decide Stukus' Fate Monday Night

VANCOUVER (CP)—The fate of Annis Stukus, football coach, will be known Monday night.

Directors of the British Columbia Lions football club will decide then whether Stukus will coach the Lions in 1955, he offered some other job with the club, or will be paid $13,000 not to coach. His present contract still has a year to run.

Lions president Don MacKenzie said Thursday night "I think Annis will get another unanimous vote Monday as our coach in 1955" despite rumors of dissatisfaction.

To suggestions that another coach might be hired, MacKenzie said, "Nuts. Let's look at the records.

"Nobody else sold football in this town but Stukus. Nobody took the Lions over because we had ball games but Stukus. Nobody deserved a chance to see if he can win with a ball football team more than Stukus."

Canucks Edge Quakers 3-2

SASKATOON (CP) — Vancouver Canucks moved into a second place tie with Calgary in the Western Hockey League Thursday night by edging Saskatoon Quakers 3-2. The defeat was the sixth straight for Quakers.

Three former Quakers, Doug Adam, Billy Des, and Dale Sweany scored for the Canucks.

Dale Hawerchuk, playing his first game for the Quakers, figured in both Saskatoon goals, setting up George Senick for the first and scoring the second on a passing play with his brother Doug.

Sports Roundup

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP)—The citizens of San Francisco are proud of their sports heritage, especially of the dominant role they played in the early days of prize fighting. It was to be expected that they would vote overwhelmingly for a $5,000,000 bond issue to build themselves a big league ball park.

Everything points to the probability that the coast city will some day rival New York City and Chicago for recognition as the United States' sports capital. It is a cinch to do so once it has a 50,000 capacity stadium and can bid for the heavyweight championships.

The next two title bouts are scheduled to be held in San Francisco. Paddy DeMarco defends his lightweight crown against Jimmy Carter there Nov. 17 and Bobo Olson gives Joey Giardello a shot at his middleweight title Dec. 15.

The latter bout figures to be a terrific attraction—one which only a short time ago would have been held in the populous East.

RICH BOXING PAST

San Francisco is rich in boxing history. Jim Corbett, the first great heavyweight champion of the modern school, was born in the Golden Gate city and did all his fighting there in the 1890's. Bob Fitzsimmons fought and won his first bout in the United States there in 1890.

One is impressed with the hold San Francisco had on the game from around 1890 until well into the present century.

San Francisco's temporary exile as the United States' boxing hub must have begun when Tex Rickard discovered that fans would pay big money to watch bouts in vast eastern arenas. From that time until just recently it has been considered necessary to hire at least a ball park for an important outdoor fight.

Now television is working strongly to return San Francisco to its former pedestal. The pictures tube and the well-heeled spore now make the sport ever more independent of the large live audience. And, from all one hears to the contrary, boxing is in a far more healthy condition in the San Francisco area than it is in these parts.

Story Told How Hemingway Happened to Publish Novel

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Film producer Leland Hayward today disclosed how Ernest Hemingway happened to publish "The Old Man and the Sea," the book which helped him win a Nobel prize last year.

It was on the set of "Mr. Roberts," which Hayward is producing, that he first discussed "The Old Man and the Sea" a year from next spring with Spencer Tracy as star. Hayward was jubilant about the Nobel prize for his friend, Hemingway.

I expressed surprise that the author had said he would need part of the $55,000 prize money to pay off his debts. Hemingway is perhaps America's most successful writer and has had a dozen of his works purchased for films, many of them at top prices.

OFTEN BROKE

"Oh, papa is often broke," said Hayward. "He has always been making bad deals for his books and film sales.

"He was broke when my wife and I visited him in Cuba some time ago. I asked him what he was writing and he said it was a big book with four parts and a coda (concluding passage). He had finished two of the parts, but he didn't like them and was doing them over again. He was satisfied with the coda, and said 'You want to read?' He talks in a kind of short-hand . . .

"He watched my face throughout the time I was reading. When I finished, the tears were streaming down my face. He told him it was the greatest...thing he had written.

"Papa, you've got to publish this."

"No," said the author. "It is meant to be a coda, as part of a book."

"That's all right. You can put it in the book when it is all finished. He will still get the money." Then he reached into left field. "Supposing I could get it published in a magazine complete in one issue without adding to the book?"

HAYWARD INSISTED

Hemingway said that would be impossible. But Hayward got the author's permission to try.

Hayward convinced Life's editors and also sold "The Old Man and the Sea" to the Book of the Month Club. The book was acclaimed by the critics. Hemingway got the Nobel prize and became the fifth American to win the Nobel.

"The magazine deal brought him readers he had never had before," Hayward observed. "It stimulated sale of all his other books."

AT THE McCARTHY

"Tempest on Two Legs"

Pinewood Studios are still recovering from the impact made by dazzling continental actress Laya Raki.

Producer George Brown needed someone to play the part of Moana, fiery passionate wife of a Basel chieftain in "The Seekers," now at the Odeon McCarthy Theatre. When he saw Laya's pictures in the newspaper he knew this was the girl he wanted.

How right he was! Laya is one of the most temperatious personalities ever captured by the British cameras. An actress who can dance like a demon, she can also argue furiously in four different languages. She can purr in a soft, seductive voice or rage in a high-pitched screech and she has the appetite of a hungry man.

Photogenic in the extreme, she posed plenty of problems for the cameraman, for Laya's restless nature makes it a full-time job trying to get her to stand still. And her bubbling sense of humor has an awkward habit of disrupting serious scenes.

Directing Laya Raki was like trying to rein in a runaway horse. But at Pinewood they think it was worth the effort and those who see "The Seekers" will say "yes" to that.

Born of a German-French father and a Dutch-Javanese mother, Laya toured in variety and revues on the Continent before finding success in German films as a dancer.

"The Seekers" brought her three "firsts"—her first visit to Britain, her first British film and the first opportunity to act that she is also an actress as well as a dancer.

Iron Deposit Being Explored At Allen's Mills

Said Quarter or Half Size Of Bethlehem Steel Holding

An iron deposit, believed to be between one-quarter and one-half the size of the Bethlehem Steel Co. workings at Marmora, is currently being explored by a diamond drilling crew on the property of Will Allen, at Allen's Mills, six miles southwest of Marmora.

The Marmora deposit holds about 18,000,000 tons of magnetic iron with a gross value of $10 per ton.

Two other iron deposits, at Havelock and Campbellford, have been discovered but at present no work is being done on them.

It is rumored that the Allen's Mills property is under option by John C. Udd interests of Montreal, a large Canadian development company. Company operations in Hastings County during the past two years are believed to exceed $200,000.

Udd interests are also active in New Brunswick in a search for lead and zinc.

NAME CHANGE AS AT MARMORA

The ore at Allen's Mills, while not as extensive as at Marmora, is of the same grade. Like the Marmora deposit it is covered by a deep rock overburden.

Interest in iron at Allen's Mills dates to the founding of the mill by David Allen, grandfather of Will Allen of Campbellford, who operated a sawmill on the site until the mill buildings burned four years ago.

Will Allen's father, James Allen, about fifty years ago tested a magnetic ore body on the site several years ago, according to Will Allen. He put down holes into the limestone overburden but failed to reach the ore itself.

Mr. Allen said in a telephone interview Saturday morning that he sold his interest in the 130 acre site to the Trent River Iron Co., about three years ago. The Trent River Iron Co. is believed to be a wholly owned subsidiary of the W. S. Moore Co., of Duluth, Minn., a large American corporation.

EARLIER WORK DONE

The Moore Co., did considerable exploratory work on the property but about a year and a half ago allowed their options to lapse. It is thought that the John C. Udd interests of Montreal, acquired the options subsequently.

Renewed interest in Hastings County iron brought the Bethlehem Steel Co., to the county at Marmora. Recent investigation of Allen's Mills and Havelock is rumored to have been the result of work by Belleville mining engineer, Bruce C. Robson. An investigation by Mr. Robson of Hastings County records of mineral possibilities in Hastings County many years ago is thought to have triggered latest explorations.

Who Will Be Key Soviet Spokesman As Russia Marks Revolt Anniversary?

LONDON (Reuters) — Russia today celebrated the 37th anniversary of the Communist revolution that led to what is known as "new victories," paving the way for a keynote policy speech by a top Soviet leader tonight.

The Communist party newspaper Pravda hailed the country's role as one of Russian diplomatic triumphs in the cause of "world peace" and the Soviet Union's ceaseless work for "new victories" in both economic and political fields.

The chief Soviet policy statement will come tonight from one of the top Soviet leaders. Western experts are watching the choice of speakers closely, since it may be the present power setup behind the Kremlin walls of the Kremlin.

Many Western observers predict that this year it will be Nikita Khrushchev, first secretary of the Communist party, Choice of Khrushchev as speaker would be further indication of his prominence in the government. His rise to power has been steady since during the last year.

Preparations for the traditionally big anniversary weekend was completed throughout Russia by late this afternoon. Portraits of top Soviet leaders were widely displayed, surrounded by yards of red bunting.

Arrangements of the portraits in the Moscow streets this year, a question which is always decided at the Kremlin, closely followed Premier Georgi Malenkov occupying the place of honor on Khrushchev the No. 2.

Marshal Kliment Voroshilov was No. 3 and Foreign Minister Molotov had dropped to fourth.

In the speech tonight Malenkov was expected to attack Stalin's death Malenkov was rated first, followed by Lavrenti Beria, the secret police chief later disgraced and executed. Molotov was third.

Some 37 years ago Sunday that Nikolai Lenin took over the shaky government of Socialist Premier Alexander Kerensky and established the Communist Bolshevik dictatorship. Kerensky had come to power after a series of unstable governments following the overthrow of the czarist regime in March, 1917. Lenin and his hard core of Bolsheviks stepped into power Oct. 25, according to the Russian calendar.

Later, Russia made her calendar conform with the Western calendar and the October revolution now is celebrated in November.

MASSEY-HARRIS WORKERS REJECT SETTLEMENT PLAN

Secret Ballot Favors Continuance of Strike

TORONTO (CP) — About 2,000 members of Massey-Harris-Ferguson Toronto plant Friday voted 72.9 per cent in favor of rejecting an Ontario government proposal for settlement of a contract dispute.

Some 2,600 employees of the plant, members of Local 439, United Automobile Workers of America (CIO-CCL), went on strike two months ago to back up demands for a new contract.

In a secret ballot on the proposal put forward by Charles Millard, chief conciliation officer for Ontario, the local voted as urged by officials. The offer was described by Phil Kearns, president of the Local, as "just another gimmick."

Leaders of a small group of strikers who had threatened a back-to-work movement next week if the ballot was not held to their satisfaction said after the vote they are "completely satisfied."

To settle the strike, the company offered to take over the workers' share of health and hospital insurance for one month at once. The cost was estimated at $14,000, the same as that of a wage increase proposed recently at Queen's Park talks and rejected by the company.

The company now pays about 60 per cent of workers group insurance.

"The vote supported the negotiating committee's position to beat the hold-the-line policy of the company," said Paul Sirest, UAW international representative.

Average wage at the plant is $1.61 an hour.

Trade Minister Says Present Market Good

REGINA (CP)—Trade Minister Howe said Friday night that Canada will be able to market a substantial wheat crop in the next year.

Mr. Howe said in an interview: "I get tired of these 'if' boys. They are always asking what will we do if this happens or that happens. If we get a bumper crop we'll handle it. The Canadian Wheat Board will do the best possible job of marketing it."

He said the recent dock strike in Britain had a serious effect on Canada's movement of wheat.

But he added the present market situation is good and he doesn't anticipate any difficulty in moving the grain now in store.

Strength of Federal Parties Will Be Tested at Polls Monday

OTTAWA (CP)—Strength of federal political parties will be tested Monday in six by-elections after a quiet campaign unmarked by any major new issues. It is the second test since the general election Aug. 10, 1953.

Liberal and Progressive Conservative parties have entered candidates in every constituency. There are four CCF and four Labor - Progressive (Communist) candidates and one independent.

In the general election Liberals won five of the six seats at stake—all but the Progressive Conservative riding of York West in Ontario. The others are the Montreal constituencies of St. Lawrence-St. George and St. Antoine-Westmount, Ontario's Toronto Trinity and Simcoe, and Manitoba's Selkirk.

Polls will be open from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m., daylight standard time.

The campaign, fought to a large extent on a doorbell-ringing basis, especially in the areas, also featured a number of election rallies where the chief issues have been employment, immigration, government spending, trade and tariffs. The Selkirk campaign also involved around the wheat marketing situation.

Party leaders here have volunteered no predictions on the outcome.

The outcome will have little effect on party standings in the Commons. Of the 265 seats Liberals hold 168, Progressive Conservatives 50, CCF 23, Social Credit 15 and Independents 3.

Most close contests around two contests. In Montreal St. Antoine-Westmount Transport Minister Marler, named to the cabinet July 1, seeks former finance minister Abbott as constituency MP. In Selkirk the CCF candidate, W. A. (Scotty) Bryce, is trying to gain the seat he lost in 1945-53.

Mr. Marler, former Quebec Liberal leader is opposed by Progressive Conservative Egan Chambers, 33-year - old insurance executive. Others are Conservative, Labor-Progressive, and Joseph Loder, Independent.

In Selkirk, Mr. Bryce is trying to regain the seat he lost to Liberal R. J. Wood, who died last summer. Also fighting the by-election are Liberal, John Shanski, 45, Progressive Conservative Reginald Conservative David Veitch, 46, general merchant.

A close contest is expected in York West, made vacant by the death of Progressive Conservative Rodney Adamson, killed in the April 8 air crash at Moose Jaw, Sask.

Four candidates are in the running: Liberal Robert Campbell, 40, advertising executive; Progressive Conservative John D. Hamilton, 41-year-old lawyer; Bruce Evans, 33, CCF, a salesman; and Labor-Progressive candidate Leslie Morris, 46, an organizer for his party.

Another four-way contest is in Toronto Trinity where former Liberal cabinet member, Lionel Conacher, 51, a Commons softball game last May. Candidates are Liberal Donald Carrick, 40, insurance executive; Progressive Conservative William Wood Woodside, 48-year-old associate editor of Saturday Night; CCF candidate Herman Vedden, 51-year-old collegiate English teacher; and Labor-Progressive William Kashton, 43, his party's labor secretary.

Simcoe riding formerly held by cabinet ministers: Stormont by Paul Martin, Defence Minister Claxton, now an insurance company executive.

The only two-way fight is in Stormont, between Liberal Albert Lalonde, 37, Cornwall lawyer, and Progressive Conservative Donald R. Dickson, labor relations manager for a Cornwall paper company.

Seeking Mr. Claxton's former constituency are Liberal Claude Richardson, 37, grocer and tax expert, Progressive Conservative David de Volpi, 40, business man, and Social Credit Ian Bennett, organizer; and Labor-Progressive Frank Brenton, 38, office manager.

Queen Mother Elizabeth Spends Quiet Evening at White House

By LLOYD McDONALD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON (CP)—Two of the world's most prominent fishing enthusiasts—Queen Mother Elizabeth and President Eisenhower—spent a relaxing evening at the White House Friday night after the royal visitor's first full day in the U.S. capital.

Whether they compared the fishing in Scotland and Nova Scotland to the president's favorite Colorado streams was not known, but the evening was a private one limited to only a few personal guests.

But earlier in the day speakers at the giant luncheon given and attended by the Queen took note of the hobby common to the Queen Mother and Ike and jokingly suggested that they match tall stories during the White House visit.

Today the Queen is scheduled to move to the British Embassy next Friday, she flies to Ottawa for a six-day stay.

Her visit to the United States is private rather than a state occasion, but the president asked that the 54-year - old White House for her first two days in the capital so he could receive as much attention as she visited with her late husband, King George VI, in 1939.

The president of another royal visit to Washington and receptions honoring Elizabeth the only fuel for such speculation was a direct invitation by Mr. Eisenhower to "use your influence" to have Princess Margaret come to the United States. The Queen's younger daughter, only member of the immediate royal family who has not been to the U.S., is scheduled to visit the British West Indies this winter.

Royal tour officials smiled a bit mysteriously when Elizabeth Carpenter, president of the Women's National Press Club, was introduced to the Queen Mother during a welcoming speech at the press reception. Miss Carpenter mentioned the many influences in connection with the vivacious young princess.

Were Queen Mother's laughter set the pattern for the reception given by the club committee of press and television correspondents and news photographers and the Washington press corps and visiting correspondents who have been covering the Queen Mother's 17th trip since she arrived in New York Oct. 2. She mingled with the guests, at times meeting each with a handshake, a brief remark or a laugh.

The Queen Mother wore a gleaming slate blue afternoon dress with a flower fur collar and a close-fitting blue-flowered hat.

Queen Mother paid tribute to the correspondents, saying: "I am told, and I can well believe it, that from what I have seen of you, that you are a very powerful body, and that you attract and enjoy great talent."

In End Weakness Will Defeat Reds Says Pearson

TORONTO (CP) — External Affairs Minister Pearson said Friday night Canada could not accept permanently Soviet political domination over eastern Europe.

Mr. Pearson spoke at a campaign meeting in support of Donald Carrick, Liberal candidate in Monday's Toronto Trinity federal by-election.

"I don't think we can accept in this country the permanence, political and economic, of whole peoples are enslaved, any more than we could accept the permanence, spiritually, of a system which tries to choke and kill the individual spirit," said Mr. Pearson.

"Nations, as all history proves, will be free in spite of the irresistible declarations of historians and politicians. History also proves, will always reject the brutal effort to impose a false political level of a machine.

"That is the essential weakness of Communist tyranny and in the end that weakness will destroy it."

ONE TRUCK TOO MANY

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (AP) — A four-year-old girl, Tove Jensen, was killed under a truck Friday on the island of Bornholm in the Baltic Sea. The island of Aske. The truck is the only motor vehicle on the island, which counts 170 inhabitants.

SMALLEST WHEAT CROP IN 11 YEARS IN PROSPECT

Farmers Put Blame On Rain and Rust

OTTAWA (CP) — The smallest wheat crop in 11 years is in prospect for Canadian farmers.

The cause: Rain and rust.

The bureau of statistics Friday estimated the 1954 wheat yield at 298,913,000 bushels, less than half the bumper crops of the last two years.

The smal harvest, now almost all cut, will not mean any wheat shortage. Prairie farms in 1953 crop is a peak surplus carryover of 506,000,000 bushels.

Last year's carryover brings the total 1954 supply to 805,100,000 bushels, only 60,000,000 below the 1953 record 865,200,000. A big carryover of wheat is likely when the new crop year begins in August, 1955, even if sales are heavy.

The bulk barley crop is also smaller this year.

OATS CROP SHRINKS

The bureau estimated the oats harvest at 312,979,000 bushels, 22 per cent less than the 1953 crop and the smallest in the last seven years.

The barley crop was placed at 116,216,000 bushels, one - third below last year's figure and slightly below the average for the last 10 years.

The rye yield was estimated at 14,172,000 bushels, less than one-half last year's 28,775,000-bushel crop.

The bureau was twice forced to revise the estimate of the wheat crop.

On the basis of August conditions, it placed wheat output at 487,000,000 bushels, September, this was cut to 377,831,000 bushels. It was trimmed again this month in light of the frost and rust and poor harvest.

The latest estimate is based on an average yield of 12.3 bushels to the acre, a shade more than half the 24.1-bushel yield last year.

Average crop during the last decade has been 456,000,000 bushels. Last year, the wheat harvest totalled a record 688,000,000 bushels and the year before that 614,000,000.

Canadians Don't Take Interest In Reserve Army

TORONTO (CP)—Maj.-Gen. H. G. Letson, the Canadian general staff's top advisor on the militia, said Friday Canadians don't take the interest they should in their reserve army.

Apathy seem to be lethargic about military preparedness. They don't quite take the interest they should about having a trained nucleus of troops ready in case of war.

The general, who came out of retirement this year to take over as militia boss in Toronto to address Canadian Artillery Association convention, had come to boost interest in the militia.

Solon Low Charges 'Under Table' Deals on Taxes Made With Provinces

PORTAGE LA PRAIRIE, Man. (CP) — Solon Low, national leader of the Social Credit party, charged the federal Liberal administration Friday night with making "under the table" deals with provinces over taxes in connection with tax transfer agreements.

He addressed an audience of 150 persons at an open meeting conducted by the Portage la Prairie constituency committee of the Social Credit League of Manitoba.

The province of Canada had the right to know what happened in the secret meetings between Prime Minister St. Laurent and Premier Duplessis of Quebec.

"What the secrecy so long? Has Mr. St. Laurent sold - pedalled his province to Mr. Duplessis? Is he prepared to sacrifice the good of the people of Canada in an effort, perhaps, for a few retires from office, to place the Liberal party in the saddle again in Quebec? It is the integrity like it.

A Social Credit administration would not give provinces control over their vast resources instead of "throwing sand in the gears of the economy" because they have some real initiative" in trying to institute a Social Credit government.

The federal government collected huge sums of taxes from the province "for a purpose then it spent in the provinces for services.

"Under Social Credit money, the people's money, they play the basest kind of politics," he charged.

Instead of working out federal grants to education under a formula worked out between the provinces and the Dominion, the Liberals government set up its own bureaucracy. It distributed the money to universities "in a manner that is clearly distributed the money to universities "in a manner that is clearly a matter of favoritism."

Mother And Four Children Perish; Two Escape

Father on Deer Hunting Trip Near Sault St. Marie

TORONTO (CP) — A 31-year-old mother and four of her six children died in a fire which razed through a three-room flat early today.

Firemen discovered Mrs. Rita Walton, her two sons, Vernon, 1, and Leslie, 2, and two daughters, Barbara, 8; and Rosemary, 11, dead in the house.

John Walton, 33, father of the family, was in the Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., area on a hunting trip and could not immediately be located.

Jimmy, 12, and Elaine, 8, escaped in night clothes without injury. Police said Jimmy awakened Rosemary and Elaine and led them to safety. He turned in an alarm.

GIRL RAN BACK

Rosemary returned to the house, apparently to warn the rest of the family. Her body was found with the mother and two younger children in the bedroom. Barbara was found on the stair landing. Police said she may have been awakened by Rosemary.

Police said the fire was caused by a defect in the chimney. Official of the fire marshall's office was to inspect the premises today. Post-mortem examinations were scheduled.

Both upstairs and downstairs flats were blazing when firemen arrived. The flames were quickly under control. An assistant coroner said deaths were caused by asphyxia and multiple burns.

Gordon Baker, his wife and three children—occupants of the downstairs flat—escaped without injury.

Two efforts to save the woman and children were made before firemen arrived but both were frustrated by searing heat. Joseph Shirley singed his hair trying to enter the bedroom window from a ladder. He said later he could see one child through smoke and flame but was unable to reach her.

Baker also scurried up the ladder but was unable to enter because of the heat.

Alex Dellio, owner of a house next door was away and resident of the east end area for 25 years, was driving his taxi nearby when he saw the smoke and flame.

OTHERS ESCAPE

He said someone was screaming: "There are kids upstairs and we can't get them out." He turned in an alarm box but found it had already been tripped.

Besides the Walton and Baker families, David W. Kinney, his wife and five children, were forced to leave the other side of the semi-detached house. Robert Cooper, who lives down from the Kinneys, was also forced out although that section of the house was not destroyed.

The two surviving Walton children were taken in by a neighbor, Francis Ryan, owner of the house, said it was unoccupied at present.

Police said the house was a "fire trap" located in an east-end tenement district known as Cabbage Town. An inquest was ordered. An officer said it was the type of house in which charges of negligence might be laid.

Mexico City's Airport to Have 'Kissing Room'

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The government said Friday it will build a "kissing room" at the airport for sweethearts' farewells.

Gen. Alberto Salinas Carranza, chief of civil aviation, said spectators have been making fun of some lengthy partings at the airport, so there will be a separate waiting room for couples who want privacy.

Six-Day Week For Murder Trial Is in Prospect

By WILLIAM NEWKIRK
CLEVELAND (AP)—A judge's threat of a six-day week for the Sheppard murder trial faced a supposing counsel today because of the defense's long cross-examination of the state's first witness.

As the third week of the trial closed Friday, defense counsel William J. Corrigan still was dogged gently questioning deputy coroner Lester Adelson, who had been on the witness stand all day. And the lawyer said he would need at least another hour Monday to complete his cross-examination of the witness.

Judge Edward Blythin announced that if the pace of the trial continued slow, he might start holding Saturday sessions.

The gruelling session Friday appeared as hard on the defendant as on stenopah Sam H. Sheppard, as on the witness. Sheppard, accused of clubbing his pregnant wife to death last July 4 after an affair with a pretty hospital technician, fought back to control as gruesome details of the slaying were discussed.

While Corrigan was questioning Adelson about the position of the body on the battered head of Marilyn Sheppard, the defendant gripped his hands tightly in his lap and closed his eyes tightly.

Corrigan, whose relentless questioning hammered Adelson into making nervous and somewhat shaky admissions, tried to discredit the autopsy the deputy coroner made on the body.

Corrigan got Adelson to concede that the coroner's office made only a microscopic test to determine whether the victim had been raped, and made no chemical examination.

The lawyer pointed out a certain pattern in the head wounds that killed the osteopath's wife, suggesting that a pronged weapon such a rake could have been the weapon. Sheppard has insisted his wife was killed by a bushy-haired man who knocked him unconscious when he went to her aid.

WEATHER

TORONTO, (CP) — Synopsis: As snow of sleet and some light rain is moving through northern Ontario today and will pass into Quebec without affecting the south of the province. Milder and still cloudy weather is indicated for the week-end for southern Ontario although some snow flurries tonight in northern sections. Some snow or rain is again likely Sunday from Georgian Bay northward. Winds will be light and variable.

Early Meeting Of Parliament Wanted by Drew

OTTAWA (CP) — Hon. George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, called Friday for an early meeting of Parliament to prepare conditions for the Jan. 31 conference of Commonwealth prime ministers in London.

Mr. Drew said in a statement his party welcomes the conference announced Thursday by Prime Minister Churchill, but he added Prime Minister St. Laurent should get Parliament's views before attending it.

Parliament had been expected earlier to meet this fall, but Mr. St. Laurent announced recently it will not convene until early in the new year. Belief now is that the session will be called in about mid-January.

TRENTON (Special) — A five-year-old boy is in hospital today with major body burns after he burned himself into a human torch in the kitchen of his home here yesterday morning.

Randy Lockwood, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Lockwood, 247 King Street was rushed to Trenton Memorial Hospital after he had set his pyjamas alight with a book of matches.

Attending physician Dr. W. A. McDonald today described the boy's chances or recovery as good.

Mrs. Lockwood was in the upper rooms of the house gathering morning around 9 a.m. gathering up laundry. Randy preceded her downstairs by a few minutes. He went into the kitchen where he apparently found a book of matches. The next thing Mrs. Lockwood knew, her son was dashing towards her with his pyjamas burning wildly.

She grabbed him and frantically started beating the flames with her hands but couldn't extinguish them.

"I became frantic when I saw I couldn't stop the flames with my hands," Mrs. Lockwood said.

PUT SON IN TUB

"I figured my only hope was to get him into the water in the bathtub."

She rushed her son up the stairs to the bathroom and doused the flames with water in the tub.

The boy was then taken to the hospital.

In her frantic attempts to beat out the fire in Randy's burning pyjamas Mrs. Lockwood burned her felt hand.

Couple Injured On 4-Lane Road East of City

A Point Anne father and mother were injured and their two small children were shaken up when their car skidded off the rear of a truck on No. 2 Highway, just after last Friday evening.

In Belleville hospital with a broken knee cap and broken arm is Chester Sheppard, 31, while his wife, 30, has lacerations and bruises. Two months old Della Marie and Stephen Sheppard, three, were shaken up but were allowed to leave the hospital following check-up.

Police said the Sheppard car was following an eastbound truck on the four-lane highway east of the city when the truck driver, by Sheppard's story, suddenly changed to make a left-hand turn. The Sheppard car slammed into the back of the truck causing extensive front-end damage to the vehicle. The car slued around, its rear wheels off the pavement, but remained on its four wheels.

Mr. and Mrs. Sheppard were pitched forward as result of the impact, shortly, from their children riding in the rear seat escaped with a shaking up. Leavy and Elgie were investigating.

Provincial Constable Robertson investigated.

IRON DEPOSIT

Because of the size of the Allen's Mills deposit, W. S. Moore and Jas. Bawden, manager to oversee their growing operations in Hastings County.

The iron strike at Campbellford is thought to be even larger than the Marmora deposit.

Registry books at Colborne show that the property is leased to the Chemical Lime Co. which, it is rumored, is a wholly owned subsidiary of the Canadian Steel Co. of the United States.

Officials of Chemical Lime Co, is also head of the Steel Co. of Canada.

DRILL AT CAMPBELLFORD

Pickands-Mather Co. is believed responsible for the extensive drilling at Campbellford. The Campbellford site for which it has a lease, is 90 acres.

Because the Campbellford deposit is so far underground, some estimates are as deep as 400 feet, it is thought that the company will wait for a good rise in the nature of a reserve to be developed later. Depth of the overburden would also affect the final operations do commence it will be by shaft and not the open pit method.

Spokesman Says His Company Has No Connection

MONTREAL (CP)—A spokesman for Royal Securities Corporation, Limited, said Friday night his company has no connection with a firm bearing the New York name under the name Royal Securities Corporation which is involved in an alleged stock swindle case reported from New York Thursday.

Ralph G. Millikin of New York, president and sole stockholder of the American company, was named Thursday by Attorney-General Nathaniel L. Goldstein of New York State as masterminded of an alleged swindle in "penny" stocks.

The state has accused a group of promoters, including two Canadian residents, of using Hollywood and Broadway names to swindle thousands.

Eighteen defendants have been barred from dealing in securities in New York state pending a hearing Nov. 17 on a temporary court order obtained by the attorney-general.

Goldstein said the defendants had sold about $250,000 in "worthless securities" by means of boiler-room and used as bait such names as Ginger Rogers, film actress and film producer Fred Finklehoffe and Broadway producer Michael Sloane.

The spokesman for the Canadian company operated from a Montreal firm, which has its head office in Montreal and offices from coast to coast has no connection in connection with Royal Securities Corporation of New York.

Royal Securities Corporation Limited was founded in 1903 and is a member of the Investment Dealers Association of Canada. It deals in government, municipal and corporation bonds.

Warmer Weather Disintegrates Shelf of Ice

OTTAWA (CP) — Warmer weather in Canada's Arctic may be responsible for disintegration of a 500-square-mile shelf of ice off the north shore of Ellesmere island, some 2,500 miles north of Ottawa.

Geoffrey Hattersley-Smith, a Defence Research Board scientist, said Friday this possibility is being investigated following study of the latest satellite photos of a Canada-United States expedition.

He said there was evidence that warmer weather is causing the shelf to break up but we are not certain at present. He told a press conference.

Mrs. Hattersley-Smith, Robert L. Christie of the geological survey of Canada and two American scientists spent a week on the shelf studying a four-month exploration trip to Ellesmere land. He said the studies may determine the origin of the shelf which is some 400 miles long and 15 miles wide and the reason why it is breaking up.

The ice shelf is from 150 to 200 thick in some places. Mr. Hattersley-Smith said that during the last 40 or 50 years large pieces of ice have broken away from the shelf and drifted southward. He said the studies mean that United States forestry weather observations.

The scientists took cores of ice from the shelf and shipped them to a U.S. army cold weather laboratory at Chicago for study.

A Lift For Living

Play Reveals Character

By DR. RALPH W. SOCKMAN

Last week we discussed work. Now how about play?

The matter of play is important because it reveals character. If you wish to know the quality of a person, watch him in his off - hours as when he is free to do what he likes to do. Just about the best way to measure a person's goodness is to note what he calls having a "good time."

Play is important also because it recreates as well as reveals life. At least it should renew us. But alas, so much of what we call recreation does not recreate us.

The importance of play is increasing because modern living is allowing us more time for it. There are 168 hours in each week. Take out eight hours a day for sleep which is more than some of us get), and another eight hours out a day for work, which is becoming the common schedule. Subtract another three hours for eating and we have left about as many waking hours off from work as we put in on the job.

We commonly assume that people have to be trained for their work but that they can handle their leisure themselves. We are waking up to the fact that people are not competent to handle their leisure time constructively. Last year at a session of the National Recreation Congress, I was impressed by the startling fact that now being given to wholesome recreation.

A REFRESHING PERIOD

A few weeks ago the people of our nation practically closed up shop to hear and witness the drama of the World Series. We were all grandstand, radio or television sitters. For four stirring days many forgot politics, the foreign crises and even their own personal problems. It was a refreshing period.

Literally millions attend collegiate football games throughout the country. Among them are unfamiliar with, or indifferent to, the intricate formations devised by able coaches. However, even the uniformed can enjoy the wholesome thrill of watching an American youth streak down the field. And many older men are recreated by awakened memories of the days when they, too, possessed the spirit and stamina of youth! We can learn a lot when we play.

In recent years we have heard so much about the "key man" on a team. Loosely translated, this seems to mean that he possesses all the physical attributes essential to leading his team to victory. In baseball he may be the indispensable pitcher or the dependable hitter. In football he could be a triple-threat man. But we should not forget that nine men in baseball and 11 men in football comprise a team. Without co-ordinated effort a game can be lost.

On the other hand, there are young men who "spark" a team. They may not be flashy performers but they radiate strength and confidence. When the "chips are down" as a team, this "sparker" inspires his fellows by his very presence. And although the hero of the game receives the chief acclaim, the manager or coach knows that the "key man" was perhaps an obscure little fellow somewhere there in the playing field.

NOT EVERYONE "STARS"

Not all of us can be "star players." And that is good, for "stars" do not always kindle the spirits of others any more than stars in the sky make the grass grow. Some of the most brilliant persons I know are the least happy for they burn themselves up trying to be "stars."

But even we ordinary persons can be "key men" on some team. Bob Cratchit in Dickens' "Christmas Carol" was an underling in Old Scrooge's office but he was a hero to his son Tiny Tim. Every father can be a key man on his home team. Let's not be mere spectators of professional entertainment whether on the gridiron or stage or screen. We recreate ourselves by being participants in play.

Moreover, we help to spark the spirits of those around us by entering into wholesome recreation. The Master of Nazareth, although He came to do the biggest task ever assigned, found time to attend wedding suppers and play with little children. He saw that we can serve by our play as well as by our work.

And if we really get in tune with the Divine Creator, even our work takes on the spirit of a game and becomes play to us.

BULLETINS FROM BIRDLAND

SCENIC RAILWAY FLIGHT

For the next few months, when we see a little olive yellow bird flying as though it were on a scenic railway, we may be pretty sure that it is a common (or Eastern) Goldfinch. In summer we recognized him by his costume of vivid yellow, with black tail, black wings, and tiny black cap tilted over his nose.

At least that was the appearance of the male. His mate was much less conspicuous: a dull olive yellow with wings(if we may coin a word) "off-black". Truth to tell, Mr. Goldfinch now bears a remarkable resemblance to his wife.

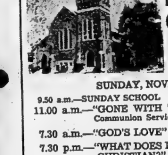
Each downward dip in the scenic railway flight is accompanied, rhythmically, by notes which have been translated as "per-chic-o-wee". Of course there will be no music now, but in spring and summer the sustained song comes very near to that of our domestic canary.

Consequently, a Goldfinch is often familiarly spoken of as "Wild Canary", and the uninitiated frequently think it actually is somebody's pet gone astray.

BREEDS ACROSS CANADA

The Common Goldfinch breeds across Canada from Newfoundland to western Manitoba, is a resident in southern Ontario, and often winters in Toronto. Indeed, it is not unusual for one to be found in the Montreal area at any period of the year.

This American Goldfinch, as it is sometimes called, is really not a first cousin of the European Goldfinch, only a distant relative, but was given its name by settlers here from the Old World who were struck by its resemblance to that species.



The prototype (sometimes referred to as British Goldfinch) is very little larger, averaging about 5¼ inches instead of 5 ½. But the plumage mixture of buffy brown, black, yellow, crimson, and white makes its appearance most colorful. For its pleasing song and so called intelligence it is used as a cage bird.

FOUNDED CLINIC

VANCOUVER (CP)—Dr. George Anderson Lamont, 60, founder of Vancouver's first child guidance clinic and organizer of the Canadian Red Cross blood donor service in British Columbia, died Wednesday. Born in Ontario, Dr. Lamont received his early education in Guelph.

GOOD NEIGHBORS

NEW HAMBURG (CP)—Helpful neighbors conducted a plowing match on the farm of Elmon Snyder near this town 15 miles east of Stratford. The match was to see who could do the most for Mr. Bender who is sick and unable to do his own fall plowing. The neighbors brought 35 acres.

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

There has been some lamentation in sections of the press lately about the increasing use of the word "Canada" to designate the government of this country and certain of its services. It is the contention of these critics that Canada should really be called "The Dominion of Canada" and that it is sufficient to call the Government of Canada, the federal government.

We would like to ask what is so terrible about the word "Canada?" It is after all the name of our country and we are all Canadians.

A dominion, according to the dictionary, is "a governed territory or country." Canada is certainly a governed country as our pyramiding bureaucracy testifies. But Canada is a self-governing country and therefore it seems redundant to qualify Canada, Ontario, Canada, together with the word dominion, which means a governed country.

As an explanation of this type of government we enjoy "Dominion" is not enlightening. It is also not necessary to make explanations about Canada or the Canadian form of government.

When the term "Dominion" was coined for this country Canada was a British possession administered for the most part through the British Colonial office. It was, the most part through the British Colonial office. It was, the most part through the British Colonial office. It was,

Veteran Diplomat Dismissed by U.S. As Security Risk

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—The security flaring of veteran diplomat John Paton Davies Jr. on grounds of "lack of judgment, discretion and reliability" threatened today to become a new centre of public controversy.

State Secretary Dulles, announcing the immediate dismissal of a key figure in the 10-year-old dispute over American policy towards China, said Friday he was affirming the unanimous findings of a special five-man security board.

Dulles said neither he nor the panel found Davies "disloyal in the sense of having any Communist affinity" or that he "consciously helped" an enemy of this country.

Dulles announced he had decided with the board that "the continued employment of Mr. Davies is not clearly consistent with the interests of national security."

Davies, who had been cleared eight times under the Truman administration, announced he would not contest the decision. But he declared in a statement he did not feel there were "adequate grounds" for it. Dulles had been in the diplomatic service for 23 years, much of the time in China.

WAS STORM CENTRE

Davies, 46, has been a diplomatic and political storm centre for years because during the later stages of the Second World War he urged that the U.S. "drop firm steps to "neutralize". Nationalist China's Kuomintang party. State department records already published show that Davies said such a revitalized party could be "significant force" in a coalition government with the Communists, a measure designed to forestall outright Red conquest.

If Chiang Kai-shek's party could not be "reformed," Davies said, the U.S. should consider trying to win co-operation from the Chinese Reds.

The possibility of further controversy in the Davies affair arises from several factors:

1. Davies said he had asked Dulles to make public "the whole record on my case, including my 1950 recommendations that we seek a preventive showdown with the Soviet Union." This was the first hint that he had made such a proposal.

2. It appeared probable that the Foreign Service Journal, a magazine published by foreign service officers, would also ask publication of the record on the ground that the Dulles announcement Friday did not make the issues clear for the future guidance of U.S. diplomats.

3. Democratic party leaders, returning to power in the next Congress, have indicated they intend to investigate security firings of the Eisenhower administration. The Davies dismissal falls into that category.

REMANDED IN SHOOTING

TORONTO (CP)—Marian Andrejewski, 40, charged with the attempted murder of his wife and child, shooting with intent and having an offensive weapon, Friday was remanded one week at the Crown's request. Andrejewski's wife and two-year-old daughter were grazed by bullets fired by a man outside their home Oct. 28.

Nazi Tank Ace, Von Kleist, Dies In Soviet Jail

BERLIN (Reuters) — Former Field Marshal Ewald Von Kleist, 73, ace German tank commander, has died in Russia, where he was serving a term for war crimes committed in the Soviet Union, the official Communist East German news agency ADN reported Friday.

The agency said Von Kleist died after a long illness.

Von Kleist played a leading military role in the Second World War, mainly in German offensives in Poland, Yugoslavia and Russia.

He was taken prisoner by British armed forces in 1945. The British extradited him to the Yugoslavs, who later handed him over to the Russians.

A prisoner who returned to Germany late last year said Von Kleist was imprisoned at Vladimirovka, about 110 miles from Moscow.

Von Kleist, tall, well-built descendant of a family which has included 17 prussian generals was connected with some of Hitler's most spectacular attacks — and most resounding defeats.

For Parents Only Your Child And Books

By NANCY CLEAVER

"We have a new TV set and our two children haven't looked at a book for two months. They used to go to the library every week. Have you heard a parent saying this?

"All my boy will read is the funnies—and he wastes his time reading every comic book he can lay his hands on. He just doesn't seem interested in good books," one mother said regretfully.

"Well, at least he's reading something," her friend replied. "Ever since my daughter reached her teens she wants to spend all her leisure time and money on going to the movies. The only books she reads all year are the supplementary reading ones. Her teacher insists the class must hand in written reviews on these. We are going to celebrate Book Week in our family by visiting a book store and each of us buying one new book." a third mother said. "We think budgeting for books is the best way to show our children we value them."

GOOD EXAMPLE

How can a parent encourage a child to love books? The indirect influence of a father or mother who enjoys reading is bound to have an effect on a boy or girl sooner or later. Books must have a place in the family budget. If reading is enjoyed by grown ups and the volumes in the bookcase are taken from their places and read, a child will naturally think that reading is an enjoyable activity. Surely reading should be a real delight—not a hard duty!

Reading aloud at bed time is a custom in many homes and a very good one start to school. What a pity this good habit is too often dropped! A family can have much enjoyment reading aloud a book which they all enjoy, or short sections from a favorite volume or brief poems.

READ ALOUD

Once a boy or girl has learned to read, do give him the opportunity to read aloud from time to time in the home circle. Many a child choose the story he would like to share with the family. Give him your undivided attention while he is reading. Enter into his enjoyment of the scenes which the writer pictures and praise him for reading well.

A little bookshelf in a child's room is an excellent idea. An orange crate may be easily painted and painted by a youngster with a little help from father and makes a satisfactory book case which costs only a few cents. As Christmas and on birthdays, good books should be among a boy's or girl's gifts—and by good is meant books which are well-written, suitable for his age level, or real interest to a child youngster.

The child finds in books, treasures from every corner of the globe. From Sweden comes Selma Lagerlof's Wonderful Adventures of Nils, from France, The Three Musketeers, from Italy, Pinocchio; from Switzerland, Heidi.

How many lovely books have come from British writers—from Beatrix Potter's tale of Peter Rabbit for tiny tots to Charles Kingsley's, The Water Babies; Robert Louis Stevenson's, Treasure Island, and Daniel Dafoe's Robinson Crusoe.

The Wizard of Oz by L. Frank Baum and many other series are by U.S. writers. The School Train, by Helen Archer, has a Canadian north woods setting while, Breastplate and Buckskin, by George E. Tait, a Canadian is a story of the outstanding explorers of the Americas.

BOOK ENTHUSIASTS

Why do certain children become enthusiastic readers of books and escape from their world into the Never-Never Land of Peter Pan or Alice in Wonderland or Fairy Tales or Barbarb, the elephant's adventures.

Others delight in the magic of poetry in A.A. Milne's, Now We Are Six; or Robert Louis Stevenson's, A Child's Garden of Verses, or Walter de la Mare's, Rhymes and Verses. Rudyard Kipling's, Just So Stories, and Kenneth Grahame's, The Wind in the Willows, have charmed countless children and so have Hugh Lofting's Dr. Dolittle books, Peanrod tales, and Mark Twain's, Adventure of Tom Sawyer. Lassie Come Home, by Eric Knight. Only My Friend Ficks, by Mary O'Hara, are among the most prized books with the story of dog or a horse as its theme.

A taste for biography is shown in older boys and girls who appreciate such stories as, The Great Hopdini, by Beryl Williams and Samuel Epstein; Leonardo da Vinci, by Elizabeth Ripley, or Cornelia Meig's, Invincible Louisa, (the story of Louisa May Alcott who wrote Little Women) and Little Giant, the story of Henry Kel-

W. I. May Use Money to Build Centre in Korea

TORONTO (CP)—Money from the Korean fund of the Ontario Women's Institutes may be used to build a service centre in Korea.

Such a step was suggested Thursday at the annual meeting of the institutes' central Ontario area.

Mrs. Gordon MacPhatter of Owen Sound, provincial president, proposed that part of the $7,021 collected for the fund, be used for construction of the centre.

"The money left can be used to equip the centre with sewing machines, hand looms and material," she said.

Mrs. MacPhatter also suggested that Ontario Institutes take on the sponsorship of two Korean refugee centres in Ceylon under the guidance of Miss Mary Clugston, who would cost $5,240.

Mrs. H. C. Clugston, markdale, was re-elected chairman. Mrs. William A. Heron, Brooklin, is secretary-treasurer.

2nd Wolf Cubs Have Delayed Hallowe'en

The spirits of Hallowe'en still lingered Monday night when 2nd Belleville Wolf Cubs arrived at the Parish Hall garbed in everything from a Chinese from the Far East to Peter Pan from Fable Land.

The evening began by mysterious names being written on slips of paper and deposited in an especially mysterious box. Then the Grand March at which time the most original costume was chosen the prize going to Glen Rainbird. The next was for the best character costume, the prize going to Robbie Blaker, and third prize to Dennis Galpin.

Games and fun stunts were then played after which home-made cookies, apples, candy and cider, were enjoyed by one and all. These refreshments were provided by the Mothers' Auxiliary.

So once again as we say "Good-night Cubs—good hunting."

A fine lamp by the piano should have a shade that lets light through, and a diffusing bowl to prevent glaring reflections from the piano. Place the lamp to the rear of the player so the bright shade cannot be seen.

Going Places ABC's of Travelling by Pullman

By SHIRLEY AND BOB SLOANE

So many times now has the mail brought the same kind of question that our resistance finally has been broken. We've got to admit it's no coincidence that an alarming number of people in this airand-bus age are unfamiliar with the "how to do it" of making a train trip, particularly by Pullman.

It's true that going Pullman involves one of those fairly complicated rigamaroles that have helped drive people in droves away from the airlines and railroads and into their automobiles.

So if you have occasion to make a train trip of some length, here is a blow-by-blow guide to planning and executing it.

Since cost always is a consideration, keep in mind that the Pullman fare and coach fare are designed primarily for overnight or longer travel. For journey in the daytime one, a coach ticket is your best bargain. Or, if you want more luxury, the parlor car with its comfortable armchairs will cost a little more than the coach but less than the Pullman.

CLEAR SCHEDULE

Before reserving your berth and figuring the cost, ought you to have a clear picture of your schedule and connections? If you're a whiz at reading those unreadable railroad timetables, you'd feel very sweet if agent or railroad representative work out the possibilities for you.

Most experienced travelers prefer to go on "through" cars or trains requiring no switch. If through train means no changes, and a through car means you're directly to your destination even if the train is reorganized at certain points.

If you find you have a choice of departure times, you stand to save by choosing the one that requires the fewest nights in the pullman. For instance, a train that leaves in the morning and arrives the following night means just one night of paying for a berth, while one that leaves at night and arrives two mornings later will cost you for two nights in a berth.

Some travelers prefer to go to a coach for the daytime part of the trip, particularly on the last day, thus saving the charge for an daytime Pullman use. But you may find that more trouble than it's worth.

CHECK NUMBERS

Upon making your reservation, make a note of the car and berth (or room) number which the agent gives you. In most cities, on payment for your ticket, you are handed an envelope which has written on it your car and berth number set down in duplicate.

At train time you take this to the train agent at the gate from which your train is leaving. He collects the ticket for the first portion of your trip, all of it if it is short or one-night trip) and replaces it with a stub marked with your car and berth number. You keep that as long as you are aboard the train. It is proof that it's yours.

On boarding the train, you show the stub or envelope to the Pullman porter (unless you have your own car number all of it) and to your bags, escorts you to your car, and stows your luggage for you, usually under your seat.

You'll find a bell at your seat; use this to summon the porter when you get the little ladder up or with any special service. If you have an upper berth, you'll have to get the little ladder with which you get into and out of your berth.

TIP AT DESTINATION

The porter is tipped only at your destination, roughly 50 cents for each night, 25 to 50 cents for each daytime period. You hand him the tip as you step off the train.

In your berth you'll find the famous little hammock, which is not

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

LET HIM PROVE HE MEANS WHAT HE SAYS

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I have been married 8 years, have three children and a husband who always gets drunk every pay day. All week long, he stays sober, but on pay day he has to go off and drink up everything he makes.

I stood this until a little while ago, when I finally took the children and went home to my parents. I got a job, and my mother looks after the children while I am at work.

My husband has been keeping after me to come back to him, saying that he now realizes what he has done to us and will give up drinking and be the right kind of husband and father. Do you think I should go? — Mrs. H.T.

Dear Mrs. H.T.:

My opinion is that you should stay right where you are until your husband remains sober for a sufficiently long period to give you reason to believe that things really will be better in future. It would be very foolish to go back to him after no more than a week or so of sobriety of his part.

Why not set a definite time limit—say, six months—for him and tell him that if his conduct during that time shows he means what he says, you will give him another chance? If he's not willing to have his change of heart put to the test, then you can have no confidence in it and had better continue with your present living arrangements.

You might, also, get in touch with the local Alcoholics Anonymous group and ask advice there on what steps toward your husband would be most likely to bring about a change in him. These people in AA are very especially interested in helping family and relatives of the drinker, and I'm sure would give you both comfort and help.

ANYONE WHO DRINKS TO ESCAPE UNPLEASANTNESS IS A POOR RISK

Dear Miss Fairfax:

My problem is very much against the young man with whom I have been going steady because she claims he drinks too much. Actually, he doesn't really drink as much as mother thinks he does. He only drinks when he gets mad at me about something, or when he is downhearted.

I don't want to hurt my mother, but I think she is being unreasonable, and since I am 21 years old and this fellow is 24, I think we are old enough to decide our own problems.

What do you think? — Nancy T.

Dear Nancy:

It is an extremely poor omen for the future when any man drinks because things don't go right for him. To start drinking in order to escape something you don't like is one of the quickest ways to become a chronic alcoholic.

If this young man drinks now when you make him mad, he is not going to stop doing so just because you are his wife. In fact, he is probably going to do so even more after you are married. Also, like every other human being in the world, he is going to have a great many times in his life when he feels downhearted, and if the only way he knows how to console depression is to drink, there is tragedy ahead not only for himself, but for any girl he marries.

Unless this young man's whole attitude takes a decided turn for the better, you will save yourself a great deal of unhappiness if you break up with him now, instead of marrying him. A man whose character is so weak that he will not cope with either major or minor disappointments and frustrations, is going to bring his wife nothing but sorrow.

BURIED IN BRIDAL GOWN

Stories of Famous Hymns

by HORACE B. POWELL

We'll Work Till Jesus Comes

O land of rest, for thee I sigh,
When will the moment come,
When I shall lay my armor by,
And dwell in peace at home?

No tranquil joys on earth I know,
No peaceful sheltering dome;
This world's a wilderness of woe,
This world is not my home.

To Vesus Christ I fled for rest;
He bade me cease to'roam,
And lean for succor on His breast,
Till He conducts me home.

I sought at once my Savior's side,
No more by steps shall roam;
With Him I'll brave death's chilling tide,
And reach my heav'nly home.

God sometimes uses the briefest lives to send His richest blessings to the world.

Mrs. Elizabeth Mills, a young English woman, was only 34 years old when she died but during her lifetime she wrote two of Christendom's most appealing hymns. Both are still singing to twentieth century Christians from the pages of modern hymnals.

In her first hymn, Mrs. Mills declared the glory of reaching Heaven. She wrote:

"O land of rest, for thee I sigh,
When will the moment come,
When I shall lay my armor by,
And dwell in peace at home?"

Mrs. Mills was born in 1805 and after her marriage she lived a good bit of the time in London. Her husband was a member of Parliament. George C. Stebbins, popular American composer, wrote the tune for her first song; Dr. Miller gave song wings to her hymn, "we'll Work Till Jesus Comes", quart cold water and heat. Cube remainder of meat and roll in salting and peppered flour. Brown the floured meat and sliced onion in a minimum of fat or butter on all sides but not too much. Add meat and onion to broth-in-kettle and cook below boiling point for 2 or 2 1-2 hours or until nearly tender. At end of first hour add turnip and carrot. Add potatoes 20 minutes later. When meat is tender remove and bones if added. Now thicken the stew by stirring together the flour, salt and pepper with enough water to make a smooth paste, and stir in until thick. The amount of liquid should be kept up to 1 quart. Stir in the delicious with dumplings. Stew should be covered with a lid during entire cooking period.

ANSWER:

(To Mrs. Wm. B. continued from Friday.)

It is not advisable to can blueberries ready for pie filling with thickener added unless you are going to process them in pressure cooker. Since you did not mention pressure cooker I will give you the boiling water bath method.

CANNED BLUEBERRIES

Wash and pick over blueberries and drain well. Cold pack into sterile jars.

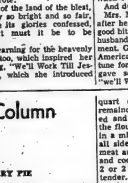
Cover with boiling thin syrup leaving headspace. Thin syrup is 1 cup sugar to 3 or 3 1-2 cups water. Put on sterile rubbers, tops and rings, then use screw 1-8 of a turn. If spring-top sealers are used do not spring down lower ball. Process in hot water bath—pints 15 minutes; quarts 20 minutes. If sterilized in oven—pints 25 minutes; quarts 30 minutes at 275 deg. Fahr.

QUESTION;

Had the most scrumptious raspberry pie . . my hostess said that she made it from the canned frozen raspberries that we are fortunate enough to be able to purchase—can you help me make one that will be as delicious . . now that fall days are coming I feel like a nice stew . . prefer-ably made with round steak—no meat with too much fat. still one of your ardent admirers. E. D.

ANSWER:

I recalled your signature at once—although it is some time since you have written.



RASPBERRY PIE

(From fresh or frozen berries) NOTE: This recipe may be used for fresh or frozen strawberries if desired.)

Use 4 cups of raspberries—fresh or thawed frozen. Prepare syrup: Mix together 1 cup sugar (use only 1-2 or 2-3 cup if frozen berries are used as they contain 40 per cent sugar syrup) 3 tablespoons cornstarch. Stir well in 1 cup water (or if pie is to be cooked in pastry shell use only 1-4 cups water) and cook this stirring until clear and thick, then cook over low heat (or use top of double boiler) for 10 minutes. Add red food coloring and 1-8 teaspoon salt now. Pour this hot glaze over the whole raspberries and allow to cool. Then pour into a pie crust that has been sprinkled with 2 or 3 tablespoons fine breadcrumbs. Wet rim of lower crust, and place top crust over, pinching edges together and cut steam vents in top crust and seal. Brush upper crust carefully with milk to give gold finish. Bake at 400 deg. Fahr. for 40 to 45 minutes or until golden. Do not cut until cold. If pie is to stand more than 8 hours use only 2 1-2 or 3 tablespoons cornstarch.

CANADIAN BEEF STEW

2 pounds and one-half lb. piece flank steak or shin beef (or round steak if you do not have or want to economize) 3-4 cups cup cubed turnip, 2-3 cup cubed carrots, 2 or 4 potatoes cubed or sliced, 1 1-2 teaspoons salt, 1-8 teaspoon pepper, 1-3 to 1-2 cup flour, 1 quart water. Trim fat and fibre and bone from meat and cover in large stewing kettle with 1

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECKMAN

THE TECHNIQUE OF PLACING COASTERS

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

It is our good fortune to have several quite valuable end-tables (inherited from my husband's family and from mine), and while I don't want to be a "fuss-budget," neither do I want to have these tables have rings left on them or moisture from glasses or otherwise injured. My husband thinks it's quite all right for me to hand a coaster to a guest, even after the drink has been served without coaster, but this always seems awkward to me, particularly awkward to the guest, as if I were accusing him or her of carelessness. What do you suggest about this coaster-service? (As a matter of fact, I believe, from observation, that many hostesses have this same question.)—Hostess M.

There are two ways to place coasters on any kind of underplate. The best way, the right way, is to remember to place the coaster or under-plate when you serve the glass containing the drink. This seems so easy, but I'll admit it's surprising how many hostesses forget to do it . . and is better than to have the coaster later, as awkward procedure, as you say. It's an important equipment-detail to remember when you prepare the tray or wheel-cart.

If you've neglected to do this, then you must place the coaster at the guest's place or hand the coaster to the guest with as much graciousness as you can possibly summon. Thus not to embarrass the guest, by seeming, as you say, to accuse the guest of possible carelessness. I've noticed that the most graceful way to do is to talk casually of something entirely unrelated to the drink or coaster. . .saying something that will get the guest's attention away from the coaster-procedure.

DANGEROUS PROCEDURE . . . "SURPRISE" RING

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

On Thanksgiving Day, which is also my birthday, my fiance is to give me my engagement ring. On that day too I'll have to surprise my fiance by giving him a ring also, so I think the fiance should have an engagement present as well as the fiancee. However, my mother and father don't approve of me doing this. Do you approve? — Dorothy

I never do approve of a girl's giving a man a ring as an engagement present, unless they're wedding ring . . unless she is absolutely positive that he will give her a ring, and if so, what kind of ring he prefers. It's a mighty dangerous procedure for a girl to give her fiance for her husband) a ring that "surprises" him . . can lead to the makings of a terribly awkward situation. I imagine this is what your mother and father warned you about, although you are careful not to tell me why their objections prove. Many, many men wouldn't even consider accepting a ring . . especially a man who does want to wear one, insists on choosing the kind he prefers. A "surprise" number to wear one, insists on choosing the kind he prefers, no "surprise" number. Also, many men who wear a ring insist on wearing it on the little finger, never on any other finger. So step carefully, Dorothy, about that surprise"!

A CHANGING PICTURE

Now the autumn day is gloomy
And the skies are grey,
And the north wind's threatening murmur
Comes from far away;
Now the harvest fields are barren
Under lowering skies,
And no cheering sights of summer
Greet our weary eyes.

Then across the hills and valleys
See the sunshine sweep!
Smiling on the quiet shorelines,
Where the wavelets sleep;
Lighting up the distant woodland
Where the shadows stray,
Thus we have the changing picture
Of an autumn day.

Lights and sounds of golden summer
Long have passed away
Lost the glow of gladsome springtime
Mid the shadows grey —
Symbol of the love that sought us
With a tender yearn,
Like life's springtime,
spurned, heeded, neglected,
Never to return.
— Helen B. Anderson.

WELLINGTON — With the coming of November, the countryside with its leafless trees, bedraggled appearance, and the lines of the late William C. Bryant, who expressed the feeling of this season as follows: "The melancholy days have come, the saddest of the year." The woods are bare and naked, woods and meadows brown and sere. Heaped in the hollows of the grove the autumn leaves lie dead, they rustle to the breeze and fall, and wail to the rabbit's tread."

But the last days of October were mostly sunny and beautiful luring the wrens back to their nesting boxes and bringing us our winter friends, the gay chickadees and the nuthatch.

Mr. and Mrs. Warden Sanders and young son, with Mr. and Mrs. Glendon Sanders, Toronto, were week-end guests of Mrs. Alice Good Murphy and Mr. and Mrs. Percy Murphy.

Mrs. Mowat left on Tuesday to visit her daughter in Flint Mich.

Mrs. R. Sarles will spend the winter in Oakville.

Mr. Melvin Wannemaker and Miss McEatheron of Rossmore, were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. Wannemaker and with them spent Sunday with friends in Trenton.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Carley attended the funeral of the late Mrs. Robert Beckham in Brookfield on Saturday.

Anniversary services in Wellington United church on Sunday were well attended. Rev. Mr. Poulter, associate minister of Deer Park Church, Toronto, was guest speaker, assisted by Rev. Alfred Poulter. The choir, with Mrs. McNeil organist, furnished special music. The thank-offering was taken.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Root, Consecon, on the birth of a son in Trenton Memorial Hospital on Wednesday, October 27th.

Mrs. Clinton has sold her beautiful home, Clinton Lodge, to a Toronto buyer.

W.A. OF UNITED CHURCH

The October meeting of the W. A. Church of Wellington United Church was held in the church parlors, with the president, Mrs. B. Alyea in charge. There was a fine attendance. Following opening exercises, Mrs. Harold Nash read the minutes of the last meeting and the roll call, and Mrs. Tenney, in the absence of Mrs. Fleming, gave the financial report.

Mrs. Alice Good Murphy had charge of the program, with Mrs. A. J. Ross taking the devotional, assisted by Mrs. Maybee closing with the hymn "All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name." In the program that followed Mrs. G. Stoneburg read a poem, and Mrs. Garnet Tayler read an interesting sketch from Edna Jacques, a satisfactory sum was handed in by the collectors for the annual W.A. funds. At the close social hour with refreshments was enjoyed.

The Evening Auxiliary of the United Church met at the home of Miss Viola Vallieu on Tuesday evening for the November meeting. The meeting, conducted by Mrs. J. Dick, was well attended. Mrs. Campbell had charge of the study book, and social time with refreshments, closed the meeting.

Beauty

By HELEN JAMIESON

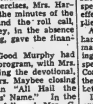
AUTUMN-BROWN HANDS

Mary, Mary, quite contrary, how did your garden grow? Were you digging in the dirt all summer, pulling up weeds, preparing vegetables for the table, cutting flowers to decorate your home? If so, and you were too busy to give your hands any care, then, probably, by regarding them with dismay these autumn days. Any form of beauty neglected takes a terrific toll. It takes weeks of care to get hands back to their normal loveliness of appearance. But stick to your good beauty routine if it kills you!

The hands should not come in contact with dirt because the skin will deteriorate under such conditions. Rubber or cotton gloves should be worn. In the rather cases of looking after her family a woman is ready to make any sacrifice, but there is no sense in making useless sacrifices which in effect, by what she is doing when she lets her hands get dingy, wrinkled and old looking.

While doing the domestic chores the hands are washed many times a day, so there is no chance for the protective, natural, healing oil secreted by the sebaceous glands to remain on long enough to get in its good work. Therefore a substitute must be applied. There are special hand creams that are more effective than those which are applied to the face.

At least once a week give your hands a creamy massage. Start massaging at the finger tips, rubbing circles with the thumb. Give special attention to the knuckles. Continue the rotary motions over the back of the hand and the area between thumb and first finger.



In addition, a lotion should be applied daily. You will find those semi-liquid, milky preparations particularly soothing, but they will not take the place of an emollient. With hands out of condition, the nails also suffer. Apply a cuticle cream every night. It will not have any weakening effect upon the nail polish. Now and then, lift the corrounding flesh with an orange wood stick so you will not be tormented with hangnails.

THE NEWS

JAMES A. BARNETT

H. JAMES ROSE

by Gene Hitchon

An insurance company has come up with the darndest theory.

In the case of fire insurance, this company says, the volume of accidents is directly proportionate.

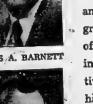
How come?

The insurance folk have it figured out this way:

With TV in the home you spend more time in the living-room, easy chair, and sofa . . . thus increasing chances of falling downstairs, or of a fire starting from cigarettes in the kitchen or drowning in the bathtub.

A great wealth of statistics has been amassed to support this theory, and we'll have to go along with it.

And speaking of statistics, do you know that it's now possible to have that big new TV set? Yes sir! Servicemen in Toronto have been called to factory it's thoroughly savaged on the inside with a blowtorch paint.



Just another reason — one of the many thousands — why we like to televise!

We'd like to save you a trip to the doctor's, so why not arrange for one?

We would like to have you call around and see our new 1955 Electrohome Television. Performance is unexcelled, and cabinets styled by Delisle-art, are indeed a thing of beauty. The address, Hitchon Radio, 4 Bridge St., E.

Following the evening service the first Fireside Hour was held and was largely attended. Rev. A. E. Baker was master of ceremonies, piano duets were contributed by Verne and Marlene and these were recorded for future use. A vocal interview series was enjoyed under the leadership of Gerald and Marlene. The CGIT group served light refreshments. The group left for home about 10 a.m. on Monday and paid a visit to the famous Dionne Home at Callander, where they saw the souvenir building and other interesting spots. They spent a short time at Lindsay and arrived home before midnight. They report they all like A. E. Baker enjoying their new duties immensely and very happy in their new place of abode. Mrs. Baker is very rested after her strenuous duties along musical lines in Stirling. Her father, Rev. W. E. Irwin is busy studying a new series of University lessons and he too is enjoying life on the frontier.

Garden Notes

Gardenias, Camellias and Azaleas

By FLORA M. RAYELLE

While visiting in Toronto recently I saw lovely gardenia plants. This gift plant had been kept growing all summer in a sheltered spot. The owner hopes to bring it into bloom again this winter.

Gardenias, Camellias, and Azaleas are cherished as gifts and many of us try to keep them over and expect a repeat performance. Given the right conditions this is sometimes possible.

These three love acid soil, bloom in mild climate in late winter while the air is still damp and chilly.

To duplicate the natural surroundings is difficult in our warm dry homes. However, there are ways of getting around difficulties when the urge is strong enough. The acid soil requirements may be met by giving each plant half a teaspoon of aluminum sulphate every three months. This will keep the soil acid and counteract the alkalinity of local water supplies.

ROOMS SUNNY WINDOWS

Cool atmosphere and sun are needed for all three too. Camellias and gardenias need protection down at all times, and azaleas need sun until the flower buds form. They should then be moved to a north window to make the flowers last. But, if your home is not heated not too high for these plants. There are other types which will tolerate heat.

It is fairly easy to create a moist atmosphere for your plants. Place the plants in deep saucers, or shallow, colored bowls which have a layer of pebbles in the bottom. Each time the plant is watered pour some on the pebbles. This will evaporate and keep the air around the plants moist.

These plants have fine fibrous roots which dry out quickly, so the soil must always be kept moist. Do not allow water to stand in the pots, but do not let the soil dry out entirely either.

HOW TO WATER PLANTS

Once a week allow the top soil to become dry, then set the pot in a deep dish of tepid water, half way up the pot. Leave it there until the surface is thoroughly damp. This will fill the roots with water and will be sufficient for two or three days.

When buds drop after they are well along in development it means that temperature, air or soil moisture or a combination of these things are not right. So check on all three when this happens. Temperatures for all three should be around 40 to 50 degrees at night and not much higher than 60 during the day time.

As for moisture, we heard of one man who takes his camellias into each week-end and treats them to a warm spray, having first put a plastic collar over each pot to prevent soil washing out.

A daily tepid spray with a bulb sprayer, or at least three times a week will keep the camellias and gardenias happy. Azaleas will appreciate a warm spray once a week. Avoid spraying when the blooms are open as it spots the flowers.

FEED PLANTS REGULARLY

There is a special camellia food, but a regular feeding of complete plant fertilizer, about one teaspoonful, at two week intervals will give good results. (Withhold food at resting time.) This amount is for a plant in an eight inch pot, that is across the top measurement. Use a little more for larger pots, less for smaller pots. Sprinkle the food around the plant and scratch into the soil with a fork, then water thoroughly.

When the azalea finishes blooming in the north window there will be a leaf drop. These will be replaced by new ones. Camellias and gardenias often follow the same pattern. Keep the azaleas in the north window and keep feeding and watering it. Feed and water the other two, but allow them to remain in the sun.

When the weather becomes warm in late May all three may be set out in the garden, sink the pots in semi-shade where they will not catch too much drip from tree branches. Water less frequently and feed once a month.

PINCH OFF BUDS

Pinch off any buds which form through the summer. In September bring all three in, withhold water and food. Do not allow roots to dry out, but this is their normal rest period, and water should be given sparingly. A cool room with little or no sun is best. At the end of six or eight weeks take them to a sunny window, feed and water as before and wait for buds to form.

Scale, mealy bug and red spider are the chief pests which bother these plants. Scale raised bumps on the stem and flat brown scales on the leaves can be controlled by an oil spray, follow direction on package. Red spiders cannot stand too much water, so the daily, frequent spraying will soon dispell them. Mealy bugs which look like a tuft of cotton batton can be killed by touching them with a tooth pick dipped in alcohol. Do not touch the leaves.

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By Geo. H. Carver, Sports Editor

TOP O' THE HEAP!

If they never do it again all season, and at the moment it seems as though they will, the Memos are sitting pretty atop the Senior "B" loop, gazing down at the six-team pack.

They climbed out in front last night by virtue of a well-deserved victory over those pesky Pates and added two more points when the OHA awarded them the protested game played against Whitby on October 29.

The Boucher boys showed 1100 fans that their victory over Brockville last Tuesday was no flash in the pan. If that was a dress rehearsal then last night's opening performance went it one better. Again they came up with an outstanding collective effort that was highlighted by effective defensive tactics by, all hands.

Rub Macey came up with his best effort of the young season back of the blueline and in front of it, while Jake Wade, Vern Gorver and Bob Wilson did yeoman service. Wilson looked the best since he donned a Memos' uniform.

But the accolades go to that speedy trio of Davy Jones, Keith MacDonald and "Teeder" DeGray. They accounted for eight points and three of the Memos' goals. They fairly flew going forward and aft and were the most effective trio on the ice. Backing them up in noble style was the rest of the crew.

The Memos were awarded the Whitby game, it was announced by Manager Bruce Smith. Duke Dorka, it seems, had been transferred to Oshawa and was promptly signed by Maestro Wren Blair, so neglected to remember that Dorka had been in his employer's employ only since August. The OHA book of words says it must be the merry month of May, unless released. Dorka had no release from the Memos, but Blair played him on the sanctum of the OHA business manager. This was found later to be all topsy-turvy, and the association brass awarded the game to the Memos. Scoring points will not be affected. It merely changes a Memos' loss to a win.

THE "FOX" REMINISCES!

Dick Irvin, the canny "Silver Fox" of the colorful Montreal Canadiens, probably can tell you, through careful reference to his well-worn little black book, how many pigeons he raised, eaten or sold.

DICK IRVIN

By more judicious attention to hastily-written paper contained in his breast pocket, Mr. Irvin can tell you all the facts and figures that have highlighted his 18 years of coaching with the Leafs, Les Habs and the Chicago Black Hawks.

In an interview with Bas (Montreal Star) O'Meara, the other day, Irvin revealed that up to that point his teams have won 661 games, lost 483 and tied 210.

In all that time, Dick said, he has seen his teams score 3,919 goals, has watched 3,345 goals go into his net. The most ever scored against him was with one of his early Canadien teams when Detroit put "ten right inside the post with Syd Howe getting three."

In his coaching career he has seen 3,158 goals shot in both ends of the rink, which is a lot of goals in the life of any coach.

FREAK GOALS

Naturally he has seen some freaky goals scored, but he puts the one scored by Paul Runtz in New York last Saturday night at the top of the list. His shot looped up to his goalie Plante on the tilting finger from the backboards and trickled into the nets.

Another one sticks out in his mind. In 1938 he was coaching the Leafs who were playing the final game with Chicago for the Stanley Cup. "Jack Shill shot the puck from inside his own blue line in the dying moments of the second period. It was a 135-footer. -

"We were behind 2-1. Brods stepped out of his net to bat the puck down the ice. His stick went over it, and it went into the net. It was the clincher."

Of all the shooters he has seen, he rates Tony Demers the most accurate. He had handled some small players, but his selection as smallest is surprising because he had Ken Doraty of Leafs under his wing for a few years.

"Muzz March only weighed 132 pounds, a few pounds less than Doraty. My heaviest player was Taffy Abel who scored 235 when with the Hawks." Dick shuddered at the memory as he is a well known member of the anti-fat league, writes O'Meara.

BIGGEST HEADACHES

In his book his biggest headaches came from Murph Chamberlain. The greatest sleeper was Mike McMahon, but Doug Harvey runs him a close second. "I never say they would wind up on a pillow in a camera flash," was his humorous summary of their slumbering specialties.

He has had a number of pranksters under his wing, but none so versatile as Hap Day who liked practical jokes.

DUTCHIES LOST SIEMON

KITCHENER (CP) — Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen of the Senior Ontario Rugby Football Union said Friday night that end Don Siemon will be out for the rest of the league playoffs with a broken cheekbone. Siemon suffered the injury Wednesday when Dutchmen edged Sarnia Imperials 13-12 in the first game of their best-of-three final series. Second game will be in Sarnia Thursday.

GUARD GOALPOSTS

MONTREAL (CP)—The police department was to have extra men on duty today to guard the new goalposts at McGill Stadium, put up to replace those demolished by the crowd following last week's Big Four Football Union victory by Alouettes over Toronto Argonauts. Stadium superintendent W. A. Johnson said last week's demonstration was a "planned affair by an organized gang."

Injured Howe Will Not Play Against 'Showboat Team'; Leafs Tangle With Chicago

By The Canadian Press

Detroit Red Wings may have won six straight National Hockey League tilts but they aren't drawing the crowds, some say, like champions. The drawing honor goes to Montreal Canadiens.

Baldy Cotton, chief scout for Boston Bruins, says:

"The Red Wings draw worse in Boston than any other team in the league. The showboat team is Montreal.

Conn Smythe, president of Toronto Maple Leafs, comments: "We had a greater clamor for tickets in last Saturday's game against New York Rangers than for Wednesday's against Detroit."

Add Leaf coach King Clancy: "Give them a goal and the boys they play is just plain awful."

The "awful" hockey has carried the Habitants to a first-place tie with Canadiens. The two teams battle it out for the leadership tonight and the Montreal Forum should be packed.

BUSY WEEKEND

This engagement is one of five games scheduled for the weekend. In another game tonight, Chicago Black Hawks take on the fourth place Maple Leafs in Toronto. Sunday night Canadiens are at Boston, Leafs at Detroit and Rangers at Detroit.

Red Wings will be without all-star rightwinger Gordie Howe again. He suffered a shoulder injury against Leafs on the weekend and was out of the lineup for the first time in 382 games when Detroit edged Boston 3-2 Thursday night.

Metro Prystai, who had seen limited action before Howe was hurt, will probably step in Gordie's spot between Ted Lindsay and Alex Delvecchio.

Canadiens will have rookie centre Jackie Leclair back in action. He will pivot the line of befuddled Dickie Moore and rightwinger Maurice Richard.

Carl Liscombe of Detroit Red Wings scored three goals and got four assists as Detroit smothered New York Rangers 12-3 in a National Hockey League game 12 years ago tonight. The present record for most points in a game is shared by Maurice Richard and Bert Olmstead, both of Montreal Canadiens. Richard scored five goals, three assists, against Detroit in 1944, Olmstead had four goals, four assists, against Chicago last January.

Colts Whip 'Baby Blues'

TORONTO (CP)—Western University Colts today whipped University of Toronto Baby Blues 32-11 in an intermediate intercollegiate football game.

Western overcame a sluggish, first-quarter deficit to score one touchdown in each of the remaining quarters.

Jake Rogers scored Toronto's first major on a pass from Larry Joynt. Joynt converted.

The Colts tied it up on Bill Gray's long forward pass to Bruce Parker in the second quarter. Bill Casanova kicked the convert.

Jack Hillier kicked a single point in the final minute of the first half to put Western ahead 7-6.

Big Doug Aitchison crashed over from the fireguard line for West-ern's second major. The convert attempt failed.

Dan Mosel scored Toronto's second major on a line buck. Joynt's attempted convert kick went into the line.

The Colts sewed up the game in the final fifteen minutes, when John Bell carried over from the Toronto 27 in three plays.

Blue Bombers Hire Coach For Two Years

WINNIPEG (CP) — Winnipeg Blue Bombers, who usually change their coaches as often as a woman changes her mind have settled on their head man for the next two seasons.

At a press conference Friday, club president Ralph Misener announced coach Al Sherman had been rehired for another two years. The salary was not announced.

Misener said that the management committee had agreed the coach should be signed "right away."

In recent years, fans and sports-writers have contended the club should be long in hire its coach, and that many good football players got away before the new mentor could get to them.

This year, Sherman wasn't signed until March.

Kitchener Dutchies Top Senior Loop With 5-2 Victory Over Chatham Club

By The Canadian Press

Kitchener - Waterloo Dutchmen, jockeying with Owen Sound Mercurys for first place in the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A race, took over the league leadership again Friday night.

They walloped the Maroons 5-2 before 2,300 fans at Chatham and would have run on a wild scoring spree but for the outstanding performance of goalkeeper Al Nemeth.

The victory gave Dutchmen 10 points on five victories and a loss. The Mercs, idle Friday night, have nine points with four wins and a tie in seven games.

It was the only OHA game of the night. In the Northern Ontario Hockey Association, Sudbury Wolves and North Bay Trappers battled to a 5-5 overtime tie.

SPLIT SCORING

At Chatham, Ken Laufman, Bud Kenny, George Nichols, Jack McKenzie and Bill Hammond scored for Dutchmen. Cliff McArthur and Jim Connelly tallied for Maroons.

At Sudbury, the single point located Wolves into a first-place tie with the Me Sault Ste. Marie (Mich.) Indians and Sault Ste. Marie (Ont.) Greyhounds. The Trappers are fourth with nine points, four behind the leaders.

Gord Myles, George Gosselin, Bo Ellis, Don Hudson and Pete Leo scored for Trappers. Art Rose scored twice for Wolves. Yacker Flynn, Andy Mline and Lemile Speck tallied the others.

Four OHA games are scheduled this weekend. Maroons go against the Indians at Stratford, Niagara Falls Cataracts meet Mercurys at Owen Sound and Windsor Bulldogs clash with Dutchmen at Kitchener tonight. Indians are at Windsor Sunday.

CANADIANA WINS

BALTIMORE (CP) — Canadiana, owned by E. P. Taylor of Toronto, finished strong Friday to win the six-furlong Coaville Purse at Pimlico by a neck. The Canadian - bred four-year-old pulled ahead of Thomas Cornwall's Stepper Upper, who finished second. Mrs. C. A. Lyon's Penoce was third.

McGill Trims RMC Cadets

MONTREAL (CP) — McGill Indians trounced Royal Military College 18-0 Friday night to win the championship of the Ottawa-St. Lawrence Football Conference for the second straight year.

The McGill record of three wins and one defeat is the same as that of Ottawa University but the Indians have a better points average. The Indians' only loss of the season was to Carleton College, which bowed out of the championship hunt by losing to RMC 6-1 last week.

Bernie Wong, Dave Hawley and Stu Colt scored touchdowns for McGill. John Tilley received credit for a conceded safety touch and Johnny Ferrabee booted a single.

Memos Out In Front By Four Points Following 4-1 Defeat Of Peterboro

D. Jones, DeGray, MacDonald Spark Squad in Speedy Fray; Whitby Game Awarded to Club

By GEORGE H. CARVER
(Sports Editor)

Led by the speedy line of Davy Jones, Keith MacDonald and Ted DeGray, the Belleville Memos decisively defeated the Peterborough Petes 4-1 here last night to take over undisputed lead of the eastern Senior OHA hockey league.

The Jones, MacDonald, DeGray line was flying all night, going both ways and accounted for three of the Memos four goals. Jones racked up a pair with MacDonald and DeGray sharing the rest. The trio accounted for eight scoring points.

The Memos' management announced during the game that the protested Memos-Whitby game played October 29 and won by Whitby by 5-4 had been awarded to the Belleville club. The OHA ruled Dales Doran, former Belleville player, who took part in the game, ineligible to play without a release. The award gives the Memos four wins and one loss for eight points.

Another shocking defence display by the Petes backchecking forward lines, which took advantage of Peterborough's seven men rushes, gave the Memos a decided edge over the Peterborough outfit. It was fast, rugged hockey through-out with Referees "Moon" Flanagan and Stan Scrutton, of Metropolitan, dishing out 19 sentences, 11 of them by the Petes. DeGray was again ashered to OHA instructions and some of the penalties were of the "nuisance" type.

Jerry Frizzelle drew a minor and burst in the third on the first spring at seconds of the game with Bob Wilson and Potvin flitzcuffing in a rugged effort. Later that two tempers start to flare. No dangers were done but the gladiators cooled off for two minutes.

The Memos outshot the Petes by a wide margin in the first and second periods with honors equal even in the third when the Petes battled desperately to whittle down the lead. Four of the five goals of the game were scored when the teams were a man short.

WHISTLES BLOW EARLY

The official whistles started to blow before a minute of play had taken place in the first period with Redmond going off at :36 and Mercier off the ice seconds later. The Memos raced to the Petes' goal but Donlery was close-in shots before "Red" Dorsan finally banged in the puck for the only goal of the period after a minute of play. Doran slashed home the rubber from close in during a goalmouth scramble.

Peloquin and Doug Hull sat in the doghouse after three minutes of play but hard checking by both teams prevented any scoring. Collins drew a roughing penalty and a few minutes later McMaster went off for slashing but the rugged Petes defence kept the Memos' front lines out of the picture again.

The Petes roared to the attack in the last minutes of the period but the Memos' defence, a vastly improved one over former years, sided by Bob Wilson, held and kept the score sheet clean.

McMaster got into the act three minutes of play in the second period and the Jones, MacDonald, DeGray line swung into action. They ripped close in and MacDonald scored from a 2-0 lead. Bob Wilson drew a 2-0 lead. Bob Wilson drew a tripping penalty on the attack the Petes' passing was clicking. Goaltender Eddie Sarrond and Leonard and Chum Fryie up in a heat passing play with Fryie beating a clean shot with a twenty feet out for the Petes' only goal of the game.

RUGGED DEFENCE

Doug Day sat one out and the Memos sent Wilson, Goyer, Peter Jones and Bob Doran out to kill the penalty. So effective were they that the Petes were unable to fire a single shot at Parial.

With five minutes to go, Chum Fryie drew a tripping penalty and the Jones, MacDonald, DeGray line again exploded for scoring action with Jones getting the goal. The Petes protested, claiming that Goyer was in the crease. The nets said "no."

The Memos fourth goal was a duplicate of the third. Midway through the period Armstrong got the nod for interference and Jones got his second goal of the night with mates MacDonald and DeGray assisting.

Play got more rugged and De-Gray and Ed Duncan went off in succession, but again the Petes failed to penetrate the Memos' defence. Potvin and Wilson staged their fisticuffs and went off and they were scarcely back than Redmond got the heave-ho. Davy Jones joined him, then Frizzelle drew the official's ire and was handed a minor and misconduct.

While the scoring spotlight was on the line mentioned, the rest of the Memos came up with another fine collective effort. Bub Macey, rounding into shape, stood out on the defence with Bob Wilson showing the best yet. Vern Goyer and Jake Wells also turned in a fine rearguard effort with Parial having the easiest time of the season, although he came up with some fine stops when the Petes were close in.

The teams:

Peterborough — Goal, Donlery; defence, Redmond, McMaster; centre, Leonard; wings, Fryie, Russell; subs Armstrong, Peloquin, Hill, Collins, Twist, Brydges, Floyd, Potvin, Frizzelle.

Belleville — Goal, Parisi; defence, Wade, Macey; centre, Doran; wings, P. Jones, Duggar, subs, D. Jones, MacDonald, Hull, Ed. Duncan, Erwin Duncan, Day, Goyer, Wilson, DeGray.

Solmar Notes

Farmers and Hunters

By JOHN ALDEN KNIGHT
(Noted Sportsman, Author and Creator of Solmar Tables.)

No doubt about it, there ought to be a law—a new one. No one we have now simply does not work out satisfactorily. I'm speaking now of the trespass law that applies to men who hunt, without permission, on private posted lands.

Yesterday I was talking to a couple of farmers who own adjoining farms in one of Pennsylvania's best pheasant areas. I say best because there, simply because those two men have enough trouble as matters now stand. No need to send more hunters to complicate things still further.

"Sure I like to hunt," said one of them. "Hunted every year up till a few years ago. Not any more. Now I stay home and try to protect my property."

I asked him whether or not there were many hunters on his land during the hunting season.

"Many!" he exclaimed. "Mister, you see that main road over there. On the morning of opening day, I'll give you a fifty dollar bill if you can find a legal place to park your car along that road anywhere within two miles of my house."

RECOUNTED, TROUBLES

He went on to recount his troubles. It being top-notch pheasant country, the hunters come in droves. Pennsylvania law limits hunting parties to five guns, but that does not worry these boys. Two or three parties gang up and go through the corn fields like a large vacuum cleaner. If accosted by a warden, they deny knowing each other.

Wire fences mean little. They break down or cut the wire and go merrily on. They spray the house and barns with shot—high-speed slokes—sometimes breaking windows. Safety-zone signs are ignored. They hunt where they please.

Why doesn't he post his land? Why doesn't he pay no attention to the signs and hunt anyway. And how can one man patrol a farm of three-hundred-odd acres? Chase one group off one field and the rest of the land is over-run meanwhile.

Then, too, private enforcement has its hazards. All too many farm boys have been set upon and severely beaten by groups of hunters who object to trespass signs.

The arrest of a trespasser by a property owner is an unwieldy piece of business. He cannot take in the transgressor on the spot. Instead he must secure his name or the number of his hunting license or of his automobile—some means of positive identification.

ALL TAKES TIME

Then, he must go before a Justice of the Peace and swear out a complaint. This is turned over to the constable who makes the arrest. The farmer must appear at the trial, together with any witness he may have. All this takes time.

All right, suppose he succeeds in having his suit hold water. As often as not he sees the culprit far off with a minimum fine of one dollar and costs, free then to go forth and trespass again should he so desire. As the farmer pointed out, arresting a violator is not worth the trouble involved.

Game-law violators must suffer reprisals that have some teeth in them. The man may be subject to a heavy fine, loss of license for a number of years and, in extreme cases, end up in jail.

Not so, trespass violations. At worst the penalties are comparatively inexpressive, accompanied by a small amount of inconvenience incidental to attending the trial.

As I say, there ought to be a law—a new law that will give the farmer some adequate protection. In my book, the wilful trespasser who hunts posted lands is every bit as flagrant a violator of the game code as the man who shoots over his legal limit.

I would like to see matters so arranged that it would be mandatory upon any Justice of the Peace to "throw the book" at the wilful trespasser—book him with a heavy fine and loss of licence. Then maybe, the long-suffering farmers could enjoy a little peace during the hunting season.

Two Straight For Bombers, Says Coach

EDMONTON (CP) — Bold Al Sherman says his Winnipeg Blue Bombers will win two straight.

Calgary Frank Ivy says he hopes his Edmonton Eskimos will win two straight.

That's how the two crew bosses sum up the chances of their men in tonight's first game of the best-of - three Western Interprovincial Football Union playoffs.

The sideline superintendents and betting fraternity favor Ivy's cautious Stampeders by a narrow margin. Despite Eaks' injury-hit registry, the results in the regular season's schedule are undeniable. Edmonton won three out of four. And consider a few of the four-game statistics, with Winnipeg's figure first. then Edmonton's:

First downs 40, 63; yards rush ing 286, 567; yards passing 554 and 697; total yardage 840, 1,186. passes attempted 90, 67; passes completed 44, 36; passes intercepted by 4, 8; punts 30, 29; average punt 41, 39.

The morning line odds were 13-5 on Edmonton; 9-5 against Winnipeg.

Edmonton will be without Ray Willsey, all-star defensive back whose broken arm is not yet healed; Frank Morris, all-Canadian guard who has an injured knee, and Frank Anderson, all-star defensive end who has a broken thumb and a painful charley horse.

Fullback Floyd Huggins, who injured an ankle some games back, is the only Winnipeg player who won't be dressed.

Brian Cullen Scores Pair For Hornets

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Pittsburgh Hornets, who easily made the playoffs last season, have taken steps to get out of the American Hockey League quickly.

They whipped Springfield Indians 7-3 in the only game played Friday night and that victory tied them for fifth place with Springfield. The teams each have nine points—one less than the fourth place Buffalo Bisons.

Rookie Brian Cullen, making his first start for the Hornets, and Earl Balfour accounted for two Pittsburgh goals.

Bob Sabourin, Willie Marshal and Bill Caffery fired singles. Andy Anderson, Walt Atanas and Carl Boone were the Springfield snipers.

CANTER THROUGH PARK

LONDON (CP)—Eighteen Russian soccer players, celebrating the stares of bowler-hatted Londoners, Friday cantered cooly into Green Park. They were on their way to defend Soviet football mastery over Britain.

The players, members of the Moscow Spartak Club, arrived Thursday. Within two hours, the friendly Russians were literally the hottest team in the country in more ways than one, as they soaked in a Turkish bat.-revved up the limit by special demand. Pounced on other intimate details were pounced on by British newspapers and devoured by soccer fans looking ahead to the game against Arsenal Tuesday.

Indians Hold Answer To Athletics' Future

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Cleveland Indians apparently hold the answer to the future of Philadelphia Athletics.

Hank Greenberg, general manager of the Indians, said Friday his club has an "open mind" on the question of whether the Athletics should be moved to Kansas City.

He said "we won't take a position until the Monday meeting" of American League owners, called to pass on the sale of the Athletics' franchise to Arnold Johnson and the proposed shift the team to the Missouri city.

Spike Briggs of Detroit Tigers and Calvin Griffith of Washington Senators were reported opposed to the transfer and sale while New York, Boston, Baltimore, Chicago and the Macks of Philadelphia favor the move.

Since six votes are necessary for approval, the final decision seems to rest with Cleveland.

Explaining the Indians' attitude, Greenberg said: "We want to sit down and talk over what's best for the league. Only then will we make up our minds."

Stamps Tie With Flyers

CALGARY (CP)—Although outshooting the opposition 41-14, Calgary Stampeders had to settle for a 4-4 tie with Edmonton Flyers in a Western Hockey League fixture on Friday night.

Enio Sclisizzi led flyers with two goals. Ed Stankiewicz and Don Polle got the others.

Freddie Hucul paced Stampeders with two markers and Max Quackenbush and George Pargeter fired the singletons.

Americans Win Basketball Title

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—Peoria, (Ill.) Caterpillars, representing the United States, Friday night won the second world basketball tournament, defeating Brazil 63-41. Both teams entered the game unbeaten in six games.

In winning their seventh straight game, after going through two unbeaten games in the qualifying round, the Caterpillars took a 35-19 lead and then coasted to victory.

Canada, represented by Winnipeg Grads, defeated Chile for fifth with Nationalist China and Uruguay. Each had 2-5 records.

Stamps Packed Biggest Wallop On Offence

REGINA (CP)—Although they finished fourth in the final league standing, Calgary Stampeders picked the biggest wallop on offence in the Western Interprovincial Football Union this year.

Statistics released today by league statistician Bill Hawrylak of Regina show Stampeders with a net gain from scrimmages of 5,129 yards. Edmonton Eskimos were next in line with 4,898 followed by Saskatchewan Roughriders with 4,695, Winnipeg Blue Bombers 4,502, Saskatoon 3,502, Calgary 2,440, Saskatchewan 2,365, Winnipeg 2,079, B.C. 1,833, Edmonton 1,706.

In rushing it was Edmonton first, Calgary 2,689, Saskatchewan 2,324, Winnipeg 1,722, B.C. 1,502. Lions' total is a league record for least ground gaining yardage chalked up by one club in a season.

Eskimos picked up 221 first downs against 214 for Stampeders but Calgary scrambled the most passes and had the best average for pass completions. Stampeders threw 262 and completed 163 for 56.9 per cent.

Walls, Parker Bout Postponed

TORONTO (CP)—The Canadian heavyweight boxing championship bout between Larry Walls and James J. Parker was postponed indefinitely Friday night because Walls was laid up in bed with a sparring sessions. The fight was originally booked for Tuesday.

Matchmaker Deacon Allen said Walls apparently suffered the back injury Thursday.

"It might take a week to clear," Allen said. "It's a bad case of sacroiliac sprain in the muscle near the end of the spine bone. After he's healed, Walls will have to go back into training."

The host, the first meeting between the fighters, is for 12 rounds. Neither Parker, a native of Toronto, now living out of Paterson, N.J., nor Walls, of Toronto, has gone that distance.

Marlies Deal With Dutchies

KITCHENER (CP) — Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A league said Friday they have signed a deal involving five players with Toronto Marlboros.

Centre Ted McAskill and defencemen Kent Douglas were given by Jim Thomson to Dutchmen for defenceman Gord Onotosky, and forwards Gary Eatough and Whitey Konopaski.

McAskill is from Kapuskasing and Douglas and Onotosky were last playing with Marlboro juniors. Onotosky, a native of Timmins, came to Kitchener last season. Eatough is from Waterloo and Konopaski from Preston.

Canucks also signed defenceman Angus Martin from Porcupine Combines.

St. Mike's Wallop Guelph Blits 5-2 Take Over Sole Possession Top Spot

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Toronto St. Michael's Majors are giving goaltender Gerry McNamara the best protection in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A league.

McNamara was sensational and was aided by some fine defensive work Friday night as the powerful Majors defeated Guelph Biltmores 5-2 to take over sole possession of first place in the eight-team league. In five games this season, McNamara has allowed only seven goals, good in any league.

The Toronto-Guelph clash gave Majors an undefeated string of five games. They now have 10 points, two ahead of St. Catharines Tee-Pees and Biltmores.

In other engagements, the Teeps, defending Memorial Cup champions, edged the Flyers 3-2 in Barrie and Galt Black Hawks came from behind to beat Kitchener-Waterloo Canucks 4-3 in overtime.

Black Hawks remained in fifth place with three victories in seven starts. They have six points, two ahead of the sixth-place Flyers. Canucks, winless in six games, are in last place.

TWO DUPES SCORE

Dick Duff, Les Duff, Frank Mahovlich, Pat Hannigan and Bill Colven scored for the Majors at Guelph. Bill McCreary and John Gillis tallied for Blits.

At Barrie, Flyers were pushed around for the first two periods as Teeps quickly doubled a goal each. Jack Thompson took advantage of two straight Barrie penalties in the first to send St. Catharines ahead heavily on it.

Walker Stamps Out Fire

Firemen were called to the home of Mrs. Walker, 15 Bleecker Avenue, at 1.30 p.m. Saturday to extinguish a fire in the basement. Damage was estimated at $50.

Abbott and Costello Dream Up New Series of Films

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Around the world with Abbott and Costello.

That's the nature of a film project being dreamed up by Lou Costello. The zany comics have but one more film to do under their contract to Universal-International after their current "Abbott and Costello in the Mummy's."

"Then I want to take a skeleton crew and shoot features of the team (he has slimmed down since his recent illness.) "I already have a script for our first film, which will be made in Paris. And I'm working on another to be made in London.

After their next picture for U-I, A and C will be free of all commitments for the first time in 15 years. They will be able to call their own shots, and they appear as high on their preferences. Lou said he would go to Europe to scout the filming situation.

He doesn't plan to make any more TV films at present. He now has 39 in circulation, and a big soup company bought up the first 26 for Saturday morning showings all over the country. Some of these films have already been shown four or five times, Lou said, and there is apparently no saturation. "The TV films have been great for us," Lou remarked. "When we were back at the world-series, we were swamped for autographs and the same way it was 15 years ago. But now grown people come up and say, 'This isn't for me, but I couldn't go home unless I got your autograph for my kid.'"

"TV is an amazing thing." Lou reflected. "You never can tell what it's going to do for people. There was a comic who was out here a few years ago living at my house. I tried to get him in my pictures, he'd take anything—one, two days work. Most of the time he couldn't even find that."

The comic's name: Jackie Gleason.

Duplessis Hopes For Agreement On Tax Matters

QUEBEC (CP)—Premier Duplessis hopes to "reach an understanding" in federal-provincial tax matters at an Ottawa conference of provincial premiers "provided the constitutional rights are protected."

The Quebec premier said Friday if Prime Minister St. Laurent calls the talks before 1955, the third session of Quebec's 24th legislature opening Nov. 11, will be adjourned early.

He made the statement at his Friday press conference.

Mr. Duplessis said his government will continue to be the St. Lawrence Seaway Authority on what conditions Quebec is willing to conclude an arrangement with the authority on construction of a 300-foot canal on the south shore of the St. Lawrence river opposite Montreal.

The federal-provincial talks at Ottawa would be based on tax-agreement proposals outlined in a letter received by Mr. St. Laurent from Premier Frost earlier this week. Its contents are known only by the two political leaders and their cabinets.

MET FACE-TO-FACE

The letter was drafted after the two men conferred in Montreal Oct. 5 at a meeting that was expected to ease a 10-year Ottawa-Quebec wrangle that culminated in a 15-per-cent provincial income tax this spring.

One result of the talks was Mr. Duplessis' announcement of an amendment to the Quebec income tax act in which a clause affirming the province's prior right in taxation matters would be struck out.

The 89-member legislative assembly may also be called to debate other amendments to the act, depending on the outcome of the talks in Ottawa.

Prince Philip Will Be Guest At Big Dinner

LONDON (CP) — The Duke of Edinburgh will be guest of honor Nov. 11 at one of the biggest Canadian nights London has ever seen.

The occasion is the inaugural dinner and dance of the newly-formed Canadian Universities Club, open to the approximately 12,000 graduates of Canadian universities now living in Britain.

It is unusual for the duke to attend a dinner and dance without the Queen. He will probably make a speech but not at dinner.

Many honorary graduates of Canadian universities will attend and the guest list includes many prominent persons. Two former governors-general of Canada, the Earl of Athlone and Field Marshal Earl Alexander, have accepted invitations. Lord Alexander will be accompanied by his daughter Lady Rose, a McGill University graduate. Lady Alexander is unable to attend.

Master of ceremonies will be David M. Legate, London representative of the Montreal Star-Standard. Legate, a McGill graduate, is president of the Universities Club, which started—as—an amalgamation of the university associations of McGill, University of Toronto and Dalhousie University at Halifax, and is, says Legate, "snow-balling rapidly."

MASKED HOLDUP

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C. (CP) — Two men wearing black Halloween masks robbed the Sapperton branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce near here Friday night in what staff members thought "was a joke."

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON

The Kibitzer

When it comes to bidding a suit slam than once all you need is enough in the partnership pair. So, even if you bid a four card suit its assist by partner shows enough trumps in your pair.

From there on each of you may bid and raise the same suit over and over again. It is understood, of course, that each increase in the last partnership number shows an additional trick.

If partner does not assist a suit bid, or does not have you'l-must not bid it again unless it is rebiddable. In my future series I will give you proof of what a rebiddable suit should contain.

Culbertson says a rebiddable suit is five cards headed by K-J or Q-J-10. Another Goren says practically the same thing. They agree with each other. I agree with neither.

My rules say a rebiddable suit has five cards with three honor cards in it, or six cards with two honor cards, or seven cards with one honor card. Add a four honor card in addition to a biddable suit.

As a bridge player you must choose sides as to which of these recommendations you prefer to follow. How are you going to decide? By the geographical residences of the advisors?

Open the bidding with a heart when you hold this south hand:

♠A Q
♥K J 7 8 5
♦Q 3
♣J 10 3

If partner responds with a spade or two clubs or two diamonds or a no-trump, what is your second bid? Should you bid your heart suit you have or make some other kind of a bid?

According to my rules, one thing you should not do. That is to rebid your hearts. It is not strong enough to bid twice when your partner has not yet assisted your suit. So I claim.

All this is leading up to my ballyhoo that I intend you to look forward to my future series. It will give you proof of what bids are correct. It is worth waiting for.

Rugged? Just Ask the Stars!

The rugged beauty of New Zealand has never been caught for the screen to such excellent effect as in "The Seekers," closing tonight at the Odeon McCarthy Theatre. Here in this film of a nation's beginnings, the turbulent years are given a majestic frame.

Those backgrounds, however, not only look rugged, they were rugged. They are the actors. The picture, which was made on location in New Zealand, brought plenty of problems for the film unit and plenty of excitement for the local inhabitants.

One of the trickiest location sequences was at Arataiata Rapids. Here in a torrent of fast-moving swirling water with a undertow which dragged them towards a dangerous waterfall, Jack Hawkins and a Maori actor were indulged in a desperate swimming race. Luckily both men were strong swimmers.

Scenes were also filmed in the thermal area of Tikitere where the yellow ground is composed almost entirely of sulphur and the great steam holes dot and sigh. Here safety precautions had to be enforced since from time to time the ground has an awkward habit of opening and people have disappeared into the boiling cauldrons before now.

In other locations roads had to be made from a wilderness of trees, shrubs and rocks, and it was on such a road that Jack Hawkins found himself a victim of sinusitis because of the powder dust which rose in clouds from the new surface. Laya Raki also found the going hard, but in her case on the feet. For some dramatic sequences she had to race bare-foot across the red-hot sulphurous ground.

AT THE ELLIS — Elizabeth Taylor and Vittorio Gassman appear in the Ralph Vaughan Williams magnificent Technicolor drama of music and romance, John Ericson and Louis Calhern are other stars in the absorbing drama. A new M.G.M. cartoon is an added attraction.

AT THE CAPITOL — Humphrey Bogart stars with Joel McCrea in Samuel Goldwyn's film presentation of the noted stage play "Dead End", "Cradle of Crime" with Sylvia Sidney, Wendy Barrie, Claire Trevor, Marjorie Main, Leo Gorcey and Huntz Hall. On the same program "The Westerner" starring Gary Cooper and Walter Brennan. Both big hits open at the Capitol Theatre Monday.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars, for MONDAY, NOVEMBER 8, 1954.

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — This day's aspects indicate a need for conformity and caution. Don't undertake countless tasks — not finishing any. Considered, accuracy stressed!

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) — Be sturdy and confident. If you would bridge the rough spo's safely. Don't allow trifles to turn you aside from tasks started. Stick to one job until it is accomplished.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — A mixed outlook today. Be definite, purposeful in your ideas, plans. If you ardently desire to achieve your ambitious hopes things alien to the main goal.

June 22 to July 22 (Cancer) — Today you will have to be unusually energetic and enthusiastic if you would achieve your desires. Be keen, ambitious and mentally alert; you can net good returns through real effort.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — You may have to conserve some during this none-too-generous period. One warning: don't be over-confident or go to extremes. Assist others if you can.

August 23 to September 23 (Virgo) — This may not appear to be a stimulating day but beneficient vibrations are often around us when least expected. Be on the lookout and you can benefit by them. Try hard.

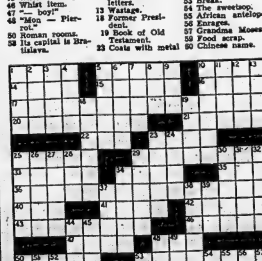
September 24 to October 23 (Libra) — Advice to Leo is also pertinent to your particular problems and course of action. Most unselfish desires can be realized by earnest effort, conscientious thinking.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio) — Greater progress will come through familiar activities than new or uncertain though big-sounding ventures. Co-operation with others, plain common sense will pay off now.

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius) — Avoid emotional scenes and recklessness now. Calmness, serenity of mind is conducive to more accurate results. But push forward reasonably.

December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn) — There may be moments when you feel the need for last-minute rushing, or crowding things. Better slow and analyze before doing so. Be thoughtful, logical.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius) — Not too difficult here for matters with which you are familiar or have training. Don't hop-scotch around. A well-planned program will bring more satisfactory results. Look head.



February 21 to March 20 (Pisces) — Your day may present many patterns. Choose well and you can come through with flying colors. Much depends upon the demands of your position and how you regulate and handle matters.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with energy, determination and power. You are most enterprising — at times bold and daring. Each success seems to spur you on to others, and the greater the obstacles the more determined you are to succeed. You are usually calm and practical-minded; reserved in manner and courteous but may be susceptible to flattery. You are guarded about revealing secrets, opinions, sympathetic. Strike a happy medium in all things for better living and happiness.

Western Allies Accept Proposal To Free Neurah

BONN, Germany— (AP) — The West accepted Friday Russia's change-of-heart proposal to free Konstantin von Neurath, Hitler's foreign minister, from Spandau war crimes prison.

Von Neurath, 81, is suffering from a heart condition and acute rheumatism. He is nearly blind. The Western powers have long been in favor of his release but until this week the Russians had refused.

He has seven years left to serve of a 15-year sentence set by the international war crimes tribunal at Nuremberg. He would be the first of the major Nazi war criminals to be released.

Soviet High Commissioner GM. Pushkin sent notes to the high commissioners of the United States, Britain and France Wednesday saying Von Neurath should be released because of old age and ill-health.

Replies were sent by the three Western powers Friday. Pushkin was informed that the high commissioners are instructing their representatives at Spandau to arrange with the Russians for "effecting the immediate release of Von Neurath to the care of his relatives."

Von Neurath is one of seven of Hitler's lieutenants serving terms in Spandau. Others are former grand admiral Erich Raeder, former deputy Fuehrer Rudolf Hess; economics minister Walther Funk; Hitler Youth leader Baldur von Schirach; munitions minister Albert Speer and grand admiral Karl Doenitz.

Autumn Visit of Queen Mother Starts Season in Gay Mood

By LLOYD McDONALD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK (CP)—New York at any season is a city of contrasts, and the autumn visit of Queen Mother Elizabeth seemed to set them off in sharper detail.

The familiar royal figure waving and smiling from the bridge of the giant liner Queen Elizabeth as it sailed up the Hudson in a misty October dusk . . . standing enthralled atop the Empire State building as the sun set and the lights flickered to life across the giant city . . . demurely garbed in cap and gown to receive a degree from Columbia University in a giant cathedral filled with the sound of a mighty organ . . . radiant in a diamond tiara reflecting back the hundreds of lights from a Waldorf-Astoria chandelier . . . and patting a little Negro child on the head in a Harlem slum.

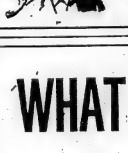
From the bustling canyons of Wall street in lower Manhattan to the peaceful, secluded cloisters of Fort Tryon at the island's northern tip, the Queen Mother saw all the varied faces of the city—and appeared to enjoy them all—even as she began to tell on members of her party and the throngs of reporters and photographers.

She had the same smile for the fresh-coated, bonneted debutantes who bowed low before her in formal greeting as she did for the irrepressible New-Yorker-in-the-street who shouted "Hi, Queen" as she stepped into Fifth avenue from a shopping trip.

The crowds loved her, breaking into spontaneous applause whenever she appeared. And there was always a low murmur of admiration as she passed by.

If there was a sour note at all it was a distinctly minor one provided by the perennial pickets of the ultra-nationalistic Irish Republican element here. These societies have picketed every heralded British visitor to New York from the Archbishop of Canterbury to a Labor delegation of iron founders, so it was no surprise to see some 50 of them wailing on the pier when the Queen landed.

But there never was any shouting—or unpleasantness as they marched back and forth with their placards bearing such slogans as "Britain—keep your royalty; we'll keep our dough." And the Queen Mother never appeared to notice them, chatting with her attendant party on the few occasions she passed them.



Even the New York Daily News, which for one of many reasons for welcoming Queen Elizabeth, the Queen Mother, to the United States, the pleasantest is that she is so nice."

MARILYN FACES SURGERY

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Movie actress Marilyn Monroe will enter Cedars of Lebanon Hospital Sunday and undergo "minor surgery" Monday, Dr. Leon Krohn said Friday night. Dr. Krohn, a gynaecologist, said that while the films' No. 1 glamor girl is in the hospital a complete diagnosis will be made of her case to determine the reason for her recent ill-health.

"No Promise Is Unimportant"
— FROHMAN
That's what we think also, and we go a long way to see that our promises are fulfilled. Every now and then a business man says something to us like this: "Sure, you promise all right, but will you do it?"
We don't know who started all this doubt as to a printer's promises, but we know that we do not take our own promises lightly. Many a night we work into the late hours, or use an extra shift on a machine, for no other reason than that we have told some business man that his job would be ready the next day.
If you are one of those who doesn't believe that you can trust a printer's word, give us a chance. We would welcome the opportunity. We won't promise to deliver one hundred per cent, but we WILL if it is physically possible to do so.

West Germany Is on Wheels And Rolling

Editor's Note: This story is the last of a series giving the impressions gained by a Canadian reporter during a two-week tour of West Germany.

By W. R. WHEATLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

West Germany, recovering from heavy Allied blows during the war, is on wheels and rolling.

Fast passenger trains run at surprisingly frequent intervals, chased by freight trains carrying principally coal and other heavy or bulk commodities. Diesel-powered trucks rumble constantly along the famed autobahns.

The German people, in pace with the general economic progress, have taken to bicycles, motorcycles and the small-type cars common to Europe.

BUSY ON WATER

Water transportation is heavy. Self-propelled and towed barges sail the Rhine and lesser waterways and canals, along with small passenger or excursion boats.

The state-owned German railway operates efficiently. Some of its equipment is a bit antiquated by Canadian standards but the coaches are comfortable and smooth.

Many stations still bear marks of bombing but the trains move on the dot. Only once was my train late.

AUTOBAHN TRAFFIC

The autobahns, or super-highways, are heavy with traffic. Long straight stretches are monotonous and a Canadian soldier said accidents are not rare because drivers on long runs become drowsy.

Small cars are the rule, taxis included, since gasoline costs the equivalent of nearly 75 cents a gallon. There are thousands of motorcycles.

Plane travel is provided only by foreign commercial lines. Trans-Canada Air Lines reaches Dusseldorf and beyond that there is a TCA link with British European Airways.

EAST GERMAN FORCES GROW

BONN, Germany (AP)—Communist East Germany now has more than 220,000 trained soldiers, sailors and airmen, Western security experts said Thursday.

MARMORA

Catholic Parish Holds Bazaar

MARMORA—The 36th annual bazaar and turkey supper of the Sacred Heart Parish was held Wednesday and Thursday evenings.

The quality of the two dinners and the service of the ladies of the parish, under supervision of Mrs. Charles Crawford, was responsible for the success of the event. The bazaar booths were also attractively set up.

Three Men Drown As Ships Collide In Halifax Harbor

Six Rescued After Ferry Hits Navy Duty Boat in Fog

HEADS DELEGATION

S. D. Pierce, Canadian ambassador to Brazil, will head Canada's delegation to the eighth general conference of the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization. The conference is being held at Montevideo, Uruguay, from Nov. 21 to Dec. 11. (CP Photo).

HALIFAX (CP) — Three men drowned this morning after leaping or being tossed overboard following a collision between the big ferry Scotian and a navy duty boat in fog-shrouded Halifax Harbor.

One victim was a service dog and the other two were civilians. All were aboard the navy craft.

Six others, one a woman, aboard were picked up and taken to hospital. They were not injured.

The 46-foot harbor craft was en route down harbor from Halifax to the fleet air arm base at Shearwater and the Scotian was crossing from Halifax to Dartmouth when the crash occurred about 7:32 a.m.

The two civilians were identified as Albert Webster, a stevedore, and Patrick Fower, a crane operator, both of whom lived in the Halifax area.

The navy withheld identification of the service victim until next-of-kin had been notified.

The badly damaged navy boat was towed to the navy dockyard as the Scotian, a tug and other craft stood by to search for survivors.

Mate E. D. Codner, 36, of the Scotian was at the wheel when the crash occurred.

WORST OF YEAR

Capt. Perry Thomas, 41, who was standing behind him, said the fog was "the worst I've ever in my experience, and the worst of the season to date."

Codner said the Scotian stopped following the crash and stayed alongside the damaged navy boat.

He said those aboard the duty craft were in the chilly water and civilians and sailors on the upper deck of the Scotian tossed them lifebelts and rings.

But there was no time to clear many of the lifebelts or liferafts aboard the ferry.

Thomas said there was "no visibility" when the Dartmouth-bound Scotian met the harbor craft on the starboard bow in mid-harbor.

It was believed to be the first accident in the history of the Dartmouth ferry commission which operates three boats on the crossing. The trip takes about 20 minutes.

The fog was a low-water-clinging type confined mainly to the water.

RECALLS WAR DAYS

Confusion amid the swirling clouds of mist recalled foggy days of the Second World War when convoy skippers had to feel their way back and forth through lines of darkened warships as vessels' exact positions were supposed to be secret.

The ferry skippers operate entirely by sight and a thoroughly-familiar knowledge of Halifax Harbor. The ferry terminals on each side of the harbor are equipped with foghorns but radar and automatic gongs whose peal can be heard for a hundred feet or more.

The ferry Halifax was called into emergency duty to take care of the business of the ferry service starting at the Dartmouth dock for the trip to Halifax.

Only a few cars were carried and passengers crowded the car deck instead.

When she reached Halifax, the ferry Scotian was met up there. Lifebelts littered her decks.

SENATE MEETS IN SPECIAL CENSURE SESSION

Termed 'Lynching' Bee by McCarthy

By ED CREAGH

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States Senate meets in extraordinary session today to consider censuring Senator Joseph R. McCarthy (Rep. Wis.).

At stake are five contributors formerly held by Liberals—St. Antoine-Westmount and St. Lawrence-St. George in Montreal, Toronto Trinity and Stormont in Ontario, and Selkirk in Manitoba and one formerly held by a Progressive Conservative, Ontario's York West.

Polls are open from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. local standard time.

Liberals have campaigned on the government's record and cabinet ministers have played a prominent part in election meetings. In Manitoba they have argued the necessity of maintaining federal-provincial tax agreements to benefit poorer provinces. External Affairs Minister Pearson spoke in Toronto and Montreal on foreign policy in the closing days of the campaign.

Candidates of opposition parties have criticized government handling of such matters as unemployment, immigration, trade and wheat marketing.

Opposition Leader Drew has not taken an active part in campaigning, but in a speech at Cobourg and Cornwall, he stressed the major theme of his party's candidates that a stronger official opposition is needed in the Commons to provide better government.

Mr. Drew also charged the government with contempt of Parliament for not calling it into session immediately to ratify the European agreements signed at Paris. It had been expected Parliament would convene in late fall'Nov. 15 Prime Minister St. Laurent announced it would meet early in the new yery.

Housing and unemployment have been major CCF themes, especially in city areas, and in Selkirk the party has criticized government handling of grain marketing.

The campaign has been fought mainly on a door-to-door basis, however.

Liberals and Progressive Conservatives are running in every contest, together with four CCF and four Labor-Progressive (Communist) candidates and one Independent.

Present party standing in the 265-seat Commons: Liberals 168; Progressive Conservatives 50; CCF 23; Social Credit 15; Independents 9.

In four by-elections this year on March 22 Liberals held two Quebec seats while Progressive Conservatives retained two in Ontario.

Voters in Six Federal By-Elections Choose New MPs

OTTAWA (CP)—Voters in six federal by-elections today choose new members of Parliament.

Electors have no new major issues to decide, however, in the voting that ends a quiet campaign.

Belleville Judge Recommends No Pay Boost at Ford Office

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — No increase in salaries paid office workers of Ford of Canada is the majority recommendation of a board of conciliation which has been in sessions by company and Local 200, UAW-CIO here since Aug. 30. Majority report recommends a $10 monthly increase.

The majority report, signed by judge, J. C. Anderson, Belleville and the company nominee, Hal Pyle, differed on almost every point with the minority report, signed by the union nominee, Drummond Wren.

The majority opinion referred specifically to the strike presently in force by hourly-rated workers of Ford of Canada.

"The board would note that it is common knowledge that the company has made certain offers to Local 200, (UAW-CIO) which would increase the wages in the category that the union is now on strike for which offers did not feel those offers were sufficient.

"The board hopes and expects that if there can be a settlement reached between the company and Local 200, any monetary gain to be realized by the employees who are members of Local 200, will be extended to the employees who are members of Local 360."

The production workers, who struck Oct. 10, were joined on their picket lines Monday by office workers support picket group from organized labor throughout the Windsor area. An estimated 1,200 persons marched with Ford pickets in a demonstration intended as a morale-booster for the striking workers.

The office workers had asked a $25 monthly increase and other benefits, but failed to reach contract with the company. These changes were also numerous as to involve practically "the entire contract," the majority report notes.

The majority report of the board that where the conciliation officer finds it impossible to effect a change in the whole contract, as in this case, is in dispute, the task of the board of conciliation, namely, to bring the parties together, is an almost impossible one and it would further seem to the board that in a case such as this, the minister (Minister of Labor Charles Daley) might well have considered exercising his right and refusing to constitute a board of conciliation."

GOOD ROADS PAY FOR THEMSELVES SAYS PRESIDENT

Million Cars Sold In Canada in Four Years

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

TORONTO (CP) — Canadians should get rid of any idea that roads are an economic liability or a burden on the taxpayer, Hon. Gordon E. Taylor, Alberta's minister of highways, and president of the Canadian Good Roads association, said today.

He spoke to the opening session of the association's three-day annual convention, attended by some 1,000 delegates.

Roads, said Mr. Taylor, pay for themselves and are the life-blood of everyday business, commerce and industry, and the advanced guard of new developments and expansion.

Mr. Taylor's remarks were contained in a speech issued to the press prior to delivery.

In four years, 1949-1953, 1,000,000 motor vehicles were sold in Canada, or more than in the previous 19 years, and as many as in the 24 years before that.

This traffic, placed on highways suffering from depression and war years, was paying $70 a gallon of traffic into a pint of road."

SPENDING HIGH

The 10 governments had attempted to meet an almost insurmountable demand for new and expensive programs, and in four years, 1951-1954, gross expenditures on roads and bridges totalled $1,700,000,000.

In 1953 it was estimated that almost a quarter of the total retail sales in Canada were made by automobile dealers, garages and filling stations. In 1952 Canadians spent more than $2,000,000,000 on motor vehicles, spare parts, gasoline licences and automobile insurance, and this totalled $1,700 per means complete.

"Even the partial total," said Mr. Taylor, "indicates that not more than 15 cents of every motor-transport dollar went into the roads and streets over which the vehicle travelled."

The association's annual business session Wednesday will consider and call a national highway safety conference to meet in Ottawa May 26-28. Directors approved the proposal Sunday night.

Aims of the proposal all agencies interested in highway safety would be asked to attend.

Also considered other resolutions, for presentation to Wednesday's meeting, were requests for federal and provincial governments to extend present agreements for co-operation in the transCanada highway, or enter into new agreements, and would ask the federal government to give assistance in construction of other important roads.

Soviet Fighters Shoot Down U.S. RB-29 In Flames

One Crewman Drowned And Ten Others Saved

TOKYO (AP)—Angry U.S. airmen charged today that two Russian jet fighters pounced without warning on a U.S. plane on a photo mission over northern Japan Sunday and shot it down in flames.

Ten of the big four-motor RB-29's 11 crew members parachuted to safety, moments before their plane crashed in northern Hokkaido, a few miles from the Russian-held Kurile Islands. The 11th man drowned in the sea after bailing out.

In Washington, the state department said it was protesting the incident to Moscow.

In Tokyo, Gen. John E. Hull, U.S. Far East commander, said the direction of the crippled plane's flight completely negated any possible Soviet claim that the plane was over Russian territory. He accused the Russians of a "piratical" attack.

NOT OVER RUSSIA

Capt. Anthony F. Feith, the RB-29 captain, said the plane was "never closer than 15 miles" to Russian territory.

Feith, 35, of Chester, Pa., said: "I was approximately nine miles off Cape Soya when I was over about 13 miles to the area the Russians consider their territory."

"When fired upon we were even further away (from Russian territory). We were headed toward land," Feith told a press conference.

The attack came, he said, just as his plane had finished the first of three scheduled photo passes over northern Hokkaido, Japan's northernmost island. His plane, he added, was at about 17,000 feet and just off the Hokkaido coast, south of the Soya peninsula at the northernmost tip of the Nemuro isthmus. This would put the plane west by the same longitude west of the Japanese side of the narrow strait of Soya that separates Hokkaido from the Soviet held islands.

Asked if the Russian planes at any time invaded inside the three-mile limit recognized by Japanese waters, Feith said:

"Yes, I would say they were on their last pass."

Feith said when the MiGs were first spotted they were about 10,000 feet he told his crew: "I don't think they would attack."

But members and later Truman Water Lentz of Astoria, N.Y., shouted: "They're firing at us."

Moments later Feith ordered the crew to bail out.

"Everyone cleared the ship," he said.

Although the RB-29 was armed, Feith said he could see no activity from its turrets during the Russian fire. His co-pilot, Lieut. David N. Oliver of Corvallis, Ore., said just after bailout he broke radio silence to announce the big plane had been attacked.

Dynamite Blast Puts Out Fire In Oil Well

MAMMOTH BEACH, Alta. (CP)—A dynamite blast left five miles away has put out Alberta's second major oil well fire of the year, but the well wasn't expected to be "killed" until later today.

The well burned off an estimated 100,000,000 cubic feet of natural gas and lost about 1,000 barrels of oil in the Bonnie Glen fields, 30 miles southwest of Edmonton.

A 350-pound charge of 60 per cent dynamite choked off the huge flame Sunday afternoon partially capped the well head.

Jockey 'Fix' Plot Probed By Commission

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario Racing Commission said today it is continuing an investigation into a report that gamblers tried to "fix" a race at Dufferin Park Saturday, and that the attempt failed when the horse they planned to have beaten won.

The commission declined to give details.

However, Joe Perlove of the Toronto Star says in a weekend paper story that what brought on the investigation "was word that Hank Williams reported to the stewards Saturday he had been offered a bribe to 'throw' Moore's Alaflame in the third."

Perlove added:

"Alaflame looked as if he were home and cooled off. He was sent off at 3 to 1. Williams arrived home with Alaflame strictly according to the instructions of long three lengths over W. Buick Jr.'s Dusky Isle.

"We hear that Dusky Isle was a 'big horse' with a few bookmakers in town Saturday. So it may be that snide characters had bet their money, then tried to insure through Alaflame's jockey, only to find Hank Williams a that it didn't work."

Alaflame paid $3.20, $2.70 and $2.40 for the win.

The racing commission, headed by Magistrate S. Tupper Bigelow, has already held hearings with six riders. It has scheduled a meeting for tomorrow.

Four Children Orphaned When Parents Shot

ARNPRIOR (CP) — Four young children were orphaned Saturday night when their parents were shot to death in a farm house five miles southeast of this Ottawa valley town.

Clifford Desmond Presley, 31, was found dying beside the body of his 27-year-old wife, Dorothy, in an upstairs bedroom of their farm home. A 22-calibre rifle lay near the bodies.

Provincial police said both had been shot through the temple. Nofatal decision has been made whether an inquest will be held.

The children were at the home here of their mother's parents when the shooting occurred. The parents were alone in the house.

WEATHER

TORONTO, (CP) — Synopsis: Mild weather is in prospect for southern Ontario for the next few days. Even in the north where a brief cool snap began this morning temperatures will be climbing again on Tuesday. Afternoon temperatures in the south will be in the 50s and about five degrees warmer than Sunday.

Any Doctor Who Lacks Faith in God Has No Right to Practise Medicine

By FRANK CAREY

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Dr. Elmer Hess, president-elect of the American Medical Association, declared today any doctor "who lacks faith in the Supreme Being" has no right to practice medicine.

"A physician who walks into a sick room and says, 'I am God,' said Erie, Pa., doctor who is a specialist in urology, "he can only claim to be ailing person with the material tools of scientific medicine at his side. He is a bigger power than he is."

Those are the doctor who denies the existence of the Supreme Being and I will say that he has no right to practice the healing art."

Hess made the statements in a prepared digest of extemporaneous remarks he planned for the opening of the 46th annual meeting of the Southern Medical Association. The SMA, with a total membership of 10,000 doctors, ranks second only to the AMA as the largest general medical organization in the United States.

"Our medical schools are doing a magnificent job in teaching the fundamentals of scientific medicine," said Hess. "However, I'm afraid that the concentration on basic science is so great the teaching of spiritual values is almost neglected."

Another point he asserted:

"Any man who enters the medical profession with financial gain as his principle objective is a disservice to his colleagues. The market place is no place to make money, not the sick room. Doctor take care of sick folks—period."

The AMA official declared that organization has launched a long-range program designed to solve the medical care problems of the indigent and the chronically-ill.

Still another point he asserted:

"The conditions in some of our so-called mental hospitals are a disgrace to the nation."

Seven Bandits Are Captured

CIUDAD TRUJILLO, Dominican Republic (AP) — Police said Sunday night seven men who killed two messengers during a daring bank holdup here Saturday have been captured along with the $149,000 they took from the Royal Bank of Canada branch.

The seven men entered the bank Saturday morning. Firing at random, they killed the two messengers. A guard narrowly wounded an assistant manager.

Father of 10 Beats Lindbergh's Atlantic Record by 11 Hours

PARIS (Reuters) — Shouting French women mobbed Sunday to embrace Maxi Conrad, 50, after he landed Saturday in Paris after a solo flight from New York across the Atlantic.

The East Franciscо father of 10 made the solo, non-stop flight in 10 hours and 10 minutes, slipping 11 hours and 20 minutes off the record set by Charles Lindbergh 27 years ago.

During the night, his two-engined Piper Apache lost its radio contact with land bases—and planes scoured the eastern Atlantic in search of him.

Sunday morning at Shannon airport, Ireland, Aviation officials can captain Francis Urch said, "there was an awful lot of ice out there—I wouldn't want to fly over the Atlantic in anything less than 70-ton aircraft."

But when Conrad jumped out of his little plane at an airport near Paris he acted as though he had encircles in his blue gabardine suit and said: "I'm hungry—I suppose you were worrying about me."

He left New York's Idlewild airport at 11:36 p.m. EST Saturday, and taxied in at Toussus-le-Noble airport at 9:46 a.m.

He had only enough gas left for three or four more hours' flying for the 3,000-mile flight.

He said he flew most of the way at 11,000 feet. "But I had to climb some wave-hopping when ice got bad during the night."

"The first thing I want now is some food," he said. "Gas leaked into the cockpit so I had to fly with my goggles on and I'm afraid I have anything to eat—just a bottle of soft drink."

He told reporters he sent out one message, while passing Shannon airport. He added that he had not slept for three nights—"I spent the last night in the hangar and only got catnaps, while they were putting extra tanks on the plane."

He said he had had a number of perfect weather, just after leaving Idlewild airport, but after that it was "continuous snow and ice."

Makes Six-Hour Flight Beneath Bunch of Balloons

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Daredevil Garret Cashman, who made a parachute jump over a new skyscracks Saturday beneath a cluster of weather balloons, received an honorary pilot's license from the civil aeronautics administration for the feat.

Cashman used about 80 hydrogen filled balloons, each about four feet in diameter, and sat on a plywood seat when he took off from a rowboat on a lake in the heart of the Adirondacks.

He soared 50 miles over the mountains before landing in tree-tops on the west bank of the Hudson river.

With the help of hunters, the 27-year-old adventurer salvaged the 25 balloons and the seat and ropes of his contraption.

Guns Set Up to Sink English Ships Will Roar Salute to Queen Mother

By LLOYD McDONALD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON (CP) — The guns of British warships anchored in the United States Naval Academy area set up more than a century ago for the main purpose of training young Americans to clobber England's navy will roar a farewell today for a 21-gun salute to a royal British visitor.

The neighboring Maryland capital was the chief stop on Queen Elizabeth's busy two-day visit to the Chesapeake Bay area. She was to meet the state governor, the Maryland legislature and have lunch at the executive mansion before going to the Naval Academy, where full honors were laid on for her.

The Queen Mother was scheduled to review a dress parade at the academy where U.S. naval officers are trained. The parade program called for all the traditional honors, including four "ruffles and flourishes" and the 21-gun salute accorded only to visiting royalty and chiefs of state.

The Maryland visit followed a night in Annapolis where the Queen Mother attended dinner as the guest of Washington Cathedral and later was driven through the surrounding countryside to see the autumn foliage.

Soviet Fighters Shoot Down U.S. RB-29 In Flames

One Crewman Drowned And Ten Others Saved

TOKYO (AP)—Angry U.S. airmen charged today that two Russian jet fighters pounced without warning on a U.S. plane on a photo mission over northern Japan Sunday and shot it down in flames.

Ten of the big four-motor RB-29's 11 crew members parachuted to safety, moments before their plane crashed in northern Hokkaido, a few miles from the Russian-held Kurile Islands. The 11th man drowned in the sea after bailing out.

In Washington, the state department said it was protesting the incident to Moscow.

In Tokyo, Gen. John E. Hull, U.S. Far East commander, said the direction of the crippled plane's flight completely negated any possible Soviet claim that the plane was over Russian territory. He accused the Russians of a "piratical" attack.

NOT OVER RUSSIA

Capt. Anthony F. Feith, the RB-29 captain, said the plane was "never closer than 15 miles" to Russian territory.

Feith, 35, of Chester, Pa., said: "I was approximately nine miles off Cape Soya when I was over about 13 miles to the area the Russians consider their territory."

"When fired upon we were even further away (from Russian territory). We were headed toward land," Feith told a press conference.

The attack came, he said, just as his plane had finished the first of three scheduled photo passes over northern Hokkaido, Japan's northernmost island. His plane, he added, was at about 17,000 feet and just off the Hokkaido coast, south of the Soya peninsula at the northernmost tip of the Nemuro isthmus. This would put the plane west by the same longitude west of the Japanese side of the narrow strait of Soya that separates Hokkaido from the Soviet held islands.

Asked if the Russian planes at any time invaded inside the three-mile limit recognized by Japanese waters, Feith said:

"Yes, I would say they were on their last pass."

Feith said when the MiGs were first spotted they were about 10,000 feet he told his crew: "I don't think they would attack."

But members and later Truman Water Lentz of Astoria, N.Y., shouted: "They're firing at us."

Moments later Feith ordered the crew to bail out.

"Everyone cleared the ship," he said.

Although the RB-29 was armed, Feith said he could see no activity from its turrets during the Russian fire. His co-pilot, Lieut. David N. Oliver of Corvallis, Ore., said just after bailout he broke radio silence to announce the big plane had been attacked.

Jockey 'Fix' Plot Probed By Commission

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario Racing Commission said today it is continuing an investigation into a report that gamblers tried to "fix" a race at Dufferin Park Saturday, and that the attempt failed when the horse they planned to have beaten won.

The commission declined to give details.

However, Joe Perlove of the Toronto Star says in a weekend paper story that what brought on the investigation "was word that Hank Williams reported to the stewards Saturday he had been offered a bribe to 'throw' Moore's Alaflame in the third."

Perlove added:

"Alaflame looked as if he were home and cooled off. He was sent off at 3 to 1. Williams arrived home with Alaflame strictly according to the instructions of long three lengths over W. Buick Jr.'s Dusky Isle.

"We hear that Dusky Isle was a 'big horse' with a few bookmakers in town Saturday. So it may be that snide characters had bet their money, then tried to insure through Alaflame's jockey, only to find Hank Williams a that it didn't work."

Alaflame paid $3.20, $2.70 and $2.40 for the win.

The racing commission, headed by Magistrate S. Tupper Bigelow, has already held hearings with six riders. It has scheduled a meeting for tomorrow.

Dynamite Blast Puts Out Fire In Oil Well

MAMMOTH BEACH, Alta. (CP)—A dynamite blast left five miles away has put out Alberta's second major oil well fire of the year, but the well wasn't expected to be "killed" until later today.

The well burned off an estimated 100,000,000 cubic feet of natural gas and lost about 1,000 barrels of oil in the Bonnie Glen fields, 30 miles southwest of Edmonton.

A 350-pound charge of 60 per cent dynamite choked off the huge flame Sunday afternoon partially capped the well head.

Four Children Orphaned When Parents Shot

ARNPRIOR (CP) — Four young children were orphaned Saturday night when their parents were shot to death in a farm house five miles southeast of this Ottawa valley town.

Clifford Desmond Presley, 31, was found dying beside the body of his 27-year-old wife, Dorothy, in an upstairs bedroom of their farm home. A 22-calibre rifle lay near the bodies.

Provincial police said both had been shot through the temple. No decision has been made whether an inquest will be held.

The children were at the home here of their mother's parents when the shooting occurred. The parents were alone in the house.

Any Doctor Who Lacks Faith in God Has No Right to Practise Medicine

By FRANK CAREY

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Dr. Elmer Hess, president-elect of the American Medical Association, declared today any doctor "who lacks faith in the Supreme Being" has no right to practice medicine.

"A physician who walks into a sick room and says, 'I am God,' said Erie, Pa., doctor who is a specialist in urology, "he can only claim to be ailing person with the material tools of scientific medicine at his side. He is a bigger power than he is."

Those are the doctor who denies the existence of the Supreme Being and I will say that he has no right to practice the healing art."

Hess made the statements in a prepared digest of extemporaneous remarks he planned for the opening of the 46th annual meeting of the Southern Medical Association. The SMA, with a total membership of 10,000 doctors, ranks second only to the AMA as the largest general medical organization in the United States.

"Our medical schools are doing a magnificent job in teaching the fundamentals of scientific medicine," said Hess. "However, I'm afraid that the concentration on basic science is so great the teaching of spiritual values is almost neglected."

Another point he asserted:

"Any man who enters the medical profession with financial gain as his principle objective is a disservice to his colleagues. The market place is no place to make money, not the sick room. Doctor take care of sick folks—period."

The AMA official declared that organization has launched a long-range program designed to solve the medical care problems of the indigent and the chronically-ill.

Still another point he asserted:

"The conditions in some of our so-called mental hospitals are a disgrace to the nation."

Seven Bandits Are Captured

CIUDAD TRUJILLO, Dominican Republic (AP) — Police said Sunday night seven men who killed two messengers during a daring bank holdup here Saturday have been captured along with the $149,000 they took from the Royal Bank of Canada branch.

The seven men entered the bank Saturday morning. Firing at random, they killed the two messengers. A guard narrowly wounded an assistant manager.

One of Belleville's Hockey Greats, William D. (Bill) Green, Dies Suddenly

Stricken with a heart attack when about to have tea with his sister-in-law, Mrs. Walter Allen, William Donald (Bill) Green, proprietor of Green Manor, Dundas Street East, and former well known hockey player, died suddenly Sunday night in the Belvedere Hotel.

Mr. Green, assistant manager of the hotel, had come during his work by his son, Douglas, and before starting his night's work was invited to tea in the dining room. He started to sit down when stricken and he died instantly.

"Bill" Green, as he was familiarly known, was born in this city and lived his entire life in the community. He was born 57 years ago, being the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles Green and after completing the public and high school education received his early training with his father. He stayed with the firm for several years before he branched out on his own account. Some years ago he disposed of his business and purchased the home of the late Arnold Thomson and turned it into one of the most tourist homes in this district.

Besides his tourist business he entered employment with his brother-in-law, Walter Allen, as assistant manager of the Belvedere Hotel. In this capacity he extended a wide circle of friends as he dealt day to day with the travelling public.

HIGH IN HOCKEY CIRCLES

In the sports world, especially hockey circles, he made himself that will survive his memory. Bill Green in his day was a natural hockey player. In early life he started his career with the Belleville I.C.B.U. squad managed by Eddie Thomas. In this group he will remember the terrific battles the team had with St. Andrew's College, at the Memorial Cup games, featuring the names of Marmora men who paid the supreme sacrifice:

The day started early for the cadets. Falling in shortly after 10 outside the armouries they moved off 15 minutes later on the march to church.

Led by a color party from HMCSC York that the cadets kept trimly in step with the bands of the Belleville, Oshawa and Peterborough corps.

They marched down Pinnacle to Dundas, Dundas Front and up Bridge, where the salute was taken outside the armouries by Lt.-Cmdr. Gardiner and C.O.'s of the five ships.

At the base with the saluting officer were Lt. R. Wilson, RCSCC Quinte, Belleville; Lt. A. J. Creighton, RCSCC Skeena, Port Hope; Lt. H. Maynard, RCSCC Drake, Oshawa; Lt. R. Rowland, RCSCC Trent, Trenton; and Lt. W. J. Carr, RCSCC Howe, Peterborough.

The marchers divided at St. Andrew's Anglican, where service was conducted by Rev. W. J. Robinson, with the Protestant cadets continuing on to St. Michael's, were Mass was celebrated by Rev. F. Murphy.

Following the services, the cadets moved to the armouries for a band ambulance, to hospital where he was reported to be suffering from minor injuries. George Stewart, also of Shannonville, driver of the other vehicle, was unhurt.

The third accident took place Sunday evening on the 2nd concession of Sidney township, near Long Ion, when vehicles driven by August Arike, Toronto, and Robert Orr, R.R. 2, Belleville, collided. A passenger in one of the vehicles, William Symons, 24, Harriett Street, suffered facial cuts and was taken to hospital.

Four Persons Hurt In 3 Accidents In This District

Three highway accidents, resulting in personal injury and extensive property damage to motor vehicles, were reported over the week-end by provincial police.

Shortly before midnight Saturday a car driven by Gerald Anderson, Trenton, went out of control near the Montrose Farms on No. 2 Highway. A passenger in the car, Vernon Warrington, also of Trenton, suffered severe facial lacerations and was brought to Belleville hospital by Bush's ambulance. Anderson also suffered facial cuts and was taken to hospital by Thompson's ambulance.

Shortly after midnight Saturday two vehicles collided on No. 2 Highway near the Point Anne lane east of the city. One of the drivers, Maurice Sowell, of Shannonville, had to be removed by prying a door off the ditched auto and by Bush's ambulance to hospital where he was reported to be suffering from minor injuries. George Stewart, also of Shannonville, driver of the other vehicle, was unhurt.

The third accident took place Sunday evening on the 2nd concession of Sidney township, near Long Ion, when vehicles driven by August Arike, Toronto, and Robert Orr, R.R. 2, Belleville, collided. A passenger in one of the vehicles, William Symons, 24, Harriett Street, suffered facial cuts and was taken to hospital.

Police Blotter

Some prospective home builder in the Belleville area must be on the lookout for cheap building materials.

At least one local home builder and a local contractor found quantities of building materials over the week-end.

Mrs. Wilfred Starsworth, building a new home at 76 Southview Ave., reported the disappearance of 2,000 feet of copper wire while Arthur Sills and Son complained of a quantity of acoustical material stolen from the new Stir Winston Churchill school.

A car robe was stolen from a car parked in the market square while a West Bridge Street man reported his Dalmatian show dog killed by a car in front of his home.

Former Decorated Paratrooper Becomes Woman

NEW YORK (AP)—The Sunday News says a decorated former paratrooper, who is the divorced father of two children, returned from Holland Saturday after undergoing operations to become a woman.

The former GI is identified by the News as "auburn-tressed Tamara Edel Rees," born Robert Egan Rees." The News' home address given was "somewhere in the west."

"I'm afraid to come home because I'm afraid of Americans," the News, in a copyrighted story, quoted the former soldier as saying.

"Europeans understand these things. They understand the pressures that can make a man. Here are living apart from society. All I want now is peace and quiet. All I want is to be left alone."

The story, accompanied by several photographs, says the operations were performed in Amsterdam last January.

No Sweeping, Sudden Victory Over Communism Says Pearson

DETROIT (CP) — External Affairs Minister Pearson of Canada said today the West will never win in the cold war on a hoped run with three on base and two out in the last half of the ninth inning.

"There is not going to be a sweeping, sudden victory over communism, either through the conference table or by armed force.

"On the contrary, we are in for a long, often depressing, cautious and frustrating period of armed peace, or what passes for peace in this modern age. Further, we may hope, to a peace which will rest on something more enduring than arms."

Mr. Pearson, one-time semi-professional baseball player, was speaking to the Economic Club of Detroit. A text of his speech was issued in advance to the press.

A WAY TO WIN

"If Soviet Russia and its followers have chosen to continue the struggle in 'peaceful co-existence' we should welcome this while making ourselves strong enough economically, and resilient enough politically to win it. At the same time we must maintain the military strength to make it impossible for them ever to win to change the form of struggle and force us into a world situation of a war which would be the annihilation of human society."

At another point, Mr. Pearson said: "... We can welcome 'peaceful co-existence' as a way of avoiding a contest but of winning it without war. Peace can also work on the side of freedom — provided we know how to use it."

The present world situation "will require a realization of the fact that co-existing with the Russians is going to continue to be a trying, frustrating and difficult business."

"So we must not lose heart or patience or expect that either the 'cold war' or 'peaceful co-existence' or whatever you wish to call our relations with Russia, is going to lead to any spectacular victories, any sensational, sudden or clear-cut solutions."

Earlier, he said:

". . . We must seek to get what advantage we can out of the present situation without prejudicing our safety or surrendering our principles; accepting the imperative need to work toward something better than a situation where humanity resembles two scorpions in a bottle, co-existing only because each fears the other has other can sting it to death. . . .

GO HALF-WAY

"It requires that we should be hard - headed but open - minded about recent moves in Soviet policy, which seem to be conciliatory.

"It requires that we should go half-way, or even beyond that point, to meet these overtures, with a view to seeing whether it is real or not found on which the issues that now so tragically divide the world might be resolved; remembering, however, as we move forward, that there may be a point of no return!"

Labor and Legion Week for Cabinet In Ottawa

OTTAWA (CP) — This is labor and Legion week for the federal cabinet.

Canada's four main labor groups will present their annual briefs to the cabinet: the Trades and Labor Congress Tuesday; the Canadian and Catholic Confederation of Labor Wednesday morning; the railway brotherhoods Wednesday afternoon, and the Canadian Congress of Labor Friday.

The cabinet will get the annual brief of the Canadian Legion Thursday — Remembrance Day — four hours after the ceremony at the National War Memorial honoring Canada's war dead.

MEETS TUESDAY

The cabinet will hold its regular weekly meeting Tuesday afternoon.

Prime Minister St. Laurent will have a full week.

He was scheduled to return here about noon from Quebec City. He has spent the last four-week-ends there, mainly in connection with ceremonies by regular army and militia units.

On Monday, he was to receive Sir Rhoderick McGrigor, British first sea lord. Sir Rhoderick arrives Sunday for a round of top-level talks with Canadian defence chiefs.

On Wednesday, the prime minister will attend a luncheon to be given by Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery by Defence Minister Campbell.

On Friday, Mr. St. Laurent will greet Queen Mother Elizabeth on her arrival for a five-day Ottawa visit.

Saturday noon, the prime minister will attend a luncheon to be given the Queen Mother by the Senate and Commons speakers in the Parliament buildings and Saturday night a state dinner for the Queen Mother at Government House.

Tonight, the prime minister probably will tune in returns from the six federal by-elections.

Silly Promises Will Not Win Says Oliver

STURGEON FALLS (CP)—Farquhar Oliver, Ontario Liberal leader, says his party can't hope to win seats in the legislature by criticism of the Progressive Conservative government, and by "silly" election promises.

Addressing a Northern Ontario Liberal association meeting here Saturday, Mr. Oliver said "it has not been sufficient to criticise the present government and expect the people to turn in their wrath and remove that government from office."

Instead, the Liberals must present something better to replace the policies with which we find fault." Nor, he said, did the party was not going to "promise everything under the sun."

"We made that mistake once before, promising all kinds of social benefits and at the same time promising lower taxation. The voters will now swallow that kind of story."

The Liberals today faced a challenge to "restore the reputation of the party in Ontario politics" and to make provincial Liberalism "the fighting force it once was and will be again."

To replace the "silly" promises of the past, Mr. Oliver said, the new election policies of the party will be based on "reasonable groups of proposals possible of enactment and designed to put the Liberal party back on the rails in Ontario." It would, he said, be a counterpart of the Liberals' federal program at Ottawa.

American Ships Guarding Isles

TAIPEH, Formosa (Reuters) — The official Chinese Nationalist news agency said today ships of the United States 7th Fleet have formed a "protective net" around the Nationalist-held Tachen Island group, off southern Chekiang province.

Islands in the group have recently been shelled and bombed by the Communists on the mainland.

It said the vessels are "watching closely future development," and U. S. destroyers are patrolling the east China sea with a Nationalist naval task force.

The agency said American warships, although not officially committed to defend the island, are keeping a 24-hour vigil to "keep the sea lanes clear of a hostile threat."

Striking Dockers Invade Offices Of Sydney Paper

SYDNEY, Australia (Reuters)—More than 1,500 striking dock workers, singing, shouting and stamping, today invaded the offices of The Daily Telegraph, one of Sydney's two morning newspapers.

Carloads of police rushed to clear the men from the building. The newspaper had today strongly condemned the strike. The government "should order the navy and army to work the ports until it is over," it said.

All Australian ports are paralyzed by the week-long strike of 26,000 dockers which has already seriously affected transport of coal exports and imports.

GUARD PARLIAMENT

Police guarded all entrances to the New South Wales state Parliament house from dock workers as a precaution against a threatened demonstration by strikers.

After they left The Telegraph building, the men decided to boycott the handling of newsprint for the newspaper after the strike is settled because they resented its attitude.

FLAGGED DOWN

TILLSONBURG (CP) — A New York Central railway express train made an unscheduled stop here Saturday when a station agent spotted dense clouds of smoke billowing from a refrigerator car in the train. Charles Turner signalled the train to halt, then called the Tillsonburg fire department to put out a blaze in the refrigerator car.

Okinawa Prison Scene of Riots And Mass Escape

NAHA, Okinawa (AP)—Some 850 convicts battled police and wardens for three hours Sunday night in a wild riot marked by a mass breakout from Naha penitentiary. An estimated 50 or more inmates escaped but 14 were recaptured this morning, police said. They said 22 others are known to be at large and another 14 also may have escaped.

One prisoner was shot in the leg and several wardens and special police were injured by rocks during Sunday night's three-hour battle.

The breakout, the third attempted since Nov. 3, came when 15 prisoners smashed a door, rushed out and released all the prisoners in their own cell block, plus inmates in three other blocks. Wardens fired pistols and machines in a vain attempt to stop the prisoners' charge.

CALL IN POLICE

Some 280 special Okinawan police then rushed to the big prison and forced most of the rioters back into their cells—but only after wild fighting. No U. S. troops were called in. American civilians said the Okinawa police could handle the situation.

The Naha safety bureau said the prisoners have been agitating for better conditions, claiming prison wardens have struck and maltreated the inmates.

FRENCH VOLTE-FACE

Monsieur Mendes-France bears a charmed life. This is a most gratifying state of affairs as far as Mendes-is a most gratifying state of affairs as far as Mendes-France and France are concerned, but it is a little hard on editorial writers.

For instance, last Thursday Jules Moch was selected by the foreign affairs committee of the French National Assembly to make the committee's report on the Paris agreements providing for the restoration of sovereignty agreements providing for the restoration of sovereignty to West Germany and the addition of West German forces to the West's defence system. Moch, a Socialist, bitterly opposed the European Army plan. The Communists also opposed this proposal. Both the Communists and Socialists voted for his selection as the committee's spokesman. But he would not have been selected for the job on Thursday if the members of the Popular Republican Movement had not also supported him.

As the price is a decisive group which strongly supported the supranational European Army scheme, this situation appeared to provide an excellent opportunity for comment. This comment was written. Because they were angered by Premier Mendes-France for his failure to support actively the European Army plan when it came before the National Assembly for a vote, the MRP members had thrown their support behind an opponent of the European Army proposal. "Politics make strange bedfellows and nowhere is this more evident than in France," we wrote.

However, before this observation could get into print, Moch clambered off the couch which his friends and enemies had prepared for him. He refused the proffered job because, he said, it was not the appointment as France's representative to the big power disarmament talks in New York this week as more important.

Now Mendes-France has already performed a couple of first-class miracles, reaching an agreement with the Communists over Indo-China and with the Germans—not at least with Chancellor Adenauer—over the Saar. Neither of these accomplishments in the world at adequate warning that he was a genius who could perform the almost impossible task of making a political opponent act not merely sensibly but with statesmanship.

Yet that is what happened. Moch spurned the task and the members of the National Assembly's foreign affairs committee then selected Pierre Billotte, a supporter of Mendes-France, to handle the report. This should mean that the French Premier will have less difficulty winning approval for the Paris agreements than he would have had Moch written the report.

Moch, however, has not thrown through his hat in the ring in record regarding the alternative which has been devised for the European Army, might be expected to oppose the agreements on some points at least.

The person who emerges from this merry-go-round with the greatest prestige is Moch. Perhaps the kindest thing that can be said about Billotte is that the MRP members in voting for a man whose views opposed their own, just to embarrass the Premier, was the observation of the chairman of the committee, Daniel Mayer, a close friend of Moch. He passed off the caustic criticism as "a student's prank." That is easy on the MRP—but a little rough on students.

FREEDOM IS INDIVISIBLE

The Fort Erie Letter-Review contrasts statements by two politicians, one in Britain and one in the United States, with an observation by a famous British author.

Ed Scarborough, England, Wilfred Burke, president of the British Labor Party, said that a quarter of the population of the world lives in police states. "That's bad," he remarked. "But half the world lives on the starvation line. That's worse."

At Detroit, the titular head of the Democratic Party, Adlai Stevenson, said that if people "feel compelled to choose between freedom and economic development, relief from want and misery, many will choose economic development."

These statements, argues the Letter-Review, indicate "the low state of freedom in today's world."

Both speakers, it says, might be reminded of Somerset Maugham's observation that if a nation values anything more than its freedom, it will lose its freedom—and ironically enough, it will also lose that thing it valued more.

"There is no choice between freedom and plenty; a nation which chooses plenty must lose freedom, since freedom is the only way to get it," says the Letter-Review.

It is clearly intimated here that, though plenty cannot be enjoyed without freedom, it is possible to have freedom without plenty. The accuracy of this observation depends upon our definition of the word plenty. If it is defined as riches, then it is a true statement. But if we consider plenty as merely the absence of want, the elimination of starvation, then there can be no freedom without plenty.

The late President Roosevelt's "Four Freedoms" were an inadequate definition of freedom, but there can be no true freedom without every one of these "four freedoms," including freedom from want.

If Mr. Burke meant that it is worse to starve than to be a slave, then he is in error. If he meant that the limitation on the freedom of people by starvation is worse than the limitation on freedom by police states because there are twice as many starving as are living under tyranny, then he is right.

As for Mr. Stevenson, he did not say that people might be compelled to choose between freedom and the relief of want and misery. He said they might feel they were compelled to make such a choice. That is a very different statement and the accuracy of what Mr. Stevenson said cannot be questioned. The recent history of the world gives us many examples of people who felt they faced such a choice and confirms Mr. Stevenson's statement that, holding such a belief, many would choose economic development ahead of political freedom.

A careful consideration of the statements of Mr. Burke, Mr. Stevenson and Mr. Maugham might lead many of us to suspect that, far from being at odds, they are just expressing the same theme in different words.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

A LITTLE PRAISE

We are apt to discount the power behind that little praise that all workers nevertheless keep hoping for. Praise comes out of us anything, and all the effort it takes is a nice supply of will power—which is to give praise when it is deserved—and it is deserved most everywhere!

I have studied how kind and considerate the men are who take the time to praise, and how as always giving them praise and so the horses try to repay by winning races. There isn't a mother's son of us who does not react to praise, no matter what our station in life, or our daily duties.

There is a wide distance between flattery and praise. Flattery is the product from shallow minds, but praise is something that goes from heart to heart. We shrink in mind, heart, and spirit, if no one feels us a little praise.

Who could long perform before an audience if no one ever gave applause? Imagine people fire by it. Children react to praise very quickly. It's as natural as to breathe air and live. We are all subjects to our work where our services are appreciated, and where we get praise when deserved.

When an author has a book published he always anxiously awaits the reviews to see whether his book will get praise or the opposite. It's the praise given to a new play that may make or break it. Praise should never be sold short!

No matter what our work, if we didn't get reasonable praise, when deserved, we would go forward very little. Many a man has lost heart and lost all because of the lack of a little praise. So long as it's sincere you can't praise anyone too much. We all do our best work when it is appreciated.

AFTER THE GAME

Did it matter very much
That your favorite team was beaten?
Did your life it gravely touch?
Was your supper left uneaten?
Did your plans it rearrange?
Though the day was one of sorrow,
Did this certain fact it change:
You must go to work tomorrow?

They were boys who gave their best
To the end from the beginning.
All were eager for the test.
Everyone intent on winning.

There was none who wished to lose.
None deliberately faltered
Or evaded bump and bruise,
But was much important altered?

Yes, I want my team to win.
When it happens that it wouldn't,
At the moment I don't grin.
But disturb me long it wouldn't.
After all it's just a game
For the loser and the winner.
And since life remains the same,
I go home and eat my dinner.

Journey to West Coast

By G. A. MORTON
(Managing Editor)

The most noted district in San Francisco is "Nob Hill" an abbreviation of "nabob" and used in reference to the very wealthy men of the early gold mining and railroad days. It is on top of this steep, moderately high hill that they built great mansions —men such as James Flood who began his career as a bar keeper and became wealthy through gold mining. Flood's mansion is now a hotel.

Nob Hill. None of the mansions is left except the Flood place which is now the Pacific Union Club situated across the street from the Fairmont Hotel. It is a fine three-storey brick building surrounded by perfectly kept lawns and flowers. Spotted hotels and apartment houses have taken the place of the old houses, and because of their location, command better rents than elsewhere.

The Mark Hopkins on "Nob Hill" is the premier hotel in the city and one of its chief attractions is the "Top of the Mark". a room on the eighteenth floor of a tower. The room is circular with great picture windows looking out in every direction over the city. Actually this is a cocktail lounge, but the management encourages visitors to visit the "Top" and soft drinks are served for those who desire them.

OUTSTANDING VIEW

As the room was not crowded when we entered we were given a table next to a window overlooking the city to the west. We had timed our visit a half hour before sunset and as the room is one of those memorable, scenic views which are "breath-taking" rather than the exception during our trip. Soon the sun went down in a blaze of glory and then as the dusk deepened, thousands of lights came on all over the city to make it a fairy-land of gay flashing color, studded with diamonds of white light. There are very few places which can offer such a sight and we were fortunate in having spent the brief hour or so in such pleasant surroundings. Like many of this is another place that calls for a return visit at some time in the future. We are indebted to Mr. and Mrs. Mackenzie Robertson of Victoria for the invitation for urging us to visit the "Mark."

STEEP HILL

It is a real effort to walk up Nob hill. The hill grade is at least twenty degrees. The hill is so steep that the only one we know that is comparable is the hill of the other, but, of course, is only a fraction of the other in length. Cars taking you up into low gear, and to go down the hill in a cable car is an impressive experience being on the roller-coaster and you wonder what would happen if the apparent wrong with the mechanism.

San Francisco, like many other cities that are attractive to tourists, has a large number of outstanding restaurants. Trader Vic's probably is the leading restaurant but as one of the most expensive. We passed it up for the Chinese chicken was also popular and noted for their food. These are Bardelli's and Victor's. The former leans more towards Italian cuisine while the latter features American and Armenian.

At Bardelli's we passed over the house specialties such as sea food chicken Jerusalem—and ordered roast beef, of course. Many say chicken was a rich with sauces, but feeling we could not relish it, settled for the beef. The meat was done to a third of an inch thick and covered the plate and we could not help but cut it. It was absolutely tops in good eating. Accompanying were other courses including some fine Italian spaghetti with delicious sauce.

ROSE PETAL JAM

Taking a taxi to Omar Khayyam's, we were told, "That's my favorite restaurant when I can afford it." He explained, "I order some rose petal jam. "It won't be on the menu," he said, "but you ask for it and they'll bring it." Of course any jam with a name like "rose petal" certainly deserved a try. The waiter brought the jam without a comment and it was delicious, but the flavor was so subtle that we could not identify the fruit it contained. Unleavened bread was served with it and it was a hot breast of pleasant flavor as well as texture.

Shish kebab was the featured entree so we decided to try it, for it is probably the most popular location on this specialty. All it is is chunks of lamb, beef, pepper, mushrooms, tomato and onion strung on a skewer and broiled over charcoal. So far we were concerned it is over-rated, as a dish. The meat was well done, tender cooked and the meat portions scanty. However, the restaurant has a reputation to live up to, as one of the good ones. In fact it is highly recommended by some and as well we noticed on the wall at Bardelli's three separate annual Holiday magazine awards certifying that the restaurant was the best of its type in California. The rest of the meal was satisfying. But not outstanding.

EXPENSIVE TASTE

Seeing that we are on the subject of food perhaps the following items should be of interest. Recently A man wandered into a chinchilla farm in a fair and asked "How much?"

"Well, sir," beamed the salesman, here's a fine little family forsale — — a papa chinchilla, a mama and their two little ones. We've got a special on them during this month. Only $200."

The man thought a moment, and then asked: "Uh —— can you eat 'em?"

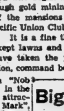
Big Time Gap Balks Experts

(Christian Science Monitor)

Atomic scientists at Columbia University have developed methods of determining by radiation the age of rocks; fossil plants, a bone, a mummycloth, or other objects in which archaeologists are interested. The trouble is, according to J. Laurence Kulp, that thus far they can work only in two time scales—one below 60,000 years, the other from 1,000,000 to 5,000,000 years.



What is 60,000 years the slow break-down of Carbon-14 into nitrogen provides an accurate laboratory calendar. But from that point to the 1,000,000-year mark is a gap in which the clock is a mystery so far as nuclear physics is concerned.

This need not be altogether disconcerting. There is, come to think of it, certain comfort in the uncertainty as to the age of human beings is intriguing rather than disturbing. But from this point on keeps fairly faithful count of human days up to 19 or a little more. Then again after, say, possibly 65 there comes an era when Grandma is the recipient of an "certificate" letter in his neighborhood, who diagnosed his "lumbago," gave the internal piles ambulant treatment, and cured the "lumbago."

Although these two customers are not so credulous today at their doctors were, the constant backache and vague sense of pressure and discomfort in the pelvic region, due to internal piles, may convince the unhappy sufferer that she has "female weakness" of one sort or another.

For years a wisecare had been monkeying with his diet and doping himself with antacids for what he called an "ulcer," gradually losing weight and acquiring a haggard appearance over the years. One day he was frightened by bleeding from the bowel. Overfilling and dilation of one of the numerous little veins around the rectal orifice constitutes a pile (hemorrhoid). It is an internal pile if it is within the margin, an external pile if it is outside the orifice.

Thousands have internal or external piles and are scarcely aware of any trouble unless or until the pile or piles begin to bleed (internally). Inflammation of external piles is commonly called an "attack" of piles.

Dr. Brady

No doctor or specialist can determine whether a patient has or has not internal piles without visual examination by means of headlight and speculum. If a doctor pretends to make the diagnosis without having so examined the patient, the patient had better make a quick get-away.

I still contend this is a health column and in order to do that as I have been considering for the past week or, the bowling green and off, how much I can say here about internal piles without suggesting symptoms which would alarm a more serious disease which may be present. Thus, an editor down south became alarmed, hurried to his doctor for examination, found that the trouble was piles, returned to the office in high dudgeon, and threw me and my pediculous column out of his paper.

Well, now having negotiated the question, I have decided to mention some misleading features — if this should worry or alarm anyone, let him consult his physician and blame me for not asking for the suggestion.

One poor geek had gone a lot of "doctoring" mostly with neardoctors, and quacy-doctors, for "stomach" trouble, accidentally his home brought him under the observation of my "ordinary" doctor in his neighborhood, who diagnosed his "lumbago," gave the internal piles ambulant treatment, and cured the "lumbago."

Although these customers are not so credulous today at their doctors were, the constant backache and vague sense of pressure and discomfort in the pelvic region, due to internal piles, may convince the unhappy sufferer that she has "female weakness" of one sort or another.

For years a wisecare had been monkeying with his diet and doping himself with antacids for what he called an "ulcer," gradually losing weight and acquiring a haggard appearance over the years. One day he was frightened by bleeding from the bowel.

Personal Health Series

By DR. WM. BRADY

NESTLY, I HATE TO TELL YOU

This sent him to a doctor. The doctor, fortunately, was skilled in modern methods. He injected the bleeding pile. The staple injection stopped the bleeding and cured the pesky "ulcer". The stomach, digestive troubles the man had attributed to "ulcer" were evidently reflex symptoms of internal piles.

The only complaint in many instances is anemia, from frequent or constant bleeding of internal piles. The bleeding is not noticed by the patient because the blood darkens in the intestine and is not recognized as blood in the stools. There is another, but more severe and, of course, it does not respond to iron, liver, B12 or other treatment unless the internal pile or piles be found by careful examination with headlight and speculum (proctoscope) and obliterated by surgery or by injection.

Bear in mind that in such cases there may be no other symptoms or indication of internal piles than the persistent anemia and daily loss of a small amount of blood into the bowel may continue for a long time unnoticed.

TV Phones Terrifying

(Saskatoon Star-Phoenix)

We read in the papers that the television-telephone is almost at hand.

The business world had many great advantages in the gadgets which will permit face-to-face conference by parties at some distance from one another, but have we yet in them nothing but hazards for the ordinary citizen.

Think of the things that will be seen more and more as part of the television-phone! No more will young swains be able to be comfortable and at ease in crumpled after-bath house coats and pin curlers.

And pity poor Mr. Meek, who cannot summon the courage to courage to say over a telephone what he did only dare to say when facing a person. The time is coming when he never will be able to do his bold word.

Time was when the telephone call was a little less impersonal than an letter and a little more impersonal than an open wiring. Television-phones will end all that, for to lift the receiver will be to reveal you as you really are. There is something almost terrifying about the very thought of it.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

Across the room from me in the restaurant sat a middle-aged, perhaps nearly elderly couple who put me, as an eavesdropper, in mind, knowing it, a sort of free entertainment for the other diners.

If they were not a childless couple, their children had long ago grown up and gone their own ways. They had also many indications of childlessness. The man, slightly bald, with a protruding lower lip, was more neatly and perhaps more expensively dressed than others usually are. There is a certain dowdiness about a father.

The woman was one of those former bloods, with spectacular, but never a great many trinkets. To my way of thinking, a mother gets over wearing trinkets when her children are small. You can't raise, cuddle, hug and bustle with children if you are covered with bangles, spangles, necklaces earrings and random pieces of costume jewelry. This lady was a sort of perambulant section of the counter.

And she was a talker. She was the kind who leans across the table to machine-gun her man with rapid fire conversation. She was a handsome, well-groomed lady, who could lean forward and command him with her personality, while her spectacles kept slipping slightly down the bridge of her nose as she discoursed.

Her husband, his lower lip protruding a little more than usual, glared at her with unconcealed irritation and occasional disgust. He was eating roast beef and cabbage. And when the lady, with the greatest affection, occasionally speared a hunk of lamb stew off their plate and transferred it to his, he would bite into the lamb stew, and then eat the gift.

After thirty to forty minutes they required to consume their dinner, the woman never relaxed her animated discourse, the man never changed his expression of distain and listless impatience.

My guess is they have been married forty years, that they squabbled on their honeymoon, that the woman had never for an hour lost her admiration for the man his grumps, and they have had a happy life, in their fashion.

STRENGTH FOR THE DAY

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

NATURE OF GROWTH

It is the manifest destiny of every living thing to grow and mature. So the mind does not grow, a great tragedy ensues. If the body does not grow, then a child never becomes more than a dwarf. If a soul does not grow, it becomes a pitiable misfit in a spiritual universe.

Growth consists in the progressive development of one's ability to relate himself to his environment, and thereby to God. We must first of all relate ourselves to the circumstances by which we are surrounded. Some are annoying, others painful and restrictive, still others, pleasant. We must also get along with the people with whom we come in contact. Many are ignorant and unreasonable; a number are thoughtless. We must relate ourselves to God, and this is the most difficult challenge of all. We cannot see God. We speak to God and He answers us, but not in audible words. Our relationship to God is by faith and not by sight. God demands the whole of our allegiance, a complete submission to His will. It is hard to bring ourselves to submit to this.

Love brings us into complete and satisfying relation with things and persons; faith brings us into satisfying relationship, with God. We have perfect spiritual growth when we look up to God in faith and receive in the loving service to our fellow man.

Expect Russia Will Ask Change In Atomic Plan

By WILLIAM HARCOURT
Canadian Press Staff Writer

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP)—Debate on President Eisenhower's atoms-for-peace plan resumed today in the General Assembly's political committee amid speculation as to what Russia's attitude will be.

France and Colombia were listed to speak today. Britain and Canada already have announced support of the plan, designed to develop and share on an international basis the peaceful uses of atomic energy.

Andrei Vishinsky is expected to make Russia's attitude known later in the week. While the West has asked for Russian co-operation, there is little optimism that the reply will be favorable.

Some delegates expect Russia will support the plan in principle, but insist that the proposed international agency be more closely linked with the UN—or "within the chiefdom of the veto," as one delegate put it.

The sponsors of the plan have proposed that the agency be set up similar to the UN's specialized agencies, which are themselves autonomous but have their activities coordinated by the UN.

Russia is unlikely to agree to such loose linkage with the UN. Instead Russia is likely to propose that the agency operate under the control of the UN Security Council, where as a major power Russia has the veto.

When Eisenhower introduced his plan last December, he indicated that the U.S. wanted Russian co-operation. Britain and Canada urged Russian co-operation when debate on the plan started last Friday.

But at the same time it was announced that regardless of what Russia decided, there will be no delay in launching the plan.

Quickly Extinguished

OTTAWA (CP)—Fire broke out late Saturday in scaffolding on the new dome of the Parliamentary Library but was quickly extinguished by Ottawa firemen.

The blaze was the second since the ancient gothic-type library, behind the centre block of the Parliament buildings, was ravaged by a $1,000,000 fire in August, 1952. Reconstruction still is in progress and is not expected to be completed until the end of 1955.

The fire department said the latest blaze apparently was caused by pieces of hot metal from a welding operation which became imbedded in a tarpaulin on scaffolding 90 feet above the ground.

Says Millions Raised to Oust Sen. J. McCarthy

NEW YORK (AP)—Msgr. Edward R. Martin, retired First Army chief chaplain, said Sunday more than $5,000,000 has been raised in Washington to "kick" Senator Joseph McCarthy out of the Senate.

The monsignor told a communion breakfast of New York Catholic War Veterans:

"I personally know that over $5,000,000 has been pooled to kick Joe out of the Senate, and that's only a small portion of what is pouring into Washington . . . and the reason is solely because of his Catholic ideals."

The monsignor did not elaborate on his statement.

Msgr. Martin urged his listeners to carry through their individual lives the "message of your Catholic church with patience meekness, fortitude and courage—the same type of courage that Senator-McCarthy has."

Msgr. Martin is pastor of the Roman Catholic church of St. Angela Merici in the Bronx.

Weddings

WALSH—RUMP

Solemnized with a Nuptial Mass, the wedding of Lucy Florence Jean Rump, daughter of Mr. Louis Rump, Belleville and the late Mrs. Rump, to Mr. Joseph Michael Walsh, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Walsh, Marysville, took place in the Church of St. Michael the Archangel, Belleville, on Saturday, October 16.

The church was beautifully decorated with white chrysanthemums, while wedding music was rendered by Sister Mary Wilhelmina and Mr. Roderick Burke, who sang "Ave Maria", and "The Wedding Hymn."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was gowned in a floor length bridal dress of white Chantilly lace over satin with tucked bodice under a lace bolero, with pointed fingertip sleeves. A small lace Juliet cap held her fingertip veil of net illusion and she carried a cascade of Bettertime roses and white stephanotis.

Attending the bride were Miss Theresa Rump, sister of the bridegroom, who as maid of honor, wore a sky blue nylon tulle gown with matching bolero lace jacket. She carried a bouquet of pink, white pompons and carnations.

Joseph Walsh, of Read, Ontario, brother of the bridegroom, was groomsman and the ushers were, Mr. Albert Rump, brother of the bride and Mr. Edmund Daley, uncle of the bridegroom.

Following the ceremony, the wedding reception was held at the Golden Acre Inn, Kingston Road. Receiving the guests, was the bridegroom's mother, who wore navy blue crepe with navy accessories and corsage of Bettertime roses, while the bride's step-mother, assisted, gowned in a light blue wool suit trimmed with grey fur with navy accessories, and corsage of Briarcliffe roses.

The bride's table was centred by a four-tier wedding cake, topped by pink Sweetheart roses and white 'mums.

For the wedding trip through Watertown and Syracuse, N.Y., the bride chose a navy suit with matching shoes with shrimp pink velvet velour hat, shrimp shortie coat, with white gardenia corsage.

On their return the couple will reside at Belleville.

Guests were present at the wedding from Roblin, Read, and Bath, Ontario.

Pr. of Wales H-S Association Hears Talk on Fire Prevention

The November meeting of the Prince of Wales Home and School Association was held on Tuesday evening in the grade seven classes with the president, Mrs. Peter Murray in charge.

The devotional, Psalm 37:1-11 was taken by Mrs. Bailey.

Mrs. Vandevoort reported on her activities as the secretary on the early morning refreshment committee at the regional conference held in Prince Charles School.

The motto as presented by Mrs. Sherk, the provincial president, for Home and School was "Associations on the March". The whole object of Home and School should always be foremost "The Children."

Mrs. Watson who is the publicating convenor, was ill, but sent her report telling of such instructive child magazines as "Jack and Jill," "Polly Pigtails," "Children's Digest" and "The Parent Magazine."

Mr. Lockyer's room had most parents and grandparents present so the attendance banner is in grade seven for the month of November.

Mrs. Murray urged all parents and interested persons to attend "Children's Fair" which is being held on Wednesday evening of this week at seven p.m. There will be a multitude of activities and many different forms of entertainment such as children's hobbies, arts and crafts, a tea room with children selling cokes and hot dogs; home-cooking; home-made candy; fish pond; white elephant booth; a comedy skit show and a men's fashion show.

POSTER ON DISPLAY

The poster made by Nadine Flunder was put on display for the meeting.

Mr. Birch, the program convenor, took charge of the meeting. Prince of Wales' two contestants, who are being sent to Bellville to take part in the semi-final public speaking contest, gave their speeches. Marina Bongard impersonated Marilyn Bell, telling of "A Wonderful Accomplishment". Jane Cook made "Her Trip to Ottawa", most realistic in her speech.

These young speakers are to be greatly complimented on their ability to present their subjects to the public in such an interesting manner.

Mr. Birch sang "It's Amore".

FIRE PREVENTION POINTS

He called upon Fire Chief Gerald Vance of Belleville Fire Department, to give some pointers on fire prevention, the fire department and one's actions in case of fire.

Mr. Vance said that "the Belleville Fire Department is a service not only to the city, but also to Thurlow and Sidney in an emergency. Also, Thurlow, Sidney and Belleville have a total of 30 buildings in all, depicting familiar scenes such as the cow jumping over the moon, the old woman's shoe, Old Mother Hubbard's cupboard and the gingerbread house.

Feature attraction will be Santa's home and workshop. An interdenominational chapel with a nativity scene inside will be nearby.

To complete the picture, Mr. Adams said, plans are afoot to have a post office, known as North Pole, Canada, set up in the park.

"Belleville Fire Department compares favorably with most other fire department in a city of the size of Belleville, and when the new piece of equipment is purchased it will likely surpass other places."

WORDS OF ADVICE

Some words of advice were given by Fire Chief Vance: "Don't let overload one outlet; teach your children a second exit from the bedroom; have a baby sitter who is capable and responsible; no electric heater should be placed in a bedroom. If grease catches on fire, sprinkle with baking soda or put on the lid with a long handled toasting fork. He then showed two interesting films dealing with fire hazards.

Mrs. Grey, the refreshment convenor, served doughnuts and coffee, bringing another successful profitable home and school meeting to a close.

Bridge St. W.M.S. Hears Talk On 'Helping Others'

The thank-offering meeting of Bridge Street United Church W.M.S. met in the Sunday school auditorium of the church on Friday afternoon with a large attendance.

The president, Mrs. Hyde, read a poem on "Giving", and graciously welcomed the guests, introducing the presidents of the visiting auxiliaries.

The secretary, Mrs. Adsett, gave an interesting resume of the last meeting followed by Mrs. Countryman's report on the finances.

Mrs. Myers reported 215 pounds good used clothing sent to Stores, $21.50 cost of transportation. A request was made for used clothing, mitts, sox, jackknives, and games to be sent to Pievna for boys 15-14 years in care of Miss Alexander.

Mrs. T. Franklin took charge of the devotional; Mrs. Burgoyne and Mrs. Barclay rendered a duet with Mrs. K. Bird at the piano.

GUEST SPEAKER

Mrs. Cathers introduced the speaker, Mrs. Packman, of Stirling parsonage. She thanked the ladies for inviting her to address them and for their kindness in other ways.

She recalled the words of a missionary, "Our old home town in England, words which deeply impressed her—"The Master has come, and calleth for thee." She said "Can we not work up the same enthusiasm to serve people as we did in the war? Women can take their rightful place in the world and also in the home. There is a new call for women to come forward."

She also recalled how the first missionary to foreign lands went without her mother's consent. She called several examples of women investing a new field—Florence Nightingale; Elizabeth Fry, forcing a way into deplorable prison mobs; Mary Booth, a Salvation Army leader in the field in Belgium and others "Why do they women stand out in history? They listened to the call and obeyed. Nothing can take the place of a good home and good parents. Don't make a god of your home—it should be a place to enjoy.

"Our Saviour in His three years' ministry visited homes and enjoyed the hospitality.

What did these women have that we have not? Possibly nothing. Let us give and hold nothing back; we have so much besides money to give. Then too, we never climb the heights and we can not help others climb higher than we, ourselves are."

Mrs. Packman referred to the command of Paul to Timothy "Keep that, which is committed to they trust," and closed with a prayer that each one should help the other.

Mrs. Broad voiced appreciation of the splendid address, thanking the speaker.

Mrs. Fred Wilson brought greetings from the Presbyterial.

After dismissal, a social hour was spent over the tea cups. Mrs. W. May, from Tabernacle church voiced the guests' pleasure and thanks.

Build Fairy Playground At Oakville

OAKVILLE, Ont. (CP) — Two men are building a fairyland playground on a 100-acre site near this lakeshore community 25 miles west of Toronto.

The result of two years' work by William Adams of Aldershot and John Hotz of Toronto will be open to the public next May. They will see all the fairy tale characters of the nursery books and the workshop of Santa Claus, complete with gnomes and reindeer.

"It has been patterned along the lines of similar playgrounds in the United States," says Mr. Adams.

It will contain about 30 buildings in all, depicting familiar scenes such as the cow jumping over the moon, the old woman's shoe, Old Mother Hubbard's cupboard and the gingerbread house.

Feature attraction will be Santa's home and workshop. An interdenominational chapel with a nativity scene inside will be nearby.

'Workshop' Play by Theatre Guild Earns Praise of Guest Speaker

An interesting talk on the work of a contemporary English playwright and the presentation of a delightful old-fashioned one-act "workshop" play were the principal features of a well attended meeting of the Belleville Theatre Guild last week. The speaker was John Londerville, vice-chairman of the Eastern Ontario Drama League, and promoter of Peterborough dramatic circles. He took as his subject Christopher Fry and particularly his play "The Boy with a Cart," which members are considering on for presentation at a future meeting. Mr. Londerville, who read many passages from the play in the course of his talk, brought home to his listeners in a most convincing manner Fry's genius in the handling of the English language, at the same time helping them to understand full well why critics were referred to in the course of the meeting included the presentation at the Canadian Legion November 17th of the one-act play, "Two sides to the Story" by the Canadian author Weldon Hanbury, which is to be the Guild's entry in the Peterborough One-act Play Festival; the two-act play "Joan of Lorraine" by the famous American playwright Maxwell Anderson, which will be presented in the spring at the New Year; and the Eastern Ontario Drama League Festival which is to be presented by the Guild under Guild auspices in February, 1955.

Asked to comment after the show, Mr. Londerville congratulated the players on their third dramatic league festival, even though this was not an intended entry. He confessed to some envy of the Belleville group and the quality of their activities which, he said, few similar groups could equal. He commented particularly on the expert manoeuvring of Messrs. Box and Gordon in small stage and upon the excellence of their timing which revealed a great account of rehearsal. He summed the performance up as altogether a most enjoyable little show.

The Family Cherub Needs Beauty Training

Little beauties enjoy tub time when they have thirty-two bottles of bubble bath. One comes packaged in a tiny plastic bathtub.

By HELEN FOLLETT

Almost as soon as a little girl can look at herself in a mirror she is interested in her appearance. She is wise to any direct approach to her along the right beauty path. Good habits can't start too early.

A child's first line of defense that only the blandest soaps should be used upon it. Little daughter must be taught to rinse away the suds after washing her face.

The need of clean hands must be impressed upon her because bacteria can lurk beneath the caves of the fingernails. If she has a nail white pencil, she will like to play with it. Keep nails clean-cut, clean like it manpetus.

Cosmetic chemists, who think of everything, offer special toiletries for the youngsters. These are packed in containers that appeal to young eyes. Among these lotions is a cream that will keep the delicate skin surface from chapping. Also a while lipstick. Many children suffer from lips that are ragged and sensitive.

There are shampoos that are easily applied and rinsed away. If little daughter protests against the head-washing ritual, mother should buy a shampoo halo that will keep the lather out of her eyes.

YOUNG LADY'S HAIRDO

Give the family cherub a pretty little hair brush and she will enjoy using it. The manner in which the hair is arranged should have the child's approval. It must be what the other kids are wearing. To "look different" is to be unhappy. The short cut, of course is best because it's easy to keep neat.

The child's weight must be watched, also posture. When a child has her semi-yearly checkup with the baby doctor—these check-ups go on until the age of twelve—he will give special attention to posture. If she's not what it should be, he will examine her feet and carefully consider the type of shoes she wears.

would have a background of information that would certainly help in working out some sort of formula for the family programme.

She should also explain to the doctor that because her husband feels himself unable to give her any help, she herself is in danger of exhaustion.

If the information the doctor gives her about her husband shows that he really is too frail to be asked to assume the normal role of a husband and father in the home, this is something, of course, that must be taken into consideration in any reorganization of the family routine. But if things are other wise, and the husband is irresponsible and lazy rather than physically incapacitated, then perhaps the doctor might be willing to have a talk with him, and try to make him understand how seriously he is threatening his wife's own health by his neglect of his proper duties.

Once the wife has all the details she needs about her husband's true state of health, then I suggest that she go to the nearest family service organization and take the problem up there. They may be able to find a way by which the children could be cared for while she went away for a period of rest. They should also be able to analyze her whole family set-up to find out exactly what is wrong, then give her guidance and help in working out some way of putting it right.

Here, then, is a suggested program of action, and certainly action is urgently needed in this case. I hope this woman is ready to take the steps I have outlined, and that she will then let me know what program she has been able to work out.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECKMAN

EUROPEAN BRIDE

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Our son is to marry a charming young lady who has lived all her life in Europe, has been in this country only three years, and has no relatives or friends in this country. She is of our denomination and would like to have the marriage ceremony performed in the chapel of our church. And both she and we would like to have a small reception afterward in our home.

(1) Would this be a correct plan, under the circumstances?

(2) With so few guests as we will invite, would it be proper for me to write the invitations?

(3) And would it be proper for my husband to give the bride in marriage? — The Bridegroom's Mother

(1) Yes; and excellent plan.

(2) Yes, as hostess, should extend the invitations. You may invite a few guest to stay over by telephone or, if you prefer, by notes.

(3) Yes.

SHE SHOULD HAVE WORN HAT

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

The mother of a dear friend of mine passed away recently, and I went to the funeral home to bring flowers and to pay my respects. I did not wear a hat to the funeral home as I never wear a hat to church, but several of our mutual friends have criticized me for not wearing a hat to the funeral home, saying that only one other woman besides me did not wear a hat. Was it necessary that I wear a hat? — A.R.N.

Yes, I believe, you should have worn a hat on this occasion. You have a hat. . .wear it when you should.

TAKE OFF THOSE GLOVES

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

To settle a discussion we are having, please answer this: When I am eating refreshments at a wedding reception, is it proper for me to keep my gloves on? — Betty B.

No! Take off your gloves before you begin to eat. To keep on your gloves while you are eating or drinking, looks unattractive, really quite ridiculous, affected.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

IS HER HUSBAND SICK?—OR JUST IRRESPONSIBLE?

A woman who, at the age of 30, has been married long enough to have five children, writes to say that she has never had a vacation since she married.

"On the other hand," she states, "my husband takes what he pay checks and goes off to travel, or just to stay in hotels, whenever he feels like it, but he never takes me along, and I don't think he wants to. He has only just returned home from one of his absences, and to get him here, I had to look him up and beg him to come back.

"We cannot afford to hire anyone to take care of the children, and since my husband's health does not permit me to leave them with him for any length of time, it seems impossible for me to get away anywhere, though I believe a short vacation from this strain would do me a world of good.

"Must I be forever tied down at home, taking all the responsibility for everything?"

This woman has neglected to give me one of the most important pieces of information needed in order to fit together this jigsaw puzzle of a marital problem. That is, she fails to tell me what is wrong with her husband's health that he seems unable to assume any normal family responsibilities.

It does seem a little strange that his health should be so bad that he cannot stay with the children once in awhile in order to give his wife opportunity to get a little rest and relaxation, and yet is healthy enough to go off and take vacations by himself. On the other hand, it may be that if he really does have poor health, the confusion and noise of a house with five children in it may get on his nerves so much that, in desperation, he picks up and goes off by himself to seek peace and quiet elsewhere.

Even though the latter may be the case, however, it certainly should not mean that his wife must carry such a heavy burden of responsibility and work that her own health runs down because she never gets a chance to lay that burden down for even a day, let alone a reasonable period of vacation.

It seems to me that the logical way to begin an attempt to solve the problem would be for this woman to discuss the situation with the doctor who takes care of her husband. Naturally, one assumes that if a man is in chronically poor health, he must be under the continual supervision of a physician. By talking with the doctor, and having him give her such details of her husband's condition that she is able to judge how much responsibility and active participation in the family life she can reasonably expect from him, she

By HELEN JAMIESON

HISTORIC HAIRDOS

It would seem that all through the ages women have loved curly hair. Only a real beauty can get away with straight hair arranged in a severe manner. The permanent wave is about the greatest beauty blessing ever bestowed upon us. Before its invention women wrestled with hot curling irons, kid curlers, metal crimpers and goodness knows what ever contrivances.

The Goths and the Normans, we are told, had implements for putting waves in silky tresses. Implements beautifully fashioned in bronze, similar to the modern curling iron, have been found in tombs in Egypt. From the beautifully designed wigs preserved in museums it has been ascertained that Egyptian hair stylists were as clever and expert as our own.

It is known that Roman ladies of fashion curled their hair and that in the year 208 A.D. Tertullian rebuked them for spending time in what was considered frivolous adornment.

Changes in styles of hairdos have gone on through the centuries. We find that the bob is a modern innovation, but in the fifteenth century both men and women had short hair that was frizzed at the sides.

When Louis XIII of France became bald, enormous wigs were the fashion. The methods of forming waves and ringlets were crude. Clay rods and wooden sticks heated in boiling water were used, strands of hair wound around them and allowed to dry. The elaborate creations required by fashion called for hours of painstaking labor on the part of wig-makers and hairdressers.

Your great grandmother, when she was a belle, used to plunge a slate pencil between the live coals in the stove and wind her hair around it. When she was a tiny girl her mother arranged her hair in many braids, pressed the braids with a hot iron so the child's flowing locks would be crimpy.

Since the days of our first bowcut, think how many changes have taken place! The first permanent was not much more than a frizz that made a woman's "crowning glory" look like a floor mop! The shingle, the wind blown, the pedal cut, the shoulder length! And now what? It's anybody's guess.

Does Your Group Need a Project?

By Mary Moore

Being closely related to an executive of the Council of Community Services makes one strongly social-work-minded.

My sister Doris received a request "for a worthy project" from an organization which had funds but did not know where to spend them.

Her reaction was calm and efficient. She suggested five or six projects that were crying needs. Their social agencies are subjected to a constant barrage of calls for funds, for workers, for help, help, help.

But to show another side of this picture I want to tell you the story of a little band of women who discovered a need, organized themselves, and are now a going concern with funds—which they stretch and use to capacity.

In May of this year they organized as an auxiliary whose members visit the unvisited patients in a very large mental hospital.

Their ambition right now is to earn enough money to buy a Christmas gift for every patient (hundreds and hundreds of them) —some of whom have not had a visitor or a Christmas gift in decades!

Their zeal for their merciful work is heart-warming.

I was invited to a bridge party by one of their members who provided her recreation room in which twelve bridge tables could be set up.

Before the evening was over the superintendent of the mental hospital where they visit dropped in to publicly express his thanks to them. There is a dedicated doctor if there ever was one—who will take time at 10 o'clock on night after an overfull day's work to make a special call to give a group of women a "chin-lifting" tribute. He belongs to our church. You just know that to do the task he has to do he knows on Whose strength to draw.

So girls—don't be without a project if you have a hand of eager-beaver workers together. The need for you and your energy exists—just find out where you are needed most.

Do shut-ins in your community need a visitor?

There are old folk who are too feeble to go out who sit alone all day—waiting, waiting for something to happen. You could make their day by a visit and give them something else to think about. Why not try it once.

There are young mothers tied to their homes—some without a telephone—who would get such a lift from a visitor. You might even take a few cookies with you or some simple matter for almost anyone to make the tea to go with them.

Some groups offer baby-sitting hours as their service to their community. No service was ever more urgently needed or gratefully received, for some young parents never get out—ever for a walk alone—because they can't afford a baby sitter.

Find out where you are needed in your community then draw up your plans and sail into action.

Little Benny's Note Book

I went up to ma's room and she was reading her new lybrery book, and I was standing there watching her, and after a while she said, For goodness sakes go away, your making me nervita, practikally breathing down my back.

Well aw heck, ma how can I breathe down your back when I'm standing in frunt of you? I said. Himmister, ma, even the best contortionist in the circus couldn't do that, I said, and ma said, Oh, never mind the mysteries of the circus. And now if you have no good reason for being in here, I'll excuse you with pearsure, she said.

Well G, ma, I have a good reason, I said. It's a kind of a message, I said, and ma said, What message? From home?

Puds's mother, I said, and ma said, Mrs. Simkins?

Yes mam, she wants to see you, I said, and ma said, Well it's time you told me for land sakes. Tell her to come rite up, she said.

She's not here, she's in her house, I said. She was there all the time, I said, and ma said, What, all what time?

All the time I was waiting for Puds, I said. He wasn't allowed out till he cleaned up his room, and I was waiting for him in the kitchin, and I decided to have a little practice in case I ever get a chance to save a whole family's life, so I turned on the gas in the oven, but before I had time to run to the rescue and turn it off again, Puds yelled to me from the frunt hall, and I forgot about the gas and ran out with him, and after a while Mrs. Simkins happened to smell gass, and I guess that's what she wanted to see you about, I said.

Being the beginning of the sad part.

School Brought Daily to Home Of Polio Victim in Montreal

MONTREAL (CP)—School work will be all home work for Michel Robitaille, 15-year-old polio victim.

He is the first youngster in Montreal to have the services of a school - to - home communications system that enables him to keep up with what's going on in seventh grade at Montreal's school for crippled children.

Through a system of two-way speakers beside his bed and on the teacher's desk, school is being brought daily to the youngster.

Michel's troubles date back to 1943 when both he and his brother, Claude, now 16, were stricken by poliomyelitis. Claude recovered, but Michel was permanently handicapped.

It was only the beginning. He was plagued by more than the usual quota of childhood diseases and late last year he contracted jaundice.

Two months later Michel's doctors decided surgery was necessary, but despite their efforts his left leg now is paralyzed.

A Montreal Rotarian club heard of the boy's problem and offered to pay for the class-to-bedroom communications system.
